ANNEX

[Original: Russian]

Statement issued on 9 September 1995 by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Belarus

The general public in the Republic of Belarus is deeply concerned about the recent nuclear test conducted by France at Mururoa atoll.

Unfortunately, it must be noted that neither the consensus reached in May 1995 to extend indefinitely the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons, nor the moratorium on nuclear tests declared by the major nuclear-weapon States has had any effect on this decision to conduct nuclear tests. Whatever their ultimate objectives, nuclear tests arouse the justifiable protest of the international community, jeopardize the successful finalization of the comprehensive test-ban treaty and thereby further delay the achievement of the ultimate goal of the elimination of the nuclear threat.

The Republic of Belarus has voluntarily and unconditionally renounced possession of nuclear weapons, and has learned from its own experience with the accident at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant of the dreadful consequences of radioactive contamination. We are convinced that the declaration of a moratorium on nuclear tests by all nuclear-weapon States would be a key factor in strengthening international peace and security.
