I. INTRODUCTION

1. On 9 December 1991, the General Assembly adopted resolution 46/51 entitled: "Measures to eliminate international terrorism". The present report is submitted pursuant to paragraphs 12, 13 and 14 of the resolution.
2. By a note verbale dated 19 February 1992 and a reminder dated 7 December 1992, the Secretary-General, pursuant to paragraphs 12 and 13 of the resolution, invited Governments of Member States to communicate to him views on international terrorism in all its aspects and on ways and means of combating it, including the convening, at an appropriate time, under the auspices of the United Nations, of an international conference to deal with international terrorism and views on the ways and means of enhancing the role of the United Nations and the relevant specialized agencies in combating international terrorism, as well as on proposals contained in the latest report of the Secretary-General on the item (A/46/346 and Add.1 and 2) and on proposals made during the debate on that item in the Sixth Committee at the forty-sixth session of the General Assembly.
3. By a letter dated 13 February 1992, and a reminder dated 3 December 1992, the Legal Counsel also invited specialized agencies and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) to communicate to him any information or other relevant material deemed to be appropriate for inclusion in the report of the Secretary-General requested under paragraph 14 of General Assembly resolution 46/51.
4. As at 15 July 1993, replies had been received from the Governments of Bolivia, Cyprus, Denmark, Ecuador, Guyana, Iraq, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Malta, Panama, Qatar, Sweden, Syrian Arab Republic and Venezuela. Replies had also been received from the International Maritime Organization, the World Tourism Organization, the International Civil Aviation Organization and IAEA.
5. The present report reproduces the replies received from the above-mentioned Governments and organizations.
6. Any additional replies that are received will be published in addenda to the present report.

II. REPLIES RECEIVED FROM GOVERNMENTS

BOLIVIA

[Original: Spanish]

[15 April 1993]

1. In implementation of General Assembly resolution 44/29 of 4 December 1989, on 18 March 1991 the Bolivian Government informed the Secretary-General (see A/46/346) that it was in favour of convening an international conference on international terrorism, on the understanding that the purpose of the conference would be to promote the preparation of a convention on the prevention of terrorism.

2. In that connection, the Bolivian Government once again strongly condemns all acts, methods and practices of terrorism, in all their forms. It also wishes to express its concern at the scale and the complexity of terrorism in the world today. Terrorism results in loss of life and cripples lives, and impedes the development of peoples when attacks are perpetrated against State property.

3. In the light of past experience, Bolivia recognizes that the international community has not yet evolved enough to be able to reach a consensus on a definition of terrorism; the purpose of the international conference should therefore not be solely to define international terrorism, because the conference would inevitably fail to do so. The conference should be a forum where States have an opportunity to consolidate their ties based on cooperation with a view to controlling terrorism and preventing it from increasing.

4. International cooperation is the most appropriate way of preventing and eliminating terrorism, and such cooperation must take place at the international, regional subregional and bilateral levels, to ensure that every Government has the means to deal with this scourge.

5. Resolution 25 adopted by the Eighth United Nations Congress on the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders, entitled "Terrorist criminal activities", reflects the concern of the international community in this connection and sets out the measures that must be taken to deal with international terrorism, including the recommendation that international cooperation for the effective and uniform prevention and control of terrorism should be strengthened.

6. It must also be emphasized that a convention on international cooperation against terrorism must deal with international responsibility on the part of States that promote terrorism in other States, and on the part of States, that fail to take the necessary steps to prevent the manufacture of and traffic in arms destined for terrorist and narco-terrorist groups.

CYPRUS

[13 May 1993]

1. The Government of Cyprus unequivocally condemns terrorism in all its forms and manifestations and welcomes the efforts by the United Nations to deal with the question of international terrorism. Cyprus, traditionally recognizes the right of the people under colonial regimes and other forms of alien domination and occupation to struggle, considering that this constitutes the exercise of the principle of self-determination of peoples.

2. Cyprus is taking a series of measures for the prevention of terrorism, according to existing international instruments in force, including, inter alia, a computerized system for the control and surveillance of suspects; it cooperates closely with other States and international organizations and has entered into a number of bilateral agreements with certain States covering the field of combating terrorism.

3. The Government of Cyprus, taking note of paragraphs 12 and 13 of General Assembly resolution 46/51 of 9 December 1991 endorses the suggestion whereby an international conference should be convened, under the auspices of the United Nations, to consider a draft convention against terrorism, for the purpose of ending all acts, methods and practices of international terrorism in accordance with the proposal referred to in the penultimate preambular paragraph of General Assembly resolution 44/29 of 4 December 1989.

DENMARK

(on behalf of the European Community and its member States)

[15 April 1993]

The European Community and its member States reaffirm their full support for General Assembly resolution 46/51 of 9 December 1991, in which the Assembly unequivocally condemned, as criminal and not justifiable, all acts, methods and practices of terrorism wherever and by whomever committed. They welcome the decision of the General Assembly to adopt this resolution without a vote. As regards more detailed comments the European Community and its member States refer to their statement of 27 September 1991 (A/46/346/Add.1).

ECUADOR

[Original: Spanish]

[28 July 1992]

1. In accordance with the principles of its foreign policy, Ecuador has traditionally supported the struggle of peoples subject to colonial regimes or other forms of foreign domination but has categorically and unequivocally condemned terrorism in all its forms, regardless of its motivation or political objective. Ecuador regards terrorism as a flagrant violation of the fundamental rights of the individual and as a threat to the security and stability of nations.

2. Since the scourge of terrorism has gone beyond national frontiers, the struggle against it must transcend State boundaries and assume regional and global dimensions. Terrorism must be universally condemned and combated; to that end, all existing arrangements must be used and efforts must be made to improve and strengthen them. In this context, Ecuador considers that universal ratification of or accession to relevant international conventions is of fundamental importance.

3. Ecuador also believes that all States must refrain from organizing, assisting, instigating, facilitating or permitting acts of terrorism in other States.
4. Ecuador observes with great concern the existence in various countries of Latin America of an illicit association between terrorists and drug traffickers for the purpose of engaging in terrorist activity funded and supported by those who benefit from drug trafficking. Ecuador considers that the recognition of this crime, known as narco-terrorism, by the International Narcotics Control Board in its 1990 report, was appropriate.
5. The Government of Ecuador welcomed with satisfaction the release of the hostages in Lebanon and commends the endeavours of the United Nations to achieve that outcome.
6. Ecuador supports the holding, under United Nations auspices, of an international conference on the elimination of terrorism once the common basic elements of an understanding have been defined.

GUYANA

[14 April 1993]

1. The Government of Guyana wishes to record its full support for all measures being undertaken specifically by the United Nations, and also by the international community in general to combat and eliminate international terrorism.
2. We are indeed acutely aware of the pernicious impact of acts of international terrorism in all its forms on international peace and security, and join other nations in unequivocally condemning these acts.
3. The Government of Guyana therefore will give due consideration to the international legal regime relating to various aspects of international terrorism with a view to minimizing the threat of and also the perpetration of terrorist acts.
4. We commend the proposal for the convening of an international conference on terrorism and consider it propitious in the light of the perpetuation of terrorism on a global scale.

