I. Introduction

1. The present report is submitted pursuant to General Assembly resolution 55/70 of 4 December 2000, on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, in which the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to submit to it, at its fifty-sixth session, a report on the status of the Convention.

II. Status of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women

2. The Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women was adopted by the General Assembly by resolution 34/180 of 18 December 1979. It was opened for signature, ratification and accession in New York on 1 March 1980 and, in accordance with article 27, entered into force on 3 September 1981.

3. As at 1 August 2001, 168 States parties had ratified, acceded or succeeded to the Convention, of which 60 had acceded to it and 7 had succeeded to it. In addition, 3 further States were signatories to the Convention. The most recent States to ratify the Convention were the Democratic Republic of Korea, on 27 February 2001, and Saudi Arabia, on 7 September 2000. Mauritania acceded to the Convention on 10 May 2001, and Yugoslavia succeeded to it on 12 March 2001 (see annex I for the list of States that have signed, ratified, acceded to or succeeded to the Convention, the dates of signature and receipt of the instruments of ratification, accession or succession).

4. As at 1 August 2001, 24 States parties had deposited with the Secretary-General instruments of acceptance to the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention, relating to the periodicity and duration of the meetings of the Committee (see annex II). During the period August 2000 to 1 August 2001, Austria deposited its instrument of acceptance of the amendment on 11 September 2000.

5. During the period from 1 August 2000 to 1 August 2001, reservations were entered by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to article 2, paragraph (f), and to article 29, paragraph 1, and Saudi Arabia entered general reservations to the Convention, article 9, paragraph 2, and article 29, paragraph 2 (see annex III).

6. Objections to reservations were received from Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Norway, Spain and Sweden (see annex IV). Communications were received from France and the Netherlands (see annex V). Withdrawals of reservations were received from Australia on 30 August 2000 and from Austria on 11 September 2000 (see annex VI).

III. Status of the Optional Protocol to the Convention

7. By its resolution 54/4 of 6 October 1999, the General Assembly adopted the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. The Optional Protocol, which entitles individuals and groups of individuals to submit communications concerning alleged violations of the Convention in a State party to the Convention and the Protocol, allows the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women to inquire of its own motion into grave or systematic violations of the Convention. The Optional Protocol was opened for signature, ratification and accession at United Nations Headquarters on 10 December 1999 and entered into force on 22 December 2000.

8. As at August 2001, 68 State parties had signed the Optional Protocol and 24 had ratified it or acceded to it. The most recent States parties to ratify the Optional Protocol were Spain, on 6 July 2001, and Uruguay, on 26 July 2001. One State party (Bangladesh) opted out of the inquiry procedure upon ratification (see annex X).

IV. Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women

A. Capacity to fulfil its mandate

1. Fulfilment by States parties of reporting obligations

9. Article 18, paragraph 1, of the Convention provides that States parties undertake to submit reports on the implementation of the Convention within one year after its entry into force for the State party concerned, and thereafter at least every four years and further whenever the Committee so requests.

10. Between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001, the reports of 14 States parties were received by the Secretary-General, as follows:

Barbados (fourth periodic report)

Costa Rica (initial report)

El Salvador (combined third and fourth periodic reports, and fifth report)

Estonia (combined initial, second and third periodic reports)

Greece (combined fourth and fifth periodic reports)

Guatemala (third periodic report)

Guinea (initial report)

Hungary (combined fourth and fifth periodic reports)

Mexico (fifth periodic report)

Netherlands (third periodic report)

Singapore (second periodic report)

Sweden (fifth periodic report)

Trinidad and Tobago (initial report)

Viet Nam (combined third and fourth periodic reports).

11. Between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001, the Committee considered, at its twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sessions, 22 reports submitted by 16 States parties: six initial reports; one combined initial, second and third periodic report; three second periodic reports; one combined second, third and fourth periodic report; three third periodic reports; two combined third and fourth periodic reports; three fourth periodic reports; one combined fourth and fifth report; and two fifth periodic reports (see annex VII).

2. Reports awaiting consideration

12. As at 1 August 2001, reports submitted by 39 States parties had yet to be considered by the Committee (see annex VIII). Bearing in mind the reports awaiting consideration, and its concern that the information contained in those reports would become obsolete, the Committee, at its twenty-fifth session, adopted decision 25/I, in which it requested the General Assembly to: (a) approve on an exceptional basis, a session of three weeks' duration in August 2002, consisting of 30 meetings of the Committee to be used entirely for the consideration of the reports of the States parties in order to reduce the backlog of reports; (b) approve an enlargement of the pre-session working group that is scheduled to meet from 4 to 8 February 2002 in order to prepare issues and questions relating to reports to be considered at the extraordinary session of the Committee in August 2002.

