Reports of the First Committee

The Acting President: The General Assembly will consider the reports of the First Committee on agenda items 57 to 73.

I request the Rapporteur of the First Committee, Mr. Mehmet Samsar of Turkey, to introduce the reports of the First Committee in one intervention.

Mr. Samsar (Turkey), Rapporteur of the First Committee: I have the great pleasure and honour to present the reports of the Disarmament and International Security Committee — the First Committee — under agenda items 57 to 73 to the General Assembly for its consideration and approval.

The Committee, under the chairmanship of Ambassador Semakula Kiwanuka, Permanent Representative of Uganda, considered 17 agenda items, which encompass a total of 36 items related to disarmament and international security issues, in a very constructive and efficient manner.

One can characterize the fifty-seventh session of the First Committee as procedurally complicated, but substantively constructive, more focused and action-oriented. I can say that the disarmament calendar for 2002 has been eventful. During the session, member States addressed issues ranging across the full spectrum of disarmament and related international security agenda items. Most of the delegations that participated in the deliberations of the Committee paid tribute to the achievements of recent years, as well as expressing their legitimate concern and their readiness to cooperate in tackling issues that should be addressed in the near future.

As in the past, the complexity of nuclear issues in general, encompassing both nuclear disarmament and non-proliferation, continued to constitute the core of the debate on international security. Among these issues, in general, those related to weapons of mass destruction — in particular, nuclear disarmament and non-proliferation; positive developments in the nuclear arena, notably the Strategic Offensive Reductions Treaty between the Russian Federation and the United States; and questions related to other types of weapons of mass destruction, such as biological and chemical weapons — continued to dominate the attention of many delegations. Despite the persistence of considerable differences on certain specific substantive issues, there seemed to be consensus on many of the broader and fundamental objectives of multilateral disarmament and non-proliferation issues.

The Committee had before it for consideration a total of 52 draft resolutions and 2 draft decisions that were submitted under various disarmament and international security issues. It adopted a total of 50 draft resolutions and 2 draft decisions, of which 29 draft resolutions and 1 draft decision were adopted without a vote. One draft resolution, entitled “Effects of the use of depleted uranium in armaments”, was not adopted, and another resolution, entitled “Disarmament, non-proliferation and international peace and security”, was withdrawn due to lack of consensus.

This record contains the text of speeches delivered in English and of the interpretation of speeches delivered in the other languages. Corrections should be submitted to the original languages only. They should be incorporated in a copy of the record and sent under the signature of a member of the delegation concerned to the Chief of the Verbatim Reporting Service, room C-154A. Corrections will be issued after the end of the session in a consolidated corrigendum.

In this connection, I wish to state that the Committee adopted five new draft resolutions on: bilateral strategic nuclear arms reductions and the new strategic framework; reduction of non-strategic nuclear weapons; national legislation on transfer of arms, military equipment and dual use goods and technology; measures to prevent terrorists from acquiring weapons of mass destruction; and promotion of multilateralism in the area of disarmament and non-proliferation. Of these, three were adopted by a recorded vote and two by consensus.

I would like to pay a well-deserved tribute to all delegations for their spirit of cooperation in the common search for a better, safer and more stable world. I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to the Chairman of the First Committee, Ambassador Matia Mulumba Semakula Kiwanuka, who, with his high diplomatic skills and vast knowledge of disarmament and international security affairs, skilfully steered the deliberations of the First Committee and enriched its debate with his vision and able guidance.

I would also like to extend my cordial appreciation and thanks to the Vice-Chairmen of the Committee, Ambassador José Nicolás Rivas of Colombia, Mr. Jamal Nassir Al-Bader of Qatar and Mr. Razvan Rusu of Romania, all of whom played a constructive role in the discharge of our common responsibilities.