IRAQ

[Original: Arabic]

[5 April 1993]

The position of Iraq with regard to the contents of paragraphs 12 and 13 of General Assembly resolution 46/51 of 9 December 1991, concerning measures to eliminate international terrorism is as follows.

1. Iraq condemns terrorist acts in principle, and its national legislation contains severe penalties for anyone who perpetrates or participates in such acts.
2. Iraq supports the efforts to deal with this issue, particularly the efforts of the United Nations, and endeavours to make a serious contribution to them.
3. Iraq stresses the importance of arriving at a clear definition of "international terrorism" that enjoys the acceptance of the international community as a whole, for that would facilitate arrival at a solution of the controversial issues surrounding the subject, including a definition of terrorist acts.
4. Any serious treatment of the problem of terrorism must take into account the importance of a study and analysis of the underlying causes that contribute, in one way or another, to the alarming increase in the dimensions of the problem.
5. A study of the causes renders it necessary to define the circumstances in which armed violence may arise from some iniquitous international practices imposed on many parts of the world to further egoistic interests. Such practices include racist policies, foreign occupation and denial of the inalienable legitimate rights of peoples, particularly the right to self-determination and the right to determine the form of political regime, and other rights provided for by international covenants and customs and the norms of international law.
6. Iraq stresses that any objective treatment of the problem of terrorism must take into account United Nations resolutions relating to the right to self-determination, the elimination of colonialism, the legitimacy of the struggle of peoples and their right to use appropriate means, including armed struggle, to achieve their aspirations for freedom and independence; and that not the slightest doubt remains regarding the distinction between the struggle of peoples for liberation and terrorist acts.
7. Consideration of the definition of terrorist acts must take into account practices and measures carried out by a State or a number of States using technologically sophisticated and other means of destruction to inflict damage and destruction on the infrastructure, vital necessities and utilities of another State for the purpose of arousing fear and panic among the citizens in order to achieve hegemony and impose their supremacy and their policies on various pretexts. The number of the victims of this type of terrorism is

8. It is essential to recall that one of the major causes of the exacerbation of the problem of terrorism is the nurturing by States of separatist movements, self-proclaimed political opposition groups and armed revolt, in violation of the fundamental principles of international law, first and foremost, the principle of non-intervention in the internal affairs of States, which is the essence of the domestic authority of States, in accordance with Article 2, paragraph 7, of the Charter of the United Nations.

9. The convening of an international conference under the auspices of the United Nations is essential for the study of the problem from all aspects and the proposal of appropriate solutions. Sound preparations for such a conference would be a major factor towards the success of an international conference.

10. It must be stipulated clearly that the measures adopted to combat terrorism should not in any way encroach on the fundamental principles of human rights.

LIBYAN ARAB JAMAHIRIYA

[3 May 1993]

1. It is beyond doubt that terrorism constitutes a grave threat to all humanity in view of the innocent lives lost or jeopardized as a result of it, the disruption and undermining of confidence it causes in international relations and the threat it poses to international peace and security.

2. The Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, which has been and remains a victim of terrorist practices, condemns international terrorism in all its forms and shares the conviction of the international community that it is necessary to combat this dangerous phenomenon in all its various forms and practices. The Libyan Arab Jamahiriya has on numerous occasions expressed its deep concern over the spread of international terrorism, and has pointed to and continues to point to the need to combat it. It has stressed that it will not allow its territory, citizens or institutions to be used either directly or indirectly for the carrying out of acts of terrorism, and that it will inflict penalties on all persons who are shown to be involved in such acts.

3. The Libyan Arab Jamahiriya has also supported all the General Assembly resolutions condemning international terrorism, and has acceded to most of the relevant international treaties on combating terrorism, such as the conventions signed at Tokyo, The Hague and Montreal regarding the safety of civil aviation.

4. As proof of the sincere desire of the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya to put an end to international terrorism in view of the threat it poses for international peace and security, the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya has requested the holding of a special session of the General Assembly and has supported the call for the convening of an international conference under United Nations auspices in order to arrive at a clear definition of terrorism and to search for the root causes underlying the aggravation of this dangerous phenomenon with which we have been confronted for several decades, and thus to eliminate the hidden factors which underlie all the forms of terrorism and acts of violence confronting the world. For the United Nations to consider the subject of terrorism and its causes, it is necessary to start by outlining a clear methodology which is generally accepted by the international community. The lack of a clear definition of international terrorism and the confusion between it and the right of peoples to self-determination and self-defence has enabled some parties to use the term as a propaganda weapon with which to denigrate a number of countries which support the just struggle of peoples for their policies, independence and self-determination.

5. We are hopeful that the international community will be able to examine the causes of international terrorism and to put an end to it in order to make way for an international climate of security in which all peoples may live in peace, security and happiness, in accordance with the principles set forth in the Charter of the United Nations and all international agreements.

MALTA

[19 March 1992]

1. The Government of Malta has repeatedly and unequivocally condemned, as criminal and unjustifiable, all acts, methods and practices of terrorism whenever and by whomever committed.

2. The Government of Malta believes that the nature of international terrorism requires that measures taken by individual States to combat it be enhanced through the increased cooperation of the international community. An important feature of this cooperation is the positive growth in the number of States parties to the main international conventions dealing with this issue. Malta has, on its part, ratified the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation and its Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation.

3. The Government of Malta has followed with attention the discussion on the proposal of convening, under the auspices of the United Nations, an international conference on terrorism, and it would like to reiterate its view that for such a conference to make a meaningful contribution to the evolution of international solidarity against terrorism, a consensus on its convening would be essential. No such consensus exists at present and further deliberation on this issue is required.

4. The Government of Malta reaffirms its commitment to participate fully in the efforts of the international community to eradicate international terrorism and to cooperate constructively in the consideration of proposals aimed at achieving this end.

PANAMA

[21 May 1992]

Draft legislation is pending before the Legislative Assembly of the Republic of Panama which would introduce in Book II, Title VII, of the Penal Code, which deals with offences against collective security, a new chapter VI, entitled "Manufacture, possession, import and export of and trading in firearms", prescribing penalties of 3 to 10 years' imprisonment for infractions.

QATAR

[22 May 1992]

The State of Qatar takes a firm stand against all acts of international terrorism, regardless of who the culprit is, while recognizing the distinction between terrorism and people's legitimate struggle to implement their right of self-determination according to the goals and principles of the Charter. The State of Qatar supports the proposal to hold, at an appropriate time and under the auspices of the United Nations an international conference on dealing with the phenomenon of international terrorism. It also approves of the proposals contained in His Excellency's report cited in paragraph 13 of General Assembly resolution 46/51 and of the other proposals made in the course of the debate in the Sixth Committee.

