FOREWORD BY AMBASSADOR JEAN-MARIE KACOU GERVAIS,
PRESIDENT OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL

The 1996 substantive session of the Council represented both an end and a beginning. It was the last occasion on which the Council conducted its deliberations according to the format established by the General Assembly in its resolution 48/162. At the same time, the Council began the process of implementing Assembly resolution 50/227, entitled "Further measures for the restructuring and revitalization of the United Nations in the economic, social and related fields", in which the Assembly introduced a new framework for the functioning of the Council. I am pleased that the Council adopted significant legislation in a number of areas during its substantive session and took steps in the innovative direction charted by the Assembly in its resolution 50/227. I believe in particular that Member States can view with favour the outcomes of the coordination and operational activities segments and the adoption of important resolutions, among others, on non-governmental organizations, and the follow-up to major United Nations conferences, collaboration with the Bretton Woods institutions, prevention and control of human immunodeficiency virus/acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (HIV/AIDS) and humanitarian assistance.

In viewing the work of the various segments of the Council, it seems clear that its high-level segment, while having a considerable potential for success, still leaves much to be desired. Without a doubt, the presence of the executive heads of the international financial and trade institutions is essential with respect to having a meaningful policy dialogue during the high-level segment. The absence of most of the executive heads at this year's substantive session weakened the dialogue significantly. As for the remainder of the high-level segment, having a well-defined topical subject of high international priority contributed to a more focused debate and to broader ministerial participation. The high-level segment still lacks two essential ingredients, however - first, a clear and definitive outcome and second, a vigorous and straightforward dialogue among the participants. I trust that the proposal to have agreed conclusions emanating from the high-level segment beginning with next year will ensure a more definitive outcome. With regard to dialogue among the participants, I would note that, although the speeches are an integral part of the high-level segment, the segment should not be confined to statements alone. Indeed, ways need to be found to ensure a more disciplined presentation of statements by all concerned coupled with an opportunity for structured but interactive dialogue.

The trend of a well-functioning coordination segment continued and was further strengthened this year. The Council is gradually re-equipping itself to play the coordinating role envisaged for it in the Charter of the United Nations. This year's agreed conclusions showed the Council's willingness to assert its authority over its own subsidiary machinery in a constructive way. Harmonization and coordination of the work programmes of the Council's functional commissions in the area of poverty eradication are an important step towards achieving the same overall direction. Not only is the Council better placed to direct the work of its functional commissions, but the commissions themselves will also be able to draw on each other's work in a more coherent and synergistic way. Likewise, the Council's conclusions provide well-articulated guidance to the United Nations system for integrated support for poverty eradication at the country level and for mainstreaming the gender perspective into the work of the system.

In the segment on operational activities of the United Nations for international development cooperation, the Council undertook the monitoring and guidance of the implementation of General Assembly resolution 50/120 on the triennial comprehensive policy review of operational activities for development. The report of the Secretary-General on the subject proved to be particularly helpful owing to its clearly defined focus on selected areas and the identification of problems and related recommendations. Furthermore, the dialogue with executive heads and two field teams of the United Nations system afforded the Council an opportunity to obtain further insights into the requirements for guidance. Consequently, the resolution adopted by the Council contains a range of substantive provisions that promote further reforms of operational activities in the key areas of harmonization of rules and procedures, common administrative services and common premises and strengthened monitoring and evaluation. Moreover, the groundwork has been laid for constructive consideration of some aspects of funding of operational activities by the Council in 1997.

In the general segment, the Council addressed a wide range of economic, social, humanitarian, human rights and coordination questions and adopted a number of substantial resolutions. The decision and the resolution that it adopted as part of the conclusion of its review of arrangements for consultations with non-governmental organizations must stand out, however, as the major achievement of this year's general segment. Concerning the agenda of the segment, it continues to be overburdened and fragmented and needs to be streamlined. This task has acquired new urgency since the Council will be required, as of 1997, to complete its programme of work within four weeks.

The coming year will be a critical one for the Council. It will need to maintain the momentum of reform initiated by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/227 by implementing the provisions relevant to its work with thoroughness and dispatch. I am confident that the members of next year's Council will be up to the task. For my part, I shall ensure that the 1996 Bureau safeguards and passes on to the 1997 substantive session of the Council the overall experience that we acquired in the initial phase of the implementation of Assembly resolution 50/227, as well as the lessons learned during the year.

INTRODUCTION

1. The high-level segment was held from 24 to 27 June 1996 (8th to 15th meetings of the Council). An account of the proceedings is contained in the relevant summary records (E/1996/SR.8-15). The Council had before it the following documents:

(b) Report of the Secretary-General on international cooperation against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotics and psychotropic substances and related activities (E/1996/57);

(c) World Economic and Social Survey, 1996 (E/1996/60).

ACTION TAKEN BY THE COUNCIL

2. At the 52nd meeting, on 26 July 1996, the President of the Council presented the summary and conclusions of the high-level segment (E/1996/89), which read as follows:

"Summary presented by Ambassador Jean-Marie Kacou Gervais,
President of the Economic and Social Council

"INTRODUCTION

"The high-level segment of the Economic and Social Council was held from 24 to 27 June 1996. The theme of the segment was 'International cooperation against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotics and psychotropic substances and related activities'. The segment was attended by a large number of ministers and other high-level representatives.

"During the segment, on 24 June 1996, the Council held an intensive policy dialogue on major issues in the world economy with Mr. Rubens Ricupero, Secretary-General of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), Mr. Prabhakar R. Narvekar, Deputy Managing Director of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and Mr. Sven Sandstrom, Managing Director of the World Bank. The absence of a representative of the World Trade Organization was noted with regret.

"I. POLICY DIALOGUE

"The policy dialogue with the Secretary-General of UNCTAD and responsible representatives of the heads of the World Bank and IMF focused on trends in the world economy; the issue of globalization; trade; debt; resource flows; and cooperation and coordination within the United Nations system. Also addressed was the importance of international cooperation in combating the drug problem.

"A. The world economy and international cooperation

"The evolution of world economic growth is encouraging, although many countries continue to have an economic performance below their potential. Developing countries, as a group, are making a major contribution to the growth of the world economy. Their growth, which seems in many cases - particularly in Asia and to some extent in Latin America - to be independent of the growth or lack of it in developed economies, is expected to continue to outpace that of the industrialized countries in 1996-1997. Developing countries are contributing not only to world growth but also to macro-stabilization policies worldwide, in particular through greater internal price stability and significant deregulation of financial markets. Growth, however, remains uneven, with a small number of developing countries growing rapidly, a larger number showing improved performance, and a third group, in particular the least developed and African countries, lagging behind. Many developing countries continue to be faced with the problems of poverty, inadequate infrastructure, capital constraints and low levels of social development. Many of the countries with economies in transition are moving towards a high growth path. However, these countries will continue to need international assistance in the period ahead to overcome the problems of transition.

"Sound policies, structural changes and economic reforms must continue to be pursued by all countries, including developing countries, to sustain and accelerate growth and development. At the same time, the importance of the external economic environment, particularly the effects of economic and trade policies and developments in developed countries, and of international economic cooperation, was underscored. The suggestion was put forward that the main industrialized countries should coordinate policies of economic expansion to raise demand and combat unemployment, in the context of deepening trade liberalization. The prospective growth environment for developing countries will depend not only on their continuing significant policy adjustments but also on sustained and strong momentum in global trade liberalization leading to rapid growth in world trade. The acute problems of the least developed countries, whose number has increased, can be overcome only with decisive international action and assistance. Partnership between developed and developing countries should be reinforced and extended to civil society as a whole.

"Recent United Nations conferences have defined the framework for and resulted in commitments to intensify international cooperation for development. Attention must now focus on implementation at the national and international levels. Development strategy should be based on a country's plans, priorities and development needs, and should be country-specific, while recognizing that developing countries face many common constraints and problems. International cooperation is necessary to assist developing countries in carrying out their development goals.

"B. Globalization

"Globalization, in particular global financial integration, implies opportunities and challenges. As we continue to assess the risks and benefits associated with globalization, it is time to address the issue of the post-globalization agenda. Many developing countries and countries with economies in transition are liberalizing their trade and investment environment. As a result, private capital flows to developing countries have increased substantially, and have complemented domestic savings and external assistance. However, so far three quarters of these flows have gone to only 12 countries, and such flows can easily be suspended or reversed. Therefore, current efforts to establish a system of financial cooperation capable of providing early warning and preventing the emergence of serious financial crises must be continued and intensified. It was suggested that the international community should also give consideration, as appropriate and in cooperation with national Governments, to ways of dealing with the possible negative effects on developing countries of sudden outflows of private capital. The developed economies should better integrate the international dimension into their macroeconomic and monetary policies, since these have a crucial impact on world growth and development.

"Globalization discussions so far have mainly referred to trade in goods and services, and have tended to overlook technology, labour and migration flows. It was suggested that labour mobility should be a part of the liberalization agenda.

"C. Trade

"While all partners in the Uruguay round of multilateral trade negotiations have undertaken trade liberalization measures, many developing countries have adopted unilateral measures as well. Liberalization efforts must be further deepened in all countries, taking into account the relevant internationally agreed provisions to address the special situations of developing countries.

"Economic cooperation and integration at the regional level are also important. Intensified regional cooperation should not be pursued as an alternative to the global liberalization process but should contribute to an open and multilateral trading system.

"D. Debt and resource flows

"Finding lasting solutions to the heavy debt burdens of the least developed countries is crucial in the fight against poverty. Hope was expressed that a solution will be found as the World Bank and IMF continue their joint and ongoing efforts to bring the external debt problems of heavily indebted poor countries, including multilateral debt, to a sustainable level.

"The provision of new and additional resources, both multilateral and bilateral, is required for achieving the commitments agreed to at recent major international conferences and summits. The problem of declining official development assistance (ODA) has to be addressed urgently. Adequate financial resources are required to enable international financial institutions to fulfil their mandate, and the recent disconcerting trends and developments in that area were noted.

"Following the agreement on the replenishment of the International Development Association (IDA), the implementation of related commitments must be ensured. Concern was expressed at the incomplete tenth replenishment of IDA and the prospects for the eleventh replenishment. The IMF Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility has been established on a permanent basis; ways of financing it should be agreed upon as soon as possible. A substantial increase in quotas is being considered in the IMF Eleventh General Review of Quotas. Agreement on the broad outline of a new arrangement to double resources available under the General Arrangements to Borrow should be finalized and implemented.

"E. Structural adjustment

"Discussions have shown growing international consensus on the main elements of sound economic policies. The proper design and effective implementation of structural adjustment programmes, which fully take into account the social dimension, remain a key challenge. While recent improvement in growth in Africa suggests that well-designed structural adjustment programmes could restore growth, experience has vividly demonstrated that adjustment programmes must take into account the need to expand social investment, provide a social safety net and alleviate poverty. Policies to protect social sectors should assure that the poor have a stronger say in designing plans and setting priorities. Building Governments' capacities should be a priority as well as an appropriate role for civil society. Efforts should be intensified to implement commitment 8 of the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development 1/ regarding structural adjustment programmes.

"F. Cooperation and coordination within the United Nations system

"Progress has been made in the cooperation between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in a number of economic, social and environmental areas. The United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa and the inter-agency task forces of the Administrative Committee on Coordination (ACC) on the follow-up to major conferences, among others, provide useful avenues for enhanced cooperation between the Bretton Woods institutions and the rest of the United Nations system. A call was made for developing further the cooperation between the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions, and for both a closer policy dialogue at the intergovernmental level on global macroeconomic policy issues and promoting cooperation at the country level. A number of speakers emphasized that strengthening the collaboration between the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions should avoid, within the context of the United Nations operational system, new conditionalities and restrictive policies. The ongoing reform of the multilateral financial institutions was noted. The reform of UNCTAD, in particular the streamlining and simplification of its intergovernmental machinery and secretariat structure, and the clear, refocused and reinforced mandate given to it at its ninth session, were also welcomed. The need to explore ways to broaden and enhance coordination of monetary and financial institutions was emphasized.

"Many speakers noted that the high-level policy dialogue of the Council with heads of multilateral trade and financial institutions has proved to be very useful in facilitating discussion of international economic issues, including those arising from the process of globalization and liberalization. Some participants suggested that the dialogue might gain from being more focused on selected themes. Attention was drawn to the need to ensure that participation in the one-day policy dialogue should continue to be at the executive head level, as in previous years. The President of the Council was encouraged to pursue this question with the parties concerned.

"G. Drug abuse control

"The need to integrate drug abuse control in the national and global policy agenda was emphasized. A comprehensive and multidimensional approach to the problem is needed, with the effective involvement of all partners, including the international financial institutions.

"II. INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION AGAINST THE ILLICIT PRODUCTION, SALE, DEMAND, TRAFFIC AND DISTRIBUTION OF NARCOTICS AND PSYCHOTROPIC SUBSTANCES AND RELATED ACTIVITIES

"The report of the Secretary-General on international cooperation against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotics and psychotropic substances and related activities (E/1996/57) provided the basic background documentation for the high-level segment debate. The report provided a concise and comprehensive overview of the extent of drug trafficking and abuse worldwide, which was closely linked with the problems of organized crime and money laundering. It emphasized the social and economic cost and consequences of drug abuse on society.

"The challenge posed to societies by drug abuse and illicit trafficking has many facets and dimensions: it transcends national and geographical boundaries, affects different social and age groups, and stands at the crossroads of many social and economic issues. Drug abuse has devastating social effects, including its harmful impact on youth, families, other social groups and the workplace, and adverse health consequences as well, including those resulting from the relationship between substance abuse and a number of major diseases and disorders and the spread of human immunodeficiency virus/acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (HIV/AIDS).

"From their activities and the laundering of their illicit proceeds, drug trafficking organizations derive sufficient economic power to undermine democratic institutions through corruption, and to distort economies through both the effects of the very large sums involved on financial systems and the takeover of legitimate businesses by drug traffickers. There is a strong link among drug trafficking, money laundering, terrorism in all its forms, organized crime and traffic in arms, all of which are major threats to national and international security.

"The drug menace affects developed and developing countries alike. The current trends and patterns of drug abuse and traffic have made difficult the categorization of countries as producer countries, transit States and consumer countries.

"The scale of the problem calls for reaffirmation of the political will and the national commitment to concrete action, enhanced international cooperation founded on collective and shared responsibility, and international solidarity in the implementation of counter-strategies. Initiatives to counter the drug problem should be undertaken with full respect for national sovereignty and territorial integrity.

"A comprehensive, multidisciplinary and balanced approach to addressing the growing complexity of the drug phenomenon at the national, regional and international levels is an essential requirement. National drug strategies based on a balanced approach, whereby demand reduction and supply reduction are inseparable, mutually reinforcing elements of those strategies, are being increasingly adopted by Governments. Prevention, treatment, and social rehabilitation measures must be an integral part of drug control strategies, as a complement to law enforcement measures targeting illicit traffic.

"One of the prerequisites of closer cooperation in drug control is the universal ratification of the international drug control treaties: the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961, the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971 and the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988. The current drug control treaties and the Global Programme of Action adopted by the General Assembly at its seventeenth special session provide the necessary framework for international cooperation. While these instruments can be fine-tuned, what is of paramount importance is the political will and the sustained commitment of Governments to ensure their effective implementation. The adoption of strong domestic legislation and policies is an essential prerequisite of making full use of the opportunities for international cooperation provided by the international drug control treaties, particularly the 1988 Convention. During the high-level segment of the Economic and Social Council, Governments renewed their commitment to taking firm action along the lines of policies currently in place.

"Legalization of the non-medical use of drugs was strongly opposed. Initiatives that diverge from the drug control policies of the international community undermine efforts to implement the drug control treaties. It was recalled that throughout the world the overwhelming majority of young people have chosen not to use illicit drugs and that the population at large has repudiated illicit drugs.

"To make further progress in the implementation of the drug control instruments, it is important to take stock of measures taken by Governments, to gauge difficulties encountered in their implementation and to identify the areas where assistance is required. This could be achieved through periodic reporting to the Commission on Narcotic Drugs on measures taken to further their implementation.

"It was considered important that Governments establish the necessary framework to ensure the coordination and coherence of action at the national level and establish comprehensive national drug control master plans promoted by the United Nations International Drug Control Programme (UNDCP) as a mechanism to ensure coordination in the implementation of drug control policies at the national level.

"Several representatives informed the Council of measures taken by their Governments to fulfil their treaty obligations and counter the drug threat. In that regard, new legislation had been adopted and penal codes amended to comply with the provisions of the international drug control treaties and facilitate the investigation and prosecuting of drug trafficking offences. Regional and bilateral agreements and arrangements had been concluded to facilitate cooperation and strengthen the capacity of Governments to combat drug trafficking syndicates and counter cross-border traffic, money laundering and the diversion of precursors. Several speakers outlined extensive demand reduction programmes to target domestic drug abuse problems and reported on successes that had been achieved in reducing demand. The attention of the Council was drawn to a number of trends in drug abuse and trafficking, and several representatives stressed the problem of growing abuse of synthetic drugs with stimulant properties.