I wish further to thank the Secretary of the First Committee, Mr. Mohammad Kasem Sattar, whose vast experience and high degree of competence made a significant contribution to the successful outcome of the work of the Committee. I would also like to express my gratitude to Mr. Timur Alasaniya, Mr. Saijin Zhang, Mr. Tam Chung, Ms. Ruby Kulanusorstit, Ms. Janett Serrano, Mr. Eduard Fesko and other Secretariat staff for their valuable assistance in the preparation of the reports, as well as in the work of the Committee. Allow me to state that, as Rapporteur of the Committee, I had the good fortune to become acquainted with the many unknown soldiers working diligently in the Secretariat, who deserve our highest admiration and gratitude for a job well done.

In conclusion, I submit the reports of the First Committee, as contained in documents A/57/501 to A/57/517, to the General Assembly for consideration and approval.

The Acting President: If there is no proposal under rule 66 of the rules of procedure, I shall take it that the General Assembly decides not to discuss the reports of the First Committee which are before the Assembly today.

It was so decided.

The Acting President: Statements will therefore be limited to explanations of vote or position. The positions of delegations regarding the recommendations of the First Committee have been made clear in the Committee and are reflected in the relevant official documents and records.

May I remind members that under paragraph 7 of decision 34/401, the General Assembly agreed that “When the same draft resolution is considered in a Main Committee and in plenary meeting, a delegation should, as far as possible, explain its vote only once, i.e., either in the Committee or in plenary meeting, unless that delegation’s vote in plenary meeting is different from its vote in the Committee”.

May I remind delegations that, also in accordance with General Assembly decision 34/401, explanations of vote are limited to 10 minutes and should be made by delegations from their seats.

Before we begin to take action on the recommendations contained in the reports of First Committee, I should like to advise representatives that we are going to proceed to take decisions in the same manner as was done in the First Committee, unless notified otherwise in advance. That means that where recorded or separate votes were taken, we will do the same. I should also hope that we may proceed to adopt without a vote those recommendations that were adopted without a vote in the First Committee.

Agenda item 66

General and complete disarmament

Report of the First Committee (A/57/510)

The President: The Assembly has before it twenty-nine draft resolutions recommended by the First Committee in paragraph 90 of its report. One draft decision recommended is in paragraph 91 of the same report.

I now give the floor to the representative of Ireland.

Ms. Murnaghan (Ireland): I asked for the floor on behalf of the sponsors of draft resolution A/C.1/57/L.3/Rev.1, included as draft resolution B in document A/57/510. The sponsors of the draft resolution warmly welcome the accession by Cuba to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT) and its ratification of the Treaty of Tlatelolco.

When the draft resolution was adopted in the First Committee on 25 October 2002, Cuba had signalled its intention to assume these obligations. However, all necessary procedures could not be completed before the First Committee concluded its work. The sponsors of the draft resolution are agreed that it would be appropriate to reflect these developments in the text to be considered by the General Assembly. On their behalf, therefore, I wish to propose a technical amendment to the twenty-fourth preambular paragraph of draft resolution B. We propose that it be amended to read "Welcoming Cuba's accession to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons and its ratification of the Treaty of Tlatelolco". We ask that the draft resolution, as now orally amended, be put to the Assembly for consideration.

The President: I now give the floor to the representative of Brazil.

Mr. Mourao (Brazil): Since the First Committee, by an overwhelming majority adopted draft resolution A/C.1/57/L.34, entitled "Nuclear-weapon-free southern hemisphere and adjacent areas", Cuba has deposited in Mexico City the instruments of ratification of the Treaty of Tlatelolco. With this decision, the ratification process of Tlatelolco is completed. We were also informed in the last few days of important developments regarding the South-East Asia nuclear-free zone. All 10 South-East Asian countries, as envisaged by the Treaty of Bangkok, have already ratified this important Treaty. After consultations with sponsors and interested delegations on the possibility of amending draft resolution L.34 to reflect these new developments, the Brazilian delegation proposes the following amendments to draft resolution L.34, “Nuclear-weapon-free southern hemisphere and adjacent areas”.

The third preambular paragraph would read as follows: “Welcoming the ratification by Cuba of the Treaty of Tlatelolco, which fulfilled the establishment of the first inhabited nuclear-weapon-free zone, encompassing all States of Latin America and the Caribbean”.