SWEDEN

(on behalf of the Nordic countries)

[Original: English]

[27 April 1993]

The Nordic States reaffirm their full support for General Assembly resolution 46/51 of 9 December 1991, which was adopted with consensus and which condemned as criminal and unjustifiable all acts, methods and practices of terrorism wherever and by whomever committed. The Nordic States reiterate their views as expressed in the Nordic statement of 11 October 1991 (see A/C.6/46/SR.13, paras. 16-19).

SYRIAN ARAB REPUBLIC

[Original: Arabic]

[25 February 1993]

1. The Syrian Arab Republic reiterates its condemnation of all terrorist acts, methods and practices as criminal acts in that they are aimed at the lives and property of innocent persons and infringe on the sovereignty and regional security of States. It calls for the establishment of true cooperation between all States in the framework of international legitimacy with a view to taking the necessary measures to prevent and combat the occurrence of terrorism and eliminate its causes. It also calls for internationally acceptable criteria to be laid down in order to differentiate clearly between terrorism, which must be condemned and combated, and national struggles against foreign occupation, to which protection and support should be given.

2. On that basis, the Syrian Arab Republic welcomed the historic General Assembly resolution 42/159, which took a step forward by expanding and encouraging the establishment of effective cooperation to combat terrorism in the framework of international legitimacy and on the basis of the principles contained in paragraph 14 thereof, which derives from the Charter of the United Nations and the Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Cooperation among States.

3. The Syrian Arab Republic was similarly a forerunner in advocating the convening of an international conference to define terrorism, study its causes and differentiate it from the struggles of peoples for liberation from foreign occupation and to study the underlying causes of acts of violence which lie in the violation of fundamental rights, misery, frustration grievance and despair.

4. The Syrian Arab Republic thus appreciates the efforts of the Secretary-General of the United Nations in continuing to seek the opinions of Member States with a view to convening the aforesaid international conference in accordance with General Assembly resolutions. Its position is based on its concern to protect international legitimacy, the principles of international law and the purposes and principles of the Charter.

VENEZUELA

[15 September 1992]

1. When dealing with a subject such as international terrorism, its causes and ways of combating it, it is important to bear in mind one of the fundamental principles of the Venezuelan State contained in the preamble to the Constitution, namely, "to cooperate with other nations, and especially with the fraternal Republics of the continent, in the interests of the international community, on a basis of mutual respect for sovereignty, the self-determination of peoples and the universal safeguarding of the individual and social rights of the human being, and the repudiation of war, conquest and economic domination as instruments of international policy".

2. As you will readily appreciate, the paragraph quoted above includes a series of principles and norms of international conduct which must be taken into account when considering international terrorism.

3. In addition, all terrorist activities, whether they are committed by individuals, by groups, by organizations or by States, must be condemned explicitly, clearly and unambiguously on all possible occasions. Yet, it is also necessary to recognize, as stated in the preambular part of resolution 46/51, that there exists the inalienable right to self-determination and independence of all peoples under colonial and racist regimes and other forms of alien domination and foreign occupation upholding the legitimacy of their struggle, in particular the struggle of national liberation movements.

4. Venezuela has always repudiated terrorism in the forums of the world community, both international and regional. We therefore feel that we have given sufficient proof to the international community of our country's opposition to terrorism in all its forms and manifestations and our rejection of this ignominious form of struggle which, in the majority of cases, claims innocent victims, who were unable to defend themselves against surprise attacks and treachery.

5. There is no doubt that the international community has made conscientious and sustained efforts to find ways of combating international terrorism and, to that end, has drafted various international instruments to deal with this scourge of humanity. Far from remaining on the sidelines, Venezuela has been an active participant in the drafting of relevant instruments. It has always voted in the international forums for resolutions condemning international terrorism, and it has become a party to the major conventions on the subject.

6. Accordingly, we feel that the international community must not relax its efforts in this struggle or show signs of lessened interest even if confronted by other equally serious or more acute problems. We believe that the international community should convene a general conference on the subject for the purpose of establishing the underlying causes of international terrorism and suggesting practical and viable ways of removing them. To this end, the support and collaboration of all States regardless of their political or economic systems and their degree of development and economic potential, are required. In today's interdependent world, all countries are players, and possible victims, in the drama. That is why cooperation in the struggle must consist of the concerted efforts of all States. In our opinion, punitive or enforcement measures alone are not sufficient to put a halt to terrorism but must be combined with analysis and a comprehensive settlement that takes into account all the underlying factors and encompasses all the solutions the international community can provide.

7. Therefore, any international conference which is convened to consider the question of terrorism, and such a conference is, in our opinion, desirable, necessary and urgent, must be divided into two phases: the first to investigate and discuss the causes of the problem with their full implications, taking into account all of the factors which are responsible; and the second to decide on the means and procedures for solving the problem in an approach that deals with the contributing factors, whether economic, social, political or other.

8. One of the factors which can undoubtedly contribute to a solution is the early completion of the draft Code of Crimes against the Peace and Security of Mankind now under consideration by the International Law Commission. We have repeatedly stated that the draft Code is important and must be made available to the international community as soon as possible. The Code must cover all types of crimes which constitute attacks on peace and the safety of mankind, and an international criminal jurisdiction must be established with an international criminal court as its basis. The International Law Commission has undoubtedly made progress in this area over the last several years, but we suggest that the emphasis should be on giving such work a higher priority. Therefore one of the steps the international community can take is to request the International Law Commission to include in its preparatory work on the draft Code the substantive and procedural regulations appropriate for the international criminal court.

9. Another important element is the role which both the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council, along with the various bodies of the system, can play. The General Assembly and the Security Council should be aware of and discuss acts of international terrorism perpetrated against the international community and should condemn them unequivocally. They should also suggest solutions and make recommendations likely to diminish the incidence of this sort of criminal activity. Strengthening the role of the Secretary-General and his more active personal participation in the analysis and solution of the difficulties stemming from international terrorism can contribute, within a general and comprehensive framework for dealing with the problem, to the quest for and adoption of practical and feasible solutions. As already stated, it might be advisable to reactivate the Ad Hoc Committee on International Terrorism or to establish an appropriate subsidiary body which could consider cases of international terrorism in the world and submit a well-reasoned report with conclusions designed to help the Secretary-General and the other principal bodies of the Organization to fulfil their functions.

10. In like manner, no effort must be spared when it comes to urging all States to be parties to the international legal instruments which have been approved in various international forums for preventing and combating international terrorism. This could be accomplished by circulating a note in which the details of agreements to which each State is a party can be presented.

11. Likewise, the support which is indispensable and necessary both for the Organization and its specialized agencies and for the competent intergovernmental organizations must be given to enable them to study the measures which, within their respective spheres of competence, are best suited to the struggle against terrorism and then to draft the suggestions, recommendations or decisions needed to attack the causes of terrorism and to combat and eliminate it.