"Drug trafficking organizations are violent, brutal and ruthless with regard to those responsible for ensuring the enforcement of law and order. Law enforcement officers should be provided with adequate specialized training to counter their operations.

"Efforts to counter money laundering constitute an integral part of international drug control. They are essential in order to target the economic power of drug traffickers and prevent the distorting effects on financial markets. International action against money laundering should be enhanced through the full and effective implementation of the provisions on money laundering of the 1988 Convention, in particular article 5, and of the bilateral, regional and multilateral agreements or arrangements on money laundering. A strong commitment by all Governments is required. Some speakers suggested that consideration be given to the preparation of an international instrument on money laundering, while others emphasized the importance of implementing existing instruments. It was suggested that a joint unit on money laundering could be established between UNDCP and the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division of the Secretariat.

"It was essential for Governments to increase their efforts to reduce the production and supply of illicit drugs. In this regard, it was emphasized that Governments should increase their efforts to prevent the diversion of precursors and essential chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of illicit drugs, and strengthen international cooperation in this area, pursuant to article 12 of the 1988 Convention.

"Alternative development programmes represent an essential component of international drug programmes. UNDCP should play a catalytic role and consider providing seed money to initiate alternative development programmes. Bilateral assistance agencies, programmes and funds of the United Nations system involved in providing technical assistance, as well as international financial institutions, should play a more active role in supporting alternative development programmes that accompany the elimination of drug crops. Given the large expenditure required for alternative development, it is essential that there be complementarity and cooperation between the various agencies concerned. Drug control activities should be included as an integral part of development strategies. The commitment of the Government and the participation of the affected rural population in the decision-making process are also essential.

"The need for a stronger effort to reduce demand for illicit drugs was stressed. Civil society, including non-governmental organizations, should be mobilized to play a more active role in demand reduction, particularly in the field of primary prevention. One of the important objectives was to increase awareness, particularly of children, youth and other vulnerable groups, to the risks of drug abuse. Education among young people is crucial to demand reduction.

"To give greater priority to demand reduction, a declaration on the guiding principles of illicit demand reduction was considered by several delegations to be important. UNDCP was invited to continue to develop, as a matter of priority, the declaration on the guiding principles of reduction of illicit demand for drugs. The declaration should serve to establish agreed principles, guidelines and common denominators acceptable to the international community.

"The specialized agencies of the United Nations system, particularly the International Labour Organization, the United Nations Children's Fund, the United Nations Development Programme, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the World Health Organization, had critical roles to play in reducing the illicit demand for drugs. Particular reference was made to the importance of prevention through education programmes to protect youth and street children. Demand reduction programmes should address the ethical and cultural dimensions of the problem in national educational policies and programmes.

"Many developing countries lacked the resources to implement fully the provisions of the international drug control treaties and apply law enforcement and control measures commensurate with the scale of the drug problem. Drug abuse and trafficking constituted an additional burden which undermined their sustainable social and economic development. UNDCP was invited to assist African States in the implementation of the Plan of Action on Drug Control Abuse and Illicit Drug Trafficking in Africa, to be adopted by the Organization of African Unity in July 1996. The ongoing efforts of UNDCP to include drug control elements in national development strategies as well as in international economic and social cooperation programmes were encouraged. In that connection, it was stated that the international community should provide financial and technical assistance to developing countries.

"Countries with economies in transition that have been adversely affected by the illicit traffic and drug abuse that provided organized criminal groups with the means to undermine the democratic process and hamper the emergence of a viable market economy also need to be assisted in their efforts to combat the drug menace.

"Strong support was expressed for the regional and subregional approach of UNDCP which has been highly effective as a means to enhance cooperation and coordination of activities in drug control at the regional level, particularly in countering cross-border traffic. UNDCP was invited to continue, as a priority, to support initiatives for closer regional and subregional cooperation.

"As a centre of expertise, UNDCP should improve its capacity to collect and analyse data on the various aspects of the drug problem with a view to facilitating the provision of policy advice and assistance to Member States based on an assessment of the various aspects of the drug issue. The development of the information management and analysis capacity of UNDCP was crucial to its leadership and coordination role within and outside the United Nations. At the national level, Governments should improve their capacity to collect, analyse and disseminate data regarding the domestic drug problem. National authorities should cooperate with UNDCP and the International Narcotics Control Board by responding to their requests for such information. Some representatives referred to the country reports as the basis for reviewing the drug situation in the respective countries and stated that the evaluation of the drug situation and of measures to combat drugs should be limited to the United Nations bodies entrusted with evaluation responsibilities.

"The United Nations system has a critical role to play in addressing the global threat of drug abuse and illicit traffic, particularly in the adoption and implementation of agreed standards and norms. The drug issue should be a priority concern of all relevant United Nations agencies, programmes and funds, as well as of the international financial institutions.

"The recent actions taken by the Administrative Committee on Coordination to ensure the increased commitment by specialized agencies, programmes and funds, as well as the international financial institutions, to include the drug dimension in their programmes of work were welcomed.

"The United Nations System-wide Action Plan on Drug Abuse Control provides a vital tool for the coordination and enhancement of drug control activities within the system. An increasing number of agencies in the United Nations system are now addressing the drug issue within their respective fields of competence. Inter-agency coordination represents an important contribution to the fight against illicit drugs at the international level. The coordinating functions of UNDCP at the policy and operational levels should be strengthened to ensure that the United Nations system can develop a concerted response to the drug problem. Also essential is continued cooperation with the International Criminal Police Organization-Interpol, the Financial Action Task Force and other bodies outside the United Nations system with important functions in the fight against various aspects of the drug menace, as well as continued cooperation among those bodies.

"The limited and reduced resources available to UNDCP from the United Nations regular budget were considered insufficient to meet the demands made on the Programme. Dependence on a limited number of countries for voluntary contributions and a reduction in general purpose contributions have placed UNDCP in a vulnerable position. UNDCP should be provided with adequate resources to fulfil its mandates and become a centre of excellence focusing on policies and their implementation. In the short term, it is essential for more States to assume responsibility for the financial situation of UNDCP. By providing it with resources commensurate with its mandate and exercising responsibility for its governance, they could demonstrate their commitment to UNDCP.

"Strong support was expressed for the proposal emanating from the Commission on Narcotic Drugs concerning the convening of a special session of the General Assembly in 1998. Such a session should serve to reaffirm the commitment to national and international drug control as a high priority and enable agreement to be reached on measures to strengthen international drug control on the basis of shared responsibility. A number of Governments stated that it would also provide an occasion to consider measures to improve the functioning of the intergovernmental and technical bodies involved in international drug control. Some speakers suggested that the Assembly could, on that occasion, give special attention to issues such as precursor control, abuse of and traffic in stimulants and their precursors, and the struggle against money laundering. The active participation of all States and agencies in the preparation of the special session was considered essential to creating the political momentum and support that such a session required. The high-level segment had contributed to its preparation and the Council could make a further contribution to the preparatory process.

"Conclusions

"Some of the main conclusions emanating from the high-level segment are outlined below:

- Confirmation of the high priority assigned by States to international drug control; determination to undertake concerted action at the multilateral level and ensure universal adherence to the international drug control treaties.
- Reaffirmation of the commitment for drug control to remain one of the top priorities of the United Nations medium-term plan for the period 1998-2001.
- Consideration of appropriate measures to improve the functioning of the intergovernmental and technical bodies involved in international drug control.
- Reconfirmation of the leadership and coordination role of UNDCP, especially within the United Nations system; and provision to UNDCP of the resources required to fulfil its leadership and coordination function, as called for by the General Assembly.

- Addressing drug control cooperation issues in the governing bodies of the agencies, programmes and funds of the United Nations system and the international financial institutions.
- Improvement and enhancement of the intergovernmental system for evaluating the implementation of the drug control instruments, with the support of Member States.
- Mobilization and forging of strong partnerships with all actors of civil society, particularly non-governmental organizations, community-based organizations, sports associations and the private sector.
- Practical implementation of the drug control instruments through the adoption of appropriate laws and the establishment of institutions for their enforcement at the national level, according to national policies and priorities.
- Adoption of national drug control master plans, based on a balanced approach giving equal importance to measures to reduce the demand for and measures to reduce the supply of illicit drugs.
- Adoption of appropriate mechanisms for coordination at the national level endowed with the necessary legal and political authority.
- Encouragement of bilateral cooperation and multilateral agreements to combat drug trafficking and abuse.
- Allocation at the national level of resources commensurate with the recognized dimension and gravity of the drug problem; and recognition of the need for international cooperation and assistance in this regard."

Chapter III

COORDINATION SEGMENT

COORDINATION OF THE POLICIES AND ACTIVITIES OF THE SPECIALIZED AGENCIES AND OTHER BODIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS SYSTEM

A. Coordination of the United Nations system activities for poverty eradication

INTRODUCTION

1. At its substantive session, the Council considered the question of coordination of the United Nations system activities for poverty eradication (agenda item 3 (a)) at its 18th to 23rd and 51st meetings from 1 to 3 and on 26 July 1996. An account of the discussion is contained in the relevant summary records (E/1996/SR.18-23 and 51). The Council had before it the following documents:

(a) Report of the twenty-ninth series of Joint Meetings of the Committee for Programme and Coordination and the Administrative Committee on Coordination, held on 16 October 1995 (E/1996/4 and Corr.1);

(b) Annual overview report of the Administrative Committee on Coordination for 1995 (E/1996/18 and Add.1);

(c) Report of the Secretary-General on coordination of the policies and activities of the specialized agencies and other bodies of the United Nations system related to the following theme: coordination of United Nations system activities for poverty eradication (E/1996/61).

ACTION TAKEN BY THE COUNCIL

2. At the 51st meeting, on 26 July 1996, the Vice-President of the Council, Mr. Gerhard Henze (Germany), introduced the draft agreed conclusions E/1996/L.30 on coordination of the United Nations system activities for poverty eradication, and orally revised the text. The Council then adopted the draft agreed conclusions. The text read as follows:

Agreed conclusions 1996/1

"1. The Economic and Social Council takes note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the coordination of United Nations system activities for poverty eradication (E/1996/61) and of the recommendations it contains to assist in the formulation of coordinated United Nations support for national poverty eradication activities.

"2. The international community reached a consensus and committed itself to the goal of poverty eradication at the major United Nations conferences and summits of the 1990s, as an ethical, social, political and economic imperative. The World Summit for Social Development adopted a global and comprehensive approach, outlined a broad range of measures aimed at eradicating poverty and called upon Governments to formulate integrated poverty eradication strategies, including time-bound goals and targets in their national context. While the United Nations system has an essential and complementary role to play in supporting Governments in their efforts to eradicate poverty, the primary responsibility for the assessment of poverty situations and for the formulation, strengthening and implementation of national poverty eradication plans and programmes lies with Governments and requires a strong political commitment at the national level. The implementation of the global commitments by the international community is also required since not only is poverty a national problem but it also has origins in the international environment.

"3. The problem of poverty exists in all countries, but with varying degrees of intensity.

"4. Poverty has various causes, including structural ones. Poverty is a complex, multidimensional problem with origins in both the national and international domains. No uniform solution can be found for global application. Rather, country-specific programmes to tackle poverty and international efforts supporting national efforts, as well as the parallel process of creating a supportive international environment, are crucial for a solution to this problem. Poverty is inseparably linked to a lack of control over resources, including land, skills, knowledge, capital and social connections. Without those resources, people are easily neglected by policy makers and have limited access to institutions, markets, employment, and public services. The eradication of poverty cannot be accomplished through anti-poverty programmes alone but will require democratic participation, and changes in economic structures in order to ensure access for all to resources, opportunities and public services, to undertake policies geared to more equitable distribution of wealth and income, to implement social protection for those who cannot support themselves, and to assist people confronted with unforeseen catastrophe, whether individual or collective, natural, social or technological.

"5. The Economic and Social Council recognizes that the goal of poverty eradication represents a major challenge for the United Nations system, owing to its importance as a global objective. The United Nations system has an important role to play in the overall effort for poverty eradication and in assisting Member States in translating the global goals and commitments of the international conferences and the statutory mandates of each organization into concrete actions and activities at all levels. Given the variety of the mandates and activities of organizations of the United Nations system in the area of poverty eradication, harmonization and coordination among those that intervene in the struggle to eradicate poverty are crucial. The participation of the United Nations system, including United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies, in the overall efforts of poverty eradication is aimed at assisting Member States in translating the global goals and commitments of the international conferences into concrete actions, especially at the country level.

"I. COORDINATED UNITED NATIONS SUPPORT AND AVAILABILITY OF RESOURCES FOR POVERTY ERADICATION ACTIVITIES AT THE FIELD LEVEL

"A. Definition of a poverty eradication strategy

"6. There is no single best strategy for poverty eradication, and strategies differ from one country to another. It is the primary responsibility of the Government of each country to conduct an assessment of its own poverty situation and define its own poverty eradication strategy. The participation of civil society, including people living in poverty, the empowerment of local communities, and a genuine feeling of ownership by the Government and local communities are essential for poverty eradication strategies. The United Nations system has an essential and complementary role to play in supporting the Government in this area, providing assistance to the Government where requested and orienting its support activities according to the priorities and development objectives pursued by the Government through collaborative exercises, such as the country strategy note (CSN), when the Government intends to apply this mechanism, or other existing coordination mechanisms where the CSN is not applied.

"B. Resources for poverty eradication

"7. There has been a decline in concessional resources for multilateral development institutions, which makes it more difficult for them to respond to the massive challenge of assisting countries in poverty eradication. In this context, particular concern was expressed at the incomplete fulfilment of commitments to the tenth replenishment of the International Development Association (IDA) and it was hoped that adequate resources would be available for the eleventh replenishment. While it is the primary responsibility of the Government to mobilize resources for poverty eradication at the national level, the need for a substantial increase in resources for operational activities for development on a predictable, continuous and assured basis, commensurate with the increasing needs of developing countries, is recognized - as is the need to enhance the effectiveness, efficiency and impact of the activities of the United Nations system in the area of poverty eradication. The quality and effectiveness of the use of resources are as important as the quantity of resources for poverty eradication. Ways of securing predictable, continuous and assured funding should be explored, in particular in the context of the agreement reached by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/227.

"8. There is an urgent need to strive for the fulfilment of the agreed target of 0.7 per cent of the gross national product (GNP) of the developed countries for official development assistance (ODA) as soon as possible. Mobilization of substantial new and additional resources from all sources, domestic and international, public and private, and from traditional and new sources would also be instrumental. New ways of generating new public and private financial resources, inter alia, through the appropriate reduction of excessive military expenditures, including global military expenditures and the arms trade, and investments for arms production and acquisition, taking into consideration national security requirements, so as to allow possible allocation of additional funds for social and economic development, including poverty eradication, should be explored. In the budgetary process, transparency and accountability should be ensured in the use of public resources, and priority should be given to providing and improving basic social services. The Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development <sup>1/</sup> called upon interested developed and developing country partners to agree on a mutual commitment to allocate, on average, 20 per cent of ODA and 20 per cent of the national budget, respectively, to basic social programmes. The Council takes note of the work that interested countries have undertaken in developing and operationalizing the 20/20 concept, most recently at meetings that led to the adoption of the Oslo Consensus on 20/20 (A/51/140, annex).

"C. Commitment to coordination of poverty eradication activities

"9. In order to fulfil its supporting role, the United Nations system must actively pursue a coordinated and integrated approach - both at Headquarters and in the field, and between Headquarters and the field - to the implementation of the outcome of the recent conferences, which have all given priority to the goal of poverty eradication. In accordance with the mandates of the organizations of the United Nations system and the policies defined by the executive boards, the executive heads of all the organizations of the United Nations system should ensure that their country-level representatives are fully committed to poverty eradication activities, to promoting joint action by the United Nations system and to participating in the resident coordinator system, including appropriate field-level committees and task forces, taking into account the complementarities and strengths of each organization.

"D. Common country assessment

"10. The organizations of the United Nations system should assist the Government upon request, through collective efforts made within the resident coordinator system, in preparing, under the leadership of the Government, an assessment of the poverty situation in the country as the basis for a country-specific poverty eradication strategy, taking account of the work carried out by the country itself in social development assessment according to the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development. All the specialized agencies and related organizations of the United Nations system are invited to strengthen and adjust their activities, programmes and medium-term strategies, as appropriate, to take into account the follow-up to the World Summit for Social Development. The common country assessment suggested by the Joint Consultative Group on Policy should be extended to the United Nations system, and integrated into the process for the formulation of the CSN, where appropriate and in agreement with the Government. All joint efforts in information collection, research and analysis should take into account the statistical work on poverty measurement and other poverty indicators that has been carried out at the national level by countries themselves.