In operative paragraph 2, delete the words “Tlatelolco” and “Bangkok”, so that this paragraph would read as follows: “Calls for the ratification of the Treaties of Rarotonga and Pelindaba by all States of the region, and calls upon all concerned States to continue to work together in order to facilitate adherence to the protocols to nuclear-weapon-free zone treaties by all relevant States that have not yet done so”.

On behalf of the sponsors, we recommend to the General Assembly the approval of this draft resolution, as amended.

The President: I now give the floor to the representative of Japan.

Mr. Ishikawa (Japan): Subsequent to adoption of the draft resolution entitled “A path to the total elimination of nuclear weapons” (A/C.1/57/L.42) by the First Committee on 23 October 2002, the Republic of Cuba acceded to the Non-Proliferation Treaty. Japan, on behalf of the sponsors of that draft resolution, would like to orally propose that the draft resolution be amended to reflect this new development. Therefore we recommend that in the third preambular paragraph amend “and welcoming the decision” to read as follows: “and welcoming the Republic of Cuba’s accession to the Treaty”. Therefore, the third preambular paragraph now reads as follows:

“Reaffirming the crucial importance of the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons as the cornerstone of the international regime for nuclear non-proliferation and as an essential foundation for the pursuit of nuclear disarmament, and welcoming the Republic of Cuba’s accession to the Treaty”.

The President: I now call upon the representative of Poland.

Mr. Lemanski: I would like to present an oral technical revision to draft resolution A/C.1/57/L.48, entitled “Implementation of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction”.

When Poland and Canada introduced this draft resolution to the First Committee in October 2002, the number of States parties to the Convention was 145. But, as all members certainly know, since then and before the General Assembly has taken action on this draft resolution, two States — Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and Samoa — have acceded to the Convention, bringing the total number of States parties to 147. Poland and Canada would very much like these facts to be reflected in the final text of the draft resolution. An updated third preambular paragraph would then read as follows:

“Noting with satisfaction that since the adoption of resolution 56/24 K, four additional States have ratified or acceded to the Convention, bringing the total number of States parties to the Convention to one hundred and forty-seven,”.

The Acting President I shall now put the 29 draft resolutions A to CC and the draft decision to the Assembly one by one. We will take up the oral amendments to draft resolutions B, P, U and Y when we come to each of the draft resolutions. After all the decisions have been taken, representatives will again have the opportunity to explain their vote.

Draft resolutions A to CC are to be found in paragraph 90 of section III of the report of the First Committee.

We turn first to draft resolution A, entitled “Reduction of non-strategic nuclear weapons”.

A recorded vote has been requested.

Members will recall that the representative of Ireland has submitted an oral amendment to the twenty-first preambular paragraph of draft resolution B.

In accordance with rule 90 of the rules of procedure, the Assembly shall first take a decision on the oral amendment to the twenty-first preambular paragraph of draft resolution B.

The Acting President: I now call on the representative of Mongolia in explanation of vote after the voting.

Mr. Erendo (Mongolia): Resolution 57/67, which has just been adopted, vividly demonstrates broad traditional support for strengthening Mongolia's international security and its nuclear-weapon-free status. In the two years since the Assembly first adopted a resolution under this topic, a number of national and international measures have been taken to further consolidate Mongolia's external security and its nuclear-weapon-free status, which is reflected in the Secretary-General's report on this item (A/57/159).

That is why, in the resolution just adopted, the General Assembly

"Welcomes the efforts made by Member States to cooperate with Mongolia in implementing resolution 55/33S, as well as the progress made in consolidating Mongolia's international security" (resolution 57/67, para. 4)

and

"Invites Member States to continue to cooperate with Mongolia in taking the necessary measures to consolidate and strengthen Mongolia's independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, the inviolability of its borders, its economic security, its ecological balance and its nuclear-weapon-free status" (ibid, para. 5).

We believe that the two studies to be undertaken on Mongolia's economic and ecological vulnerabilities, which are mentioned in the Secretary-General's report, could contribute to addressing the country's economic and ecological challenges, and thus to strengthening the basis of Mongolia's unique nuclear-weapon-free status.

As resolution 57/67 outlines, Mongolia's strengthened external security and its nuclear-weapon-free status serves to promote the aims of nuclear non-proliferation and to contribute to enhancing stability and confidence-building in the region.

In conclusion, my delegation would like to take this opportunity to thank Member States, the Secretary-General and the relevant United Nations bodies for their support and cooperation. Bearing in mind the importance of the credibility of its nuclear-weapon-free status, Mongolia will do its utmost to institutionalize it at the international level. We will do so in the hope that this innovative approach could prove to be useful to others, including those in North-East Asia, so that they may creatively address their broader national security concerns in tandem with the creation of nuclear-weapon-free zones.

The Acting President: The General Assembly has thus concluded this stage of its consideration of agenda item 66.

Agenda item 67

Review and implementation of the Concluding Document of the Twelfth Special Session of the General Assembly

Report of the First Committee (A/57/511)

The Acting President: In connection with this item, the General Assembly has before it eight draft resolutions recommended by the First Committee in paragraph 25 of its report.

Mr. Loedel (Uruguay) (spoke in Spanish): The Group of Latin American and Caribbean States would like Cuba's ratification of the Treaty of Tlatelolco reflected in draft resolution C, which is contained in document A/57/511. We would therefore like to propose an amendment to the sixth preambular paragraph. The paragraph should then read as follows:

"Welcoming the ratification by the Government of Cuba of the Treaty for the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons in Latin America and the Caribbean (Treaty of Tlatelolco)".

[Subsequently, the delegation of New Zealand informed the Secretariat that it had intended to vote against.]

The Acting President: I call on the representative of Togo, who wishes to speak in explanation of position on the resolutions just adopted.

Mr. Kpotsra (Togo) (spoke in French): In the First Committee, and earlier in plenary meeting, the delegation of Togo joined the consensus on the draft resolutions on the United Nations regional centres for peace and disarmament. We would like, however, to take this opportunity to once again draw attention to the financial difficulties that the United Nations regional centres for peace and disarmament in Africa, Asia and the Pacific and Latin America and the Caribbean continue to face in carrying out their operational and administrative activities.

Given that they are funded by available resources and the voluntary contributions of Member States and international governmental and non-governmental organizations and foundations, the regional centres are not always able to mobilize the financial resources needed for their activities. In this rather gloomy context, we should like to commend the report on the inspection of the programme management and administrative practices in the Department for Disarmament Affairs of the Office for Internal Oversight Services, contained in document A/56/817.
Paragraph 77, under "Conclusions", states:

"One of the important and promising aspects of the Department's work is its regional dimension. While the revitalization of the regional centres is on track, their continuity and longer-term viability are far from being ensured.
Achieving a longer-term sustainability of the centres would require resourcefulness, the teamwork of the entire Department and persistence in building up their financial resources and ensuring their continuity. That, in turn, would allow the establishment of core staff and secure the centres' institutional memory. The Office is of the view that such extra efforts are essential as the strong regional centres would provide the dynamic hubs for the Department's regional presence."

Under the "Recommendations" of the Office of Internal Oversight Services, which the Secretary-General seems to support, paragraph 94 states:

"Given that the viability of the regional centres is constantly threatened by a shortage of voluntary contributions, and that their good work and usefulness are consistently recognized by the General Assembly, the Under-Secretary-General for Disarmament Affairs should request that operational support activities of the centres be financed, as required in each individual case, from the regular budget".

In other words, instead of annually updating earlier resolutions regarding regional centres, we should make greater efforts to fully fund all spending on regional centres from the regular United Nations budget. In so doing, we will truly demonstrate our genuine support for the objectives of the United Nations in the area of arms control and disarmament, as well as our appreciation of the active role played to date by the regional centres.

That is the task that the delegation of Togo will undertake in the coming months, working closely with all those that support the activities of the United Nations regional centres for peace and disarmament.

The Acting President: May I take it that it is the wish of the General Assembly to conclude its consideration of agenda item 67?

It was so decided.
