6. The Mission is mandated to help the Security Council achieve an overall objective, namely, to consolidate peace and stability in Sierra Leone.

7. Within this overall objective, the Mission has, during the performance report period, contributed to a number of accomplishments by delivering related key outputs, shown in the frameworks below. These frameworks are grouped by components: political, military, civilian police and support.

8. The 2003/04 period is the first period for which the Mission was able to assess its performance against the planned results-based frameworks set out in the 2003/04 budget. The performance report compares the actual indicators of achievement, the extent to which actual progress has been made during the period against the expected accomplishments, with the planned indicators of achievement, and compares the actually completed outputs with the planned outputs.

	Variance
Military observers	$169.5	1.4%

9. The reduced requirements were attributable mainly to the lower actual average cost per trip of $2,400 compared to the budgeted cost per trip of $2,600 as a result of a higher number of interested parties in the latest round of competitive bidding. The reduced requirements were also attributable to the lower actual 12-month average of 255 military observers deployed than the 12-month average strength of 260 budgeted.

<sup>1</sup> Resource variance amounts are expressed in thousands of United States dollars.

	Variance
Military contingents	$46 185.7	15.7%

10. The reduced requirements resulted from a lower actual 12-month average troop strength of 11,491 compared to the budgeted 12-month average troop strength of 12,740. The budget (see A/57/681) for the period concerned was prepared in accordance with the plan for downsizing the military component of the Mission as outlined by the Secretary-General in paragraphs 28 to 32 of his report to the Security Council (S/2002/987), which was endorsed by the Council in its resolution 1436 (2002). During the period, the Mission commenced a faster pace of drawdown and withdrawal of the military force in accordance with the four-stage modified status quo drawdown plan, as endorsed by the Council in its resolution 1492 (2003), which envisaged a complete withdrawal of the peacekeeping troops by December 2004. The lower average troop strength resulted in reduced requirements for standard troop cost reimbursement, rotation and repatriation travel of military contingent members, rations, recreational leave and daily allowance for troops, and deployment of contingent-owned equipment.

	Variance
Civilian police	$1 352.6	19.3%

11. In line with the downsizing of the military force required by the Security Council as stated under "military contingents" above, the reduced requirements during the period were attributable to the lower actual 12-month average deployment of 126 civilian police as compared to the budgeted 12-month average strength of 154.

	Variance
International staff	($6 088.3)	(15.7%)

12. The increased requirements were due to the lower average vacancy rate of 13.7 per cent compared to 20 per cent applied in the budget. The increased requirements were also due to additional costs associated with the 120 international staff members recruited under the 300 series and subsequently reappointed to the 100 series, as well as additional costs in relation to the repatriation and transfer of staff from UNAMSIL to other peacekeeping missions.

	Variance
National staff	$386.0	10.3%

13. The reduced requirements were due mainly to a depreciation of around 50 per cent in the exchange rate of the local currency against the United States dollar during the period as compared with the rate when the budget was prepared.

	Variance
United Nations Volunteers	($1 074.5)	(22.9%)

14. The additional requirements were partly attributable to an increase in the volunteer living allowance rate from $1,765 to $1,952, effective 1 March 2004, which could not have been projected when the budget was prepared. The additional requirements were also attributable to the payment of hazardous allowance to United Nations Volunteers for which no provision was made in the budget, the payment for outstanding invoices pertaining to the previous financial period and additional costs associated with the repatriation of 51 United Nations Volunteers which had not been projected when the budget was prepared.

	Variance
Consultants	($78.1)	(321.4%)

15. The increased requirements were due to the hiring of a consultant who provided advice to the Government of Sierra Leone on mining policies and strategies and to the Sierra Leone Police on developing policing strategy in the diamond mining areas and on establishing a Diamond Crime Intelligence and Investigation Unit that can prevent and investigate crimes relating to diamonds. The functions of the consultant were originally assumed to be carried out by the civilian police. However, the civilian police expertise was not available during the reporting period.