13. In accordance with rule 23 of the rules of procedure of the Committee, a statement of the programme budget implications of decision 25/I were submitted to the Committee prior to the adoption of the decision.

3. Overdue reports

14. As at 1 August 2001, there were 239 overdue reports, of which 47 were initial reports, 62 were second periodic reports, 41 were third periodic reports, 50 were fourth periodic reports and 39 were fifth periodic reports (see annex IX).

B. Working methods of the Committee

Decisions and suggestions

15. At its twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sessions, the Committee adopted six decisions including the above-mentioned decision 25/I, in which it requested the General Assembly to approve an extraordinary session to consider reports awaiting review.¹

16. By decision 24/I, the Committee adopted its rules of procedure. The text of the rules will be contained in an annex to the report of the Committee on its twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sessions.

17. In its decision 24/II, the Committee decided to adopt a statement on gender and racial discrimination, to be forwarded to the Preparatory Committee for the World Conference against Racial Discrimination Xenophobia and Related Intolerance at its second session, held at Geneva from 21 May to 1 June 2001. By the same decision, it also decided, subject to the availability of resources, to nominate the Chairperson and two other Committee members, as well as the two members resident in South Africa, to attend, on its behalf, the World Conference to be held at Durban,

South Africa, from 31 August to 7 September 2001. In its decision 24/III, the Committee decided to develop closer links with the Commission on the Status of Women and drew attention to the willingness of members of the Committee to serve as experts in expert group meetings convened in preparation for the Commission and as panellists during Commission sessions.

18. In its decision 25/II, the Committee recalled its decision 22/IV and decided that, in drawing up the list of issues and questions with regard to periodic reports, the pre-sessional working group should normally formulate a short list of issues and questions, focusing on themes addressed by the Convention.

19. In its decision 25/III, the Committee adopted a statement to be forwarded to the special session of the General Assembly on children, and decided, subject to the availability of resources, to nominate one member to participate in the special session on its behalf.

20. At its twenty-fifth session, the Committee adopted two suggestions. In its suggestion 25/I, the Committee suggested that the Division for the Advancement of Women of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs establish a confidential electronic database for the registration of communications submitted under the Optional Protocol to the Convention, similar to that established by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, and that steps be taken to ensure an information flow between the proposed database of the Division and the existing database of the Office of the High Commissioner. The Committee requested the Division to report to it on the progress made in this regard at its twenty-sixth session. In its suggestion 25/II, the Committee suggested guidelines for reports submitted by United Nations entities to the Committee.

C. Working methods with regard to the Optional Protocol

1. Decisions and suggestions

21. The rules of procedure adopted by the Committee at its twenty-fourth session included rules governing its work under the Optional Protocol to the Convention. At its twenty-fourth session, the Committee, in accordance with those rules, established a working group on the Optional Protocol, which held two meetings to discuss the working methods to be adopted during the twenty-fifth session of the Committee.

2. General recommendations

22. At its twenty-fourth session, the Committee began work on a general recommendation on article 4, paragraph 1, of the Convention, concerning temporary special measures aimed at accelerating de facto equality between men and women. At its twenty-fifth session, the Committee designated one of its members to provide it with a background paper on the question, for consideration at its twenty-sixth session.

V. Efforts to encourage universal ratification of the Convention, its Optional Protocol and acceptance of the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention

23. The Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women and the Director of the Division for the Advancement of Women have continued their efforts to encourage universal ratification of the Convention and the Optional Protocol, and to ensure acceptance of the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, of the Convention, which relates to the meeting time allocated to the Committee. The Special Adviser called for universal ratification of the Convention, its Optional Protocol and acceptance of the amendment to article 20, paragraph 1, during the 105th Conference of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, held at Havana from 1 to 7 April 2001, in Havana, at the joint meeting of the Inter-agency Meeting on Women and Gender Equality and the Development Assistance Committee of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development, held at Vienna from 23 to 25 April 2001, and at the International Symposium on the Impact of Women's Training on Socio-Economic Development, held at Haifa, Israel from 3 to 8 June 2001. The Director of the Division for the Advancement of Women gave an address on the Optional Protocol during a panel discussion convened during the Conference of the Inter-Parliamentary Union.