III. REPLIES RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS*

INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION ORGANIZATION

[Original: English]

[5 April 1993]

1. The 29th Session of the ICAO Assembly reiterated its policy to accord aviation security the highest priority in the work programme of the Organization and the Council of ICAO continues its efforts towards the enhancement of the level of implementation of the ICAO security programme on a world-wide basis.

2. On 11 September 1992, the Council adopted Amendment 8 to Annex 17 (Aviation Security) of the Convention on International Civil Aviation. This amendment relates to the comprehensive security screening of checked baggage, security controls over cargo, courier and express parcels and mail, variations to procedures pertaining to security programmes, pre-flight checks of international aircraft and measures providing for the incorporation of security consideration into airport design.

INTERNATIONAL MARITIME ORGANIZATION

[Original: English]

[21 January 1993]

1. The International Maritime Organization (IMO) has adopted the following instruments which aim at eliminating international terrorism:

(a) Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation, 1988, which entered into force on 1 March 1992;

(b) Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Against the Safety of Fixed Platforms Located on the Continental Shelf, 1988, which entered into force also on 1 March 1992.

2. In 1986, in response to Assembly resolution A.584(14), IMO prepared and circulated MSC/Circ.443, entitled "Measures to prevent unlawful acts against passengers and crews on board ships".

3. Seminars and workshops have been organized by IMO to explain, in general, the provisions of the instruments and, in particular, to assist Member States implement the measures contained in MSC/Circ.443 aimed at strengthening security in port areas and combating terrorism at sea through regional cooperation. The following three seminars and workshops have so far been held:

* Most of the documents referred to in the replies are available in the Codification Division of the Office of Legal Affairs.

(a) San Juan (Puerto Rico), for the countries in the Greater Caribbean region (May 1989);

(b) Athens and the Aegean Sea, for Mediterranean and Black Sea countries (August 1989);

(c) Tokyo, for Western Pacific countries (March 1991).

4. Furthermore, in cooperation with the United Kingdom Government, IMO is planning a two-day seminar during 1993 to consider the need for standards similar to those in MSC/Circ.443 for passenger ferries.

5. The Maritime Safety Committee (MSC) of IMO has recommended an outline format for a regional agreement and contingency plan for the prevention of unlawful acts developed during the aforementioned seminars and workshops to States, port authorities and shipowners for use as a basis in formulating such agreements and contingency plans. Having concluded the series of seminars and workshops in areas frequently visited by cruise ships, the MSC recommended that, subject to the availability of funds, similar events should be organized in other regions of the world where such action would be justified.

INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY

[23 March 1993]

1. The Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, adopted under the auspices of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) on 3 March 1980, entered into force on 8 February 1987.

2. In accordance with article 16 of the Convention, a review conference of the Parties to the Convention was convened at Vienna, on 29 September 1992, by IAEA. On that date, the Parties represented at the review conference adopted the following Final Statement:

"Final Statement of the Review Conference of Parties to the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material

"A conference of Parties to the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material was convened at Vienna, Austria, on 29 September 1992, by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) in accordance with article 16 of the Convention. The Parties noted the continuing need to protect nuclear materials from theft, malevolent use or other unlawful acts. They also highlighted the need to preserve the confidentiality of information related to the movement of nuclear materials. The Parties reviewed the Convention as concerns the preamble, the whole of the operative part and the annexes, in light of its implementation, and found the Convention to be adequate. They took note of the function given to the IAEA by the Convention to inform Parties of national points of contact and central authorities and of national laws and regulations. They also took note of the role given to the IAEA in the Convention to receive from, and notify, Parties of formal notifications of the final outcome of criminal prosecutions pursuant to the Convention.

"In addition, the Parties:

- "- Believe that the Convention provides an appropriate framework for cooperation between States in the protection, recovery and return of stolen nuclear material;
- "- Reaffirm the important role of the Convention for the physical protection of nuclear material, and that the Convention provides an appropriate framework for international cooperation in the application of criminal sanctions against any person who may commit criminal acts involving nuclear material;
- "- Affirm that the Convention provides a sound basis for physical protection of nuclear material during international transport, and is acceptable in its current form;
- "- Recognize that bilateral consultations recommended in article 5.3 provide an important basis for coordinating Parties' responsibilities under the Convention; and
- "- Reaffirm their full support for the Convention and urge all States which have not already done so to accede to the Convention.
- "- The Parties to the Convention also:
- "- Recognize that INFCIRC/225/Rev.2, 'The Physical Protection of Nuclear Material', provides useful guidance on the measures for the physical protection of nuclear material in use, transit and storage; and
- "- Call on the IAEA to organize a meeting in the near future to examine INFCIRC/225/Rev.2, primarily to consider the need for consistency of the Categorization Table contained in that document with the Convention, and to consider the incorporation of further guidance on such issues as irradiated fuel, nuclear material contained in waste and other issues.

Vienna, 29 September 1992"

3. The International Atomic Energy Agency proposes to convene a meeting in June 1993 to consider the matters raised by the Final Statement in connection with document INFCIRC/225/Rev.2, entitled "The physical protection of nuclear material".

WORLD TOURISM ORGANIZATION

[Original: English]

1. The General Assembly of the World Tourism Organization (WTO) held at Buenos Aires, Argentina in September and October 1992, adopted a document entitled "Recommended measures for tourism safety" which relates, inter alia, to assistance to tourists victims of acts of terrorism.

2. That document has been edited by WTO in a brochure form and is being made available to tourism administrations and professionals, particularly at major tourism fairs. Furthermore, in the biennium 1992-1993, the WTO secretariat has undertaken a subsequent activity in respect of these measures consisting in preparing a draft check-list on implementation, which is now being consulted with our Tourism Safety Committee. The aim is to equip National Tourism Administrations with self-administered audits, gather information on the already existing facilities and services in this area and issue specific recommendations to member States and industry in instances where tourist protection is inadequate.