"11. A common system-wide approach to support for monitoring by national Governments and assessing the achievement of goals and targets agreed to in international forums in the area of poverty should be developed under the auspices of the Administrative Committee on Coordination (ACC), bearing in mind the need to avoid duplication of effort. Reporting from the United Nations system that would elaborate on issues that need to be addressed in relation to the implementation of paragraph 29 of the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development, which deals with monitoring and assessment by Governments, would be useful.

"E. Increase of national capacity to develop indicators and assess data

"12. The United Nations system should provide technical cooperation and other forms of assistance to the developing countries, in particular in Africa and the least developed countries, in implementing the recommendations of the recent major conferences and summits, as appropriate, in particular the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development 2/ and Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development. The United Nations system should also consider and provide appropriate technical cooperation and other forms of assistance to the countries with economies in transition. Upon the request of the Government, the United Nations system should provide assistance in further developing and sustaining national capacity to gather and analyse information and to develop indicators for poverty analysis. The capacity of the United Nations system in this area should be fully utilized in formulating guidelines to develop definitions, indicators and instruments for impact assessment and for monitoring poverty programmes, including gender-sensitive indicators, in accordance with the outcomes of major recent conferences and summits with a view to assisting countries in those areas. ACC is requested to ensure coordination in this area and active steps should be taken to avoid duplication.

"F. Gender analysis

"13. The United Nations system should integrate the gender perspective into the formulation, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies and programmes on poverty eradication and pay particular attention to the collection of gender-disaggregated data.

"G. Country strategy note (CSN)

"14. The overall coordination of the poverty eradication activities of the United Nations system at the country level should take into account the CSN when Governments intend to apply this mechanism, which remains a voluntary initiative of recipient countries that should be formulated by interested recipient countries in accordance with their development plans and priorities, with the assistance of and in cooperation with the United Nations system.

2/ Ibid., annex I.

"15. In countries where the CSN is either not yet available or not pursued, the United Nations system should, with the consent of the national Government, work through existing coordination mechanisms in support of national poverty eradication plans and programmes.

"16. Poverty eradication activities are a high priority of the United Nations system and should be supported and coordinated through the resident coordinator system. Country coordination of the poverty eradication activities of the organizations of the United Nations system requires that those organizations actively participate in the resident coordinator system. The resident coordinator system should play its role in full collaboration and consultation with the Government, taking into account that the ultimate responsibility of coordination in the country is that of the Government. The Government has also the primary responsibility in priority-setting.

"17. In accordance with national plans and priorities, United Nations agencies, funds, programmes and bodies represented at the field level should, through the resident coordinator system and under the leadership and facilitation of the resident coordinator, actively work towards expanding and improving coordination and promote United Nations joint activities related, as appropriate, to the formulation, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of poverty eradication activities. In order to promote coordination and a better division of labour, special efforts must be made to ensure that resident coordinators, at the earliest possible stage of formulation, are informed of planned poverty programme activities and other relevant activities of the United Nations agencies, funds, programmes and bodies.

"H. Field-level committee

"18. The field-level committee should review all major programmes and projects of the United Nations system, sectoral strategies and evaluation exercises in the area of poverty eradication in order to ensure their complementarity, provide guidance and advice on proposals for new initiatives, and facilitate the identification of programmes and projects for possible complementary financing and coordinated implementation, on the understanding that the results of the review carried out by the committee should be submitted to national Governments for final approval through the national focal points. The field-level committee should also promote the dialogue between the United Nations system and the Government, including other relevant stakeholders, for effective coordination of poverty eradication initiatives at the country level.

"I. Thematic groups

"19. The organizations of the United Nations system should promote the establishment of ad hoc thematic groups, with the joint participation of United Nations system officials and government authorities, in order to launch initiatives and debate on poverty eradication, and to promote appropriate measures to ensure that goals are actively pursued. Under the overall leadership of the Government, greater use could be made of thematic groups and other informal forums at the field level to enhance the dialogue between Governments and all relevant development partners, including bilateral and multilateral donors and civil society, including non-governmental organizations.

"J. Programme approach

"20. In order to achieve effective integration with national poverty eradication programmes defined along cross-sectoral lines, extended use should be made of the programme approach modality, under the leadership of the recipient Government. The programme approach should also be followed at the sectoral level, particularly in those sectors that have the greatest impact on people living in poverty, who should be empowered by Governments to participate in the design and implementation of programmes.

"K. Cooperation with the Bretton Woods institutions

"21. High priority should be devoted to strengthening the collaboration between the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions in the areas of social and economic development at all levels, taking into account that such strengthening should preserve the fundamental characteristics of the operational activities of the United Nations system on poverty eradication activities in line with General Assembly resolution 50/120, including their universal, voluntary and grant nature, their neutrality and their multilateralism. If the Government concerned so desires, consideration should be given to achieving greater complementarity between the policy framework papers and country assistance strategies on the one hand, and the CSN, where it exists, on the other, so that coordination for the implementation of poverty eradication strategies could be enhanced.

"22. A clear agreement should be reached with all relevant institutions to suitably use round-table meetings and consultative group meetings for the coordination of poverty eradication activities, to the extent possible, in a consistent development strategy. Cooperation between the United Nations Development Programme and the World Bank in the preparation, discussion and follow-up to round-table meetings and consultative groups should be strengthened, as appropriate.

"L. Inter-agency coordination efforts

"23. In the overall context of poverty eradication, the Council takes note of the work of ACC in promoting the implementation of outcomes of major global conferences in an integrated and thematic manner. It supports the approach to coordinated effort adopted in the creation of the ad hoc inter-agency task forces on the follow-up to conferences, which should take into account the mandates emanating from intergovernmental processes. The results of the work of the ad hoc task forces as well as the inter-agency committees, including the Inter-Agency Committee on Sustainable Development and the Inter-Agency Committee on Women, should be reported through ACC to the Council in the context of the consideration of poverty eradication and other future theme(s) in the coordination segment and to its functional commissions within their respective mandates. These inter-agency efforts should also promote coherent support by the United Nations system on economic and social policy at the national level and produce clear guidelines for implementation by the resident coordinator system and other interested parties for the operationalization of programmes and platforms for action. Such inter-agency coordination efforts should maintain the fundamental characteristics of the operational activities of the United Nations system as spelt out in paragraph 21 above.

"24. Close and organic linkages should be drawn between inter-agency task forces and the rest of the ACC machinery as well as between relevant Secretariat departments responsible for policy design and the funds and programmes. Duplication should be avoided in the work of the task forces, particularly on the development of indicators, by ensuring a coherent approach under the auspices of ACC. Other ongoing work should also be taken into account, particularly the work being done in developing countries. All task forces should apply a gender perspective to their own work.

"25. The Task Force on an Enabling Environment for Social and Economic Development with the World Bank as its lead agency should focus on all aspects of the relevant chapter of the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development, including the national and international environments, as well as the results of other related recent United Nations conferences. It should reflect the contributions of all relevant agencies, funds and programmes of the United Nations system: United Nations, United Nations Children's Fund, United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, United Nations Development Programme, United Nations Population Fund, United Nations International Drug Control Programme, Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, International Labour Organization, United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, International Civil Aviation Organization, World Health Organization, International Monetary Fund, United Nations Industrial Development Organization, International Atomic Energy Agency and United Nations Development Fund for Women. The work of the Task Force on Employment and Sustainable Livelihoods, with the International Labour Organization as its lead agency, should contribute to poverty eradication, inter alia, by promoting more coordinated and effective programmes to generate productive employment. The Economic and Social Council would welcome broader dissemination of the report of ACC, which should be discussed and considered by the Council.

"26. The United Nations System-wide Special Initiative on Africa is complementary to the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s 3/ and is also designed to facilitate its implementation and the implementation of the outcomes of major United Nations conferences as they relate to Africa. The Special Initiative might also become an impetus for the implementation of all elements of the New Agenda, including the mobilization of adequate resources, and should be considered in the context of the mid-term review of the implementation of the New Agenda.

3/ General Assembly resolution 46/151, annex, sect. II.

"II. MAINSTREAMING THE GENDER PERSPECTIVE IN UNITED NATIONS ACTIVITIES FOR POVERTY ERADICATION

"27. In recent years, the number of women living in poverty has increased disproportionately to the number of men, particularly in the developing countries. Women, moreover, are affected by poverty in a number of distinctive ways, and face particular obstacles, including discrimination, in seeking to overcome it. Failure to fully integrate a gender perspective in the design and implementation of poverty eradication programmes will prevent those programmes from achieving their goals.

"28. Practical steps should be undertaken to integrate the gender perspective, first, into the coordinated follow-up to major United Nations conferences and summits and, second, in all activities and documentation on poverty eradication, especially in connection with the International Year for the Eradication of Poverty and the forthcoming first United Nations Decade for the Eradication of Poverty. This should include, in accordance with the final outcomes of recent major conferences and summits:

"(a) A conscious and cohesive effort by the United Nations system, including the Bretton Woods institutions, to promote an active and visible policy of mainstreaming a gender perspective in the formulation and implementation of both macroeconomic and micro-economic policies, and of all programmes aimed at poverty eradication;

"(b) Regular exchange of information and experience, and collaboration, among United Nations organizations concerned with poverty eradication, as well as between these organizations and those concerned more specifically with women;

"(c) Use of data disaggregated by sex in research, analysis and monitoring;

"(d) Review of existing statistical indicators from a gender perspective and an elaboration of consistent and standardized indicators capable of measuring the extent to which the gender dimension is present in activities, taking into account the work carried out by different countries, in particular by developing countries, in statistical work on poverty measurement and other poverty indicators;

"(e) Gender impact analysis of the design and implementation of policies and programmes;

"(f) Integration of a gender perspective into the monitoring and evaluation of results, especially with respect to operational activities;

"(g) Dissemination of information on the mainstreaming of a gender perspective on a regular basis and in a standardized form;

"(h) To this end, placing of greater emphasis on the need to provide appropriate training on gender issues to United Nations personnel, including personnel at the field level.

"29. Efforts should be made to increase the participation of women in activities relating to the design, planning, implementation and monitoring of United Nations policies and programmes on poverty eradication. More specifically, the gender perspective should be fully integrated, and the participation of women should be ensured, in the United Nations activities related to the eradication of poverty in the context of the coordinated follow-up to major United Nations conferences and summits and in all activities relevant to poverty eradication, including the International Year for the Eradication of Poverty and the forthcoming first United Nations Decade for the Eradication of Poverty. It is also necessary to incorporate a coherent method of including both the mainstreaming of the gender perspective and specific programmes to achieve equality between men and women in the operational activities aimed at poverty eradication, and related staffing and decision-making spheres of the system.

"30. Close collaboration should be established between focal points in all units of the Secretariat related to poverty and women/gender units in order to reduce duplication and overlap in the mainstreaming of a gender perspective as well as to develop a coherent approach consistent with their mandates. Greater coherence is needed in the joint efforts for information collecting, research, analysis and operational activities.

"31. The Council should ensure that its future monitoring of United Nations system activities in poverty eradication reflects a gender perspective. The system-wide medium-term plan for the advancement of women, 1996-2001, together with the comments of the Commission on the Status of Women, the Committee for Programme and Coordination and other relevant bodies, should be linked to these efforts of mainstreaming a gender perspective into policies and programmes in the area of poverty eradication and should serve as a general framework for the coordination of system-wide efforts for the advancement of women, including those aimed at eradicating poverty among women.

"32. The Council welcomes the creation of the recent ACC Inter-Agency Committee on Women, which will address the cross-cutting nature of gender issues. Effective mechanisms should be put in place by the organizations of the United Nations system to enable the Inter-Agency Committee to fulfil its task of advising ACC on how to ensure effective coordination and cooperation of the United Nations system in the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action 4/ as well as in the mainstreaming of a gender perspective. The Council should be informed regularly about the work of the Committee.

"33. The United Nations resident coordinators, the field-level committees and the thematic working groups, where they exist, must be fully sensitized, including through appropriate training on gender issues, to the need to integrate a gender perspective into the design and implementation of activities aimed at assisting national efforts to combat poverty.

4/ Report of the Fourth World Conference on Women, Beijing, 4-15 September 1995 (A/CONF.177/20 and Add.1), chap. I, resolution 1, annex II.

"III. A HARMONIZED AND INTEGRATED APPROACH TO INTERGOVERNMENTAL CONSIDERATION OF
POVERTY ERADICATION

"34. In view of its complex and multidimensional nature, the goal of poverty eradication requires consideration in many forums within the United Nations system. It must be ensured that intergovernmental consideration is harmonized in order to achieve coherent outcomes, and that it covers the different dimensions and aspects of poverty in a complementary way. A more structured and action-oriented intergovernmental dialogue on poverty eradication within the Council and its subsidiary machinery, taking into account other forums, in particular policy-making organs of specialized agencies, should contribute to ensuring a more coherent set of policy guidelines for the United Nations system and more focused support by the Council to the General Assembly.

"35. Within the context of the relevant provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the specific roles of the General Assembly, the Council and functional commissions in the context of poverty eradication must be clearly identified to avoid duplication of discussions. The Assembly should establish the broad policy framework. The Council should provide overall guidance and coordination to the United Nations system, focus attention on major policy issues that require a prioritized and coordinated response from the United Nations system as a whole, integrate the work of its functional commissions and support the Assembly in its policy guidance role. Functional commissions have been assigned, inter alia, specific responsibilities for follow-up to and review of the implementation of commitments made at recent major United Nations conferences within their own fields of competence.

"A. Strengthening the role of the Economic and Social Council in providing an integrated approach to poverty eradication

"36. The Economic and Social Council is the central intergovernmental mechanism for coordinating integrated and comprehensive activities of the United Nations system in the field of poverty eradication. It will focus on the provision of comprehensive guidelines and coordination of the work of other organs to ensure a multidimensional, integrated and gender-sensitive approach to poverty eradication in accordance with, inter alia, the provisions of the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development, the Platform for Action, adopted by the Fourth World Conference on Women, and General Assembly resolution 50/227. In its consideration of cross-cutting elements common to major international conferences, and its overall review of the implementation of the programme of action of a United Nations conference, the Council will give due priority to poverty eradication.

"37. The Council will carry out an overall review of the theme of poverty eradication at a date to be determined, as a contribution to the review of the outcome of the World Summit for Social Development. In accordance with their programmes of work as approved by the Council, the relevant functional commissions should, in 1999-2000, prepare technical and focused inputs for the Council's overall review of poverty eradication.

"38. The report of ACC and the results of the work of the ad hoc inter-agency task forces and inter-agency standing committees established by ACC for follow-up to conferences as they pertain to poverty eradication should be reviewed during the coordination segment when the Council considers poverty eradication. Other aspects of the ACC report should be considered during the general segment under the appropriate agenda items.

"B. Functional commissions

"39. In accordance with the agreed conclusions adopted at its substantive session of 1995, 5/ the Council shall ensure, on a continuing basis, coordination of the items of the multi-year programmes of the functional commissions related to poverty eradication and a better division of labour among them, based on their respective mandates.

"40. As the functional commission with the primary responsibility for the follow-up to and review of the implementation of the World Summit for Social Development, the Commission for Social Development, in support of the Council's function, should provide an integrated approach to national and international poverty eradication strategies and other areas covered by its mandate. Ongoing efforts to enhance the role of the Commission for Social Development and to improve its functioning in the context of the follow-up to the Summit, should be pursued and deepened, based, inter alia, on the recommendations and decisions adopted at the 1996 special session of the Commission. Adequate Secretariat support to the Commission should be ensured. Task managers should be identified for specific issues, so as to involve more closely the concerned specialized agencies and other parts of the United Nations system in supporting the work of the Commission.

"41. The other relevant functional commissions have valuable contributions to make in addressing poverty eradication from their particular perspective and within their own mandate, while avoiding unnecessary duplication and overlap, and should focus on the linkages between their own field of competence and poverty eradication. This should be done as set out below.

"42. The Commission on Sustainable Development should focus its work related to poverty in accordance with paragraph 6 of its decision 4/2 on combating poverty. 6/ The Commission on Sustainable Development should rely on inputs from the Commission for Social Development, the Commission on the Status of Women and the Commission on Population and Development, as necessary, in order to enhance the implementation of those recommendations of chapter 3 (Combating poverty) of Agenda 21 7/ that correspond to core areas of the World Summit for Social Development, the Fourth World Conference on Women and the International Conference on Population and Development, respectively.

