Sixty-third session

Item 81 of the preliminary list*

The rule of law at the national and international levels

The rule of law at the national and international levels

Report of the Secretary-General

Summary

In its resolutions 61/39 and 62/70, the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General to prepare an inventory of the current rule of law activities of the United Nations. The inventory is intended to serve as a practical guide to the work of the United Nations system for the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels in response to the specific needs of Member States. It is based on information provided by 40 United Nations entities about their current rule of law activities. It is presented in the form of a directory of the current rule of law activities of the United Nations, which taken as a whole provides an overview of the current capacity of the United Nations to perform such activities.

The inventory is divided into two parts: part I contains general information about the inventory in terms of its mandate, preparation and content; and part II contains the inventory of the current rule of law activities of the United Nations.

The current rule of law activities of the United Nations are divided into two main categories depending on whether they are intended to promote the rule of law at the international level or at the national level. The activities under each of these main categories are further divided into general subcategories based on the particular aspect of the rule of law that they are intended to promote in response to the specific needs of Member States.

* A/63/50.

There is a separate entry for each rule of law activity (or series of related activities) performed by a United Nations entity. Under each entry, the inventory provides the title and a brief description of the activity or activities concerned, as well as an indication of the subject matter in which the activity is carried out (the field of law concerned, such as administration of justice, crime prevention and criminal justice, human rights law, international terrorism), the beneficiaries of the activity (for example, government officials, judges, parliamentarians, non-governmental institutions, the general public) and, if appropriate, the specific circumstances under which the activity is performed (in particular, whether it is conducted in a conflict or post-conflict situation). Each entry also includes, when available, information on the mandate providing the legal basis for, or authorization to carry out, the activity concerned, the person or entity authorized to initiate or request performance of the activity, the entities involved in the implementation and/or monitoring of the activity and those with which the entity performing the activity cooperate for this purpose, and the method of financing the activity.

Whereas the inventory is designed to facilitate consideration of the current capacity of the United Nations system to perform a broad range of rule of law activities in response to the various needs of Member States, the list of United Nations entities accompanied by references to the corresponding entries for their rule of law activities contained in the annex is intended to facilitate consideration of the capacity of particular United Nations entities to perform a range of rule of law activities in response to the various needs of Member States.

I. Introduction

A. Mandate

1. In paragraph 2 of its resolution 61/39 on the rule of law at the national and international levels, the General Assembly, inter alia, requested the Secretary-General:

To prepare an inventory of the current activities of the various organs, bodies, offices, departments, funds and programmes within the United Nations system devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels for submission at its sixty-third session, and to submit an interim report thereon to the General Assembly for its consideration at its sixty-second session.

2. In its resolution 62/70 on the rule of law at the national and international levels, the Assembly, inter alia, welcomed the interim report submitted to it by the Secretary-General at its sixty-second session¹ and reiterated its request for the preparation of the inventory to be submitted at its sixty-third session.

B. Preparation of the inventory

3. The inventory provides Member States with comprehensive and up-to-date information on the capacity of the United Nations to promote the rule of law at the national and international levels in response to the specific needs of Member States. The inventory aims at providing information regarding the activities performed by the Secretariat of the United Nations, rather than the action undertaken by Member States as participants in intergovernmental bodies (such as the General Assembly, the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council) or by expert bodies (such as the International Law Commission or the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law), whose activities are well publicized and well-known by Governments.²

4. The first step in the preparation of the inventory consisted of identifying, as a factual matter, the current activities within the United Nations system devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels for the benefit of

Member States.³ For this purpose, the relevant reports and other documents previously issued by the United Nations relating to the promotion of the rule of law were examined.

5. The review of the relevant documentation indicated a myriad of rule of law activities performed by various entities within the United Nations system. The number and diversity of these rule of law activities necessitated the identification of general categories and subcategories to facilitate the systematic collection of information on a broad range of rule of law activities from the relevant offices within the United Nations system.

6. The rule of law activities were first divided into two main categories depending on whether they were intended to promote the rule of law at the international level or at the national level. The rule of law activities under each of these main categories were then divided into general subcategories reflecting the specific needs of Member States in the promotion of the rule of law that the activities sought to address. The categories and subcategories thus identified are as follows:

(a) Activities relating to the promotion of the rule of law at the international level:

- (i) Activities relating to the teaching, dissemination and promotion of international law;
- (ii) Activities relating to assistance in the domestic implementation of international law;
- (iii) Activities relating to dispute resolution at the international level;
- (iv) Activities relating to conflict resolution and transitional justice;

(b) Activities relating to the promotion of the rule of law at the national level:

- (i) Activities relating to the strengthening of administrative institutions and to public law and governance issues;
- (ii) Activities relating to the administration of justice and law enforcement.