- (1) Declaration dated 15 May 1975 by Bahamas that it considers itself to be bound to the said Convention by virtue of the ratification of the United Kingdom and pursuant to customary international law. The Commonwealth of the Bahamas attained independence on 10 July 1973.
- (2) Reservation: Does not consider itself bound by article 24, paragraph 1, of the Convention.
- (3) Reservation: "The accession of the State of Bahrain to the Convention shall not be considered or interpreted as recognition of 'Israel' either generally or implicitly under the Convention."
- (4) Declaration dated 17 December 1987 by the Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic (now the Republic of Belarus) that "the accession of the Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic to the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft does not affect its rights and obligations under agreements in force on the suppression of acts of unlawful interference with civil aviation, to which it is a Party".
- (5) Declaration dated 21 August 1989 by the People's Republic of Bulgaria (now the Republic of Bulgaria) that "the accession of the People's Republic of Bulgaria to the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft does not affect its rights and obligations under the multilateral and bilateral agreements on acts of unlawful interference against civil aviation, to which it is a Party".
- (6) The instrument of accession contains the following statement: "The Chinese Government declares illegal and null and void the signature and ratification by the Chiang clique usurping the name of China in regard to the above-mentioned Convention".
- (7) By a Note dated 8 March 1993, received on 25 March 1993, the Government of the Czech Republic informed the International Civil Aviation Organization that, as a successor State created as a result of the dissolution of the Czech and Slovak Federal Republic, it considered itself bound by the Convention with effect from 1 January 1993.
- (8) Declaration dated 18 January 1972 by Fiji that it succeeded, upon independence (whereof the date was 10 October 1970), to the rights and obligations of the United Kingdom in respect of this Convention.
- (9) The German Democratic Republic, which acceded to the Convention on 10 January 1989, acceded to the Federal Republic of Germany on 3 October 1990.
- (10) On 12 December 1989, a declaration dated 16 October 1989 was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization by the Government of Hungary whereby that Government withdraws the reservation made at the time of accession on 3 December 1970 with regard to article 24, paragraph 1, of the Convention. The declaration took effect on 12 December 1989.
- (11) Accession by the Republic of Iraq to the Convention shall, however, in no way signify recognition of Israel or entry into any relations with it.
- (12) It is understood that the accession to the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft, done at Tokyo, 1963, does not mean in any way recognition of Israel by the State of Kuwait. Furthermore, no treaty relation will arise between the State of Kuwait and Israel.
- (13) "In case of a dispute, all recourse must be made to the International Court of Justice on the basis of the unanimous consent of the parties concerned."
- (14) Declaration: "... the Convention, with respect to the Kingdom of the Netherlands, shall not enter into force for Suriname and/or the Netherlands Antilles until the ninetieth day after the date on which the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands will have notified the International Civil Aviation Organization that in Suriname and/or in the Netherlands Antilles the necessary steps for giving effect to the provisions of the above-mentioned Convention have been taken".

Note 1: On 4 June 1974, a declaration dated 10 May 1974 was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization by the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands stating that the necessary steps for giving effect to the provisions of the Convention have been taken in regard to making the Convention applicable to Suriname and the Netherlands Antilles. Accordingly, the Convention takes effect for Suriname and the Netherlands Antilles on 2 September 1974. (See also footnote 20.)

Note 2: By a note dated 30 December 1985 the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands informed the International Civil Aviation Organization that as of 1 January 1986 the Convention is applicable to the Netherlands Antilles (without Aruba) and to Aruba.

- (15) The accession by the Government of the Sultanate of Oman to the Convention does not mean or imply, and shall not be interpreted as, recognition of Israel generally or in the context of this Convention.
- (16) Declaration dated 6 November 1975 by Papua New Guinea that "it desires to be treated as a party in its own right to the said Convention", which entered into force for Australia on 20 September 1970, and had applied to the Territory of Papua and Trust Territory of New Guinea. Papua New Guinea attained independence on 16 September 1975.
- (17) Declaration dated 4 December 1987 by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (now the Russian Federation) that "the accession of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics to the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft does not affect its rights and obligations under bilateral and multilateral agreements in force on the suppression of acts of unlawful interference with civil aviation, to which it is a Party".
- (18) An instrument of succession by the Government of the Republic of Slovenia was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization on 18 December 1992, with effect from 25 June 1991.
- (19) The Solomon Islands attained independence on 7 July 1978; the instrument of succession was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization on 23 March 1982.
- (20) The instrument of succession was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization on 10 September 1979. Prior to that date the provisions of the Convention applied to Suriname by virtue of a declaration dated 10 May 1974 by the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. The Republic of Suriname attained independence on 25 November 1975. (See also footnote 14.)
- (21) Declaration dated 13 January 1988 by the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic (now Ukraine) that "the accession of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic to the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft does not affect its rights and obligations under bilateral and multilateral agreements in force on the suppression of acts of unlawful interference with civil aviation, to which it is a Party".
- (22) Reservation: "In accepting the said Convention, the Government of the United Arab Emirates takes the view that its acceptance of the said Convention does not in any way imply its recognition of Israel, nor does it oblige it to apply the provisions of the Convention in respect of the said country".
- (23) Declaration: "... the provisions of the Convention shall not apply in regard to Southern Rhodesia unless and until the Government of the United Kingdom informs the International Civil Aviation Organization that they are in a position to ensure that the obligations imposed by the Convention in respect of that territory can be fully implemented".

Note: On 1 December 1982, a declaration dated 12 November 1982 was deposited with the International Civil Aviation Organization stating that the provisions of the Convention shall extend to Anguilla. Accordingly, the Convention takes effect for Anguilla on 1 December 1982.

- (1) The instrument of ratification by Argentina contains a declaration which, in translation, reads: "The application of this Convention to territories the sovereignty of which may be disputed among two or more States, whether Parties to the Convention or not, may not be interpreted as alteration, renunciation or waiver of the position upheld by each up to the present time".
- (2) Reservation made with respect to paragraph 1 of article 12 of the Convention.
- (3) The instrument of accession by the Government of the People's Republic of China contains the following declaration: "The Chinese Government declares illegal and null and void the signature and ratification of the above-mentioned Convention by the Taiwan authorities in the name of China".
- (4) On 25 April 1991, an instrument was deposited with the Government of the United States by the Government of Czechoslovakia whereby that Government withdraws the reservation made at the time of ratification on 6 April 1972 with regard to paragraph 1 of article 12 of the Convention. The withdrawal of the reservation took effect on 25 April 1991.

- (5) Until later decision, the Convention will not be applied to the Faroe Islands or to Greenland.

Note: A notification was received by the Government of the United Kingdom from the Government of the Kingdom of Denmark that, with effect from 1 June 1980, Denmark withdraws its reservation, made in the following terms upon ratification, in respect of Greenland:

"Sous la réserve que jusqu'à décision ultérieure la Convention ne s'appliquera pas aux Iles Féroé et au Groënland" (on the understanding that, until later decision, the Convention will not be applied to the Faroe Islands or to Greenland (unofficial translation)).

- (6) The German Democratic Republic, which ratified the Convention on 3 June 1971, acceded to the Federal Republic of Germany on 3 October 1990.
- (7) On 10 January 1990, instruments were deposited with the Government of the United Kingdom and the Government of the United States by the Government of Hungary whereby that Government withdraws the reservation made at the time of ratification on 13 August 1971 with regard to paragraph 1 of article 12 of the Convention. The withdrawal of the reservation took effect on 10 January 1990.
- (8) Ratification by Kuwait was accompanied by an Understanding stating that ratification of the Convention does not mean in any way recognition of Israel by the State of Kuwait. Furthermore, no treaty relations will arise between the State of Kuwait and Israel.
- (9) The instrument of accession deposited by the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya contains a disclaimer regarding recognition of Israel.
- (10) "In case of a dispute, all recourse must be made to the International Court of Justice on the basis of the unanimous consent of the parties concerned."
- (11) The Convention cannot enter into force for the Netherlands Antilles until thirty days after the date on which the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands shall have notified the depositary Governments that the necessary measures to give effect to the provisions of the Convention have been taken in the Netherlands Antilles.