"43. The Commission on the Status of Women has a special role to play in intergovernmental consideration of poverty eradication. While assisting the Council in reviewing and appraising progress in and promoting the inclusion of a gender perspective in policies and programmes of other functional commissions and system wide, the Commission on the Status of Women, in its discussion on poverty, should continue to focus on women in poverty. The Commission on the Status of Women should play a catalytic role in reviewing and promoting the follow-up to the recommendations on gender equality and women's empowerment in the context of poverty eradication of the International Conference on Population and Development, the Fourth World Conference on Women, the World Summit for Social Development, the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development and other conferences. The Commission for Social Development should draw upon the work of the Commission on the Status of Women in the evaluation of measures adopted by the Summit that relate to various aspects of gender equality.

"44. The Commission on the Status of Women should determine, in consultation with other functional commissions, the best way to cooperate in reviewing the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action in their respective areas in general, and under poverty in particular. Relevant functional commissions should consider having in their agendas a review of the gender implications of policies falling under their competence.

"45. The Commission on Human Rights, in the context of its work on poverty, should focus on the relationship between all human rights, including the right to development, and poverty, notably extreme poverty. In this context, it should make the maximum use of relevant work of other commissions and the Council. The Commission on Human Rights could consider providing an input to the Commission on the Status of Women on ensuring women's equal enjoyment of their human rights, in particular those relating to economic resources.

"46. The Commission on Population and Development should address issues relating to poverty and population in the context of the outcome of the International Conference on Population and Development.

"47. The Commission on Science and Technology for Development should continue to take into account the relationship between science and technology and poverty eradication and the contribution of advances in science and technology to poverty eradication and meeting the basic needs of all, subject to any changes that may be required, taking into account the review of the role and working methods of the Commission and its relationship with other bodies in the context of the implementation of General Assembly resolution 50/227.

"48. The Commission on Narcotic Drugs and the Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice should provide appropriate inputs into the consideration of poverty-related issues by the Commission for Social Development, notably in its discussion of social integration and participation of all people, scheduled for 1998, and into other relevant functional commissions as appropriate.

"49. The mechanisms established by ACC for the follow-up to conferences should support the work of functional commissions on poverty-related issues within their mandates and priorities, and the executive boards of funds and programmes should become more closely involved with their work. The work of the newly created Inter-Agency Committee on Women should complement and reinforce the work of the Commission on the Status of Women.

"50. Other commissions, committees and expert bodies of the Council should also contribute, as appropriate, to the work of the functional commissions with responsibilities for specific aspects of poverty eradication.

"C. Consideration of common themes by the functional commissions or by the Council

"51. The Economic and Social Council should discuss issues of the enabling national and international environment in the economic, social and related fields, including the mobilization of resources. The functional commissions should focus their consideration of those issues, as they relate to poverty eradication, on aspects that fall within their respective areas of competence. The Council will contribute to the preparation of the General Assembly review on the theme of poverty eradication, with inputs from all functional commissions in their respective areas, as part of its consideration of the enabling environment.

"1. Integrated national strategies for poverty eradication

"52. The elaboration of integrated strategies against poverty falls primarily within the responsibility and competence of Member States. The Commission for Social Development should foster an exchange of national experiences in the formulation and implementation of poverty eradication strategies, plans, programmes and priorities, and take these into account in formulating its views. The Commission for Social Development should present its views on this matter when it reports to the Council on its review of the outcome of the World Summit for Social Development.

"2. Basic social services as a crucial instrument for poverty eradication

"53. The Commission for Social Development will examine the theme of 'Social services for all' in 1999 in the context of its multi-year programme of work with particular focus on education. This examination could also serve as an input into the overall review of the International Conference on Population and Development in 1999. The Commission on Population and Development will not need to conduct a separate discussion of education but should continue to examine education and awareness programmes targeted at population objectives.

"54. Other functional commissions should contribute, as appropriate, to the examination of this theme by the Commission for Social Development through the provision of focused inputs. For example, the Commission for Social Development could draw upon the work of the Commission on Human Rights on the promotion and protection of human rights. Similarly, it could draw upon the work of the Commission on Sustainable Development concerning environmental health and safe drinking water and sanitation. Also, the Commission for Social Development could draw upon the work of the Commission on Population and Development on access to health care, including reproductive health care, and on the work of the Commission on the Status of Women on the theme of education.

"55. The Commission for Social Development, in cooperation with the relevant specialized agencies and United Nations organizations, should assist the Council in reviewing the achievement of goals and targets set by the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the International Conference on Population and Development, the Fourth World Conference on Women and the World Summit for Social Development in the areas of child and maternal health, basic education, and other areas of basic social services, in the effort to combat poverty, drawing upon the work undertaken by other bodies in charge of promoting and reviewing the implementation of these targets for other conference follow-up. Promoting and reviewing the implementation of the targets in the area of shelter and urban infrastructure could be left to the Commission on Human Settlements and those in the area of water and sanitation to the Commission on Sustainable Development.

"3. Productive employment

"56. The Commission for Social Development will examine productive employment and sustainable livelihoods in 1997. When dealing with the sub-theme of 'Improving access to productive resources and infrastructure', the Commission should focus on measures that increase such access by people living in poverty. The Commission for Social Development should build on the work to be undertaken by the Commission on the Status of Women in 1997 on 'Women and the economy' and by the Commission on Sustainable Development on environmentally related aspects of employment. The work of the ACC Inter-Agency Task Force on Employment and Sustainable Livelihoods should be fully taken into account in the preparations for the discussions in the Commission for Social Development.

"4. Vulnerability, social integration and participation of people living in poverty

"57. The Commission for Social Development has an important role concerning the issue of measures for vulnerable groups and social protection, as well as participation. It is to carry out an overall review of the theme of promoting social integration and participation of all people in 1998. The Commission for Social Development, in preparing for and addressing this theme, should take into account the relevant parts of the results of other major conferences and follow-up work being undertaken by the relevant commissions as well as by relevant inter-agency bodies. All relevant functional commissions, including the Commission on Human Rights and the Commission on the Status of Women, as well as the Commission on Human Settlements, should provide inputs to this examination.

"5. Statistics

"58. The Council encourages the Statistical Commission to pursue its work on the statistical implications of the World Summit for Social Development and other recent major international conferences. Close links should be developed between its work and the ongoing elaboration of sustainable development indicators, including the work of ACC and its subsidiary machinery. The Statistical Commission is invited to share the results of the work of the Expert Group on Poverty Statistics and the report on the seminar to be held on poverty statistics as inputs for the Commission for Social Development and the Council for the review of recommendations of chapter II (Eradication of poverty) of the Programme of Action of the World Summit for Social Development. The Statistical Commission should also provide an input to the Commission on the Status of Women for its review of the implementation of the recommendations on poverty measurement made by the Fourth World Conference on Women. The Statistical Commission should also provide inputs to other relevant functional commissions on the recommendations on poverty measurement made by various United Nations conferences and summits. ACC should fully support this work. Duplication should be avoided in the work of commissions related to the issue of poverty measurement. In the work related to developing indicators of social development, the work carried out by different countries, in particular developing countries, should be taken into account. The capacity of the United Nations system for providing policy and technical support and advice, upon request, to improve national capacities in this regard, should also be strengthened."

B. Implementation of the agreed conclusions of the 1995 coordination segment of the Council

INTRODUCTION

3. The Council considered the question of the implementation of the agreed conclusions of the 1995 coordination segment of the Council (agenda item 3 (b)) at its 23rd, 31st, 35th, 47th, 51st and 52nd meetings, on 3, 11, 16, 24 and 26 July 1996. 51st plenary meeting
26 July 1996

1996/41. Follow-up to General Assembly resolution 50/227:
initiation of reviews

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 45/264 of 13 May 1991, 46/235 of 13 April 1992, 48/162 of 20 December 1993 and 50/227 of 24 May 1996, as well as Council agreed conclusions 1995/1 10/ and Council decision 1996/203 of 9 February 1996,

Reaffirming the role assigned to the Council in the implementation of General Assembly resolution 50/227,

Conscious of the specific call made by the General Assembly for relevant intergovernmental bodies to fully implement the measures contained in its resolution 50/227,

Noting that, according to paragraph 67 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227, the Council should regularly review the agenda of its general segment,

Noting also that, pursuant to paragraph 70 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227, the Council is to undertake a review of the mandates, composition, functions and working methods of its functional commissions and expert groups and bodies,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 50/113 of 20 December 1995, in which the Assembly mandated the special session of the Assembly, scheduled in June 1997, to review, inter alia, the future role of the Commission on Sustainable Development, including its relationship with the United Nations Environment Programme,

Noting that, pursuant to paragraph 71 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227, the Council should consider, as a matter of priority, the role, working methods and relationship with other bodies of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development, the Committee for Development Planning, the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development, and the Committee on Natural Resources,

Taking into consideration that, in accordance with paragraphs 74 and 75 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227, the Council should provide for the review of the regional commissions with a view to strengthening and enhancing their effectiveness,

Noting that the globalization and interdependence that characterize the world economy have greatly increased the tasks of the regional commissions in their role of assisting their Member States to cope with opportunities and challenges as well as risks,

Noting also that the agreements and commitments adopted at the recent United Nations conferences have further compounded the tasks of the regional commissions in assisting Member States in implementing such agreements and commitments,

Noting with satisfaction the efforts undertaken by a number of regional commissions to initiate a significant reform process, including the setting of priorities based on a dialogue with their intergovernmental bodies,

1. Decides to consider as a matter of priority, at its resumed substantive session to be held before the end of 1996, the possible changes in and/or adjustments to its agenda with a view to ensuring that all issues included in General Assembly resolution 50/227 will be examined by the Council;

A. General segment

2. Also decides to consider, also as a matter of priority, at the resumed substantive session, a review of the agenda of the Council's general segment in accordance with paragraph 67 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227;

B. Functional commissions and expert groups and bodies

3. Reaffirms that the review of the mandates, composition, functions and working methods of its functional commissions and expert groups and bodies should be completed by the fifty-second session of the General Assembly;

4. Requests the Secretary-General to prepare a comprehensive document compiling information on the mandates, composition, functions and working methods of the functional commissions and expert groups and bodies and to submit it to the Council not later than February 1997;

5. Decides to begin consideration during its substantive session of 1997 of the role, working methods and relationship with other bodies of the Commission on Science and Technology for Development, the Committee for Development Planning, the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development, and the Committee on Natural Resources;

6. Requests the President of the Council to establish arrangements for informal open-ended consultations during the Council's substantive session of 1997 in order to better prepare for further work of the Council on this issue;

7. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its substantive session of 1997 an item entitled "Implementation of General Assembly resolution 50/227";

1. Welcomes the report of the Secretary-General; 1/

2. 3. 6. Expresses concern at the lack of progress made towards the use of common administrative services and requests the funds and programmes of the United Nations system, with due concern given to effectiveness, efficiency and the impact of their activities, to:

(a) Simplify and harmonize administrative and financial procedures in a systematic way and at all levels, so that common administrative services can be established where feasible;

9. Reaffirms the need for the United Nations development system to increase its consideration and application of lessons learned from monitoring and evaluation activities, and calls for a system-wide effort to monitor and report on the frequency and quality of programmed and completed evaluations, the identification and use of lessons learned, and the number of joint evaluations planned and undertaken;

10. Requests the Secretary-General to ensure that the Economic and Social Council and the governing bodies of individual funds and programmes and specialized agencies are provided with information on evaluation activities that is quantifiable and comparable, and that specifies an evaluation's type, coverage, scope, timing, and compliance;

11. Urges all funds, programmes and agencies of the United Nations development system to identify measurable targets to strengthen their monitoring and evaluation capabilities, to incorporate those targets into their respective management plans to implement General Assembly resolution 50/120 and to intensify their cooperation in the development of monitoring and evaluation methodologies;

ACTION TAKEN BY THE COUNCIL

8. Under agenda item 4 (b), the Council adopted one resolution.

Resolution

1996/43. Strengthening collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 50/120 of 20 December 1995 on the triennial policy review of operational activities for development of the United Nations system and 50/227 of 24 May 1996 on further measures for the restructuring and revitalization of the United Nations in the economic, social and related fields,

Recognizing the importance of strengthening the collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions at the intergovernmental, intersecretariat and country levels,

Recognizing also the importance of joint initiatives between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in coordinating efforts for the implementation and follow-up of the commitments of the major United Nations international conferences and summits,

Reaffirming that the recipient Government should play a leading role in the overall coordination of collaboration at the country level,

Concerned about the potentially serious impact on development of the decline in resources allocated to the operational activities for development of the United Nations system,

Concerned also about the incomplete fulfilment of commitments to the tenth replenishment of the International Development Association, and hoping that adequate resources will be made available for the eleventh replenishment,

Taking into account the ongoing deliberation on an agenda for development in which issues relating to the strengthening of the relationship between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions are being addressed,

Recalling Chapters IX and X of the Charter of the United Nations, with particular reference to the provisions setting forth the powers and functions of the Economic and Social Council with respect to making recommendations and coordinating United Nations system activities within the scope of its competence,

Reaffirming the importance of strengthening cooperation, communication and collaboration between the Council and its relevant subsidiary bodies, on the one hand, and the Bretton Woods institutions, on the other, in order to maximize the effectiveness of their respective development programmes and activities,

Noting the need to improve the Council's high-level sessions with the international financial and trade institutions by better preparing for and focusing the high-level dialogue, thereby advancing such cooperation, communication and collaboration and enhancing the quality, outcomes and value of the exchange of views,

1. Takes note of the note by the Secretariat on the coordination of activities on a system-wide basis: strengthening collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions in the areas of social and economic development at all levels, including the field level; 4/

2. Considers that the strengthening of collaboration between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions requires an integrated approach, encompassing a closer policy dialogue at the intergovernmental level on relevant areas of international development policy issues, taking into account their respective competencies;

3. Looks forward to the report and accompanying recommendations to be prepared jointly by the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in accordance with paragraph 86 of annex I to General Assembly resolution 50/227, on an early exploratory review to assess mechanisms, programmes and relationships at the field, headquarters and intergovernmental levels, with a view to identifying areas in which communication, cooperation and coordination could be improved;

4. Recommends the scheduling of a high-level special meeting at a time proximate to the semi-annual meetings of the Bretton Woods institutions with a view to benefiting, to the extent possible, from ministerial participation and from the participation of heads of financial and trade institutions and other relevant organizations, as called for by the General Assembly in paragraph 88 of annex I to its resolution 50/227;

5. Requests the Secretary-General to consult the heads of the financial institutions by early 1997 in order to explore the possibilities and practical modalities of scheduling such a meeting; at a session of the Council to be held in early 1997, the Council should discuss the format, timing and possible agenda for the first such meeting;

6. Decides to explore concrete modalities for strengthening the exchange of information on development issues between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions;

7. Also decides that, prior to the annual high-level policy dialogue between the Council and the international financial and trade institutions, and allowing sufficient time for preparation, the Secretariat should communicate to the financial and trade institutions a report on the relevant issues to be discussed at the session, with a primary focus on the agreed theme; and that communication should be prepared in part based on the submission of issues and questions that Member States could be invited to suggest to the Secretariat, which would then be taken into account in the preparation of the Secretariat's report to the institutions;

8. Recommends, in order to better focus the policy dialogue, exploring the possibility of having joint reports prepared by the Secretariat of the United Nations, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, the Bretton Woods institutions and the World Trade Organization;

4/ E/1996/72 and Corr.1.

9. Invites the financial and trade institutions participating in the high-level segment of the Council in 1997 to furnish relevant reports and studies on the selected theme, within their respective mandates and areas of expertise, and on important developments in the world economy and in international economic cooperation;

10. Invites the Bretton Woods institutions to strengthen their cooperation with the United Nations Secretariat on issues falling within their respective competencies, such as multilateral external debt, challenges and opportunities of global financial integration and financing for development;

11. Decides to encourage cooperative working relations between the relevant units of the Bretton Woods institutions and the regional commissions, including, inter alia, improved arrangements for data collection and information exchange;

12. Also decides that full implementation of existing agreements, the strengthening of existing mechanisms and the exploration of new avenues and mechanisms of cooperation between the Bretton Woods institutions and other bodies of the United Nations system should be encouraged and undertaken within the framework provided by the resolutions of the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council through, inter alia, participation in relevant meetings, information-gathering, information exchange, research, policy analysis and operational activities;

13. Stresses that the recipient Government should play a leading role in the overall coordination of the collaboration between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions at the country level and that this collaboration should be on the basis of country-driven activities;

14. Also stresses that the fundamental characteristics of the operational activities of the United Nations system should be, inter alia, their universal, voluntary and grant nature, their neutrality and their multilateralism, as well as their ability to respond to the needs of developing countries in a flexible manner; and the operational activities of the United Nations system should be carried out for the benefit of the developing countries, at the request of those countries and in accordance with their own policies and priorities for development. The United Nations development system should take into account the specific needs and requirements of the countries with economies in transition;

15. Considers that efforts should be made to promote, in consultation and agreement with Governments, complementarity between the country strategy notes, where they exist, the policy framework papers of the Bretton Woods institutions and the World Bank's country assistance strategies;

16. Emphasizes that the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions should expand, whenever appropriate, their collaboration in co-financing field programmes and projects and should continue to explore innovative ways to combine and maximize their resources, under the overall guidance of the national Governments, in support of development activities at the field level;

17. Invites the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions to improve their cooperation in the preparation, discussion and follow-up of round-table meetings and consultative groups to promote policy discussions, as appropriate;

18. Stresses that the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions have to take full account of the exchange of experiences and lessons learned and that, in the course of their work, staff exchanges and information-sharing, in particular the sharing of evaluation methodologies and results, should be encouraged.