24. The Office of the Special Adviser on Gender Issues, the Division for the Advancement of Women and the Treaty Section of the Office of Legal Affairs convened a panel discussion on 5 July 2001, during the twenty-fifth session of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women. The aim was to promote the treaty signature/ratification event that is to be held as part of the fifty-sixth session of the General Assembly. The event is to focus on the rights of women and children and, in particular, 23 treaties, including the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and its Optional Protocol.

VI. Technical assistance provided to States parties

25. The Division for the Advancement of Women conducted a subregional training workshop in support of the preparation of reports of States parties to be submitted to the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women. The workshop, held at Auckland, New Zealand, from 13 to 15 February 2001, was organized in collaboration with the Government of New Zealand, the Secretariat of the Pacific Community, the office of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in Fiji, and the Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific. The objective of the workshop, which was attended by representatives of 14 Pacific Island States, as well as representatives of non-governmental organizations, was to assist Governments in enhancing their knowledge and understanding of women's rights, to strengthen the capacity of governmental officials who are responsible for preparing reports under the Convention and for monitoring the progress made in its implementation to encourage States which have not yet done so to ratify the Convention, and to increase the awareness and capacity of representatives of non-governmental organizations and civil society with regard to the Convention. Further offers of technical support have been made to States contemplating ratification, and with regard to the fulfilment of reporting obligations.

VII. Dissemination of the Convention, its Optional Protocol and information on the work of the Committee

26. The Division for the Advancement of Women maintains a section on its home page on the Internet dedicated to the Convention, its Optional Protocol and the work of the Committee. The text of the Convention and its Optional Protocol, the reports of States parties, documents prepared for the Committee, the Committee's concluding comments and other relevant information are posted on the site. Links between the Division's home page and other sites, including that of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, allow cross-reference to other pertinent documents.

Notes

- ¹ For the report of the Committee on its twenty-fourth session, see A/56/38 (Part I). The final report of the Committee on its twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sessions will be issued as Official Records of the General Assembly, Fifty-sixth Session, Supplement No. 38 (A/56/38).

Annex III

Reservations made by States parties to the Convention between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001

Reservations made by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea

The Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea does not consider itself bound by the provisions of paragraph (f) of article 2, paragraph 2, of article 9, and paragraph 1 of article 29 [of the Convention].

Reservations made by Saudi Arabia

1. In case of contradiction between any term of the Convention and the norms of Islamic law, the Kingdom is not under obligation to observe the contradictory terms of the Convention.
2. The Kingdom does not consider itself bound by paragraph 2 of article 9 of the Convention and paragraph 1 of article 29 of the Convention.

Annex IV

Objections to reservations to the Convention made between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001

Objection by Denmark to the reservation made by the Niger

[2 November 2000]

With regard to the reservations to article 2, paragraphs (d) and (f), article 5, paragraph (a), article 15, paragraph (4) and article 16, paragraph 1 (c), (e) and (g) made by the Niger upon accession:

The Government of Denmark finds that the reservations made by the Government of the Niger are not in conformity with the object and purpose of the Convention. The provisions in respect of which the Niger has made reservations cover fundamental rights of women and establish key elements for the elimination of discrimination against women. For this reason, the Government of Denmark objects to the said reservations made by the Government of the Niger.

The Convention remains in force in its entirety between the Niger and Denmark.

It is the opinion of the Government of Denmark that no time limit applies to objections against reservations, which are inadmissible under international law.

The Government of Denmark recommends the Government of the Niger to reconsider its reservations to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

Objection by Finland to the reservation made by the Niger

[24 October 2000]

The Government of Finland notes that the reservations [...] are not in conformity with the object and purpose of the Convention. By acceding to the Convention, a State commits itself to adopting the measures required for the elimination of discrimination against women, in all its forms and manifestations. This includes taking appropriate measures, including legislation, to modify or abolish customs and practices which constitute discrimination against women.

As it appears evident that the Government of the Niger will not apply the Convention with a view to fulfilling its treaty obligations to eliminate all forms of discrimination against women and submits reservations to some of the most essential provisions of the Convention, [its] reservations are in contradiction with the object and purpose of the Convention.

The Government of Finland recalls part VI, article 28 of the Convention, according to which reservations incompatible with object and purpose of the Convention are not permitted.

The Government of Finland therefore objects to the above-mentioned reservations made by the Government of the Niger to the Convention.

This objection does not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between the Niger and Finland. The Convention will thus become operative between the two States without benefiting from the reservations.