Note 1: On 11 June 1974, a declaration was deposited with the Government of the United States by the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands stating that in the interim the measures required to implement the provisions of the Convention have been taken in the Netherlands Antilles and, consequently, the Convention will enter into force for the Netherlands Antilles on the thirtieth day after the date of deposit of this declaration.

Note 2: By a Note dated 9 January 1986 the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands informed the Government of the United States that as of 1 January 1986 the Convention is applicable to the Netherlands Antilles (without Aruba) and to Aruba.

- (12) Accession to the said Convention by the Government of the Sultanate of Oman does not mean or imply, and shall not be interpreted as recognition of Israel generally or in the context of this Convention.
- (13) The accession by the Government of the Republic of Korea to the present Convention does not, in any way, mean or imply the recognition of any territory or regime which has not been recognized by the Government of the Republic of Korea as a State or Government.
- (14) Approval by Saudi Arabia does not mean and could not be interpreted as recognition of Israel generally or in the context of this Convention.
- (15) An instrument of succession by the Government of Slovenia to the Convention was deposited with the Government of the United Kingdom on 27 May 1992.
- (16) Notification of succession to the Convention was deposited with the Government of the United States on 27 October 1978, by virtue of the extension of the Convention to Suriname by the Kingdom of the Netherlands prior to independence. The Republic of Suriname attained independence on 25 November 1975.
- (17) "In accepting the said Convention, the Government of the United Arab Emirates takes the view that its acceptance of the said Convention does not in any way imply its recognition of Israel, nor does it oblige to apply the provisions of the Convention in respect of the said Country."
- (18) The Convention is ratified "in respect of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and Territories under territorial sovereignty of the United Kingdom as well as the British Solomon Islands Protectorate".

10 August 1973 with regard to paragraph 1 of article 14 of the Convention. The withdrawal of the reservation took effect on 25 April 1991.

- (5) Until later decision, the Convention will not be applied to the Faroe Islands or to Greenland.

Note: A notification was received by the Government of the United Kingdom from the Government of the Kingdom of Denmark that, with effect from 1 June 1980, Denmark withdraws its reservation, made in the following terms upon ratification, in respect of Greenland:

"Sous la réserve que jusqu'à décision ultérieure la Convention ne s'appliquera pas aux Iles Féroé et au Groënland" (on the understanding that until later decision, the Convention will not be applied to the Faroe Islands or to Greenland (unofficial translation)).

- (6) The German Democratic Republic, which ratified the Convention on 9 June 1972, acceded to the Federal Republic of Germany on 3 October 1990.
- (7) On 10 January 1990, instruments were deposited with the Government of the United Kingdom and the Government of the United States by the Government of Hungary whereby that Government withdraws the reservation made at the time of ratification on 27 December 1972 with regard to paragraph 1 of article 14 of the Convention. The withdrawal of the reservation took effect on 10 January 1990.
- (8) It is understood that accession to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation, done at Montreal, 1971, does not mean in any way recognition of Israel by the State of Kuwait. Furthermore, no treaty relation will arise between the State of Kuwait and Israel.
- (9) "In case of a dispute, all recourse must be made to the International Court of Justice on the basis of the unanimous consent of the parties concerned."
- (10) The Convention cannot enter into force for the Netherlands Antilles until 30 days after the date on which the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands shall have notified the depositary Governments that the necessary measures to give effect to the provisions of the Convention have been taken in the Netherlands Antilles.

Note 1: On 11 June 1974, a declaration was deposited with the Government of the United States by the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands stating that in the interim the measures required to implement the provisions of the Convention have been taken in the Netherlands Antilles and, consequently, the Convention will enter into force for the Netherlands Antilles on the thirtieth day after the date of deposit of this declaration.

Note 2: By a Note dated 9 January 1986 the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands informed the Government of the United States that as of 1 January 1986 the Convention is applicable to the Netherlands Antilles (without Aruba) and to Aruba.

- (11) Accession to the said Convention by the Government of the Sultanate of Oman does not mean or imply, and shall not be interpreted as recognition of Israel generally or in the context of this Convention.
- (12) The accession by the Government of the Republic of Korea to the present Convention does not in any way mean or imply the recognition of any territory or regime which has not been recognized by the Government of the Republic of Korea as a State or Government.
- (13) Approval by Saudi Arabia does not mean and could not be interpreted as recognition of Israel generally or in the context of this Convention.
- (14) An instrument of succession by the Government of Slovenia to the Convention was deposited with the Government of the United Kingdom on 27 May 1992.
- (15) The Solomon Islands attained independence on 7 July 1978; the instrument of succession was deposited on 13 April 1982.
- (16) Notification of succession to the Convention was deposited with the Government of the United States on 27 October 1978, by virtue of the extension of the Convention to Suriname by the Kingdom of the Netherlands prior to independence. The Republic of Suriname attained independence on 25 November 1975.
- (17) "In accepting the said Convention, the Government of the United Arab Emirates takes the view that its acceptance of the said Convention does not in any way imply its recognition of Israel, nor does it oblige to apply the provisions of the Convention in respect of the said Country."
- (18) The Convention is ratified "in respect of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and Territories under territorial sovereignty of the United Kingdom as well as the British Solomon Islands Protectorate".

Note: By a Note dated 20 November 1990, the Government of the United Kingdom declared that Anguilla has been included under the ratification of the Convention by that Government with effect from 7 November 1990.

- (19) The instrument of ratification by the Government of Venezuela contains the following reservation regarding articles 4, 7 and 8 of the Convention:

"Venezuela will take into consideration clearly political motives and the circumstances under which offences described in Article 1 of this Convention are committed, in refusing to extradite or prosecute an offender, unless financial extortion or injury to the crew, passengers, or other persons has occurred".

The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland made the following declaration in a Note dated 6 August 1985 to the Department of State of the Government of the United States:

"The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland do not regard as valid the reservation made by the Government of the Republic of Venezuela insofar as it purports to limit the obligation under Article 7 of the Convention to submit the case against an offender to the competent authorities of the State for the purpose of prosecution".

With reference to the above declaration by the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the Government of Venezuela, in a Note dated 21 November 1985, informed the Department of State of the Government of the United States of the following:

"The reserve made by the Government of Venezuela to Articles 4, 7 and 8 of the Convention is based on the fact that the principle of asylum is contemplated in Article 116 of the Constitution of the Republic of Venezuela. Article 116 reads:

'The Republic grants asylum to any person subject to persecution or which finds itself in danger, for political reasons, within the conditions and requirements established by the laws and norms of international law.'