52nd plenary meeting

"Taking into account the ongoing deliberations on an agenda for development, in which issues relating to the strengthening of the relationship between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions are being addressed,

"Considering that the broad mandate of the United Nations development system, including the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, and its expertise in dealing in an integrated manner with economic and development issues, globalization and interdependence provide a good basis for strengthening further cooperation with the Bretton Woods institutions,

"Recognizing that strengthening the collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions at the intergovernmental, intersecretariat and country levels, as complementary to and support for the existing United Nations mechanism, is particularly important for effectively promoting international cooperation for development,

"Also recognizing that the significant number of practical examples of such collaboration is an encouraging sign of the efforts already undertaken and of the existing potentialities for further increasing such collaboration,

"Recognizing further the importance of joint initiatives between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in coordinating efforts for the implementation and follow-up of the commitments of the major United Nations international conferences and summits,

"Reaffirming that United Nations development assistance should continue to maintain its characteristics of neutrality and non-conditionality and that the recipient Government should play a leading role for the overall coordination of collaboration at the country level,

"Deeply concerned about the significant decline in resources allocated to the operational activities for development of the United Nations system, the incomplete tenth replenishment of the International Development Association and prospects for the eleventh replenishment at significantly reduced real levels, which has a negative impact on the effectiveness of the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in pursuing collaboration and their role in the field of development,

"1. Takes note of the report by the Secretariat on strengthening collaboration between the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions 5/ in the areas of social and economic development at all levels, including the field level;

"2. Considers that the strengthening of collaboration between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions requires a comprehensive approach, encompassing a closer policy dialogue at the intergovernmental level on global macroeconomic policy issues and new initiatives and measures at the country level;

"3. Also considers that such a policy dialogue will be an important element in promoting coherence, while encouraging a plurality of analyses and views, on issues related to sustained economic growth and sustainable development, improving, therefore, the overall framework for cooperation between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions at all levels, including the field level;

"4. Emphasizes that the dialogue at the country level should be undertaken under the overall guidance of the national Government;

"5. Stresses that, in the collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions, the United Nations development system should continue to maintain its characteristics of neutrality and non-conditionality and that the recipient Government should play a leading role for the overall coordination of the collaboration at the country level;

5/ E/1996/72 and Corr.1.

"6. Recognizes that concrete modalities for collaboration between the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions at the country level should be on the basis of country-driven activities, arising from the needs of developing countries;

"7. Further recognizes that any programmes or projects arising from such collaboration should be fully consistent with national plans and strategies;

"8. Reaffirms the importance of an integrated approach so as to facilitate coordination between the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions in the implementation and follow-up of the commitments of major United Nations international conferences and summits;

"9. Decides that full implementation of existing agreements, the strengthening of existing mechanisms and the establishment of formal agreements, where necessary, between the Bretton Woods institutions and other specialized agencies through, inter alia, memoranda of understanding, covering issues such as participation in relevant meetings, information-gathering, information exchange, research, policy analysis and operational activities, should be encouraged and undertaken within the framework provided by General Assembly and Economic and Social Council resolutions;

"10. Further decides to promote joint meetings of the Council and both the Development Committee of the World Bank/International Monetary Fund and the Interim Committee of the International Monetary Fund, aiming at strengthening the exchange of views between those bodies on development issues. Such meetings shall be scheduled at a time proximate to the semi-annual meetings of the Bretton Woods institutions, beginning in 1997, with a view to benefiting from high-level ministerial participation and the participation of heads of financial institutions and other relevant organizations. In that regard, the financial institutions and other relevant organizations should be invited, as and when appropriate, to prepare reports and studies to enhance the discussions. For that purpose, the Secretary-General will propose, in consultations with the heads of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, to the Council at its 1997 organizational session, the issues, date and modalities for the first joint meeting;

"11. Decides also to encourage cooperative working relations between the relevant units of the Bretton Woods institutions and the regional commissions, including, inter alia, joint research on the effects of opening regional economies, collaboration in the areas of industrialization and physical and economic infrastructure, and arrangements for data collection and information exchange;

"12. Invites the Bretton Woods institutions to prepare special reports and studies for the Council and the General Assembly on issues falling within their competence, in accordance with article V of the Agreement between the United Nations and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and the International Monetary Fund;

"13. Invites the financial and trade institutions participating in the high-level segment of the Council in 1997 to furnish relevant special reports and studies on the selected theme, within their respective mandates and areas of expertise, and on important developments in the world economy and in international economic cooperation;

"14. Also invites the Bretton Woods institutions to prepare special reports for the General Assembly at its fifty-first session on the issue of the multilateral external debt problem of the developing countries and on the issue of challenges and opportunities of global financial integration;

"15. Invites further the heads of the Bretton Woods institutions and the United Nations Secretary-General, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 50/227, to provide the General Assembly at its fifty-second session with a report and recommendations on how those institutions can improve their own efforts to support the effective implementation of development projects at the field level, taking into account the guidelines in paragraph 86 of that resolution."

10. At the 35th meeting, on 16 July, the representative of the United States of America introduced a draft resolution (E/1996/L.22) entitled "Strengthening collaboration between the United Nations development system and the Bretton Woods institutions", which read as follows:

"The Economic and Social Council,

"Recalling Chapters IX and X of the Charter of the United Nations, with particular reference to the provisions setting forth the powers and functions of the United Nations Economic and Social Council with respect to making recommendations and coordinating United Nations system activities within the scope of its competence,

"Recalling also General Assembly resolution 50/227 of 24 May 1996,

"Noting that various funds, programmes, commissions and other subsidiary bodies of the Council carry out development programmes and activities, and that the Council provides policy guidance to and coordinates the programmes and activities of those subsidiary bodies,

"Noting that the international financial and trade institutions also conduct development programmes and activities, often in the same countries and intended to serve the same people as those carried out by the Council's subsidiary bodies,

"Reaffirming the importance of strengthening cooperation, communication and collaboration between the Council and its subsidiary bodies, on the one hand, and the international financial and trade institutions, on the other, in order to maximize the effectiveness of their respective development programmes and activities,

"Concerned that while the development programmes and activities of the financial and trade institutions and of the Council's subsidiary bodies are generally complementary or mutually supportive, there are instances in which improvements in their relationships may be indicated,

"Noting in that connection that the Council and its subsidiary bodies could benefit from a direct exchange of views and experiences, drawing upon the particular expertise and comparative advantage of the financial and trade institutions,

"Noting that the programmes and activities of the international financial and trade institutions could benefit in a similar fashion from any improvements in the operation, coordination and effectiveness of supportive Council programmes that might be brought about by the Council as a result of enhanced cooperation, collaboration and communication with those institutions,

"Reaffirming the importance of the Council's high-level session with the international financial and trade institutions as a forum for advancing such enhanced cooperation, communication and collaboration, and for exchanging views on how the various participants could support one another's efforts,

"Noting the need to improve the Council's high-level sessions with the international financial and trade institutions by better preparing for and focusing the high-level dialogue, thereby enhancing the quality, outcomes and value of the exchange of views,

"1. Looks forward to the report and accompanying recommendations, to be prepared jointly by the United Nations and the Bretton Woods institutions, as set forth by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/227 of 24 May 1996, 6/ on an exploratory review to assess mechanisms, programmes and relationships at the field, headquarters and intergovernmental levels, with a view to identifying areas in which communication, cooperation and coordination could be improved;

"2. Looks forward to the scheduling of a high-level meeting proximate to the semi-annual meetings of the Bretton Woods institutions with a view to benefiting, to the extent possible, from high-level ministerial participation and from the participation of heads of financial and trade institutions and other relevant organizations, as called for by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/227 of 24 May 1996;

"3. Requests the Secretary-General to consult the heads of the financial institutions by early 1997 in order to explore the possibilities and practicalities of scheduling such a meeting. At a session of the Council, to be held in early 1997, the Council should discuss the format, timing and possible agenda for the first such meeting;

"4. Decides that, prior to the annual high-level policy dialogue between the Council and the international financial and trade institutions, and allowing sufficient time for preparation, the Secretariat should communicate to the financial and trade institutions a report summarizing the relevant issues and questions to be discussed at the session, with a focus on an agreed theme. That communication should be prepared in part based on the submission of issues and questions that member States could be invited to suggest to the Secretariat, which would then be taken into account in the preparation of the Secretariat's report to the institutions."

6/ See annex I to the resolution, para. 86.

11. At the 52nd meeting, on 26 July, the Vice-President of the Council, Mr. Karel Kovanda (Czech Republic), introduced a draft resolution (E/1996/L.48) which he submitted on the basis of informal consultations held on draft resolutions E/1996/L.20 and L.22.

12. At the same meeting, the Council adopted draft resolution E/1996/L.48. See Council resolution 1996/43 (para. 8 above).

Recalling General Assembly resolutions 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960 and 1541 (XV) of 15 December 1960, resolutions of the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples, and other relevant resolutions and decisions, including in particular Economic and Social Council resolution 1995/58 of 28 July 1995,

Bearing in mind the relevant provisions of the final documents of the successive Conferences of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries and of the resolutions adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity, the South Pacific Forum and the Caribbean Community,

Conscious of the need to facilitate the implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples,

Noting that the large majority of the remaining Non-Self-Governing Territories are small island Territories,

Welcoming the assistance extended to Non-Self-Governing Territories by certain specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system, in particular the United Nations Development Programme,

Stressing that, because the development options of small island Non-Self-Governing Territories are limited, there are special challenges to planning for and implementing sustainable development and that those Territories will be constrained in meeting the challenges without the continued cooperation and assistance of the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system,

Stressing the importance of securing necessary resources for funding expanded assistance programmes for the peoples concerned and the need to enlist the support of all major funding institutions within the United Nations system in that regard,

Reaffirming the mandates of the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system to take all the appropriate measures, within their respective spheres of competence, to ensure the full implementation of General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) and other relevant resolutions,

Expressing its appreciation to the Organization of African Unity, the South Pacific Forum, the Caribbean Community and other regional organizations for the continued cooperation and assistance they have extended to the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system in this regard,

Expressing its conviction that closer contacts and consultations between and among the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system and regional organizations help to facilitate the effective formulation of assistance programmes to the peoples concerned,

Mindful of the imperative need to keep under continuous review the activities of the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system in the implementation of the various United Nations decisions relating thereto,

Bearing in mind the extremely fragile economies of the Non-Self-Governing small island Territories and their vulnerability to natural disasters, such as hurricanes, cyclones and sea level rise, and recalling other relevant General Assembly resolutions,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 50/34 of 6 December 1995 on cooperation and coordination of the specialized agencies and the international institutions associated with the United Nations in their assistance to Non-Self-Governing Territories,

1. Aware that it is essential to protect the environment not only at the national level, but also at the international level, with due respect for the sovereignty of States, and that in this respect it may be appropriate to continue developing at the international level standards in criminal law for the protection of the environment,

Taking note with appreciation of the monograph on capacity-building in criminal enforcement of environmental law, 75/

Taking note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the draft action plan on international cooperation and assistance with regard to statistical and computerized applications in the management of the criminal justice system, 76/

Mindful that the development of a more structured framework is critical to the delivery of the activities described in the above-mentioned report of the Secretary-General and that an international technical cooperation infrastructure is important in facilitating the access of Member States to relevant resources and information regarding existing programmes and projects,

1996/12. Elimination of violence against women

The Economic and Social Council,

Welcoming the proclamation by the General Assembly, in its resolution 48/104 of 20 December 1993, of the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women, contained in that resolution, and recalling the definition of violence against women contained in articles 1 and 2 of the Declaration,

Reaffirming the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action 77/ adopted by the World Conference on Human Rights, held at Vienna from 14 to 25 June 1993, and its confirmation that the human rights of women and of the girl child are an inalienable, integral and indivisible part of universal human rights, as well as its affirmation that gender-based violence and all forms of sexual harassment and exploitation are incompatible with the dignity and worth of the human person and must be eliminated,

Recognizing that violence against women both violates human rights and fundamental freedoms and impairs or nullifies the enjoyment by women of those rights and freedoms, and concerned about the long-standing failure to protect and promote those rights and freedoms,

Strongly condemning all forms of violence against women as set out in article 2 of the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women,

77/ Report of the World Conference on Human Rights, Vienna, 14-25 June 1993 (A/CONF.157/24 (Part I)), chap. III.

Recognizing that the effective implementation of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, adopted by the General Assembly in its resolution 34/180 of 18 December 1979, contributes to the elimination of violence against women and that the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women strengthens and complements that process,

Bearing in mind that, as stated in article 4 of the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women, States should not invoke any custom, tradition or religious consideration to avoid their obligations with respect to the elimination of violence against women,

Recalling that the General Assembly, in its resolution 48/104, recognized that violence against women was a manifestation of historically unequal power relations between men and women which had led to domination over and discrimination against women by men and to the prevention of the full advancement of women, and that violence against women was one of the crucial social mechanisms by which women were forced into a subordinate position compared with men,

Recalling Commission on Human Rights resolutions 1995/85 of 8 March 1995 78/ and 1996/49 of 19 April 1996 79/ on the elimination of violence against women,

Welcoming the adoption by the General Assembly of resolution 50/166 of 22 December 1995 on the role of the United Nations Development Fund for Women in eliminating violence against women,

Recalling the appointment by the Commission on Human Rights of the Special Rapporteur on violence against women, its causes and consequences, and the conclusions and recommendations of the Special Rapporteur that States have an affirmative duty to promote and protect the human rights of women and must exercise due diligence to prevent violence against women, as outlined in Commission on Human Rights resolution 1996/49,

Also recalling the statement of the Special Rapporteur that pornography is perhaps the extreme manifestation of the media's violence against women, 80/

Commending the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division of the Secretariat for its work on the elimination of violence against women and its ongoing cooperation with the Special Rapporteur,

Welcoming the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, 81/ adopted by the Fourth World Conference on Women, held at Beijing from 4 to 15 September 1995, and in particular, the determination of Governments to

Expressing deep concern about the high social, health and economic costs to the individual and society that are associated with violence against women,

Bearing in mind that criminal justice agencies should work closely with practitioners in other sectors, including health, social services and education, and with members of the community to address the problem of violence against women,

Recognizing that various groups of women, such as women belonging to minority groups, indigenous women, refugee women, women migrants, including women migrant workers, women in poverty living in rural or remote communities, destitute women, women in institutions or in detention, female children, women with disabilities, elderly women, displaced women, repatriated women, women living in poverty and women in situations of armed conflict and other situations of violence, foreign occupation, war of aggression, civil war and terrorism, including hostage-taking, are also particularly vulnerable to violence,

Welcoming the role of non-governmental organizations, women's equality-seeking organizations and community agencies in addressing and working towards the elimination of violence against women, in particular in drawing attention to the nature, severity and magnitude of violence against women and in assisting women who are victims of violence,

1. Urges Member States to ensure that all forms of violence against women are, in the absence of existing laws, legislatively proscribed;

2. Also urges Member States to review or monitor legislation and legal principles, procedures, policies and practices relating to criminal matters, in a manner consistent with their legal systems, to determine if they have an adverse or negative impact on women and, if they have such an impact, to modify them in order to ensure that women are treated fairly by the criminal justice system;

3. Further urges Member States to undertake strategies, develop policies and disseminate materials to promote women's safety in the home and in society at large, including specific crime prevention strategies that reflect the realities of women's lives and address their distinct needs in areas such as social development, environmental design and educational programmes in crime prevention;

7. Encourages the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division of the Secretariat and other crime prevention bodies and mechanisms to avail themselves of the information and materials on violence against women, including violence in the family, violence in the community and violence by the State that are being gathered by Governments and United Nations treaty bodies, other special rapporteurs, specialized agencies, bodies and organs, and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations, including women's equality-seeking organizations;

8. Calls upon the Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice, through the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Division and the institutes comprising the United Nations crime prevention and criminal justice programme network, to coordinate with all relevant organs, bodies and other entities of the United Nations system their activities on issues relating to violence against women and to the removal of gender bias in the administration of criminal justice;

11. and Global Action Plan against Organized
Transnational Crime

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling also its resolution 1995/11 of 24 July 1995 on the implementation of the Naples Political Declaration and Global Action Plan against Organized Transnational Crime,

Recalling further its resolution 1994/13 of 25 July 1994 on the control of the proceeds of crime,

