I. Introduction

1. The present annual report of the Secretary-General on the composition of the Secretariat is submitted pursuant to General Assembly resolutions concerning human resources management, the most recent of which are resolutions 57/305, 59/266, 60/238, 61/244 and 63/250. The report, covering the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009, provides information on important demographic characteristics of the Secretariat and the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff (see annex I).
2. To present a snapshot of the global Secretariat staff, the population of the current report includes all staff with valid contracts ${ }^{1}$ as at 30 June 2009, irrespective of source of funding, type of appointment, duration of contract, level or duty station. Staff included in the analysis are those serving at headquarters duty stations (Geneva, Nairobi, New York and Vienna), at the regional commissions (Economic Commission for Africa, Economic Commission for Europe, Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific and Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia), in field locations where they are administered by the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the Department of Political Affairs, the Department of Public Information, the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs, the Office for Disarmament Affairs, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, the Office of Internal Oversight Services, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, the United Nations Environment Programme, the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat) and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support and at the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda.
3. For analytical purposes, the data are reviewed in several categories as at 30 June 2009: (a) the global staff of the Secretariat (39,978 active staff) with contracts of varying durations; (b) 32,389 staff with contracts of one year or longer; (c) 13,270 staff appointed under the 100 series of the Staff Rules with contracts of one year or longer; and (d) 2,809 staff in posts subject to geographical distribution in the Secretariat.
4. Of the 32,389 staff with contracts of one year or longer, 13,270 staff are those who went through the full competitive process and were appointed under the 100 series of the Staff Rules.
5. Section II.A of the present report provides an analysis of all staff (39,978 staff) by category and grade, department or office, nationality, gender, age and type of appointment as at 30 June 2009.

[^1]6. Section II.B presents information related to staff with contracts of one year or longer ( 32,389 staff) and compares staffing levels in various United Nations organizations, funds and programmes.
7. Section II.C contains an analysis of staff with appointments of one year or longer under the 100 series of the Staff Rules (13,270 staff). ${ }^{2}$ The analysis considers such demographic characteristics as type of appointment, length of service, age, staff movements (recruitment, promotions, separation, mobility, turnover, etc.) and anticipated retirements in the coming five years (July 2009-December 2013). Demographic information as at 30 June 2009 is provided. Information on staff movements covers the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009. Data in the report are drawn from the Integrated Management Information System and the Field Personnel Management System and data provided by other organizations or entities of the common system.
8. Section II.D provides information on the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff. It contains information on the methodology used for calculating the desirable ranges and focuses on staff appointed under this system (2,809 staff). This group consists of staff appointed by the Secretary-General at the Professional and higher categories for a duration of one year or longer to posts financed from the regular budget and excludes staff appointed to the secretariats of subsidiary programmes, funds and organs with special status in matters of appointment. An analysis is provided of the main characteristics of these staff and changes over time in the population. The section also contains a forecast of expected staff retirements in the next five years and an updated analysis of the level of underrepresentation of Member States.
9. Section III provides information on the geographical representation of staff at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, as requested by the General Assembly in its resolution 61/244.
10. Section IV provides information on the status of implementation of human resources action plans.
11. The list of staff of the United Nations Secretariat, which is published as a separate document (ST/ADM/R.64), identifies staff by organizational entity, functional title, level, nationality and contractual status as of 1 July 2009.

17. Nationals of all 192 Member States are represented among the Secretariat staff. A total of 177 Member States are represented by staff in posts subject to geographical distribution. There are more than 1,000 nationals in the Secretariat from each of the following nine Member States: Afghanistan, Democratic Republic of the Congo, France, Haiti, Kenya, Lebanon, Liberia, Sudan and United States of America.

4. Staff by gender

18. Of the global Secretariat staff, 26,538 , or 66.46 per cent, are men and 13,440 , or 33.6 per cent, are women. Of the 14,837 locally recruited staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support, 82.6 per cent are men.
19. In the two most senior grades of the Secretariat (Under-Secretary-General and Assistant Secretary-General), women represent 19.8 per cent of the total of 126 staff. Female representation in the Director category is 27.7 per cent of 589 staff ( 25.5 per cent at the $\mathrm{D}-2$ level and 28.4 per cent at the $\mathrm{D}-1$ level). In the Professional category, the proportion of women is 40.6 per cent. Gender parity has been attained at the P-1 and P-2 levels: 59.6 per cent of staff at the P-1 level and 52.9 per cent at the $\mathrm{P}-2$ level are women. Gender parity has not been achieved at the higher Professional levels: women comprise 43.1 per cent of staff at the P-3 level, 36.7 per cent at the $\mathrm{P}-4$ level and 30.8 per cent at the $\mathrm{P}-5$ level. Women comprise 53.8 per cent of Professional staff serving as interpreters, revisers and translators. Women comprise 31.0 per cent of the 28,424 staff in the General Service and related categories and 19.5 per cent of the 18,996 General Service staff in field missions administered by the Department of Field Support.
20. Figure VI indicates that 14 departments and offices in the Secretariat have either achieved gender parity or have more female than male staff in the Professional and higher categories, 12 departments and offices have between 40 and 49 per cent women, 14 departments and offices and the field operations administered by the Department of Field Support taken as a whole have between 30 and 39 per cent and 4 have less than 30 per cent.