It is for this reason that the Government of Venezuela considers that in order to protect this right, which would be diminished by the application without limits of the said articles, it was necessary to request the formulation of the declaration contemplated in Article 2 of the Law approving the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Against the Security (sic) of Civil Aviation".

The Government of Italy made the following declaration in a Note dated 21 November 1985 to the Department of State of the Government of the United States:

"The Government of Italy does not consider as valid the reservation formulated by the Government of the Republic of Venezuela due to the fact that it may be considered as aiming to limit the obligation under Article 7 of the Convention to submit the case against an offender to the competent authorities of the State for the purpose of prosecution".

- (1) The following reservation was attached to the instrument of ratification of the Convention:

"In accordance with the provisions of Article 17.3 of the Convention, Argentina does not consider itself bound by either of the dispute settlement procedures provided for in Article 17.2 of the Convention".

- (2) "The People's Republic of Bulgaria does not consider itself bound by Article 17 (2) of the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, according to which any dispute concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention shall, at the request of any Party to such dispute, be submitted to arbitration or referred to the International Court of Justice."

- (3) The following reservation was attached to the instrument of accession: "China will not be bound by the two dispute settlement procedures as stipulated in paragraph 2, Article 17 of the said Convention".

- (4) "[The European Atomic Energy Community] would like to declare:

"(a) that the Member States of the Community are at present Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Portugal, Spain and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland;

"(b) that Articles 7 to 13 of the Convention are not applicable to the Community.

"Further, pursuant to Article 17 (3) of the Convention, [the European Atomic Energy Community] declare[s] that, since only States may be parties in cases before the International Court of Justice, the Community considers itself exclusively bound by the arbitration procedures provided for in Article 17 (2)."

- (5) Upon signature:

"Recalling its statement contained in document CPNM/90 of 25 October 1979, the French Government declares that the jurisdiction referred to in Article 8, paragraph 4 may not be invoked against it, since the criterion of jurisdiction based on involvement in international nuclear transport as the exporting or importing State is not expressly recognized in international law and is not provided for in French national legislation."

"In accordance with Article 17, paragraph 3, France declares that it does not accept the competence of the International Court of Justice in the settlement of the disputes referred to in paragraph 2 of this article, nor that of the President of the International Court of Justice to appoint one or more arbitrators."

Note: The French statement regarding article 6 bis (document CPNM/87) reads: "... This provision introduces new elements to the field of criminal jurisdiction, necessitating a thorough examination of their legal implications ..." (document CPNM/90)

Upon approval:

"(1) In approving the Convention, the French Government expresses the following reservation: the offences described in subparagraphs 1 (e) and 1 (f) of article 7 of the Convention shall be punished in accordance with the provisions of French penal legislation.

"(2) The French Government declares that the jurisdiction referred to in article 8, paragraph 4 may not be invoked against it, since the criterion of jurisdiction based on involvement in international nuclear transport as the exporting or importing State is not expressly recognized in international law and is not provided for in French national legislation.

"(3) In accordance with article 17, paragraph 3, France declares that it does not accept the competence of the International Court of Justice in the settlement of the disputes referred to in paragraph 2 of this article, nor that of the President of the International Court of Justice to appoint one or more arbitrators."

(6) The instrument of ratification contains the following reservation:

"The Republic of Guatemala does not consider itself bound by any of the dispute settlement procedures set out in paragraph 2 of Article 17 of the Convention, which provide for the submission of disputes to arbitration or their referral to the International Court of Justice for decision".

(7) "The Hungarian People's Republic does not consider itself bound by the provision of paragraph 2 of article 17 that any dispute which cannot be settled in the manner prescribed in paragraph 1 of article 17 shall, at the request of any party to such dispute, be submitted to arbitration or referred to the International Court of Justice for decision."

(8) The instrument of ratification contains the following reservation:

"The Government of the Republic of Indonesia does not consider itself bound by the provision of Article 17, paragraph 2 of this Convention and takes the position that any dispute relating to the interpretation or application of the Convention may only be submitted to arbitration or to the International Court of Justice with the agreement of all parties to the dispute".

(9) "In accordance with Article 17, paragraph 3, Israel declares that it does not consider itself bound by the dispute settlement procedures provided for in paragraph 2 of Article 17."

(10) "(1) In connection with article 4.2

Italy considers that if assurances as to the levels of physical protection described in annex I have not been received in good time the importing State party may take appropriate bilateral steps as far as practicable to assure itself that the transport will take place in compliance with the aforesaid levels.

"(2) In connection with article 10

The last words 'through proceedings in accordance with the laws of the State' are to be considered as referring to the whole article 10.

"Italy considers that international cooperation and assistance for physical protection and recovery of nuclear materials as well as criminal rules and extradition will apply also to the domestic use, storage and transport of nuclear material used for peaceful purposes. Italy also considers that no provision contained in this convention shall be interpreted as precluding the possibility to widen the scope of the convention at the review conference foreseen in article 16."

(11) "... does not consider itself bound by the provisions of paragraph 2, article 17 of the Convention, whereby disputes arising out of the interpretation or application of the Convention could be submitted to arbitration or referred to the International Court of Justice for decision at the request of any party to the dispute."

(12) "With regard to the obligation to exercise jurisdiction referred to in Article 10 of the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, done at Vienna/New York on 3 March 1980, the Kingdom of the Netherlands makes the reservation, that in cases where the judicial authorities of the Netherlands are unable to exercise jurisdiction on the grounds of one of the principles referred to in Article 8, paragraph 1, of the Convention, the Kingdom shall be bound by this obligation only if it has received an extradition request from a Party to the Convention and the said request has been rejected."

- (13) "After having seen and examined the said Convention and the annexes thereto, the Council of State approved them subject to the reservation that the People's Republic of Poland does not consider itself bound by the provisions of Article 17.2 of the Convention; ..."
- (14) "The Government of the Republic of Korea does not consider itself bound by the dispute settlement procedures provided for in paragraph 2 of Article 17."
- (15) "The Socialist Republic of Romania declares that it does not consider itself bound by the provisions of Article 17, paragraph 2 of the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, which state that any dispute concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention which cannot be settled by negotiation or by any other peaceful means of settling disputes shall, at the request of any party to such dispute, be submitted to arbitration or referred to the International Court of Justice for decision.

"The Socialist Republic of Romania considers that such disputes can be submitted to arbitration or to the International Court of Justice only with the consent of all parties to the dispute in each individual case.

"In signing the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, the Socialist Republic of Romania declares that, in its interpretation, the provisions of Article 18, paragraph 4 refer exclusively to organizations to which the Member States have transferred competence to negotiate, conclude and apply international agreements on their behalf and to exercise the rights and fulfil the responsibilities entailed by such agreements including the right to vote."