7. The second step in the preparation of the inventory consisted of identifying the pertinent information to be requested from United Nations entities with respect to their current rule of law activities. This information included the following:

- (a) Activity. The title and a brief description of the rule of law activity;
- (b) Initiative. The person or entity which is authorized to initiate or request the rule of law activity;
- (c) Mandate. The general mandate, the specific mandate or the ad hoc mandate that provides the legal basis or authorization for carrying out the activity;

³ The inventory focuses on activities performed by the United Nations that have an operational character or are intended to achieve practical results to address the specific needs of Member States with respect to the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels. It does not include activities relating to the internal management of the Secretariat or to the functioning of the organs of the United Nations.

(d) Circumstances. The special circumstances, if any, in which the activity is carried out (for example, conflict or post-conflict);

(e) Subject matter. The field of law that is the subject of the rule of law activity (for example, administration of justice, including judicial reform; crime prevention and criminal justice; environmental law; human rights law; humanitarian law);

(f) Beneficiaries. The person, entity or institution that is the intended beneficiary of the activity (for example, government officials, judges, parliamentarians, the military, law enforcement or prison officials, academia, non-governmental institutions, the general public);

(g) Implementation or monitoring. The person or entity responsible for implementing or monitoring the rule of law activity;

(h) Cooperation and coordination. The entities that provide cooperation or coordination with respect to the rule of law activity (for example, United Nations entities, other international organizations or non-governmental entities);

(i) Financing. The method for financing the activity (for example, regular budget, extrabudgetary resources, voluntary contributions, trust fund or private sector funding).

8. The third step in the preparation of the inventory was to request the relevant information from various entities within the United Nations system. The Codification Division of the Office of Legal Affairs therefore identified the offices of the Secretariat, the regional commissions and United Nations programmes, funds and other bodies to be contacted for the purposes of preparing the inventory.

9. Accordingly, a total of 52 organs, bodies, offices, departments, funds and programmes within the United Nations system were invited to provide relevant information regarding their activities for the promotion of the rule of law.

10. Twelve of the entities contacted indicated that they were not involved in any activity devoted to the promotion of the rule of law.⁴

11. The following 40 entities provided information relating to their activities devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels: the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate; the Department of Economic and Social Affairs; the Department of Peacekeeping Operations; the Department of Political Affairs; the Department of Public Information; the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA); the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA); the Economic Commission for Europe (ECE); the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC); the Executive Office of the Secretary-General; the Registry of the International Court of Justice; the Registry of the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda; the Registry of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia; the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS); the Legal Liaison Office of the United Nations Office at Geneva; the Office for Disarmament Affairs; the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs; the Office of Legal Affairs; the Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict; the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR); the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR); the Office of the United Nations Special Coordinator for the Middle East Peace Process (UNSCO); the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF); the United Nations Compensation Commission; the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD); the United Nations Democracy Fund; the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM); the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP); the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP); the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat); the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR); the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR); the United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute; the United Nations Office for Project Services (UNOPS); the United Nations Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States; the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime; the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA); the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA); the United Nations University (UNU); and the World Food Programme (WFP).

12. The fourth and final step was to prepare the inventory of current rule of law activities performed by various entities within the United Nations system. The inventory is based on the voluminous data received by the Codification Division for the purpose of this exercise from each of the United Nations entities contacted. The inventory seeks to harmonize the diverse information received from these entities and to present it in a coherent, consistent and concise manner.⁵

13. The inventory is intended to provide information about the current capacity of the United Nations to promote the rule of law at the national and international levels for the benefit of Member States. The inventory provides factual information about the current rule of law activities of various United Nations entities under their general mandates to promote the rule of law as well as mandates for specific or ad hoc rule of law activities. Thus, some of the rule of law activities are ongoing or recurrent, while others are of limited duration or non-recurrent in the absence of a new mandate. Even though some of the current rule of law activities contained in the inventory are very specific or of limited duration, they are nonetheless indicative of the capacity of the United Nations to perform such activities when provided with the appropriate mandate in other situations. Indeed, the rule of law activities performed by the United Nations are often tailor-made to address the specific needs of a particular Member State in certain circumstances as set forth in a given mandate.