Objection by France to the reservations made by Saudi Arabia

[26 June 2001]

The Government of the French Republic has examined the reservations made by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, adopted in New York on 18 December 1979. By stating that in the case of contradiction between any term of the Convention and the norms of Islamic law it is not under obligation to observe the terms of the Convention, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia formulates a reservation of general, indeterminate scope that gives the other States parties absolutely no idea which provisions of the Convention are affected or might be affected in future. The Government of the French Republic believes that the reservation could make the provisions of the Convention completely ineffective and therefore objects to it. The second reservation, concerning article 9, paragraph 2, rules out equality of rights between men and women with respect to the nationality of their children and the Government of the French Republic therefore objects to it.

These objections do not preclude the Convention's entry into force between Saudi Arabia and France. The reservation rejecting the means of dispute settlement provided for in article 29, paragraph 1, of the Convention is in conformity with the provisions of article 29, paragraph 2.

Objection by Germany to the reservations made by Saudi Arabia

[2 November 2000]

The Government of the Federal Republic of Germany is of the view that the reservation with regard to compatibility of the provisions of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women with Islamic law, raises doubts as to the commitment of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention. The Government of the Federal Republic of Germany considers this reservation to be incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention.

The Government of the Federal Republic of Germany notes furthermore that the reservation to paragraph 2 of article 9 of the Convention aims to exclude one obligation of non-discrimination which is so important in the context of the Convention as to render this reservation contrary to the essence of the Convention.

The Government of the Federal Republic of Germany therefore objects to the aforesaid reservations made by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women.

This objection does not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between the Federal Republic of Germany and the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Objection by Norway to the reservations made by the Niger

[1 November 2000]

The reservation concerns fundamental provisions of the Convention. Article 2 is the core provision as it outlines the measures which the State party is required to take in order to implement the Convention. The Convention can only be successfully implemented when all measures prescribed by article 2 are taken. Most importantly, it is unclear how the Convention's substantive provisions will be implemented without adopting measures to modify or abolish existing discriminatory laws, regulations, customs and practices.

The Government of Norway considers the other elements of the reservation, with the exception of the reservation made to article 29, as incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention. The relevant provisions cover fundamental rights of women or they outline key elements in order to abolish discrimination against women. Women will not have the opportunity to live on equal footing with men if these provisions are not implemented.

Further, it is the Norwegian Government's position that article 5, paragraph (b), covers both public and private family education.

The Government of Norway therefore objects to the reservations made by the Government of the Niger to the following provisions:

- Article 2, paragraphs (d) and (f);
- Article 5, paragraph (a);
- Article 15, paragraph 4;
- Article 16, paragraph 1 (c), (e) and (g).

This objection does not preclude the entry into force in its entirety of the Convention between the Kingdom of Norway and the Niger. The Convention thus becomes operative between Norway and the Niger without the Niger benefiting from these reservations.

Objection by Spain to the reservations made by Saudi Arabia

[22 February 2001]

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain has examined the reservation made by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women on [7] September 2000, regarding any interpretation of the Convention that may be incompatible with the norms of Islamic law and regarding article 9, paragraph 2.

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain considers that the general reference to Islamic law, without specifying its content, creates doubts among the other States parties about the extent to which the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia commits itself to fulfil its obligations under the Convention.

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain is of the view that such a reservation by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention, since it refers to the Convention as a whole and seriously restricts or even excludes its application on a basis as ill-defined as the general reference to Islamic law.

Furthermore, the reservation to article 9, paragraph 2, aims at excluding one of the obligations concerning non-discrimination, which is the ultimate goal of the Convention.

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain recalls that, according to article 28, paragraph 2, of the Convention, reservations that are incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention shall not be permitted.

Therefore, the Government of the Kingdom of Spain objects to the said reservations by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

This objection shall not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between the Kingdom of Spain and the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Objection by Spain to the reservations made by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea

[5 July 2001]

With regard to the reservations made by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea upon accession:

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain has examined the reservations made by the Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to article 2, paragraph (f), and article 9, paragraph 2 of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, on 27 February 2001 in acceding to the Convention.

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain considers those reservations to be incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention, since their intent is to exempt the Democratic People's Republic of Korea from committing itself to two essential elements of the Convention, one being the general requirement to take measures, including legislation, to eliminate all forms of discrimination against women (art. 2 (f)) and the other being the requirement to address a specific form of discrimination with respect to the nationality of children (art. 9 (2)).