Welcoming Commission on Narcotic Drugs resolution 5 (XXXIX), 115/

Emphasizing the need for strengthened and improved international cooperation at all levels and for more effective technical cooperation to assist States in their fight against organized transnational crime,

Aware that criminal organizations vary in size, scale, bonding mechanisms, their range of activities, their geographical scope, their relationship with power structures, their internal organizations and structures and the combination of instruments that they use both to promote their criminal enterprises and to protect themselves against law enforcement efforts,

Recalling that, while not constituting a legal or comprehensive definition of the phenomenon, organized transnational crime characteristically uses group organizations to commit crime, has hierarchical links or personal relationships that permit leaders to control the group, uses violence, intimidation and corruption to earn profit or control territories or markets, launders illicit proceeds both to further criminal activity and to infiltrate the legitimate economy, has the potential to expand into new activities and beyond national borders and cooperates with other organized transnational criminal groups,

Convinced that a structured programme of activities is essential to the full implementation of the Naples Political Declaration and Global Action Plan,

1. Takes note of the report of the Secretary-General on the implementation of the Naples Political Declaration and Global Action Plan against Organized Transnational Crime; 116/proposal to convene an international conference for the purpose of evaluating the international situation and the status of international cooperation against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities,

Taking into account General Assembly resolution 50/148 of 21 December 1995, in section IV of which the Assembly requested the Commission to discuss the proposal to hold a second international conference on drug abuse and illicit trafficking fully, as a matter of priority, at its thirty-ninth session, and to present its conclusions and suggestions through the Council to the Assembly at its fifty-first session,

Having considered the report of the Executive Director of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme containing recommendations regarding the implementation by the Commission of General Assembly resolution 48/12 of 28 October 1993, as requested in paragraph 7 of its resolution 13 (XXXVIII),

Having considered drug-control issues at its high-level segment of 1996 and having stressed the need for the United Nations International Drug Control Programme to take a leadership role in reaffirming the political commitment to the present resolution,

Conscious of the role of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs as the principal United Nations policy-making body on drug-control issues,

Reaffirming the leadership role of the Programme as the main focus for concerted international action for drug abuse control and as international coordinator for drug-control activities, especially within the United Nations system,

Fully sharing the deep concern expressed by the General Assembly in its resolution 50/148 about the magnitude of the rising trend in all manifestations of the drug problem despite the efforts of the international community,

Noting that in resolution 50/148, the General Assembly once again renewed its commitment to further strengthening international cooperation and substantially increasing efforts against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, based on the principle of shared responsibility and taking into account the experience gained,

Noting with satisfaction the support expressed in several regional and international conferences and meetings for the convening of an international conference to strengthen international cooperation against the scourge of drug abuse and illicit trafficking,

Taking into account the opinions expressed by different Governments regarding the proposal to convene an international conference for that purpose,

Fully taking into account the fact that the General Assembly, in its resolution 50/148, stressed, inter alia, that when considering the proposal for holding an international conference, the Commission should take into account international drug-control priorities as well as ways and means to increase the implementation of existing international conventions and other international instruments for cooperation on drug control,

Stressing the importance of the General Assembly as the most democratic and representative organ of the United Nations, and, in this context, of the role that it is called upon to play in addressing global and interdependent questions of universal concern,

Convinced that the holding of a special session of the General Assembly devoted to the strengthening of international cooperation against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities could make a significant contribution to the effectiveness of the actions of the United Nations and its Member States in the fight against this global threat,

1. Decides to recommend that the General Assembly convene a special session in order to consider the fight against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities, and to propose new strategies, methods, practical activities and specific measures to strengthen international cooperation in addressing the problem of illicit drugs;

2. Recommends that the General Assembly, at its special session devoted to assessing the existing situation, within the framework of a comprehensive and balanced approach that includes all aspects of the problem, with a view to strengthening international cooperation to address the problem of illicit drugs, and within the framework of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988, 125/ and other relevant conventions and international instruments, should have the following objectives:

(a) To promote the adherence to and full implementation by all States of the 1988 Convention, the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961 126/ and the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971; 127/

(b) To adopt measures to increase international cooperation to contribute to the application of the law;

(c) To adopt measures to avoid the diversion of chemicals used in illicit drug production, and to strengthen control of the production of and traffic in stimulants and their precursors;

(d) To adopt and promote drug abuse control programmes and policies and other measures, including those at the international level, to reduce the illicit demand for drugs;

(e) To adopt measures to prevent and sanction money laundering, in order to implement the 1988 Convention;

(f) To encourage international cooperation to develop programmes of eradication of illicit crops and to promote alternative development programmes;

(g) To adopt measures to strengthen coordination within the United Nations system in the fight against drug trafficking and related organized crime, against terrorist groups engaged in drug trafficking and against illicit arms trade;

3. Also recommends that the General Assembly, at its special session, review its resolution S-17/2 of 23 February 1990, in particular the progress made in implementing the Global Programme of Action on international cooperation against illicit production, supply, demand, trafficking and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances annexed thereto;

4. Recommends that the General Assembly, at its special session, address the issues on the basis of the principle of shared responsibility and with full respect for the principles enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations and international law, particularly respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of States;

5. Decides to propose that the special session of the General Assembly be held for three days in 1998, immediately after all the necessary preparatory work has been done to ensure its success and ten years after the adoption of the 1988 Convention;

6. Requests that the Commission on Narcotic Drugs act as the preparatory body for the special session of the General Assembly, open to the participation of all States Members of the United Nations and of observers, in accordance with established practices;

7. Encourages the participation of developing countries and assistance to the least developed countries, in order to work actively towards the attainment of the objectives and goals of the special session;

8. Requests that the Commission, in its capacity as preparatory body for the special session of the General Assembly, be mandated to present proposals, through the Economic and Social Council, for consideration by the Assembly regarding all organizational matters, including the agenda, dates, expected outcomes and other issues relevant to the successful preparations for, outcome of and follow-up to the special session;

9. Recommends that the preparatory process for the special session of the General Assembly be funded through the regular budget of the United Nations, bearing in mind the need to keep the financial costs to a minimum, and that Governments be invited to make extrabudgetary contributions to meet those costs;

10. Recommends also that organs, organizations and specialized agencies of the United Nations system, as well as multilateral development banks, contribute fully to the preparations for the special session of the General Assembly, in particular by submitting to the Commission, through the Executive Director of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme, concrete recommendations on the issues to be addressed by the Assembly at that session;

1996/18. Draft declaration on the guiding principles of demand reduction

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling its resolution 1995/16 of 24 July 1995 on the integration of demand reduction initiatives into a cohesive strategy to combat drug abuse,

Acknowledging the Political Declaration and Global Programme of Action adopted by the General Assembly at its seventeenth special session, 129/ on 23 February 1990,

Reaffirming the importance of its resolution 1993/35 of 27 July 1993 on demand reduction as part of balanced national strategic plans to combat drug abuse, and the need to ensure its implementation,

Recognizing that demand reduction encompasses prevention, treatment and rehabilitation, as well as social reintegration,

Believing that optimum effectiveness in drug abuse control would best be achieved through a balanced approach, applying the appropriate emphasis and resources to initiatives involving both demand and supply reduction, and integrating such initiatives into a cohesive and comprehensive strategy,

Also believing that effectiveness in combating drug abuse is enhanced by cooperation and the combined efforts of all sectors of society, including those of voluntary and non-governmental organizations,

1. Requests the Executive Director of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme to continue to develop a draft declaration on the guiding principles of demand reduction in consultation with Member States, with due regard to the linkages between demand and supply reduction activities;

2. Also requests the Executive Director, to further develop such a draft declaration and, if necessary, to convene a working group with expertise in demand reduction to assist him in this task, using voluntary resources made available by Member States expressly for that purpose;

1996/19. Demand for and supply of opiates for medical and scientific needs

The Economic and Social Council

Recalling its resolutions 1979/8 of 9 May 1979, 1980/20 of 30 April 1980, 1981/8 of 6 May 1981, 1982/12 of 30 April 1982, 1983/3 of 24 May 1983, 1984/21 of 24 May 1984, 1985/16 of 28 May 1985, 1986/8 of 21 May 1986, 1987/31 of 26 May 1987, 1988/10 of 25 May 1988, 1989/15 of 22 May 1989, 1990/31 of 24 May 1990, 1991/43 of 21 June 1991, 1992/30 of 30 July 1992, 1993/37 of 27 July 1993, 1994/5 of 20 July 1994 and 1995/19 of 24 July 1995,

Emphasizing that the need to balance the global licit supply of opiates against the legitimate demand for opiates for medical and scientific purposes is central to the international strategy and policy of drug abuse control,

Noting the fundamental need for international cooperation and solidarity with the traditional supplier countries in drug-abuse control in general and in the universal application of the provisions of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961 130/ in particular,

Having considered the Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 1995, 131/ in which it is stated that in 1994 global consumption of opiates exceeded the production of opiate raw materials, and that in 1995 increased licit production in the two traditional producing countries, India and Turkey, maintained, together with the other producing countries, the balance between supply and demand,

Noting the importance of opiates in pain relief therapy as advocated by the World Health Organization,

1. Urges all Governments to continue contributing to the maintenance of a balance between the licit supply of and demand for opiates for medical and scientific needs, the achievement of which would be facilitated by maintaining, in so far as their constitutional and legal systems permit, support to the traditional supplier countries, and to cooperate in preventing the proliferation of sources of production and manufacture for export;

2. Urges Governments of all producing countries to adhere strictly to the provisions of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961, and to take effective measures to prevent illicit production or diversion of opiate raw materials to illicit channels;

131/ United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 520, No. 7515.

3. Urges consumer countries to assess and communicate to the International Narcotics Control Board their real needs for opiates to ensure easy supply;

4. Commends the Board for its efforts in monitoring the implementation of the relevant resolutions of the Economic and Social Council and, in particular:

(a) In urging the Governments concerned to adjust global production of opiate raw materials to a level corresponding to the actual licit needs and to avoid any proliferation of production;

(b) In convening meetings during sessions of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs to enable the main States importing and producing opiate raw materials to discuss maintaining a balance between licit demand for and supply of opiates;

5. Requests the Secretary-General to transmit the present resolution to all Governments for consideration and implementation.

1996/20. Strengthening of the role of the International Narcotics Control Board and development of a unified information system for the collection and analysis of data concerning the nature, patterns and trends of the global problem of drug abuse

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling General Assembly resolutions S-17/2 of 23 February 1990, 47/99 of 16 December 1992, 48/12 of 28 October 1993 and 50/148 of 21 December 1995, Economic and Social Council resolutions 1991/48 of 21 June 1991 and 1994/3 of 20 July 1994 and Commission on Narcotic Drugs resolutions 7 (XXXVII) of 20 April 1994 132/ on the role of the International Narcotics Control Board and 12 (XXXVIII) of 23 March 1995 on scientific and technical cooperation in the control of drug abuse and illicit trafficking, 133/

Reaffirming the global nature of the problem of drug abuse and the principles of shared responsibility and solidarity, accepted by the international community, that have characterized the action taken by the United Nations to deal with that problem,

Reaffirming also the principles of sovereignty, equality of States, non-intervention in internal affairs and territorial integrity as the basis for individual and collective action to deal with drug abuse,

Taking into account that in order to achieve the objectives of the international drug control treaties there must be effective international cooperation between countries in combating the illicit consumption, production, traffic and distribution, and in controlling the licit manufacture and marketing, of narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances and precursors, as well as in preventing their diversion,

Concerned about the increasing magnitude and extent of the drug problem worldwide and the fact that the international community needs a comprehensive, dynamic and continuously updated statistical system which would enable it to monitor global illicit demand, supply, traffic and distribution of drugs, whether of plant origin or synthetic, and the diversion of chemical substances that are frequently used in the illicit manufacture of such drugs, as well as the trends in, and evolution of, the situation, and which would assist the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations International Drug Control Programme in their periodic analysis of the problem and in preparing recommendations,

Considering that, in the context of the globalization of the drug problem and the principle of shared responsibility, the International Narcotics Control Board is the competent independent international authority, as specified in the international drug control treaties, for the evaluation, in an objective and balanced manner, of the efforts of States to facilitate the consolidation of a worldwide policy on drug control and the development of effective international cooperation,

Acknowledging the fundamental role of the Board as the control organ, recognized as such by the international community, for restricting the cultivation, production, manufacture and use of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances to medical and scientific needs, and also for preventing the illicit cultivation, production, manufacture, traffic and use of such substances, in accordance with the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971, 134/ the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961, as amended by the 1972 Protocol, 135/ the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 136/ and other relevant instruments,

Highlighting the work done by the Board to achieve the objectives set out in the international drug control treaties, by indicating the gaps and deficiencies in the control system and recommending solutions to improve control, nationally and internationally, including the strengthening of international cooperation,

1. Encourages the International Narcotics Control Board to continue to ensure the more effective implementation of the international drug control treaties, and in so doing, to evaluate the global drug problem and to cooperate with Governments in an ongoing dialogue;

2. Invites the Board, when monitoring the implementation of the international drug control conventions, also to take into account the related elements of the Global Programme of Action adopted by the General Assembly at its seventeenth special session, 139/ on 23 February 1990;

3. Requests States that have not already done so to accede to the international drug control treaties, and to adopt the necessary measures to ensure their implementation and the strengthening of international cooperation;

5. Requests the Executive Director to report to the Commission on Narcotic Drugs at its fortieth session on current efforts to collect and analyse information on the nature and patterns of, and trends in the illicit consumption, cultivation, manufacture, traffic and distribution of drugs, whether of natural origin or synthetic, to improve the formulation of prevention and control policies, both nationally and internationally, in those fields, to enhance public awareness of the international drug control situation, and to ensure that the activities of the Programme are based on comprehensive and relevant information and knowledge, with a view to unifying and simplifying the collection system for use by the Governments and the Programme, including the Board;

6. Requests the Executive Director, when presenting the report referred to in paragraph 5 above, to take into account the experience gained by other information networks and the knowledge developed in this field by other international agencies and governmental and non-governmental organizations;

1996/29. Action to strengthen international cooperation to control precursors and their substitutes used in the illicit manufacture of controlled substances, in particular amphetamine-type stimulants, and to prevent their diversion

The Economic and Social Council,

Deeply concerned about the economic and social consequences of the rapid and widespread increase in illicit manufacturing, trafficking and use of amphetamine-type stimulants throughout the world,

Concerned about the continued availability of chemicals listed in tables I and II of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 136/ to drug traffickers for use in the illicit clandestine production of controlled substances,

Alarmed that in some cases traffickers have swiftly and successfully sought non-scheduled substitute chemicals for those scheduled chemicals that have become more scarce as a result of international control,

Concerned that clandestine laboratory operators are seeking international sources for substances listed in table I of the 1988 Convention, which are often contained in tablets and capsules, thus undermining the effectiveness of international controls of those products and thwarting the goals of article 12 of the Convention and of the international community,

Dismayed that despite concerted international control efforts, listed chemicals continue to be accessible to traffickers through the activities of producers of illicit drugs or unscrupulous brokers and intermediaries, who facilitate trade but are not themselves end users,

Aware that many Governments lack adequate resources to enable them to conduct the in-depth investigations that may be needed to determine the legitimate need for an intended export or import of a listed chemical,

Aware of the progress in control of chemical shipments resulting from cooperation between competent national authorities in a number of countries, and with the assistance of the International Narcotics Control Board,

Recognizing the need for the international community to strengthen countermeasures against the illicit manufacturing, trafficking and use of amphetamine-type stimulants and their precursors,

Noting with appreciation the results of the expert forum on amphetamine-type stimulants held at Vienna from 12 to 16 February 1996,

Recognizing the important role of the Board in monitoring and facilitating implementation of the measures to strengthen international cooperation to prevent diversion of substances listed in table I of the 1988 Convention and used in the illicit manufacture of stimulants and other psychotropic substances, as detailed in its resolution 1995/20 of 24 July 1995,

Noting also with appreciation the publications entitled Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 1995 137/ and Precursors and Chemicals Frequently Used in the Illicit Manufacture of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances: Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 1995 on the Implementation of Article 12 of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988, 138/

Recalling its resolution 1995/20 of 24 July 1995,

Realizing that it may not be practical to schedule all chemicals and substances used to produce illicit drugs,

SPECIAL SURVEILLANCE OF SCHEDULED AND NON-SCHEDULED SUBSTANCES

1. Calls upon all States parties to the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 to enact any legislation necessary to provide their competent authorities with the legal basis fully to implement the chemical controls required or recommended by the Convention and all related resolutions;

2. Calls upon the United Nations International Drug Control Programme and the International Narcotics Control Board, drawing upon the expertise of competent national authorities as needed, to establish a limited international special surveillance list of non-scheduled substances for which substantial information exists of their use in illicit drug trafficking, in order to allow, according to the nature and trade patterns of each product, for appropriate measures to prevent use by traffickers of those substances;

3. Urges all States parties to the 1988 Convention to establish arrangements, whether voluntary, administrative or legislative, whereby their domestic exporters, importers and distributors of the chemicals and substances included in the special surveillance list will report suspicious orders or thefts of such chemicals and cooperate with national enforcement and control authorities with regard to those chemicals and substances;

4. Urges States parties to the 1988 Convention, subject to their legal provisions, to take civil, criminal or administrative action, as appropriate, against suppliers of scheduled substances or, where possible, substances included in the special surveillance list for failure to cooperate with the authorities with regard to those substances;

5. Strongly urges States that export scheduled chemicals not to permit exports of such chemicals listed in tables I and II of the 1988 Convention in sensitive cases which may be identified by the Board, or to brokers or intermediaries who facilitate trade, but are not themselves end-users, unless prior identification of any genuine consignee and such inquiries as may be appropriate are also made;

6. Further urges States, in accordance with their legal provisions, not to permit the importation of chemicals listed in tables I and II of the 1988 Convention where a risk of diversion exists, until evidence establishes the legitimacy of the importer and the purpose of the chemical import;

7. Urges States, except in cases where a known risk of diversion exists, and prior to permitting the importation of chemicals listed in tables I and II of the 1988 Convention, to require, in accordance with their legal provisions, evidence of legitimacy of importers and domestic distributors of those chemicals which are intended for subsequent sale or delivery to bulk domestic distributors;

8. Urges Governments to consider ways of reinforcing international cooperation, including, where appropriate, bilateral and multilateral arrangements or agreements against the diversion of scheduled substances and their substitutes;

9. Invites Governments that have not yet done so to designate, as a matter of priority, authorities competent for the control of scheduled substances, to inform the Secretary-General that they have taken such action and to enhance the establishment of bilateral relations between importing, exporting and transit countries.

