Supplementary report to the national report on counter-terrorism activities of the Republic of Bulgaria in implementation of resolution 1373 (2001) of the Security Council on measures to be adopted by the United Nations Member States for the suppression of terrorism

In implementation of Article 6 of Resolution 1373 (2001) and in response to the letter of the Chairman of the Counter-Terrorism Committee, # S/AC.40/2002/MS/OC.31 of 1 April 2002 we hereby provide the answers to the additional questions regarding the National Report on Counter-Terrorism Activities undertaken by the Republic of Bulgaria in Implementation of Resolution 1373 (2001).

Sub-paragraphs 1 (b) and (c):

Please provide the CTC with a progress report and an outline of the proposed amendments to the Criminal Code containing a special text on terrorism and of the draft Law on Suppression of Terrorism, introducing a mechanism for freezing financial assets, as referred to in sub-paragraph 1 (e) of the report. Will these new legal provisions provide for freezing of the whole range of funds and other financial assets or economic resources mentioned in sub-paragraph 1 (c)?

The draft amendment to the Criminal Code, which along with the other texts, introduces a legal definition of "terrorism", was approved by the Council of Ministers on 11 April 2002 and since May 2002 has been under discussion at the permanent commissions of the National Assembly. It is expected to be adopted by the beginning of September 2002.

The definition of this concept, in accordance with the draft, has been also envisaged in the draft Law on Measures against Financing of Terrorism, which was approved by the Council of Ministers on 13 June 2002 and has been put forward for consideration by the National Assembly.

The purposes of this law are to prevent and detect financing of terrorism perpetrated by any person or entity. Pursuant to the law, all funds, financial assets and property owned or controlled by persons included in a list adopted by the Council of Ministers shall be frozen, regardless of the fact in whose possession they are. Exempt are only property rights, which according to the legislation in force, cannot be subject to judicial impediment. The Minister of the Interior and the Minister of Finance are entrusted to enforce the law.

Sub-paragraph 1 (d):

- The report states that the Financial Intelligence Agency has prepared measures for broadening the scope of the system for reporting operations. Please explain if these measures will have the force of law.
- Does Bulgaria intend to create legal safeguards to prevent funds received by non-profit organizations such as charities, from being diverted from their stated purposes, for example, to purposes connected with terrorist activities?
- The report indicates that measures to identify unlawful systems of alternative payments are being worked out and applied. Please provide additional information on the measures proposed. Do those measures include the regulation by law of alternative payment systems?
- Please provide further information on the Ministry of Finance's motion on amendments mentioned in sub-paragraph 1(e) of the report?

- The measures for broadening the scope of the system for reporting suspicious operations are envisaged in the draft Law on Measures against Financing of Terrorism. An obligation has been created for persons under the Law on Measures against Money Laundering to also report on suspicious operations considered risky in terms of financing terrorist activities. The requirements for identifying, recognizing the customer, keeping the records and reporting according to the Law on Measures against Money Laundering are also applicable in terms of financing terrorism.
- The non-profit organizations are entities, obliged to report under the Law on Measures against Money Laundering. With respect to them such an obligation will arise with the adoption of the Law on Measures against Financing of Terrorism. As entities obliged under these laws they are subject to the control and the sanction competency of both the Financial Intelligence Agency and the Ministry of the Interior under the Law on Measures against Financing of Terrorism.
- The activity concerning payments is regulated in the Law on Banks and the Law on Postal Services. According to the Law on Banks, operations on non-cash payments and clearing of checking accounts of other persons can be carried out only by a bank, licensed and supervised according to the legislation in force. Carrying out bank transactions without a license is considered a crime according to Article 252, paragraph 1 of the Criminal Code. According to the Law on Postal Services, postal monetary transfers are a part of the universal postal service, however their conduct requires license issued by the Commission on Regulating Telecommunications.