${ }^{\text {a }}$ Data for the Department of Management represent the aggregated percentage for the Office of the Under-Secretary-General for Management (48.8 per cent), the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts ( 53.5 per cent), the Office of Human Resources Management ( 56.7 per cent), the Office of Central Support Services ( 45.5 per cent), the Capital Master Plan Office ( 25.0 per cent) and the secretariats of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, the Board of Auditors and Panel of External Auditors ( 66.7 per cent) and the Independent Audit Advisory Committee.
5. Staff by age
21. As at 30 June 2009, the average age of the staff in the Secretariat was 42.2 years; 21,611 staff, or 54.1 per cent, were younger than the average age (see fig. VII).

(Population: 39,978)

6. Staff by type of appointment

22. As at 30 June 2009, 10.2 per cent of staff held permanent or probationary appointments, as illustrated in figure VIII. Permanent appointments were held by 24.8 per cent of directors, 23.8 per cent of staff in the Professional category and 6.5 per cent of staff in the General Service and related categories. Among staff with permanent appointments, 76.2 per cent were in regular budget posts and 23.8 per cent were in other posts. Of staff in regular budget posts, 35.3 per cent had permanent appointments; 3.1 per cent of staff in other posts had permanent appointments.
23. The current proportion of permanent appointments for staff in posts subject to geographical distribution is 51.0 per cent $(1,433$ of 2,809$)$. The proportion of staff with probationary appointments stands at 5.8 per cent $(164$ of 2,809$)$.
24. The percentage of permanent and fixed-term appointments varies across departments and offices, depending mainly on the source of funding. Entities funded mainly from sources other than the regular budget have the lowest rate of permanent appointees among their staff: field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (1.1 per cent), Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs ( 5.9 per cent), Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 7.4 per cent), United Nations Environment Programme ( 9.4 per cent) and UN-Habitat (10 per cent). Entities funded mainly from the regular budget have the highest percentage of permanent appointments: Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (49.0 per cent), Office of Legal Affairs (42.2 per cent), Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific ( 35.7 per cent), Economic Commission for Europe ( 30.6 per cent) and Department of Management (30.5 per cent).

Staff on contracts of less than one year
25. A total of 5,201 staff ( 13.0 per cent of all staff) hold contracts of less than one year. Of that total, 4,264 are staff of field missions administered by the Department of Field Support, and the remaining 937 staff are divided among 45 other departments, with the United Nations Office at Geneva leading the way with 156 staff, the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean with 61 staff and the United Nations Office at Vienna with 63 staff.

B. Staff of the Secretariat and related entities in the United Nations system

26. A total of 34,268 staff (including 1,879 staff of the international tribunals), constituting 94.5 per cent of the staff of the Secretariat, are on contracts of one year or longer, as shown in table 2. This population is used only for the purpose of comparing staffing levels in various United Nations organizations, funds and programmes. Data reported to the Secretariat by such related entities in the United Nations system are for staff holding appointments of one year or longer.
27. The general principles of the Staff Rules apply to all staff of the United Nations, including the staff of the secretariats of subsidiary programmes, funds and organs that have special status in matters of appointment, as granted by the General Assembly. These include the United Nations Children's Fund, the United Nations Development Programme, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East, the United Nations University, the secretariat of the International Civil Service Commission, the secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund, the Registry of the International Court of Justice, the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda and the International Trade Centre UNCTAD/WTO (ITC).
28. As at 30 June 2009, the total number of staff of the United Nations Secretariat and those organizations with special status holding appointments of one year or longer amounted to 62,667 (see table 2). Of the total, 28,429 staff members serve with related entities of the United Nations and 34,268 , of whom 34.2 per cent are women, with the Secretariat and the tribunals (see fig. IX).

C. Analysis of United Nations Secretariat staff on contracts of one year or longer under the $\mathbf{1 0 0}$ series of the Staff Rules

29. The presentation and analysis below cover Secretariat staff holding 100-series appointments of one year or longer, irrespective of category, type of appointment or source of funding. In conformity with these criteria, the base figure used for demographic analysis as at 30 June 2009 is 13,270 . Secretariat-wide data and projections for the period 2009 to 2013 have been drawn from IMIS. In order to avoid repetition, the analysis below excludes a number of the demographic characteristics (staff breakdown by category and grade, by nationality and by duration of contract) presented in section $A$ above.

Number of staff holding contracts of one year or longer under the 100 series of the Staff Rules by entity as at 30 June 2009
(Population: 13,270)

Note: The figure for FMADFS represents seconded staff from United Nations common system entities and Secretariat staff on assignment from their parent offices.
${ }^{\text {a }}$ The Department of Management includes staff of the office of the Under-Secretary-General, the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts, the Office of Human Resources Management, the Office of Central Support Services, the Capital Master Plan Office and the secretariats of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, the Board of Auditors and Panel of External Auditors and the Independent Audit Advisory Committee.

1. Demographic profile of Secretariat staff

(a) Staff by department or office
30. Figure $X$ shows the breakdown of staff by department, office or other entity. A total of 9,401 staff ( 70.8 per cent) of Secretariat staff in this population serve in 13 departments and offices with more than 500 staff each. The three departments with the largest number of staff are the United Nations Office at Geneva (9.5 per cent, 1,258 staff), the Department of Management ${ }^{3}$ ( 8.4 per cent, 1,112 staff) and the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 8.3 per cent, 1,101 staff). Staff at United Nations Headquarters (either located in New York or directly administered by Headquarters departments) represent 43.3 per cent of all Secretariat staff. Offices away from Headquarters (Addis Ababa, Bangkok, Beirut, Geneva, Nairobi, Santiago and Vienna) and their sub-offices employ 56.7 per cent of the staff, with the largest number at the United Nations Office at Geneva (16.7 per cent).