II

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ACTION

1. Urges Governments to implement specific actions to control scheduled chemicals as requested in its resolution 1995/20;

2. Requests the International Narcotics Control Board to collect and compile data that would establish a pattern of trade in chemicals listed in tables I and II of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988, including any significant volume of transactions, to draw the attention of the competent authorities of countries concerned to any irregularities that the Board, in its judgement, may identify, and to invite those authorities to provide the Board with any additional information, as necessary, and to take appropriate action, especially preventive action; such action by Governments, both importing and exporting, ought to include:

(a) Consulting with and providing relevant data to the Board in conformity with legal requirements of confidentiality and data protection, where concern exists that an export or transshipment of such chemicals or substances may be diverted into the illicit traffic;

(b) Verification by the importing country of the legitimacy of transactions on the basis of pre-export notifications of such substances to be sent by the exporting countries as provided for in article 12 of the 1988 Convention;

(c) Not permitting the export of substances listed in tables I and II of the 1988 Convention and, where possible, substances included in the special surveillance list, to areas of special risk where it is known that they are commonly used to produce illicit drugs, until information is available to establish the legitimate purpose of the chemicals or substances to be imported;

3. Requests that, pursuant to the initiatives taken by the Board in accordance with paragraph 2 above, the Governments of exporting and importing countries and territories verify the legitimacy of the individual transactions concerned and prevent the release of such shipments until the competent authority of the importing country or territory has, in compliance with the time constraints of the exporting country, indicated that it has no objection to the transaction in question;

4. Recommends that, wherever possible, Governments should obtain early notification from operators of all proposed transactions of substances listed in table I of the 1988 Convention in order to check their legitimacy, and inform other countries and territories accordingly, in compliance with the provisions of that Convention;

5. Requests all Governments of countries and territories to alert other Governments, as appropriate, through the Board, as soon as diversion attempts are identified, and to cooperate in controlled deliveries, if necessary, in order to prevent traffickers from turning to other countries or regions to obtain the precursors they require;

6. Urges Governments with free ports and free trade zones to closely monitor, in particular, the movement of amphetamine-type stimulants and scheduled substances under the 1988 Convention through such trading centres, pursuant to the Convention, and to provide for a mechanism to seize consignments when adequate grounds for suspicion have been established;

7. Requests Governments with free ports and free trade zones to provide information as requested by the Board in order to strengthen measures to monitor the movement of the amphetamine-type stimulants and scheduled substances under the 1988 Convention in those ports and zones;

8. Encourages Governments of countries and territories to examine the scope of their current controls over domestic distribution in order to prevent internal diversion of scheduled substances under the 1988 Convention, which could be subsequently smuggled to neighbouring countries where illicit manufacture of drugs takes place;

9. Invites Governments to consider monitoring the intermediaries and brokers who facilitate trade but are not themselves end-users by appropriate measures, such as applying the current control procedures and resorting to the sanctions applicable to other operators that handle or use controlled substances;

10. Requests the Secretary-General to convene, in accordance with the mandate established in Council resolution 1995/20, a second expert meeting of drug-control authorities and policy-making representatives of interested Governments in order to propose comprehensive countermeasures against illicit manufacturing, trafficking and use of amphetamine-type stimulants and their precursors;

11. Requests the Secretary-General, with the assistance of the Executive Director of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme and in consultation with the Board, to seek the views of interested Governments on the nature and content of the comprehensive countermeasures prior to the second expert meeting;

12. Requests the Commission on Narcotic Drugs to examine the proposed comprehensive countermeasures at its fortieth session, on the basis of the results of the second expert meeting;

13. Requests the Secretary-General to propose to the General Assembly, in order to implement the present resolution, any modification in the programme of work of the Secretariat that may be necessary for the allocation of adequate resources to the United Nations International Drug Control Programme in the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997;

14. Requests the Secretary-General, having in mind the recommendations of the Chemical Action Task Force established by the heads of State or Government of the seven major industrialized countries and the President of the Commission of the European Communities to consult in writing with the parties concerned:

(a) To examine to what extent those recommendations have been implemented;

(b) To suggest further measures to prevent diversions to the illicit manufacture of stimulants;

15. Requests the Secretary-General to prepare a summary of the replies received and to submit a report, if possible, to the Commission on Narcotic Drugs at its fortieth session;

16. Requests the Secretary-General to transmit the present resolution to all Governments for consideration and implementation.

1996/30. Measures to combat diversion of psychotropic substances and to establish effective control over operations carried out by intermediaries in international trade of psychotropic substances

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling the need to give full effect to the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971, 134/ in order to effectively combat diversion and abuse of psychotropic substances,

Noting that difficulties encountered by certain countries in introducing control measures provided for in the 1971 Convention have been central to the problem of diversion of psychotropic substances involving intermediaries,

Recalling its resolutions 1991/44 of 21 June 1991 and 1993/38 of 27 July 1993 on measures to enhance controls of international trade in psychotropic substances,

Noting that intermediaries have been involved in major cases of diversion and attempted diversion of psychotropic substances,

Noting that the situation is further exacerbated by the fact that some countries complying with the requirements of the 1971 Convention and of its resolutions are allowing the export of psychotropic substances to countries in which effective import or export controls have not yet been implemented,

Recalling that in its resolution 1993/38 on measures to prevent substances listed in Schedules III and IV of the 1971 Convention from being diverted from international trade into illicit channels, it invited Governments, inter alia, to exercise continuing vigilance to ensure that operations of brokers and transit operators are not used for the diversion of psychotropic substances into illicit channels,

Noting with satisfaction the relevant activities carried out jointly by the International Narcotics Control Board and the Pompidou Group of the Council of Europe and, in particular, the conclusions and recommendations of the International Narcotics Control Board/Pompidou Group Expert Consultation on Control of Brokers and Transit Operators Handling Psychotropic Substances and Precursors, held at Vienna from 3 to 5 May 1995, as well as those of their Conference on Control of International Trade in Psychotropic Substances in Europe, held at Strasbourg from 18 to 20 October 1995,

Recognizing the increasingly important role of the Board in facilitating the detection and interdiction of the suspected diversion of psychotropic substances,

1. Invites Governments that have not already done so to establish, as a matter of priority, competent authorities for the control of psychotropic substances, and to notify the Secretary-General of the identity of those authorities, including details of addresses;

2. Invites Governments to take appropriate measures, with the assistance of the International Narcotics Control Board, to prevent shipments of psychotropic substances in excess of the annual domestic requirements for licit purposes to countries which have not yet implemented effective controls over international trade in those substances;

3. Requests the Board to establish assessments of annual licit domestic requirements of psychotropic substances for countries that have not yet submitted such assessments;

4. Invites Governments of exporting countries to exercise the utmost vigilance over import orders for psychotropic substances received from countries considered to have deficient control regimes, particularly in order to prevent uncontrolled re-exports, and to ensure that exports to free ports and free trade zones are avoided if controls over re-exports have not been established;

5. Calls upon all Governments which do not yet control international trade in all psychotropic substances listed in Schedules III and IV of the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971 by using the system of import and export authorizations urgently to consider the establishment of such a system;

6. Also calls upon all Governments for which it is not immediately feasible to control the export of substances listed in Schedules III and IV of the 1971 Convention by means of the system of export authorizations to make use of other mechanisms, such as the system of pre-export declarations;

7. Calls upon all Governments to consider the establishment of control measures for intermediaries, including registration on licensing and record-keeping requirements, as well as the enactment of regulatory and criminal sanctions for intermediaries facilitating diversions;

8. Requests the Board to study, in consultation with Governments, the feasibility of formulating specific guidelines for use by Governments on the control of intermediaries involved in international trade of psychotropic substances, on the basis of the conclusions and recommendations of the International Narcotics Control Board/Pompidou Group Expert Consultation on Control of Brokers and Transit Operators Handling Psychotropic Substances and Precursors;

9. Invites Governments of exporting countries, in seeking to verify the legitimacy of suspicious export transactions, to establish or reinforce bilateral contacts with Governments of importing countries and, if necessary, to request the assistance of the Board;

10. Invites all Governments and relevant international bodies to ensure the rapid flow of communications, including the use of electronic means of data exchange;

11. Requests the Secretary-General to propose to the General Assembly, in order to implement the present resolution, any modification in the programme of work of the Secretariat that may be necessary for the allocation of adequate resources to the United Nations International Drug Control Programme in the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997;

12. Requests the Secretary-General to transmit the present resolution to all Governments for consideration and implementation.

PROCEEDINGS

Special session of the General Assembly devoted to the combat against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities

103. At the 45th meeting, on 23 July, the Council considered draft resolution I, entitled "Special session of the General Assembly devoted to the combat against the illicit production, sale, demand, traffic and distribution of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and related activities", recommended by the Commission on Narcotic Drugs (E/1996/27, chap. I, sect. A). It heard the following statement by the representative of the Office of Programme Planning, Budget and Accounts:

"Should the Economic and Social Council adopt draft resolution I as recommended by the Commission on Narcotic Drugs, there would be no programme budget implications for the biennium 1996-1997. The programme budget implications entailed by the convening of a special session of the General Assembly in 1998 would be dealt with in the context of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999 once the General Assembly takes a decision at its fifty-first session to convene in a special session in 1998."

104. At the same meeting, the Council adopted the draft resolution. See Council resolution 1996/17 (para. 102 above).

105. After the draft resolution was adopted, statements were made by the representatives of Japan, Argentina, Colombia and the Philippines and the observers for Mexico and Cuba.

1996/49. Integration of key minerals issues into the implementation of Agenda 21

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling that Agenda 21 153/ called for, inter alia, the identification of balanced patterns of consumption worldwide that the Earth could support in the long term,

Recalling also that, in Agenda 21 and the Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development, 154/ it is stated that the major cause of the continued deterioration of the global environment is the unsustainable pattern of consumption and production, particularly in industrialized countries, which is a matter of grave concern, aggravating poverty and imbalances,

Noting that the policy implications of trends and projections in consumption and production patterns were evaluated in a report of the Secretary-General submitted to the Commission on Sustainable Development at its fourth

Noting also that in its inter-sessional strategy paper entitled "Towards the sustainable supply of minerals in the context of Agenda 21", 156/ the Committee on Natural Resources analysed the implications of those policy approaches for the minerals sector in terms of the capacity of the environment to absorb the physical and chemical impacts of minerals resource use, the sustainability of the supply of essentially non-renewable mineral resources, and the possibilities for modifying production and consumption patterns throughout the mineral cycle by introducing greater efficiency of minerals use, new technologies, recycling and substitution,

Recalling that those minerals issues impinge heavily on developing countries and economies in transition that seek to capture greater benefits from mineral development, and consequently recalling also the need to avoid undesirable impacts on those economies,

1. Brings to the attention of the Commission on Sustainable Development, the relevant United Nations bodies and the regional commissions the inter-sessional strategy paper of the Committee on Natural Resources entitled "Towards the sustainable supply of minerals in the context of Agenda 21";

2. Takes note, in principle, of the recommendations for concrete action contained in relevant resolutions of the Committee on Natural Resources, and recommends consideration of the means of their implementation, within existing resources, through the relevant priority programmes and by maximizing the opportunities for collaboration among interested parties.

6. Further recommends that Governments, in accordance with their national policies and priorities and with the aid of the international community, take appropriate measures for enhancing national and regional self-sufficiency and capacities for, inter alia, the operation, maintenance and financing of water resources projects, and take measures to enhance their institutional, legal and technical capabilities in the area of water resources, including the strengthening and, where necessary, the establishment of regional organizations;

7. Further recommends that Governments consider, with the support of the organizations of the United Nations system, other multilateral and bilateral organizations, and non-governmental organizations, the possibility of establishing pilot projects on water resources development and management, inter alia, on river basins and in areas that are deemed to be suffering from serious water-related stresses with a view to developing and implementing policies designed to avert water crises;

159/ E/C.7/1996/6 and Corr.1.

8. Urges the organizations of the United Nations system, international financing organizations, other multilateral and bilateral organizations, and non-governmental organizations and the international community at large to give priority attention, as appropriate, to providing Governments with technical and financial support in their efforts to deal with such problems;

INTRODUCTION

145. The Council considered the question of energy (agenda item 6 (e)) at its 30th to 32nd and 52nd meetings, on 11, 12 and 26 July 1996. An account of the discussion is contained in the relevant summary records (E/1996/SR.30-32 and 52). The Council had before it the report of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development on its second session. 162/

ACTION TAKEN BY THE COUNCIL

146. Under agenda item 6 (e), the Council adopted one resolution and two decisions.

Resolution

1996/44. Coordination of the activities of the organizations of the United Nations system in the field of energy

The Economic and Social Council,

Considering the crucial role of energy in sustainable development,

Noting the continuing need for enhancing energy supplies and improving the living conditions in developing countries,

Recognizing the need to evolve strategies and programmes to ensure a cost-effective and sustainable regime of energy supply and consumption in the twenty-first century,

Bearing in mind the views and recommendations of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development on the issues of medium-term planning and coordination in energy,

Recalling decision 4/15 of the Commission on Sustainable Development, 163/ in which the Commission requested the Secretary-General to prepare a report for consideration by the Commission at its fifth session, covering an inventory of ongoing energy-oriented programmes and activities within the United Nations system, as well as proposals for arrangements as appropriate, that might be needed to foster the linkage between energy and sustainable development within the United Nations system,

1. Requests the Secretary-General to take into account the report and views of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development when preparing the report requested in decision 4/15 of the Commission on Sustainable Development;

2. Also requests the Secretary-General to prepare a report, taking into account, as appropriate, the views of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development, on the possibilities of strengthening the coordination of the organizations and bodies of the United Nations system in the field of energy within the framework of the Administrative Committee on

Coordination, and to submit this report, through the Council, to the General Assembly for consideration at its fifty-second session;

3. Further requests the Secretary-General, in consultation with the regional commissions and other entities within the United Nations system, to address in the same report the need to enhance the capability of the system in the field of energy for sustainable development, and to explore all possible options for a high-level discussion in this context, taking into account the results of the fifth session of the Commission on Sustainable Development and of the special session of the General Assembly scheduled for June 1997, as well as the guidance provided by the relevant environmental conventions and their respective conferences of the parties, in particular the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. 164/

Decisions

1996/303. Recommendations of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development at its second session

At its 52nd plenary meeting, on 26 July 1996, the Economic and Social Council took note of the recommendations made by the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development at its second session, and invited all States, entities within the United Nations system, other international organizations and non-governmental organizations to consider the recommendations, as appropriate. The recommendations were as follows:

(a) There was an imperative need to accelerate the research into and development of all promising approaches to energy and materials efficiency and renewable energy development with a view to assisting in the early commercialization of advances made and achieving a more efficient and sustainable balance in national energy economies. International financing organizations were urged to consider earmarking a higher portion of their funds for this purpose;

(b) In view of the slow progress made in removing the barriers that hampered renewable energy development, there was a need to adopt a proactive approach towards removing such obstacles. In particular, there was a need to continue subsidies and other forms of direct and indirect support. The external costs of using fossil fuels needed to be internalized, and a policy environment conducive to the use of renewable energy resources needed to be created;

(c) A major and immediate expansion and acceleration were necessary in decentralized rural electrification programmes in developing countries. As recommended at the special session of the Committee, a global initiative should be launched with a clear commitment of financial resources to fund it and an agreed time-frame for its implementation;

164/ A/AC.237/18 (Part II)/Add.1 and Corr.1, annex I.