	Variance
Official travel	($232.5)	(24.2%)

16. The additional requirements were due mainly to increased travel activities within the Mission as a result of the movement of staff in locations vacated in connection with the drawdown. Increased travel under the Office of the Force Commander took place for inter-Mission consultations and liaison meetings with other missions in the region. In addition, increased official travel for the Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General was required for attendance at subregional meetings for the Manu River Union as well as ECOWAS meetings and political consultations in the region and at United Nations Headquarters, including 42 consultations both within and outside Sierra Leone with national and regional stakeholders and with political leaders, including Heads of State of the Manu River Union and ECOWAS countries.

	Variance
Facilities and infrastructure	$7 851.9	17.7%

17. For the same reason stated under "military contingents", requirements for self-sustainment of military contingents were reduced during the period in line with the earlier than planned withdrawal and repatriation of military contingents.

	Variance
Ground transportation	$1 750.1	23.7%

18. Following the drawdown of the military force required by the Security Council, the reduced requirements were due mainly to a lower consumption of fuel as a result of the reduction in the number of contingent-owned vehicles (actual 1,615 against budgeted 2,037).

	Variance
Air transportation	$12 626.8	20.0%

19. The reduced requirements resulted mainly from the significant reduction in contract rates for the new MI-26 replacement aircraft. In addition, the renegotiation of the contract between UNAMSIL and the Sierra Leone Air Authority for landing fees and ground handling charges resulted in considerable savings.

	Variance
Communications	$2 586.6	16.9%

20. In line with the early withdrawal and repatriation of military contingents, as decided by the Security Council, requirements for self-sustainment of military contingents were reduced.

	Variance
Information technology	($1 267.3)	37.1%

21. The increased requirements were attributable mainly to the need to purchase an off-site in-theatre disaster recovery set-up in Hastings for storage of security data to ensure compliance with the minimum operational security standards and the Department of Peacekeeping Operations mission disaster recovery and business continuity plan in the event of a catastrophe or an evacuation.

	Variance
Medical	$4 921.2	32.9%

22. The requirements for self-sustainment of military contingents were reduced during the period in line with the earlier than planned repatriation of military contingents. The requirements for medical supplies were also reduced owing to a lower actual 12-month average troop strength of 11,491 compared to 12,740 budgeted.

	Variance
Special equipment	$2 344.7	38.0%

23. In line with the early withdrawal and repatriation of military contingents, as decided by the Security Council, requirements for self-sustainment of military contingents were reduced.

	Variance
Other supplies, services and equipment	($114.5)	(4.8%)

24. The increased requirements were due mainly to non-budgeted purchases of security equipment to ensure that minimum operational security standards are in place, and new incinerators to ensure disposal of assets in an environmentally friendly way. Increased requirements were also due to the increase in the Mission's bank charges as a result of the introduction of the new contractual arrangement with a bank in Sierra Leone to transport cash to the Mission's premises.

V. Actions to be taken by the General Assembly

25. The actions to be taken by the General Assembly in connection with the financing of the United Nations Mission in Sierra Leone are:

(a) To decide on a reduction in the appropriation provided in General Assembly resolution 57/291 B for the maintenance of the Mission for the period from 1 July 2003 to 30 June 2004 from $543,489,900 to $509,436,300, corresponding to the amount actually assessed on Member States, inclusive of the amounts of $17,946,000 for the support account for peacekeeping operations and $5,490,300 for the United Nations Logistics Base at Brindisi, Italy;

(b) To decide on the treatment of the unutilized balance of $37,265,600, based on the reduced appropriation recommended in subparagraph (a) above;

(c) To decide on the treatment of other income/adjustments for the period ended 30 June 2004 amounting to $16,789,000 from interest income ($5,583,000), other/miscellaneous income ($2,924,000), prior-period adjustments ($11,000) and savings on or cancellation of prior-period obligations ($8,271,000).
