The Mission is mandated to help the Security Council achieve an overall objective, namely, to assist the National Transitional Government of Liberia to implement the Comprehensive Peace Agreement and the Ceasefire Agreement, to facilitate the provision of humanitarian assistance and to maintain peace and security in Liberia.

5. Within this overall objective, the Mission has, during the performance report period, contributed to a number of accomplishments by delivering related key outputs, shown in the frameworks below. These frameworks are grouped by components: ceasefire, humanitarian and human rights, security reform, peace process, and support.

IV. Analysis of variances¹

	Variance
Military observers	($69.1) (1.3%)

7. The variance was due mainly to the travel of staff officers which was charged to military observers instead of military contingents.

	Variance
Military contingents	($72 080.4) (40.7%)

8. The additional requirements resulted mainly from the delayed readiness of a number of contingents and the need to meet the immediate operational requirements of the Mission, which resulted in approximately 80 per cent of contingent-owned equipment being transported by air. The budget provided for the transport of only

¹ Resource variance amounts are expressed in thousands of United States dollars.

20 per cent of contingent-owned equipment by air, whereas 80 per cent was sent by air. In addition, freight for the deployment of formed police units contingent-owned equipment was charged to military contingents instead of formed police units.

	Variance
Civilian police	$1 586.5	12.4%

9. The lower requirements resulted primarily from the higher delayed deployment rate (actual delayed deployment rate was 43.3 per cent compared to 35 per cent budgeted).

	Variance
Formed police units	$1 414.2	29.1%

10. The variance was due mainly to freight costs for the deployment of contingent-owned equipment which was charged to military contingents instead of formed police units.

	Variance
International staff	$12 493.7	30.9%

11. The lower requirements resulted mainly from delays in recruitment of personnel, since the recruitment process for most of the posts could not commence before approval of the Mission's staffing requirements by the General Assembly in December 2003.

	Variance
National staff	$1 645.7	46.3%

12. The reduced requirements resulted mainly from delays in recruitment of personnel, due to mandatory medical examinations and other administrative requirements during which national staff were recruited under general temporary assistance.

	Variance
United Nations Volunteers	$3 919.6	51.1%

13. The lower requirements resulted mainly from delays in recruitment of personnel, due to the late establishment of the Mission's offices in the Sectors.

	Variance
General temporary assistance	($189.5)	—

14. The expenditures related to the hiring of human resources on a daily-paid basis during the start-up phase of the Mission to complete short-term projects in administrative areas, as well as national staff under recruitment pending completion of their mandatory medical examinations and other administrative requirements.

	Variance
Consultants	$304.3	67.0%

15. Owing to the delayed recruitment of international staff, including programme managers, and the late readiness of the sectors, most of the planned consultancy projects could not be implemented and have been rolled over into the 2004-2005 fiscal year.

	Variance
Official travel	($26.5)	(1.3%)

16. The higher requirements resulted mainly from the cost of the Security Council mission to the region in June 2004, which was not foreseen at the time of budget preparation.

	Variance
Facilities and infrastructure	$29 144.2	27.1%

17. The lower requirements resulted from a number of factors: the late start-up of construction, alteration, and renovation projects due to local constraints and the delayed deployment of engineering personnel, the fact that the Mission was self-sufficient in potable water following installation of water purification units, and it was therefore not necessary for water to be delivered to troops, and the fact that the Mission did not procure the fuel tanks and pumps included in the budget as it was planning to enter into a turn-key contract for the implementation of a ship-to-shore fuel-receiving facility at the port of Monrovia.

	Variance
Ground transportation	($2 315.5)	(5.0%)

18. The higher requirements were attributable mainly to the fact that the Mission procured most of its planned fleet of vehicles, while the budget included only 75 per cent of the cost of the fleet. The remaining 25 per cent was to be acquired the following year.

	Variance
Air transportation	$30 707.6	46.9%

19. The lower requirements resulted primarily from reduced flying hours, owing to the deployment of fewer aircraft and delays in deploying them. The aircraft fleet consisted of only 22 rotary-wing and 2 fixed-wing aircraft, compared to 28 rotary-wing and 3 fixed-wing aircraft included in the budget, as this reduced fleet proved sufficient to cover the Mission's operational needs. In addition, two helicopters based on the military naval ship, which were not included in the budget, were temporarily utilized.

	Variance
Naval transportation	$2 200.0	30.9%

20. The lower requirements were attributable to the fact that the Mission used only one coastal freighter which was deployed late in June 2004 owing to contracting problems, and one military ship which departed the Mission after only four months of operation as it did not meet the Mission's operational requirements.

	Variance
Communications	$830.1	2.8%

21. The lower requirements resulted mainly from reduced requirements for commercial communications and communications services, owing to delayed deployment of civilian personnel to the Mission.

	Variance
Information technology	$184.6	1.6%

22. The reduced requirements resulted principally from the late implementation of a main licensing agreement due to the procurement process, which led to savings in licence fees.

	Variance
Medical	($3 826.9)	(99.0%)

23. The additional requirements were due mainly to higher self-sustainment expenditures resulting from the lower than budgeted delayed deployment rate of military contingents (actual delayed deployment rate was 11.9 per cent, compared to 35 per cent budgeted), and from the fact that actual memorandums of understanding provide for reimbursement of level III hospitals, which were not included in the budget.

	Variance
Special equipment	$258.5	8.2%

24. The lower requirements resulted from the fact that no observation equipment was procured, as the Mission received the equipment at no cost from other missions.

	Variance
Other supplies, services and equipment	$10 131.3	29.6%

25. The lower requirements were attributable mainly to the fact that the supply of rations to ex-combatants participating in the disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and repatriation programme of the Mission was taken over by the World Food Programme.

V. Actions to be taken by the General Assembly

26. The actions to be taken by the General Assembly in connection with the financing of UNMIL are:

(a) To decide on the treatment of the unencumbered balance of $16,315,600 with respect to the period from 1 August 2003 to 30 June 2004;

(b) To decide on the treatment of other income/adjustments for the period ended 30 June 2004 amounting to $719,000 from interest income ($679,000) and other/miscellaneous income ($40,000).