(16) "The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics does not consider itself bound by the provisions of Article 17, paragraph 2 of the Convention that any dispute concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention shall be submitted to arbitration or referred to the International Court of Justice at the request of any party to such dispute."

(17) "In accordance with Article 17, paragraph 3, the Republic of South Africa declares that it does not consider itself bound by the dispute settlement procedures provided for in paragraph 2 of Article 17."

(18) "The Kingdom of Spain declares, in accordance with paragraph 3 of Article 17 of the Convention, that it does not consider itself bound by the procedure for the settlement of disputes stipulated in paragraph 2 of Article 17."

(19) "Turkey, in accordance with Article 17, paragraph 3 of the Convention does not consider itself bound by Article 17, paragraph 2 of the Convention."

(20) Indicates that reservation/declaration was subsequently withdrawn.

- (1) By a Note dated 8 March 1993, received on 25 March 1993, the Government of the Czech Republic informed the International Civil Aviation Organization that, as a successor State created as a result of the dissolution of the Czech and Slovak Federal Republic, it considered itself bound by the Protocol with effect from 1 January 1993.
- (2) The Government of Denmark made the following reservation at the time of ratification of the Protocol: "Until later decision, the Protocol will not be applied to the Faroe Islands."
- (3) The Government of France made the following declaration at the time of signature of the Protocol:

"The French Republic recalls the declaration made at the time of its accession to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation of 23 September 1971, when it stated that: 'In accordance with Article 14, paragraph 2, the French Republic does not consider itself bound by the provisions of paragraph 1 of that Article under which any dispute between two or more Contracting States concerning the interpretation or application of this Convention which cannot be settled through negotiation, shall at the request of one of them, be submitted to arbitration. If within six months from the date of the request for arbitration the Parties are unable to agree on the organization of the arbitration, any one of those Parties may refer the dispute to the International Court of Justice by request in conformity with the Statute of the Court.'"

The above declaration is applicable to the Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation, Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation of 23 September 1971."

In addition, the following declaration was made by that Government at the time of ratification:

"In depositing its instrument of ratification of the Protocol of 24 February 1988 for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation, Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation done at Montreal on 23 September 1971, the French Republic recalls and confirms the declaration made at the time of its accession to the said Convention, when it stated that: 'In accordance with Article 14, paragraph 2, the French Republic does not consider itself bound by the provisions of paragraph 1 of that Article under which any dispute between two or more Contracting States concerning the interpretation or application of this Convention which cannot be settled through negotiation, shall, at the request of one of them, be submitted to arbitration. If, within six months from the date of the request for arbitration the Parties are unable to agree on the organization of the arbitration, any one of those Parties may refer the dispute to the International Court of Justice by request in conformity with the Statute of the Court.'

The above declaration is applicable to the Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation, Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation of 23 September 1971."

- (4) The German Democratic Republic, which ratified the Protocol on 31 January 1989, acceded to the Federal Republic of Germany on 3 October 1990.
- (5) It is understood that the ratification of this Protocol does not mean in any way a recognition of Israel by the Government of the State of Kuwait. Furthermore, no treaty relations will arise between the State of Kuwait and Israel.
- (6) The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands made the following interpretative statement at the time of signature of the Protocol:

"The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands hereby declares that, in the light of the preamble, it understands the provisions laid down in Articles II and III of the Protocol to signify the following:

- only those acts which, in view of the nature of the weapons used and the place where they are committed, cause or are likely to cause incidental loss of life or serious injury among the general public or users of international civil aviation in particular, shall be classed as acts of violence within the meaning of the new paragraph 1 bis (a), as contained in Article II of the Protocol;
- only those acts which, in view of the damage which they cause to buildings or aircraft at the airport or their disruption of the services provided by the airport, endanger or are likely to endanger the safe operation of the airport in relation to international civil aviation, shall be classed as acts of violence within the meaning of the new paragraph I bis (b), as contained in Article II of the Protocol."

- (7) An instrument of succession by the Government of Slovenia to the Protocol was deposited with the Government of the United Kingdom on 27 May 1992.
- (8) The Government of the United Kingdom made the following declaration at the time of ratification of the Protocol: "... the United Kingdom declares that until consultations with various territories under the territorial sovereignty of the United Kingdom are completed, the Protocol will apply in respect of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland only. Consultations with the territories are in hand and are expected to be completed by the end of 1991."

United States of America	10 March 1988

- (1) The following statement was made at the time of signature of the Convention:

"In connection with the provisions of article 4 of the present Convention, the Government of Chile shall not apply the provisions thereof to incidents that occur in its internal waters and in the waters of Magellan Strait."

- (2) The following statement was made at the time of signature of the Convention and reaffirmed upon ratification:

"The People's Republic of China is not bound by paragraph 1 of article 16 of the Convention."

- (3) The following reservations were made at the time of ratification of the Convention:

"1. A reservation is made to article 16 on the peaceful settlement of disputes because it provides for the binding jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice, and also with regard to the application of the Convention to seagoing ships in internal waters which are scheduled to navigate beyond territorial waters.

"2. A reservation is made to article 6, paragraph 2, of the Convention and article 3, paragraph 2, of the Protocol because those articles permit the optional jurisdiction of blackmailed States (which are asked by the perpetrator of an act of terrorism to do or abstain from doing any act).

"This is in compliance with the provision of paragraph 4 of each of the two articles."

- (4) The instrument of approval contained the following declarations:

"1. As far as article 3, paragraph 2, is concerned the French Republic understands by 'tentative', 'incitation', 'complicité' and 'menace', la tentative, l'incitation, la complicité and la menace as defined in the conditions envisaged by French criminal law.

"2. The French Republic does not consider itself bound by the provisions of article 16, paragraph 1, according to which: 'Any dispute between two or more States Parties concerning the interpretation or application of this Convention which cannot be settled through negotiation within a reasonable time shall, at the request of one of them, be submitted to arbitration. If, within six months from the date of the request for arbitration, the parties are unable to agree on the organization of the arbitration any one of those parties may refer the dispute to the International Court of Justice by request in conformity with the Statute of the Court'."

- (5) On 3 October 1990 the German Democratic Republic acceded to the Federal Republic of Germany. The German Democratic Republic had acceded to the Convention on 14 April 1989.

- (6) The following reservation was made at the time of signature of the Convention:

"This signature does not in any way imply recognition of Israel or entry into any relationship with it."

- (7) Reservation to the effect that Turkey does not consider itself bound by all of the provisions of article 16, paragraph 1.

(8) The instrument of ratification was accompanied by the following declaration:

"... that until consultations with various territories under the territorial sovereignty of the United Kingdom are completed, the Convention and Protocol will apply in respect of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland only. Consultations with the territories are in hand and are expected to be completed by the end of 1991."
