The Effect of International Sanctions on Economic Situation of Iranian Society

Hazrat Javad-Al-Aemeh Cultural Charity Institute, with more than twenty years of experience in Educational, Cultural and Charitable fields, and now covering services to more than 4500 pre-school to senior high school students and 4000 university students, always works towards improving social-humanitarian index to accomplish supreme goals of the institute such as Human Dignity, Self-Confidence, Self-Esteem, Continuous Research, Innovation & Improvement and the Promotion of Charity Spirit, in the society.

In recent years, especially since 2012 when sanctions became more severe on Iran, humanitarian and social index were seriously affected in the country, and people and society were the main victim of this international policy. Considering its goals and outlook, Javad-Al-Aemeh Institute, feels necessity of reflecting this situation on international scene, and be the voice of its society and people on defending human and social rights, to play its role as a non-governmental organization.

According to World Bank Statistics, the rank of Iran in the Ease of Doing Business, during 2010 to 2015, experienced descending trend, and its sudden drop in 2012 is consistent to more severe sanctions in the same year. Again, in 2015 that negotiations between Iran and P5+1 improved, and some sanctions lifted from the shoulders of the people in the country, the rank of Iran in Doing Business improved tangibly. The mentioned improvement, verifies the hypothesis that international sanctions have affected Iranian Doing Business, strongly.

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015
Rank of Iran/Total	121/183	129/183	144/183	145/185	152/189	130/189

On the other hand, Islamic Parliament Research Centre has assessed Doing Business in Iran since 2010, which is accomplished by 281 economic unions all over the country. The unions did the assessment by 29 justified indicators of National Doing Business Environment, and thus clarified the rank of most effective indicators. According to this report, in addition to unfavourable outcome (5.87 of 10) which still existed in spring 2015, international sanctions were determined the third unpleasant indicator. Since 2010 up until now, the worst average was related to summer 2012, when the sanctions became more severe. At the same time, 12% of participating unions believed that nuclear agreement would not affect their enterprise in short term, while almost 77% believed it would affect their business in short term.

The direct impact of worsening situation of Doing Business in Iran during these years was: 1.low and negative economic growth, 2.ascending unemployment rate, 3.increasing immigration of graduates and 4.increasing the population below poverty line. All these consequences imply that sanctions have disturbed the ordinary life of people in Iran.

In the following, the data of economic growth, unemployment rate, immigration of graduates and the population below the poverty line, have been classified, according to World Bank Reports.

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015
Economic Growth Rate	6.6%	3.9%	-6.6%	-1.9%	1.5%	2.2%

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015
Unemployment Rate	13.5%	12.3%	12.2%	10.4%	11.6%	12.2%

The data of unemployment rate has been driven from official statistics, while the informal data assess it up to 20% in Iran. Even the rate is 20.3% and 24% among women and youth consequently, which is recognized as the main reason of high immigration rate.

Annually, around 150 thousand university graduates leave the country. It is possibly because, almost 700 thousand work forces enter the market of Iran, whereas the job opportunities in the country during sanction era has been less than 200 thousand, yearly.

Based on World Bank Statistics in 2005, the population living in poverty, estimated 1.45%, but when the poverty line reached to $2.5 and $3.5 consequently, around 4 to 6% of the whole population in Iran lives below poverty line by now. Thus, the statistics show how much Iranian people are vulnerable against the fluctuations of economic situation, currency rate, rising cost of essential commodities. In other words, imposing sanctions which is applied by International entities, affects people lives more than everything, and deprive them from primary rights. Even, Secretary General of the United Nations, Ban Ki-moon, in the report to the U.N. General Assembly released on Aug 22, 2012, mentioned: "the sanctions imposed on the Islamic Republic of Iran, have had significant effects on the general population."

Reuters news agency quoted Ban Ki-moon: "the sanctions imposed on the Islamic Republic of Iran, have had significant effects on the general population, including an escalation in inflation, a rise in commodities and energy costs, an increase in the rate of unemployment and a shortage of necessary items, including medicine. The sanctions also appear to be affecting humanitarian operations in the country."

What this report tries to highlight is the issue that, imposing sanctions as a main and prevalent tools which International entities and actors apply to widespread justice and human right principals, according to article 1 of the United Nations Charter, is operating against Human Rights. According to article 3 of the Declaration of Human Rights, everyone has the right of life, liberty and security, whilst the assessment of economic situation of Iran in the sanction era, clearly indicated the consequences in the shape of poverty and unemployment which gradually provoke insecurity in the society, widely.

Therefore, if the United Nations and its agencies tend to move towards the U.N. Charter, and implement Sustainable Development Goals such as End Poverty in All its Shapes Everywhere, imposing sanctions is a failing rule. It is essential that changing this rule is placed on the agenda of HRC as an entity supporting Human Rights.
