

General Assembly

Distr.: Limited
11 October 2002

Original: English

---

Fifty-seventh session

Sixth Committee

Agenda item 155

Report of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law on the work of its thirty-fifth session

Draft resolution

Enhancing coordination in the area of international trade law and strengthening the secretariat of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolution 2205 (XXI) of 17 December 1966, by which it established the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law with a mandate to further the progressive harmonization and unification of the law of international trade and in that respect to bear in mind the interests of all peoples, in particular those of developing countries, in the extensive development of international trade,

Having considered the report of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law on the work of its thirty-fifth session,<sup>1</sup>

Noting the demand from Member States, in particular developing countries, for the Commission to provide technical assistance and to prepare legal standards in an increasing number of areas, and that as a result the number of projects of the Commission has more than doubled as compared with previous years,

Noting also the increased need for coordination among a growing number of international organizations that formulate rules and standards for international trade, and the specific function to be performed by the Commission in that respect, as mandated by the General Assembly in its resolution 2205 (XXI) and reiterated in subsequent resolutions,

Satisfied that the current working methods of the Commission have proved their efficiency,

---

<sup>1</sup> Official Records of the General Assembly, Fifty-seventh Session, Supplement No. 17 (A/57/17).

Concerned, however, about the increased demands on personnel resources of the secretariat of the Commission resulting from the increased work programme, and its impending inability to continue servicing the Commission's working groups and performing other related tasks such as assisting Governments, which could also lead to the Commission having to defer or discontinue work on topics on its agenda and to reduce the number of its working groups,

1. Emphasizes the need for higher priority to be given to the work of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law in view of the increasing value of the modernization of international trade law for global economic development and thus for the maintenance of friendly relations among States;

2. Takes note of the recommendation contained in the report of the Office of Internal Oversight Services on the in-depth evaluation of legal affairs<sup>2</sup> that the Office of Legal Affairs should review the requirements of the Commission's secretariat entailed by the expansion in the number of its working groups from three to six and present to the Commission, at its upcoming review of the practical applications of the new working methods, different options that would ensure the necessary level of secretariat services;

3. Requests the Secretary-General to consider measures to strengthen the secretariat of the Commission within the bounds of the resources available in the Organization, if possible during the current biennium and in any case during the 2004-2005 biennium.

---

<sup>2</sup> E/AC.51/2002/5, recommendation 15.