(b) Staff by nationality

31. Nationals of 182 Member States are represented in the population of staff holding appointments of one year or longer under the 100 series of the Staff Rules. A total of 177 Member States are represented by staff in posts subject to geographical distribution, while 10 have no nationals among staff with appointments of one year or longer (Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, Kiribati, Kuwait, Marshall Islands, Monaco, Nauru, Palau, Sao Tome and Principe, Timor-Leste and United Arab Emirates).

(c) Staff by gender

32. Secretariat staff with appointments of one year or longer under the 100 series of the Staff Rules $(13,270)$ display an almost evenly balanced female to male distribution (50.5/49.5). This figure does not reflect significant differences in gender representation by level, category or department or office.
33. In spite of a general increase in female staff representation in all categories, the two most senior levels in the Secretariat (Under-Secretary-General and Assistant Secretary-General) have a low rate of female representation ( 25.0 per cent of 80 staff). Female staff are also poorly represented in the Director category ( 32.7 per cent of 437 staff). Currently, female representation levels in the D-2 and D-1 grades stand at 32.4 per cent ( 35 female staff) and 32.8 per cent ( 108 female staff), respectively. In the Professional category, the proportion of female staff is 44.0 per cent ( 2,325 female staff). It is higher at entry levels ( 57.7 per cent of 622 staff at the P-2 level and 48.9 per cent of 1,760 staff at the P-3 level). Female staff constitute the majority ( 59.8 per cent of 6,950 staff) in the General Service category. Two groups continue to have very low female staffing: the Trades and Crafts category (1.8 per cent of 168 staff) and the Security category (15.2 per cent of 349 staff).

[^4]34. In seven departments or offices with more than 25 staff in the Professional category has either gender parity been achieved or the number of women in the Professional and higher categories exceeded that of men. Ten departments and offices have between 40 and 49 per cent female staff, eight between 30 and 39 per cent and three have less than 30 per cent.

(d) Staff by age

35. As at 30 June 2009, the average age of staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer was 45.1 years (compared with 45.5 years as at 30 June 2008), 49.5 per cent of all Secretariat staff were older than 45 , 44.9 per cent were between 31 and 45 years of age and 5.6 per cent were aged 30 or less. This pattern is illustrated in figures XI and XII, which show, respectively, the age distribution of female and male staff and the distribution of age groups in the Secretariat. The highest average age of staff is among under-secretaries-general and assistant secretaries-general ( 60.5 years), followed by those in the Director category ( 54.5 years). The average age of staff in the Professional category is 45.4 years, and at the P-2 grade, 36.7 years. The average age of staff in the General Service category is 44.4 years, in the Security category, 37.9 years and in the Trades and Crafts category, 48.0 years.
36. The average age of female directors is one month younger than that of male staff, while male staff in the Professional category are, on average, 36 months older than their female colleagues. Male security officers on average are nearly three years and 10 months older than their female colleagues. For General Service staff, the average age of male staff is about 23 months lower than that of female staff.
37. Among departments with 25 Professionals or more, the youngest staff in the Professional category are found in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General (average age of 39.9 years), the Office of Legal Affairs and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (41.3 years each) and the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (41.6 years). The oldest staff are in the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (average of 48.4 years), the Department of Safety and Security and the Economic Commission for Africa (47.8 years each), the United Nations Office at Nairobi and the United Nations Office at Vienna (47.5 years each) and the United Nations Office at Geneva and the Department of Public Information (47.3 years each).
38. For all categories of staff in departments with a minimum of 75 staff members, the departments and offices with the lowest average age are the Department of Safety and Security ( 40.4 years), the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (42.3 years), the Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 42.5 years) and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs, Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and United Nations Office at Nairobi (42.7 years each). The highest overall average ages are found in the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (47.9 years), the field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (47.4 years), the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (47.1 years), and the Economic Commission for Europe and United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (47.0 years each).

(e) Staff by length of service

39. The average length of service for all staff and all types of appointment under the 100 series of the Staff Rules is 11.4 years (14.7 years for directors, 10.1 years for staff in the Professional category, 12.2 years for those in the General Service category, 8.8 years in the Security category and 16.3 years in the Trades and Crafts category).
40. The average length of service for staff with permanent appointments is 19.1 years ( 25.3 years for directors, 13.8 years for staff in the Professional category, 14.9 years for those in the General Service category, 26.4 for those in the Security category and 27.2 for those in the Trades and Crafts category). In the Professional category and above, the longer service time for directors correlates with their higher average age. The average length of service of staff holding fixed-term appointments of one year or longer is 7.8 years ( 9.5 years for directors, 7.1 years for staff in the Professional category, 8.2 years for those in the General Service category, 6.2 for those in the Security category and 9.3 for those in the Trades and Crafts category).
41. The average length of service in departments and offices that have at least 30 staff members ranges from those in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 5.6 years), the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate ( 7.7 years), the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (8.5 years) and the Department of Safety and Security ( 8.7 years) at the low end, to those of the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (14.4 years), the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific and United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (13.6 years each) and the United Nations Office at Geneva (13.0 years) at the high end. A lower than average duration of service results from one or a combination of a number of factors, such as a younger than usual staff population, a high number of recent recruits, a higher rate of staff turnover, the recent establishment of a new office or an increase in the number of appointments of limited duration. An average length of service at the departmental or office level that is higher than the Secretariat indicates an older population with a lower turnover rate.