⁵ As indicated in paragraph 6 above, all United Nations entities were requested to provide the same type of information for each rule of law activity performed. However, it should be noted that the information submitted by different entities, or even by the same entity with respect to its various rule of law activities, was very diverse, both as regards the types of data available and its degree of specificity.

14. It should also be recalled that, in paragraph 4 of its resolution 62/70, the General Assembly:

Note[d] with appreciation the report of the Secretary-General entitled “Uniting our strengths: enhancing United Nations support for the rule of law”,⁶ support[ed] the Rule of Law Coordination and Resource Group, supported by the rule of law unit in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General, under the leadership of the Deputy Secretary-General.

C. Guide to the information contained in the inventory

15. The inventory is intended to serve as a practical guide to the work of the United Nations system for the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels. It is presented in the form of a directory of the current rule of law activities of the United Nations, which taken as a whole provides an overview of the current capacity of the United Nations to perform such activities.

16. The current rule of law activities of the United Nations are divided into two main categories depending on whether they are intended to promote the rule of law at the international level or at the national level. The activities under each of these main categories are further divided into general subcategories based on the particular aspect of the rule of law that they are intended to promote in response to the specific needs of Member States.

17. The activities of the United Nations devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the international level were divided into four subcategories:

(a) The first subcategory consists of activities aimed at promoting greater knowledge, awareness or understanding of international law, such as promotion of international law, educational programmes, technical assistance or advice, material and logistical support, capacity-building and dissemination;

(b) The second subcategory consists of activities aimed at promoting the domestic implementation of international law, such as training programmes, support for monitoring and reporting mechanisms, capacity-building, dissemination of relevant information, technical assistance in preparing national legislation, material and logistical support, and strengthening coordination and cooperation in the domestic implementation process;

(c) The third subcategory consists of activities aimed at promoting international dispute resolution, such as good offices, mediation, fact-finding, judicial proceedings and other international dispute settlement procedures, as well as providing material and logistical support to assist States in international dispute settlement;

(d) The fourth subcategory consists of activities aimed at promoting conflict resolution and transitional justice, such as capacity-building and technical assistance for non-governmental institutions, establishment and operation of international and hybrid criminal tribunals, establishment and operation of other transitional justice mechanisms, as well as capacity-building, dissemination and advocacy in the field of conflict resolution and transitional justice;

18. The activities of the United Nations devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the national level were divided into two subcategories:

(a) The first subcategory consists of activities aimed at strengthening administrative institutions, as well as addressing public law and governance issuance, such as capacity-building for public officials and non-governmental institutions, technical assistance or advice to public officials or non-governmental institutions, preparation of model laws or general guidelines on legal reform, interim exercise of executive or administrative functions, dissemination of relevant information and general promotion of the rule of law;

(b) The second subcategory consists of activities aimed at strengthening the administration of justice and law enforcement, such as capacity-building; technical assistance or advice; material and logistical support; monitoring and reporting; strengthening legal aid, access to justice and fair trial; and promoting customary, traditional and community-based justice and dispute resolution mechanisms.

19. Under each of these subcategories, the rule of law activities are organized as follows. First, the rule of law activities that have a similar nature and purpose are grouped together. Second, these related rule of law activities are listed in the alphabetical order of the names of the entities (in English) that perform these activities.

20. Each entry of the inventory corresponds to one activity (or one set of activities of the same nature) performed by a United Nations entity. The name of the United Nations entity concerned is provided in bold at the beginning of the paragraph,⁷ followed by the information relating to the activity and its implementation.

21. Under each entry, the inventory provides the title and a brief description of the activity or activities concerned in bold characters, as well as an indication of the subject matter in which the activity is carried out (the field of law concerned, such as administration of justice, crime prevention and criminal justice, human rights law, international terrorism, etc.), the beneficiaries of the activity (for example, government officials, judges, parliamentarians, non-governmental institutions, the general public, etc.) and, if appropriate, the specific circumstances under which the activity is performed (in particular, whether it is conducted in a conflict or post-conflict situation). Under the heading "Implementation", each entry provides, when available, information on the mandate providing the legal basis or authorization to carry out the activity concerned, the person or entity authorized to initiate or request performance of the activity, the entities involved in the implementation and/or monitoring of the activity and those with which the entity performing the activity cooperate for this purpose, and the method of financing the activity.