(d) Taking into account the critical socio-economic situation in many developing countries, regional initiatives should be undertaken to resolve important issues related to the use and development of energy resources. Such initiatives should serve as a platform for studying, coordinating and implementing activities on a continuous basis, and could be further reinforced through other forms of international cooperation;

(e) A systematic database should be established on the programmes and activities of the organizations and bodies of the United Nations system in the field of energy in a form that was accessible for public information, using modern electronic communication techniques;

(f) The reports of the Committee should be made available to the Commission on Sustainable Development, the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat) and the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change for their consideration, as appropriate.

1996/304. Report of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development on its second session and provisional agenda and documentation for the third session of the Committee

(a) Took note of the report of the Committee on New and Renewable Sources of Energy and on Energy for Development on its second session; 165/

(b) Approved the provisional agenda and documentation for the third session of the Committee set out below, subject to any changes that might be required, taking into account the review of the role and working methods of the Committee and its relationship with other bodies in the context of the implementation of General Assembly resolution 50/227; and stressed the need for the Committee to study a broad range of environmentally sound and efficient energy technologies;

Resolution

1996/31. Consultative relationship between the United Nations and non-governmental organizations

The Economic and Social Council,

Recalling Article 71 of the Charter of the United Nations,

Recalling also its resolution 1993/80 of 30 July 1993, in which it requested a general review of arrangements for consultation with non-governmental organizations, with a view to updating, if necessary, Council resolution 1296 (XLIV) of 23 May 1968, as well as introducing coherence in the rules governing the participation of non-governmental organizations in international conferences convened by the United Nations, and also an examination of ways and means of improving practical arrangements for the work of the Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations and the Non-Governmental Organizations Section of the Secretariat,

Recalling further its decision 1995/304 of 26 July 1995,

Confirming the need to take into account the full diversity of the non-governmental organizations at the national, regional and international levels,

Acknowledging the breadth of non-governmental organizations' expertise and the capacity of non-governmental organizations to support the work of the United Nations,

Taking into account the changes in the non-governmental sector, including the emergence of a large number of national and regional organizations,

Calling upon the governing bodies of the relevant organizations, bodies and specialized agencies of the United Nations system to examine the principles and practices relating to their consultations with non-governmental organizations and to take action, as appropriate, to promote coherence in the light of the provisions of the present resolution,

Approves the following update of the arrangements set out in its resolution 1296 (XLIV) of 23 May 1968:

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CONSULTATION WITH NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS

Part I

PRINCIPLES TO BE APPLIED IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF CONSULTATIVE RELATIONS

The following principles shall be applied in establishing consultative relations with non-governmental organizations:

1. The organization shall be concerned with matters falling within the competence of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies.
2. The aims and purposes of the organization shall be in conformity with the spirit, purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.
3. The organization shall undertake to support the work of the United Nations and to promote knowledge of its principles and activities, in accordance with its own aims and purposes and the nature and scope of its competence and activities.
4. Except where expressly stated otherwise, the term "organization" shall refer to non-governmental organizations at the national, subregional, regional or international levels.
5. Consultative relationships may be established with international, regional, subregional and national organizations, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations and the principles and criteria established under the present resolution. The Committee, in considering applications for consultative status, should ensure, to the extent possible, participation of non-governmental organizations from all regions, and particularly from developing countries, in order to help achieve a just, balanced, effective and genuine involvement of non-governmental organizations from all regions and areas of the world. The Committee shall also pay particular attention to non-governmental organizations that have special expertise or experience upon which the Council may wish to draw.

6. Greater participation of non-governmental organizations from developing countries in international conferences convened by the United Nations should be encouraged.

7. Greater involvement of non-governmental organizations from countries with economies in transition should be encouraged.

8. Regional, subregional and national organizations, including those affiliated to an international organization already in status, may be admitted provided that they can demonstrate that their programme of work is of direct relevance to the aims and purposes of the United Nations and, in the case of national organizations, after consultation with the Member State concerned. The views expressed by the Member State, if any, shall be communicated to the non-governmental organization concerned, which shall have the opportunity to respond to those views through the Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations.

9. The organization shall be of recognized standing within the particular field of its competence or of a representative character. Where there exist a number of organizations with similar objectives, interests and basic views in a given field, they may, for the purposes of consultation with the Council, form a joint committee or other body authorized to carry on such consultation for the group as a whole.

10. The organization shall have an established headquarters, with an executive officer. It shall have a democratically adopted constitution, a copy of which shall be deposited with the Secretary-General of the United Nations, and which shall provide for the determination of policy by a conference, congress or other representative body, and for an executive organ responsible to the policy-making body.

11. The organization shall have authority to speak for its members through its authorized representatives. Evidence of this authority shall be presented, if requested.

12. The organization shall have a representative structure and possess appropriate mechanisms of accountability to its members, who shall exercise effective control over its policies and actions through the exercise of voting rights or other appropriate democratic and transparent decision-making processes. Any such organization that is not established by a governmental entity or intergovernmental agreement shall be considered a non-governmental organization for the purpose of these arrangements, including organizations that accept members designated by governmental authorities, provided that such membership does not interfere with the free expression of views of the organization.

13. The basic resources of the organization shall be derived in the main part from contributions of the national affiliates or other components or from individual members. Where voluntary contributions have been received, their amounts and donors shall be faithfully revealed to the Council Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations. Where, however, the above criterion is not fulfilled and an organization is financed from other sources, it must explain to the satisfaction of the Committee its reasons for not meeting the requirements laid down in this paragraph. Any financial contribution or other support, direct or indirect, from a Government to the organization shall be openly declared to the Committee through the Secretary-General and fully recorded in the financial and other records of the organization and shall be devoted to purposes in accordance with the aims of the United Nations.

14. In considering the establishment of consultative relations with a non-governmental organization, the Council will take into account whether the field of activity of the organization is wholly or mainly within the field of a specialized agency, and whether or not it could be admitted when it has, or may have, a consultative arrangement with a specialized agency.

15. The granting, suspension and withdrawal of consultative status, as well as the interpretation of norms and decisions relating to this matter, are the prerogative of Member States exercised through the Economic and Social Council and its Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations. A non-governmental organization applying for general or special consultative status or a listing on the Roster shall have the opportunity to respond to any objections being raised in the Committee before the Committee takes its decision.

16. The provisions of the present resolution shall apply to the United Nations regional commissions and their subsidiary bodies mutatis mutandis.

17. In recognizing the evolving relationship between the United Nations and non-governmental organizations, the Economic and Social Council, in consultation with the Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations, will consider reviewing the consultative arrangements as and when necessary to facilitate, in the most effective manner possible, the contributions of non-governmental organizations to the work of the United Nations.

Part II

PRINCIPLES GOVERNING THE NATURE OF THE CONSULTATIVE ARRANGEMENTS

18. A clear distinction is drawn in the Charter of the United Nations between participation without vote in the deliberations of the Council and the arrangements for consultation. Under Articles 69 and 70, participation is provided for only in the case of States not members of the Council, and of specialized agencies. Article 71, applying to non-governmental organizations, provides for suitable arrangements for consultation. This distinction, deliberately made in the Charter, is fundamental and the arrangements for consultation should not be such as to accord to non-governmental organizations the same rights of participation as are accorded to States not members of the Council and to the specialized agencies brought into relationship with the United Nations.

19. The arrangements should not be such as to overburden the Council or transform it from a body for coordination of policy and action, as contemplated in the Charter, into a general forum for discussion.

20. Decisions on arrangements for consultation should be guided by the principle that consultative arrangements are to be made, on the one hand, for the purpose of enabling the Council or one of its bodies to secure expert information or advice from organizations having special competence in the subjects for which consultative arrangements are made, and, on the other hand, to enable international, regional, subregional and national organizations that represent important elements of public opinion to express their views.

Therefore, the arrangements for consultation made with each organization should relate to the subjects for which that organization has a special competence or in which it has a special interest. The organizations given consultative status should be limited to those whose activities in fields set out in paragraph 1 above qualify them to make a significant contribution to the work of the Council and should, in sum, as far as possible reflect in a balanced way the major viewpoints or interests in these fields in all areas and regions of the world.

Part III

ESTABLISHMENT OF CONSULTATIVE RELATIONSHIPS

21. In establishing consultative relationships with each organization, regard shall be had to the nature and scope of its activities and to the assistance it may be expected to give to the Council or its subsidiary bodies in carrying out the functions set out in Chapters IX and X of the Charter of the United Nations.

22. Organizations that are concerned with most of the activities of the Council and its subsidiary bodies and can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Council that they have substantive and sustained contributions to make to the achievement of the objectives of the United Nations in fields set out in paragraph 1 above, and are closely involved with the economic and social life of the peoples of the areas they represent and whose membership, which should be considerable, is broadly representative of major segments of society in a large number of countries in different regions of the world shall be known as organizations in general consultative status.

23. Organizations that have a special competence in, and are concerned specifically with, only a few of the fields of activity covered by the Council and its subsidiary bodies, and that are known within the fields for which they have or seek consultative status shall be known as organizations in special consultative status.

24. Other organizations that do not have general or special consultative status but that the Council, or the Secretary-General of the United Nations in consultation with the Council or its Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations, considers can make occasional and useful contributions to the work of the Council or its subsidiary bodies or other United Nations bodies within their competence shall be included in a list (to be known as the Roster). This list may also include organizations in consultative status or a similar relationship with a specialized agency or a United Nations body. These organizations shall be available for consultation at the request of the Council or its subsidiary bodies. The fact that an organization is on the Roster shall not in itself be regarded as a qualification for general or special consultative status should an organization seek such status.

25. Organizations to be accorded special consultative status because of their interest in the field of human rights should pursue the goals of promotion and protection of human rights in accordance with the spirit of the Charter of the United Nations, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action.

26. Major organizations one of whose primary purposes is to promote the aims, objectives and purposes of the United Nations and a furtherance of the understanding of its work may be accorded consultative status.

Part IV

Such organizations shall be entitled to make one statement to the Council, subject to the approval of the Council. In the absence of a subsidiary body of the Council with jurisdiction in a major field of interest to the Council and to organizations in special consultative status, the Committee may recommend that organizations in special consultative status be heard by the Council on the subject in its field of interest;

(b) Whenever the Council discusses the substance of an item proposed by a non-governmental organization in general consultative status and included in the agenda of the Council, such an organization shall be entitled to present orally to the Council, as appropriate, an introductory statement of an expository nature. Such an organization may be invited by the President of the Council, with the consent of the relevant body, to make, in the course of the discussion of the item before the Council, an additional statement for purposes of clarification.

Part VII

PARTICIPATION OF NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS IN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES CONVENED BY THE UNITED NATIONS AND THEIR PREPARATORY PROCESS

41. Where non-governmental organizations have been invited to participate in an international conference convened by the United Nations, their accreditation is the prerogative of Member States, exercised through the respective preparatory committee. Such accreditation should be preceded by an appropriate process to determine their eligibility.

42. Non-governmental organizations in general consultative status, special consultative status and on the Roster, that express their wish to attend the relevant international conferences convened by the United Nations and the meetings of the preparatory bodies of the said conferences shall as a rule be accredited for participation. Other non-governmental organizations wishing to be accredited may apply to the secretariat of the conference for this purpose in accordance with the following requirements.

43. The secretariat of the conference shall be responsible for the receipt and preliminary evaluation of requests from non-governmental organizations for accreditation to the conference and its preparatory process. In the discharge of its functions, the secretariat of the conference shall work in close cooperation and coordination with the Non-Governmental Organizations Section of the Secretariat, and shall be guided by the relevant provisions of Council resolution 1296 (XLIV) as updated.

44. All such applications must be accompanied by information on the competence of the organization and the relevance of its activities to the work of the conference and its preparatory committee, with an indication of the particular areas of the conference agenda and preparations to which such competence and relevance pertain, and should include, inter alia, the following information:

(a) The purpose of the organization;

(b) Information as to the programmes and activities of the organization in areas relevant to the conference and its preparatory process and the country or countries in which they are carried out. Non-governmental organizations seeking accreditation shall be asked to confirm their interest in the goals and objectives of the conference;

(c) Confirmation of the activities of the organization at the national, regional or international level;

(d) Copies of the annual or other reports of the organization with financial statements, and a list of financial sources and contributions, including governmental contributions;

(e) A list of members of the governing body of the organization and their countries of nationality;

(f) A description of the membership of the organization, indicating the total number of members, the names of organizations that are members and their geographical distribution;

(g) A copy of the constitution and/or by-laws of the organization.

45. In the evaluation of the relevance of applications of non-governmental organizations for accreditation to the conference and its preparatory process, it is agreed that a determination shall be made based on their background and involvement in the subject areas of the conference.

46. The secretariat shall publish and disseminate to Member States on a periodic basis the updated list of applications received. Member States may submit comments on any of the applications on the list 14 days from receipt of the above-mentioned list by Member States. The comments of Member States shall be communicated to the non-governmental organization concerned, which shall have the opportunity to respond.

47. In cases where the secretariat believes, on the basis of the information provided in accordance with the present resolution, that the organization has established its competence and the relevance of its activities to the work of the preparatory committee, it shall recommend to the preparatory committee that the organization be accredited. In cases where the secretariat does not recommend the granting of accreditation, it shall make available to the preparatory committee its reasons for not doing so. The secretariat should ensure that its recommendations are available to members of the preparatory committee at least one week prior to the start of each session. The secretariat must notify such applicants of the reasons for non-recommendation and provide an opportunity to respond to objections and furnish additional information as may be required.

48. The preparatory committee shall decide on all recommendations for accreditation within 24 hours after the recommendations of the secretariat have been taken up by the preparatory committee in plenary meeting. In the event of a decision not being taken within this period, interim accreditation shall be accorded until such time as a decision is taken.

49. A non-governmental organization that has been granted accreditation to attend a session of the preparatory committee, including related preparatory meetings of regional commissions, may attend all its future sessions, as well as the conference itself.

50. In recognition of the intergovernmental nature of the conference and its preparatory process, active participation of non-governmental organizations therein, while welcome, does not entail a negotiating role.

51. The non-governmental organizations accredited to the international conference may be given, in accordance with established United Nations practice and at the discretion of the chairperson and the consent of the body concerned, an opportunity to briefly address the preparatory committee and the conference in plenary meetings and their subsidiary bodies.

52. Non-governmental organizations accredited to the conference may make written presentations during the preparatory process in the official languages of the United Nations as they deem appropriate. Those written presentations shall not be issued as official documents except in accordance with United Nations rules of procedure.

53. Non-governmental organizations without consultative status that participate in international conferences and wish to obtain consultative status later on should apply through the normal procedures established under Council resolution 1296 (XLIV) as updated. Recognizing the importance of the participation of non-governmental organizations that attend a conference in the follow-up process, the Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations, in considering their application, shall draw upon the documents already submitted by that organization for accreditation to the conference and any additional information submitted by the non-governmental organization supporting its interest, relevance and capacity to contribute to the implementation phase. The Committee shall review such applications as expeditiously as possible so as to allow participation of the respective organization in the implementation phase of the conference. In the interim, the Economic and Social Council shall decide on the participation of non-governmental organizations accredited to an international conference in the work of the relevant functional commission on the follow-up to and implementation of that conference.

54. The suspension and withdrawal of the accreditation of non-governmental organizations to United Nations international conferences at all stages shall be guided by the relevant provisions of the present resolution.

Part VIII

SUSPENSION AND WITHDRAWAL OF CONSULTATIVE STATUS

55. Organizations granted consultative status by the Council and those on the Roster shall conform at all times to the principles governing the establishment and nature of their consultative relations with the Council. In periodically reviewing the activities of non-governmental organizations on the basis of the reports submitted under paragraph 61 (c) below and other relevant information, the Council Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations shall determine the extent to which the organizations have complied with the principles governing consultative status and have contributed to the work of the Council, and may recommend to the Council suspension of or exclusion from consultative status of organizations that have not met the requirements for consultative status as set forth in the present resolution.

56. In cases where the Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations has decided to recommend that the general or special consultative status of a non-governmental organization or its listing on the Roster be suspended or withdrawn, the non-governmental organization concerned shall be given written reasons for that decision and shall have an opportunity to present its response for appropriate consideration by the Committee as expeditiously as possible.

57. The consultative status of non-governmental organizations with the Economic and Social Council and the listing of those on the Roster shall be suspended up to three years or withdrawn in the following cases:
