Agenda item 117

Review of the efficiency of the administrative and financial functioning of the United Nations

Proposed programme budget outline for the biennium 2010-2011

Report of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions

1. The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions has considered the report, in advance form, of the Secretary-General on the proposed programme budget outline for the biennium 2010-2011 (A/63/600). In the course of its deliberations, the Advisory Committee met with representatives of the Secretary-General, who provided additional information and clarification.

2. The Advisory Committee points out that, for several bienniums, the reports of the Secretary-General on the budget outline have been submitted by the Secretary-General and considered by the General Assembly at the very end of off-budget years. The Committee notes, in that connection, that the Secretary-General issued his instructions for the preparation of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2010-2011 in early October 2008, setting 14 November 2008 as the deadline for budget submissions by departments and offices. The Advisory Committee is of the view that, in order for the budget outline to be a practical tool in the budget preparation process, it should be submitted by the Secretary-General sufficiently early during off-budget years so that the Secretary-General can base instructions for the preparation of proposed programme budgets on budget outline parameters as approved by the Assembly.

3. In his report, the Secretary-General indicated that, in establishing a preliminary estimate for the biennium 2010-2011, the approved level of appropriations and related commitments, namely, $4,207.6 million, had been taken as the starting point (see A/63/600, para. 2). On that basis, the Secretary-General had proposed a preliminary estimate of resources for the biennium 2010-2011, expressed in initial 2008-2009 prices, amounting to $4,617.9 million (see para. 2, table). As indicated in paragraph 20 of the report, the preliminary estimate, excluding requirements for special political missions, represented an increase of $20.1 million, or 0.5 per cent, compared with the approved appropriations and related provisions for the biennium 2008-2009. The preliminary estimate, including required provisions for special political missions, would represent an increase of $410.3 million, or 9.8 per cent, compared with existing provisions for the biennium 2008-2009. The Advisory Committee points out that, consistent with past practice, the level proposed for the contingency fund is not included in the figure of $4,617.9 million.

4. The Advisory Committee notes that an additional amount of $44.3 million is included in the budget outline for the full biennial provision in the biennium 2010-2011 for posts that are partially funded in the current biennium (see A/63/600, paras. 3 and 4). On the other hand, one-time costs of $31.4 million pertaining to the biennium 2008-2009 are not included in the budget outline for the biennium 2010-2011 (see A/63/600, para. 5).

5. The Advisory Committee notes that the estimated amount of $825.7 million for special political missions during the biennium 2010-2011 is included in the budget outline at the level that is equivalent to the revised provision proposed for the biennium 2008-2009. In his report, the Secretary-General indicated that, although the current composition of special political missions would change somewhat in 2010-2011, it was not anticipated that the overall level would trend downward (see A/63/600, para. 15).

6. The Secretary-General indicated in his report that special political missions clearly exhibited characteristics that set them apart from other activities of the Organization financed from the regular budget (see A/63/600, para. 16). He proposed, therefore, that the General Assembly might wish to consider whether special political missions were amenable to treatment under the current regular budget procedures for estimating requirements in the budget outline and subsequent programme budgets. The Advisory Committee draws attention, in that connection, to its comments and observations on special political missions contained in its related report (see A/63/593, paras. 12-14). In view of the magnitude of the provision for special political missions and the variability in requirements for such missions, the Advisory Committee recommends that the Secretary-General, in presenting his overall estimates for the proposed budget outline, continue to present the estimates for special political missions in such a way as to readily identify those resources attributable to special political missions. This would enable the General Assembly to better assess the impact of the estimates for special political missions on the proposed budget outline. The Advisory Committee recommends that the Secretary-General use the same approach for the presentation of special political missions in the proposed programme budget.

7. As indicated by the Secretary-General in his report, the outline requirements would be subject to recosting, prior to their approval by the General Assembly (see A/63/600, para. 18). The Advisory Committee was informed that the overall level of estimated requirements for 2010-2011 would also be affected by decisions on the first performance report, revised estimates and programme budget implications that are being considered by the Assembly.

8. The Secretary-General indicated that there were several initiatives of which the General Assembly was currently seized or of which reports were expected to be submitted by the Secretary-General (see A/63/600, para. 22). According to the Secretary-General, those items, when considered and if adopted, would have a significant bearing on the level of the proposed programme budget for the biennium

2010-2011. The proposed programme budget outline should have presented the fullest possible picture of the Organization's estimates of resources for the biennium 2010-2011. The Advisory Committee notes that the budget outline under consideration falls short of such requirements. Upon enquiry, the Committee was informed that if the budget outline were to include the estimates of all items currently before the General Assembly and foreseeable items in reports yet to be issued, the budget outline would be likely to increase to a preliminary estimate of $5,187.1 million (see annex below). The Committee points out that some of the requirements are not included in the updated preliminary estimates (see annex below).

9. The size of the contingency fund is discussed in paragraph 21 of the report. The Advisory Committee recommends approval of the proposal of the Secretary-General that the level of the contingency fund for the biennium 2010-2011 remain at 0.75 per cent of the overall level of resources.

10. The Advisory Committee recommends that the General Assembly take into account the updated information contained in the annex to the present report when it considers the proposed programme budget outline for the biennium 2010-2011.