The Government of the Kingdom of Spain recalls that, under article 28, paragraph 2 of the Convention, reservations incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention are not permitted.

Accordingly, the Government of the Kingdom of Spain objects to the above-mentioned reservations made by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

This objection does not prevent the Convention's entry into force between the Kingdom of Spain and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

Objection by Sweden to the reservations made by Saudi Arabia

[30 March 2001]

The Government of Sweden has examined the reservations made by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia at the time of its ratification of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, as to any interpretation of the provisions of the Convention that is incompatible with the norms of Islamic law.

The Government of Sweden is of the view that this general reservation, which does not clearly specify the provisions of the Convention to which it applies and the extent of derogation therefrom, raises doubts as to the object and purpose of the Convention.

It is in the common interest of States that treaties to which they have been chosen to become parties are respected as to their object and purpose, and that States are prepared to undertake any legislative changes necessary to comply with their obligations under the treaties. According to customary law as codified in the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties, a reservation incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention shall not be permitted. The Government of Sweden therefore objects to the aforesaid general reservations made by the Government of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

This shall not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the Kingdom of Sweden, without the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia benefiting from the said reservation.

Annex V

Communications received between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001

Communication received from France

[14 November 2000]

By indicating that it “expresses reservations” to article 2, paragraphs (d) and (f), article 5, paragraph (a), and article 16, paragraph 1 (c), (e) and (g), the Government of the Republic of the Niger is aiming completely to preclude the application of the provisions concerned. The reservation to article 15, paragraph 4, which seeks to deprive married women of the right to choose their residence and domicile, is contrary to the object and purpose of the Convention.

The general reservation relating to the provisions of article 2, paragraphs (d) and (f), article 5, paragraphs (a) and (b), article 15, paragraph 4, and article 16, paragraph 1 (c), (e) and (g), seeks to ensure that domestic law, and even domestic practice and the current values of society, prevail in general over the provisions of the Convention. The provisions in question concern not only family relations but also social relations as a whole; in particular, article 2, paragraph (d), imposes an obligation on public authorities and institutions to comply with the ban on any act or practice of discrimination, and article 2, paragraph (f), establishes the obligation to take the appropriate measures, notably legislative measures, to prevent discrimination against women, including in relations between individuals. Because it ignores these obligations, the reservation is manifestly contrary to the object and purpose of the Convention.

The Government of the French Republic considers that the reservations to articles 2, 5, 15 and 16 completely vitiate the undertaking of the Republic of the Niger and are manifestly not authorized by the Convention; in consequence, it enters its objection to them.

[The Permanent Mission further adds] that the reservations of the Republic of the Niger, made on 8 October 1999, were notified by the Secretary-General of the United Nations on 2 November 1999 and received by the French Republic on 16 November 1999. In these circumstances, the French Republic is still able, as at this date and until 15 November 2000, to lodge an objection and the Secretary-General of the United Nations cannot treat this act as a simple communication.

Communication received from the Netherlands

[6 December 2000]

The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands is of the view that these reservations, which seek to limit the obligations of the reserving State by invoking its national law, may raise doubts as to the commitment of the Niger to the object and purpose of the Convention and, moreover, contribute to undermining the basis of international treaty law.

The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands recalls that, according to paragraph 2 of article 28 of the Convention, a reservation incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention shall not be permitted.

It is in the common interest of States that treaties to which they have chosen to become party are respected, as to their object and purpose, by all parties and that States are prepared to undertake any legislative changes necessary to comply with their obligations under the treaties.

The Kingdom of the Netherlands therefore objects to the aforesaid reservations made by the Government of the Niger to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. This objection shall not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between the Kingdom of the Netherlands and the Niger.

Annex VI

Withdrawals of reservations and declarations to the Convention between 1 August 2000 and 1 August 2001

Australia

[30 August 2000]

The Government of Australia having considered the reservations [made upon ratification], hereby withdraws that part of the reservation which states:

“The Government of Australia advises that it does not accept the application of the Convention in so far as it would require alteration of Defence Force policy which excludes women from combat and combat-related duties. The Government of Australia is reviewing this policy so as to more closely define ‘combat’ and ‘combat-related duties’.”

Austria

[11 September 2000]

On 11 September 2000, the Government of Austria informed the Secretary-General that it had decided to withdraw the reservation to article 7, paragraph (b), of the Convention, made upon ratification.