2. Movements of staff between 1 July 2008 and 30 June 2009

42. The analysis below is based on movements, including recruitment, separation, promotion and transfer between departments and offices, of staff under the 100 series of the Staff Rules with appointments of one year or longer in the Secretariat during the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009. That population includes staff in both the Professional and higher categories and the General Service and related categories.

(a) Recruitment

43. Figure XIII illustrates that, between 1 July 2008 and 30 June 2009, 1,132 staff were recruited in the Secretariat for posts under the 100 series of the Staff Rules with appointments of one year or longer. In the Professional category and above (513 staff, or 40.8 per cent of all recruits), the following departments recruited the largest number of staff: Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 73 staff, 15.8 per cent), Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (45 staff, 9.7 per cent), Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights ( 36 staff, 7.8 per cent) and Department of Management ( 35 staff, 7.6 per cent).
44. Of the 462 staff recruited at the Professional level, 108 staff recruited at the P-2 level accounted for 9.5 per cent of all recruits and for 21.1 per cent of recruits in the Professional category. The main departments recruiting staff at the P-2 level were the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 15 staff, 13.9 per cent), the Department of Management, the Office of Internal Oversight Services and United Nations Office at Geneva ( 8 staff, 7.4 per cent each) and the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (6 staff, 5.6 per cent).
45. A total of 619 staff, or 54.7 per cent of all staff recruited during the reporting period, were in the General Service and related categories.
46. Women accounted for 50.3 per cent of all staff recruited ( 569 women among 1,132 staff) during the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009. At the Under-Secretary-General level, two of the five recruits were women and one of eight at the Assistant Secretary-General level was a woman. In the Director category, women accounted for 44.7 per cent of recruits ( 17 of 38 ) and in the Professional category, 41.9 per cent were women ( 215 of 513). In the General Service and related categories, 334 staff, or 54.0 per cent, of staff recruited were women.
47. The following departments or offices account for two thirds of all recruitments: Department of Management ( 10.0 per cent, 113 staff), Department of Peacekeeping Operations ( 7.6 per cent, 86 staff), Department for General Assembly and Conference Management ( 7.4 per cent, 84 staff), United Nations Environment Programme ( 7.2 per cent, 81 staff), Department of Field Support ( 5.7 per cent, 64 staff), United Nations Office at Geneva (5.4 per cent, 61 staff), United Nations Office at Nairobi (5.3 per cent, 60 staff), Department of Safety and Security ( 5.0 per cent, 57 staff), Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (4.8 per cent, 54 staff), Economic Commission for Africa (4.6 per cent, 52 staff) and Department of Public Information (4.0 per cent, 45 staff).

(Population: 13,270)

(b) Separation
48. Separation is the movement of staff out of the Secretariat owing to retirement, resignation, expiry of appointment, agreed termination, inter-agency transfer, termination for health reasons, death, termination or abandonment of post or dismissal for misconduct. Between 1 July 2008 and 30 June 2009, 868 staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer separated, compared with 933 separations registered during the period from 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. Among them, 372 were retirements ( 42.9 per cent), 236 were resignations ( 27.2 per cent) and 181 were due to expiration of appointment ( 20.9 per cent). By category, 5.9 per cent were in the Director category and above, 31.3 per cent were in the Professional category and 61.4 per cent were in the General Service and related categories. A total of 11 staff at the P-2 level separated, accounting for 1.3 per cent of all separations and 4.0 per cent of separations at the Professional level. Separations of female staff accounted for 49.4 per cent of all staff departures. As indicated in figure XIV, while female staff accounted for 34.3 per cent of separations in the Professional and higher categories, they constituted 58.9 per cent in the General Service and related categories. Two thirds of staff who separated were from field missions administered by the Department of Field Support (90), the Department of Management (78), the United Nations Office at Geneva (73), the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (71), the United Nations Environment Programme (46), the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (45), the Department of Public Information (42), the Economic Commission for Africa and Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (36 each), the Department of Peacekeeping Operations (33) and the Department of Field Support (30).

49. Between 1 July 2008 and 30 June 2009, a total of 236 staff resigned, accounting for 27.2 per cent of all separations. The number of resignations included 3 under-secretaries-general, 2 assistant secretaries-general, 4 directors, 68 staff in the Professional category and 156 staff in the General Service and related categories. In the Professional category, 14 staff at the P-5 level resigned ( 20.6 per cent of total resignations), 17 staff at the P-4 level resigned ( 25.0 per cent), 31 staff at the P-3 level resigned ( 45.6 per cent) and 6 staff at the P-2/1 level resigned (8.9 per cent).

(c) Promotion

50. Promotion is the movement of staff to a higher grade, except for the movement of staff to the Professional category from the General Service and related categories which, pursuant to General Assembly resolution $55 / 258$, is considered recruitment. During the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009, 1,382 promotions were registered in the Secretariat. The gender distribution of the promotions showed the percentage breakdown to be 45.5 per cent for men ( 629 promotions) and 54.5 per cent for women ( 753 promotions). Women comprised 31.6 per cent of the promotions in the Director category, 46.0 per cent in the Professional category and 59.4 per cent in the General Service and related categories.

(d) Transfer

51. Transfers are lateral movements of staff involving two departments or offices at one or more duty stations. During the period under review, there were 352 transfers throughout the Secretariat. Female staff accounted for 215, or 61.1 per cent, of transfers. There were more transfers among staff with fixed-term appointments ( 65.3 per cent) than among staff with permanent or probationary appointments (34.7 per cent).
52. Most transfers were to the United Nations Office at Geneva (46), Department of Management (43), Department of Economic and Social Affairs (20), Department of Field Support (19) and Department of Peacekeeping Operations (17).
53. In section VIII of its resolution 57/305, the General Assembly approved the proposal of the Secretary-General on the placement of staff members serving in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General (see A/56/816) and requested him to report on the implementation of the procedure. During the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009, four staff were transferred from the Executive Office of the Secretary-General to posts at the same level in other departments and offices.

(e) Turnover

54. Turnover rates are based on the calculation of a standard labour turnover index, which is obtained by comparing the number of actual staff departures over the reporting period with the number of active staff. Turnover indices for the period 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009 are presented in table 3 by category of staff and take into account all causes of separation during the reporting period. As requested by the General Assembly in its resolution 61/244, section I, paragraph 5, the turnover rate is reported by grade level in the Professional and Director categories, including in field missions. The overall turnover index stands at 9.7. The Director level, at 16.5, has the highest turnover index. Turnover in the Professional category stands at 10.9 and for the General Service and related categories at 8.6.

(f) Forecast of anticipated retirements in the Secretariat

55. Each year, a number of staff leave the Organization for various reasons. The yearly attrition rate is the result of anticipated retirements and unforeseeable events. Figure XV illustrates anticipated retirements by category for the period 2009-2013.
56. A total of 1,720 Secretariat staff will reach the mandatory age of separation during the period 2009-2013. This represents 13.0 per cent of the current workforce of staff holding a 100 -series appointment of one year or longer $(13,270)$. In the next four and a half years, an average of 382 staff will retire each year, ranging from a low of 318 in 2010 to a high of 374 in 2012. Figure XV indicates that, between 1 July 2009 and 31 December 2013, 163 directors will retire, accounting for 9.5 per cent of all retirements, 626 staff ( 36.4 per cent) will retire from the Professional category and 931 staff ( 54.1 per cent) will retire from the General Service and related categories. Between 1 July 2009 and 31 December 2013, over all categories, more women than men will retire. In the Professional and higher categories ( $\mathrm{P}-2$ to D-2), 64.1 per cent of the retirees will be male.

a Data for 2009 include 52 staff in the Professional category, 16 directors and 108 General Service and related categories who retired in the first six months of the year. Service and related categories who retired in the first six months of the year.
57. Of the 163 directors who will retire during the period from 1 July 2009 to 31 December 2013, 120 are on posts subject to geographical distribution.

D. Staff subject to the system of desirable ranges

58. By its resolution $42 / 220$ A, the General Assembly introduced the current system of desirable ranges, which is based, with effect from 1 January 1988, on the following criteria:
(a) The base figure for the calculations would initially be 2,700 posts;
(b) The weight of the membership factor would be 40 per cent of the base figure;
(c) The population factor, which would be allotted a weight of 5 per cent, would be directly related to the population of Member States and posts subject to that factor would be distributed among Member States in proportion to their population;
(d) The contribution factor would be based on the distribution of the remaining posts among Member States in proportion to the scale of assessments;
(e) The upper and lower limits of each range would be based on a flexibility of 15 per cent upwards and downwards from the midpoint of the desirable range, but not less than 4.8 posts up or down, the upper limit of the range being not less than 14 posts;
(f) The base figure would be adjusted whenever the actual number of posts subject to geographical distribution increased or decreased by 100 , the weights of the three factors being maintained.
59. Changes in the representation status of a Member State may result from a number of factors, such as appointment or separation of staff, adjustments of the desirable range because of an increase or decrease in the number of posts subject to geographical distribution, changes in the number of Member States, changes in the scale of assessments, changes in the population of a Member State and changes in the status of individual staff members (such as departure on secondment or special leave without pay, return from secondment or special leave or change in nationality).
60. In compliance with section III of General Assembly resolution 42/220 A, owing to the creation of additional posts, the base figure of posts subject to the system of desirable ranges was set at 2,700 in 1988. This number depends on the number of posts subject to geographical distribution but is not equal to it. The base figure is adjusted whenever the actual number of posts (budgeted) subject to geographical distribution increases or decreases by 100. During the reporting period, the base figure has been set at 3,300 owing to a change in the number of posts in the Professional and higher categories subject to the system of desirable ranges, which now stands at 3,339 . For more details on the calculation of ranges and the midpoint, see annex I.
61. At present, 2,809 staff are on posts subject to geographical distribution as described in the paragraphs above. Staff under the system of desirable ranges are appointed by the Secretary-General under the 100 series of the Staff Rules for a period of at least one year to posts subject to geographical distribution in the Professional and higher categories funded under the regular budget. ${ }^{4}$
62. The representation of Member States falls into four categories: unrepresented, underrepresented, within range and overrepresented. A Member State is unrepresented when none of its nationals has been appointed to a post subject to geographical distribution; it is underrepresented when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts is below the lower limit of the desirable range; it is within range when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts is between the upper and lower limits of the desirable range; and it is overrepresented when the number of its nationals appointed to such posts exceeds the upper limit of the desirable range.

1. Representation of Member States in the system of desirable ranges

63. As at 30 June 2009, 15 Member States were unrepresented (Bahrain, Comoros, Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, Kiribati, Kuwait, Liechtenstein, Marshall Islands, Monaco, Montenegro, Nauru, Palau, Sao Tome and Principe, Timor-Leste, United Arab Emirates and Vanuatu), one fewer than in June 2008. There were 30 underrepresented Member States (Afghanistan, Angola, Antigua and Barbuda, Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Denmark, Finland, Iraq, Japan, Lao People’s Democratic Republic, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Lithuania, Mexico, Micronesia (Federated States of), Norway, Oman, Qatar, Republic of Korea, Samoa, Saudi Arabia, Sierra Leone, Slovenia, Solomon Islands, Spain, Tonga, Turkmenistan, Tuvalu, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America and Yemen) compared with 24 in June 2008 and 22 Member States were overrepresented, compared with 21 in June 2008 (Argentina, Australia, Austria, Brazil, Bulgaria, Cameroon, Canada, Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, Italy, Kenya, Lebanon, Philippines, Romania, Russian Federation, South Africa, Trinidad and Tobago, Uganda, Ukraine, Venezuela and Zimbabwe). The remaining 125 Member States were within range. The increase in the number of underrepresented Member States was largely caused by the increase in the number of budgeted posts subject to geographical distribution to 3,339 and a peak in retirements among staff members from the newly underrepresented Member States.
64. The evolution of the representation of Member States in terms of staff appointed under the system of desirable ranges for the five-year period from 2005 to 2009 is illustrated in figure XVI.
[^5]Figure XVI

65. Tables A. 3 to A. 10 in annex II provide information concerning posts subject to geographical distribution. The data in table A. 3 are arranged by nationality, grade and gender. The table indicates the midpoint of the desirable range and the range itself. The data in table A. 4 are arranged by nationality and type of appointment as at 30 June 2008 and 30 June 2009. Table A. 5 shows appointments by nationality, grade and gender for the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009, while table A. 6 shows appointments and separations by nationality, type of appointment and gender for the same period.

2. Representation of Member States at the senior and policymaking levels

66. In section X, paragraph 2, of its resolution 55/258, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General to take all necessary measures to ensure, at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, the equitable representation of

Member States, especially those with inadequate representation at those levels and unrepresented and underrepresented Member States, in particular developing countries, in accordance with the relevant resolutions of the Assembly, and to continue to include relevant information thereon in all future reports on the composition of the Secretariat. That request was reiterated by the Assembly in a series of resolutions, most recently resolution 63/250, section IX, paragraph 7.
67. Staff at the senior and policymaking levels are defined as those at the Principal Officer (D-1) grade and above. Table 4 presents data on senior officials appointed under the system of desirable ranges, as well as data on the representation of developing countries and other countries in posts subject to geographical distribution, based on the combined desirable ranges of each group compared with the number of staff from Member States of those groups. Table 4 also presents data on staff under the system of desirable ranges and staff at the D-1 grade and above, at the D-2 grade and above and at the grade of Assistant Secretary-General and above (for more detailed information on the representation of individual Member States at the senior and policymaking levels, see annex II, table A.10).
68. In table 4, the percentages of the combined desirable ranges of the three economic country groupings (developed countries, developing countries and countries with economies in transition) are compared to the percentages of staff from those groupings. The percentages of staff from developing and developed countries under the system of desirable ranges remained below the percentages of the combined desirable ranges of the same countries.

3. Female representation among staff under the system of desirable ranges

69. Since the forty-fifth session of the General Assembly and in compliance with General Assembly resolution 45/239 C, resolution 55/258, section XIV, paragraph 2, and resolution 57/305, section II, paragraphs 39 to 41, the Secretary-General has continued to report on efforts made to increase the number of women in posts subject to geographical distribution in the Secretariat, in particular in senior and policymaking posts. As at 30 June 2009, the number of female staff members at the D-1 level and above was 122, or 34.5 per cent of all staff at that level. Table A. 7 and section B of table A. 9 of annex II show staff in posts with special language requirements by nationality, grade and gender. The proportion of female staff in posts subject to geographical distribution for the five-year period 2005-2009 is illustrated in figure XVII.

4. Recruitment of staff under the system of desirable ranges

73. During the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009, 186 appointments were made under the system of desirable ranges (see annex II, table A.5). Of that total, 1 appointment ( 0.5 per cent) was a national of an unrepresented Member State, 14 (7.5 per cent) were nationals of underrepresented Member States, 147 ( 79.0 per cent) were nationals of Member States that were within the desirable range and 24 (12.9 per cent) were of nationals Member States that were overrepresented as at 30 June 2008.
74. Of the 186 appointments, 73 ( 39.2 per cent) were of candidates who had been successful in national competitive examinations for posts in the $\mathrm{P}-2$ and $\mathrm{P}-3$ grades. A total of 45 ( 61.6 per cent) of the 73 successful candidates in the examinations were women.
75. In 2009, 44 Member States participated in national competitive examinations (Afghanistan, Andorra, Angola, Antigua and Barbuda, Bangladesh, Botswana, Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Comoros, Congo, Denmark, Gabon, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Ireland, Japan, Kuwait, Lao People’s Democratic Republic, Lesotho, Liberia, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Marshall Islands, Mexico, Micronesia (Federated States of), Moldova, Monaco, Montenegro, Namibia, Norway, Oman, Palau, Republic of Korea, Samoa, San Marino, Saudi Arabia, Sierra Leone, Solomon Islands, Swaziland, Tajikistan, Tonga, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America and Yemen). These are unrepresented and underrepresented Member States and those in danger of becoming so. Examinations were given in eight occupational groups. ${ }^{5} \mathrm{~A}$ total of 109 candidates from the 2008 examinations were successful: 1 has been placed and 10 of the remaining 108 candidates on the roster are in the process of being recruited.
76. Of the 186 staff appointed 95 ( 51.1 per cent) were women, of whom 38 were from developed countries, 55 were from developing countries and 2 were from countries with economies in transition.
77. Among the 73 successful national competitive examination candidates, 35 (49.3 per cent) of the $71 \mathrm{P}-2$ candidates were recruited by offices away from Headquarters, while 36 ( 50.7 per cent) were recruited for posts in New York; one P-3 candidate was recruited by an office away from Headquarters and another for a post in New York. Table 7 presents placement data by entity for the period from 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009.

5. Forecasts of anticipated retirements of Secretariat staff under the system of desirable ranges

78. Of the current 2,809 staff on posts subject to geographical distribution, 493 will retire between 2009 and 2013. During the period from 1 January to 30 June 2009, 47 staff retired ( 12 directors and 35 staff in the Professional category). The remaining 446 staff, representing 13.5 per cent of staff against posts subject to the system of desirable ranges, will reach the mandatory retirement age between 1 July 2009 and December 2013. Retirements will average 100 staff members a year, ranging from a low of 83 in 2010 to a high of 103 in 2011. Figure XVIII indicates the breakdown between the Director and Professional categories.

Anticipated retirements by category for staff under the system of desirable ranges, 2009-2013
(Total anticipated retirements: 493) ${ }^{\text {a }}$

${ }^{\text {a }}$ Data for 2009 include 35 staff in the Professional category and 12 directors who retired in the first six months of the year.
79. All staff from five Member States (Afghanistan, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Qatar, Sierra Leone and Tuvalu) who are serving on posts subject to geographical distribution will retire in the next five years. Eight Member States (Iraq, Japan, Mexico, Republic of Korea, Saudi Arabia, Spain, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and United States of America) are underrepresented and will become further underrepresented if the numbers of their nationals expected to retire during this period are not balanced by a similar number of new recruitments. A total of 10 Member States (Bangladesh, Belarus, Belgium, Congo, India, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Lesotho, Morocco, Syrian Arab Republic and Viet Nam) will become underrepresented if the numbers of their nationals expected to retire during this period are not replaced by a similar number of new recruitments. For 45 Member States, the proportion of currently serving nationals expected to retire by 2013 is between 20 and 50 per cent of their current number of staff, for 33 Member States it is between 10 and 20 per cent of their current number of staff and for 9 Member States it is less than 10 per cent. For 72 Member States, no retirements of staff are expected in the next five years.

III. Geographical representation at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat

80. The General Assembly, in section X, paragraph 14, of its resolution 61/244, requested the Secretary-General to take all necessary measures to ensure, at the senior and policymaking levels of the Secretariat, equitable representation of

Member States, especially those with inadequate representation at those levels, and to include relevant information thereon in all future reports on the composition of the Secretariat.
81. The Secretary-General is committed especially to improving gender and geographical balance at the senior level of the Secretariat (D-2 and above).
82. In addition to setting the example in appointing women to many senior positions, the Secretary-General continues to request that recommendations for appointments at the D-2 level and above in the overall Secretariat contain a list of at least three qualified candidates that includes qualified women. This directive has been implemented. Moreover, interview panels which are gender and geographically balanced, to ensure proper consideration of all cases reviewed, have become the norm. Some progress in gender representation has been registered in the overall staff populations from the D-2 level to the Under-Secretary-General level at Headquarters during the past year. The Secretary-General has called on his senior advisers to follow his example and record greater progress in the current and coming years.
83. At the Assistant Secretary-General and Under-Secretary-General levels in the Secretariat (covering headquarters in New York, Geneva, Vienna and Nairobi, the regional commissions and peacekeeping and special political missions), the Secretary-General is advised by senior officials from 59 countries. He is committed to continuing to expand geographical representation at these levels. The SecretaryGeneral has also solicited nominations from Member States for such senior positions and will continue to do so.

IV. Implementation of human resources action plans

84. The General Assembly, in its resolution 57/305, requested the SecretaryGeneral to report annually on progress made by departments in the implementation of their respective human resources action plans. Subsequently, in resolution 59/266, the Assembly stressed the need for adequate mechanisms to ensure the accountability of programme managers for the achievement of objectives contained in the action plans and requested the Secretary-General to ensure that the reconstituted Accountability Panel (the Management Performance Board) had the authority necessary to hold programme managers accountable for their performance in achieving those objectives.
85. The human resources action plan is a compact between heads of departments and offices and the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management to facilitate and monitor the performance of each department and office in regard to the human resources objectives of the Organization. Up until the fifth cycle (2007-2008), the cycle for the plans was biennial. In 2009, the Office of Human Resources Management placed the human resources action plans on an annual cycle in order to align them with the management compacts and thus further promote departmental accountability.
86. Each human resources action plans includes standard measurable targets and indicators for nine key human resources management areas: vacancy management; geographical distribution; gender representation; staff mobility; performance appraisal; staff development; staff-management relations; employment of consultants; and employment of retirees. While heads of departments and offices commit themselves in writing at the start of each cycle to achieving the mutually agreed targets set out in their action plans, the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management undertakes to support their efforts to meet the targets in the plans
87. To further improve transparency and empower departments and offices, the Office of Human Resources Management in 2008 implemented an enhanced version of the action plan website. Comprehensive statistical data on action plan indicators, derived from various stand-alone data systems, are readily available on the website for review by departmental officials. New features include the ability to extract the underlying data in respect of all indicators, contributing to departmental awareness of their strengths and weaknesses.
88. The role of the Office of Human Resources Management includes the preparation of a performance score card for each department, as well as an overall organizational summary, which are provided to the Management Performance Board for review at the middle and the end of each cycle. The Management Performance Board reviewed performance results at the end of the fifth cycle (2007-2008) in April 2009. Following this review, the Deputy Secretary-General, who chairs the board, communicated the Board's findings to each head of department and office and requested them to submit planned measures to overcome any performance shortcomings.
89. All of the 31 departments and offices for which the human resources action plan is a meaningful tool participated in the sixth cycle. The human resources action plan has not been introduced to a number of offices with fewer than 20 staff (i.e., United Nations Compensation Commission and United Nations Administrative Tribunal) or which report directly to the Secretary-General (i.e., the Ombudsman) In July 2008, the Department of Field Support deployed the human resources action plan to 26 of its field missions.

Achievement of human resources objectives

90. Female selection and representation. The present report identifies a number of indications that demonstrate improvements in gender representation in the United Nations Secretariat. As indicated in paragraph 46, more than one half of the staff recruited under 100 series of the Staff Rules with appointments of one year or longer between 1 July 2008 and 30 June 2009 were women. Figure XVII shows that the female representation is evolving closer to the male one. As indicated in paragraph 76, more women were appointed on geographical posts than men. While the overall gender balance has not reached the goal of 50/50 gender distribution, these indications support a trend towards closing the gender gap. It is plausible that the human resources action plans, in which a number of targets for the selection of female candidates and increased representation of women within departments and offices are included, have contributed to these results.
91. Geography. As indicated in the present report, there have been improvements in geographical representation within the United Nations Secretariat. As indicated in figure XVI, the number of unrepresented countries has been going down consistently over the past three years. While the number of underrepresented countries has gone up, the underlying data show that this was due to a peak in retirements from the newly underrepresented countries over the past two years, as well as an increase in the number of budgeted posts subject to geographical distribution (see para. 63). Included in the human resources action plans are a number of targets on the selection of candidates from unrepresented and underrepresented Member States to further improve the geographical balance.
92. Staff development. After the introduction of the website on human resources action plans, departments were able to identify staff members who had yet to complete mandatory training courses (e.g., those on integrity awareness; prevention of workplace harassment, including sexual harassment, and abuse of authority in the workplace; professional ethics and integrity in daily work; and competency-based selection and interviewing skills) and could conduct targeted follow-up, contributing to a large increase in course completion. For example, in early 2007 when data collection on the website began, only 8 per cent of all staff had completed the integrity awareness online programme; this number reached 82 per cent at the end of 2008.

V. Conclusion

93. The Secretary-General invites the General Assembly to take note of the present report.

Annex I

System of desirable ranges

Method of calculation of the midpoint and ranges

1. Three factors are used to calculate the midpoint of the desirable range: the membership factor, the contribution factor and the population factor.
2. The membership factor is defined by the number of Member States and is the same for each Member State. It accounts for 40 per cent of the base figure and is equal to 6.9 posts for each Member State, which is the total number of posts for this factor ( 40 per cent of $3,300=1,320$ posts), divided by the number of Member States (192).
3. The contribution factor is based on the most recent scale of assessments agreed by the General Assembly; the number of posts allotted for each Member State varies proportionally. The contribution factor, which is different for each Member State, represents the total number of posts for that factor ( 55 per cent of $3,300=1,815$ posts) divided by 100 and multiplied by the Member State's most recent assessment percentage.
4. The population factor is based on the proportion of each Member State's population as compared with the global population of all Member States. The figures are based on United Nations statistics (population and vital statistics report) for each country. This factor is equal to the total number of posts for the population factor (5 per cent of $3,300=165$ posts) divided by the total population of all Member States and multiplied by the population of the relevant Member State.
5. Once the three factors have been calculated, the midpoint of the range is derived by adding the individual Member State's share of the membership factor, the contribution factor and the population factor. The upper and lower limits of each range are determined by adding or subtracting 15 per cent from the midpoint of the range. The General Assembly, in its resolution 42/220 A, specified that that flexibility must cover a minimum of 4.8 posts, which cannot be lower than 2 posts ( 6.9 from the membership factor minus the 4.8 posts for flexibility), with the upper limit of the range being not less than 14 posts.

Calculation of the weighted ranges

6. Table A. 8 of annex II provides data pertinent to the application of the system of desirable ranges for the geographical distribution of staff. It also shows the weighted distribution of staff and the weighted staff position for each Member State, in points.
7. As indicated in table A. 11 of annex II, the percentage of total staff at each level (column 2) is applied to the base figure of 3,300 (column 3). The resulting figure is weighted by the gross salary per annum in United States dollars divided by 1,000 (column 4) to produce a weighted base figure (column 5). As at 30 June 2009, the weighted average value of each post was 92.17 points (304,176/3,300). Accordingly, the weighted membership factor was 121,670 points ( 40 per cent of 304,176 ), the weighted population factor was 15,209 points ( 5 per cent) and the weighted contribution factor was 167,296 points ( 55 per cent). These figures represent the global numbers; for each Member State a separate calculation based on the same factors results in a weighted base figure. The weighted midpoint shown in table A. 8 represents the sum of the weighted membership, population and contribution factors, and the weighted range is calculated as 15 per cent upward and downward (but not less than 442 points up and down ( $4.8 \times 92.17$ ), with the upper limit being not less than 1,290 points ( $14 \times 92.17$ )). The weighted staff position for each Member State comprises the total number of staff of that country by grade, multiplied by the gross annual salary by grade.
