Annex II to the letter dated 21 September 2007 from the Permanent Representative of Ukraine to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

Appeal by the President of Ukraine to international leaders on the Holodomor

In the 1930s the Ukrainian nation survived one of the most fearful tragedies in its history, which claimed the lives of millions of people. They became victims of the genocide of the Ukrainian people, which had been planned and implemented by the communist regime — the Holodomor of 1932-1933. This inhuman crime and its catastrophic consequences were officially denied by the USSR authorities for decades.

Now Ukrainian and foreign scientists have revealed incontestable evidence that the tragedy was caused by intentional actions on the part of the authorities at that time aimed at the assassination of the Ukrainian people through famine. Not only grain, but all food products were requisitioned from the Ukrainian people. Delivery of any food products into Ukrainian villages was prohibited. Starving Ukraine was isolated from other regions of the USSR; the free movement of the people into regions not affected by the famine was prohibited.

The above-mentioned actions on the part of the totalitarian regime met all the criteria for genocide according to the United Nations Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide dated 9 December 1948.

The development of our common future requires the detailed study of the lessons of the past. The international community cannot achieve peace and harmony unless it understands the nature of crimes committed against humankind.

Our duty is to condemn facts of mass killings committed by totalitarian regimes in the past in order to prevent similar crimes in the future.

On 28 November 2006 the Verkhovna Rada (Parliament) of Ukraine adopted the Law on the Holodomor of 1932-1933 in Ukraine, according to which the Holodomor was recognized as the genocide of the Ukrainian people.

Ukraine highly appreciates the solidarity and support of the international community in the condemnation of the Holodomor. Our State is grateful to the peoples and parliaments of Australia, Canada, Estonia, Georgia, Hungary, Lithuania, Poland and the United States of America, whose legislative authorities have expressed their opinion on the Holodomor genocide.

In my capacity as the President of Ukraine, I call for support for the adoption of the United Nations resolution which would condemn the Holodomor in Ukraine, and I call on the parliamentarians of all countries of the world to join in the recognition of the Holodomor of 1932-1933 in Ukraine as an act of genocide against the Ukrainian nation.

At the same time, I appeal to countries to abide by the principles of justice and mutual respect in their relations, to the parental feelings of those who love their children, to the feelings of children who remember and respect their parents.

This will be another step towards the prevention and eradication of the shameful phenomenon of genocide, with the assistance of the international community and the mutual support of people of goodwill.