22. The present report is accompanied by an annex containing a list of the United Nations entities engaged in rule of law activities and references to the corresponding paragraphs in the inventory that contain the entries for the rule of law activities of each entity. Whereas the inventory is designed to facilitate consideration of the current capacity of the United Nations system to perform a broad range of rule of law activities in response to the various needs of Member States, the annex is intended to facilitate consideration of the same capacity in relation to the specific United Nations entities engaged in rule of law activities.

II. Inventory of the current activities of the various organs, bodies, offices, departments, funds and programmes within the United Nations system devoted to the promotion of the rule of law at the national and international levels

A. Activities relating to the promotion of the rule of law at the international level

1. Activities relating to the teaching, dissemination and promotion of international law

1.1. Activities relating to the general promotion of international law

23. Department of Public Information. Promotion of the work of human rights treaty bodies, aimed at the media and the beneficiaries of relevant treaties, through:

- (a) The provision of strategic communication support to the secretariats of the treaty bodies (principally OHCHR);
- (b) The creation of media strategies and the promotion of events;
- (c) The drafting and dissemination of press releases and communications materials (booklets, brochures);
- (d) The coordination and planning of press conferences;
- (e) Responses to media inquiries, via department-maintained web sites and through the network of United Nations information centres.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 61/121 B, paragraph 5; financed under the regular budget.

24. Office for Disarmament Affairs. Promotion of the international instrument to enable States to identify and trace, in a timely and reliable manner, illicit small arms and light weapons (see the report of the Open-ended Working Group (A/60/88)); for the benefit of States and non-governmental organizations.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 61/66 and Assembly decision 60/519; in coordination with the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL), regional, subregional organizations and non-governmental organizations, as well as Member States; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

25. Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights. Support in the implementation of the national human rights education programmes, through the preparation of manuals on human rights education methodology, guidelines for teachers, presentations on the United Nations human rights system, regular courses and training activities and competitions on human rights topics, for the benefit of law students, secondary school pupils, secondary school teachers and law faculty in a post-conflict situation (for example, the United Nations Tajikistan Office of Peacebuilding (UNTOP)).⁸

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, by the UNTOP human rights officer, the coordinator of the human rights information and documentation centre and the OHCHR regional project manager, in coordination with the Swedish International Development Agency (SIDA)); financed under extrabudgetary resources.

26. OHCHR. Implementation of the Policy Committee decision on integration of human rights in United Nations peace missions, by developing policies and strategies to ensure that human rights are integrated in the conceptualization, strategies and implementation of peace missions (including the trial monitoring function, human rights monitoring functions, fact-finding functions and investigation functions), during a conflict and in a post-conflict situation, for the benefit of components of peacekeeping operations.

Implementation. By the Peace Missions Support and Rapid Response Unit, at the request of the Capacity-building and Field Operations Branch, in coordination with the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Political Affairs.

27. OHCHR. Input in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations Guidance Project, by developing policies and guidance on human rights and rule of law related activities for peace missions (in particular, by developing public human rights reporting guidelines), during a conflict and in a post-conflict situation, for the benefit of components of peacekeeping operations.

Implementation. By the Peace Missions Support and Rapid Response Unit, at the request of the Capacity-building and Field Operations Branch, the Methodology, Education and Training Unit and the Research and Right to Development Branch, in coordination with the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Political Affairs.

28. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Promotion and dissemination of information on ocean affairs and the law of the sea, through a wide range of services to States and intergovernmental organizations, including provision of information, advice and assistance, with a view to promoting better understanding of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and the Conservation and Management of Straddling Fish Stocks and Highly Migratory Fish Stocks (the 1995 Fish Stocks Agreement), their wider acceptance, uniform and consistent application and effective implementation, with particular focus on developing and building up the capacities of States, including human resources, as well as legal and technical resources.

Implementation. General Assembly resolutions 37/66, 49/28 and 52/26 (mandate renewed on an annual basis in General Assembly resolutions on oceans and the law of the sea), as well as General Assembly resolution 56/13, at the request of Member States; financed under the regular budget within existing resources.

29. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Promotion and dissemination of international law through the registration of treaties and related treaty actions

(ratifications, accessions, reservations, etc.), for the benefit of all States and international organizations.

Implementation. Under Article 102 of the Charter of the United Nations, General Assembly resolution 97 (I) concerning the Regulations to give effect to Article 102 of the Charter of the United Nations (as amended by General Assembly resolutions 364 B (IV), 482 (V), and 33/141), and Assembly resolution 52/153; financed under the regular budget.

30. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Promotion and dissemination of international law through the preparation of the certified texts of multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General, as well as the analysis, execution, recording and dissemination of information relating to treaty actions in respect of multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General (over 530), for the benefit of all States and international organizations.

Implementation. Under a mandate generally deriving from Article 98 of the Charter of the United Nations, express or implied approval of the organ recommending the adoption of the multilateral treaty in question, General Assembly resolution 24 (I), and the Secretary-General's bulletin on procedures to be followed by the departments, offices and regional commissions of the United Nations with regard to treaties and international agreements (ST/SGB/2001/7); financed under the regular budget.

31. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Submission of an amicus curiae brief to the International Criminal Court for the purposes of the promotion of the rights of the child and the strengthening of the legal protection of the child in the context of international criminal law.

Implementation. Pursuant to Rule 103 of the Rules of Procedure and Evidence of the International Criminal Court, in cooperation with New York University; financed on a pro bono basis with technical support from the budget of the Office for filing with the International Criminal Court.

32. United Nations Development Programme. Participation in international conferences and workshops dealing with issues regarding rule of law and justice at the international level (for example, justice reform, informal justice mechanisms, monitoring and evaluation of justice reform processes, the relationship between the justice sector and national development plans/poverty reduction strategies, transitional justice, human rights, gender justice, juvenile justice, criminal justice reform and prison reform).

Implementation. By UNDP representatives from headquarters, regional centres and subregional resource facilities participating in numerous events organized by UNDP or other United Nations agencies, the international financial institutions, bilateral aid agencies, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD)/Development Assistance Committee (DAC), regional organizations, international and regional professional justice organizations, and national institutions, entities and organizations.

33. UNDP. Global Human Rights Strengthening Programme, aimed at contributing to the UNDP corporate strategy to fully integrate human rights into its policies, programmes and processes, and providing meaningful guidance to the application of a human rights-based approach to the UNDP programming processes, with particular focus on the full implementation of the 2005 Human Rights in UNDP: practice note, in the three strategic areas identified (supporting the strengthening of national human rights systems; promoting the application of a human rights-based approach to development programming; and greater engagement with the international human rights machinery).

Implementation. Under the UNDP strategic plan and the UNDP users guide for programming.

34. United Nations Environment Programme. Forward-thinking about environmental legal issues affecting specific regions (for example, through the development of a network of African environmental lawyers for the African continent).

Implementation. Under the Montevideo programmes and UNEP Governing Council decisions 21/23; 22/17/IIA and 23/1, at the request of Governments, in coordination with UNDP country offices, national and regional partners; financed under the Environment Fund and other counterpart contributions.

35. United Nations Population Fund. Promotion of knowledge and building capacities on international and national human rights protection and its linkages with gender equality, reproductive rights and HIV/AIDS (for example, by reinforcing the capacities of the Attorneys General of the Central American Council of Human Rights and of the Inter-American System of Human Rights on reproductive rights, women's rights and HIV/AIDS).

Implementation. Under the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD), at the request of Governments, and the Inter-American Institute for Human Rights; financed under the regular budget.

36. UNFPA. Strengthening joint action on women and peace and security, with other entities within the United Nations, for the benefit of government officials, diplomats, national judges, legislators, military officials, police officers, prison administrators, civil servants and academics.

Implementation. Under Security Council resolution 1325 (2000), at the request of Governments, in collaboration with United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM), UNDP and the World Food Programme (WFP).

37. United Nations Children's Fund. Promotion and dissemination of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and other international standards and norms pertaining, for example, to justice for children, children and armed conflict, violence against children, landmines and explosive remnants of war, as well as children with disability.

Implementation. By some 155 UNICEF country offices in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East and the regional office in Central and Eastern Europe and the Commonwealth of Independent States (CEE/CIS), in cooperation with national authorities and civil society and with support from UNICEF headquarters, in line with the UNICEF mandate to support implementation of the Convention on the Rights of the Child worldwide; financed under either the regular budget or extrabudgetary resources.

38. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. Promotion and dissemination of information concerning the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, the protocols thereto, and the United Nations Convention against Corruption, through training, capacity-building and legal information, such as participation in conferences of regional organizations for the dissemination of United Nations instruments, for the benefit of government officials, policymakers, legislators, diplomats, judges, police officers, academics and others.

Implementation. Under resolutions mandating the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to provide assistance in the area of transnational organized crime (for example, General Assembly resolutions 56/120 and 59/157) and of corruption (General Assembly resolutions 56/186 and 60/207; Economic and Social Council resolutions 1998/16 and 2001/13); at the request of Member States (including through the review of the implementation of international instruments, such as responses to questionnaires, etc.), institutions or United Nations entities, in coordination with UNDP, the United Nations University (UNU), United Nations Asia and Far East Institute for the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders, OECD, Organization of American States (OAS), Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), Council of Europe, International Criminal Court, the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE); financed under the regular budget, extrabudgetary resources, donations and fees.

1.2. Activities relating to the promotion of the signature, ratification and/or application of treaties and other international instruments

39. Department of Economic and Social Affairs. Organization of a signature ceremony for an international treaty (for example, Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities), for States and regional integration organizations.

Implementation. By the secretariat for the Convention and the Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section), under the specific mandate for the relevant treaty (for example, General Assembly resolution 61/106 on the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, paragraph 2); financed under the regular budget.

40. Department of Political Affairs. Advocacy for the ratification of certain international instruments with government officials, for example:

(a) In the Central African Republic (Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court, United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, International Convention for the Suppression of Terrorist Bombings, and African Union Convention on Preventing and Combating Corruption), under the general mandate of the United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office in the Central African Republic (BONUCA), as recommended by the Secretary-General and approved by the Security Council (S/1999/1235 and S/2006/934), and under the specific mandate of the Human Rights Section of BONUCA;

(b) In Iraq (international human rights treaties), under Security Council resolution 1770 (2007), through regular meetings with government officials, parliamentarians, parliamentary committees, the Chief Justice and other relevant partners, in cooperation with the Ministry of Human Rights.

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, BONUCA, the United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq (UNAMI)).

41. Department of Political Affairs-OHCHR.⁹ Promotion of, and provision of technical assistance in, the ratification of major international conventions on human rights, including by the holding of round tables, in a post-conflict situation, for the benefit of government officials and non-governmental organizations (for example, UNTOP).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNTOP, in coordination with UNDP, the Swedish International Development Agency (SIDA) and others), at the request of the State and on the recommendation of the human resources officer; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

42. Department of Public Information. Promotion, through the provision of strategic communication support, of the annual treaty event organized at United Nations Headquarters by the Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section), for the benefit of States and, through activities targeted at the media, the group that is most affected/assisted by these instruments.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 61/121 B (II), paragraph 19, in coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs, financed under the regular budget.

43. Office for Disarmament Affairs. Promotion of universal acceptance of treaty norms and of implementation of, and compliance with, treaty obligations, in the field of disarmament, international humanitarian law, international criminal law, international terrorism (especially bioterrorism), international dispute settlement, rules of procedure and codes of conduct, for the participants in the Conference on Disarmament.

Implementation. By the Conference Support Branch (Geneva), the subdivisions of which include the secretariat of the Conference on Disarmament; the implementation support units of the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention and the Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons; and the secretariat of the Anti-Personnel Landmines Convention, in coordination with the United Nations Office at Geneva, UNIDIR, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), the Geneva International Centre for Humanitarian Demining, non-governmental organizations and other entities; financed under extrabudgetary resources, voluntary contributions from Member States and non-governmental organizations.

44. Office for Disarmament Affairs. Substantive support and coordination of activities mutually agreed upon by Member States for the implementation of measures for peace and disarmament in Asia and the Pacific (through the “Kathmandu process”; for example, establishment of the nuclear-weapon-free status of Mongolia; negotiation of the 2006 Treaty of Semipalatinsk; and regional controls over illicit trade in small arms and light weapons) and in Africa (for example, implementation of the African security sector reform programme, resulting in the adoption of a draft code of conduct for African armed security forces).

Implementation. By United Nations regional centres for peace and disarmament (for example, in Asia and the Pacific, in Africa), under their respective mandates (for example, General Assembly resolutions 42/39 D (Asia) and 40/151 G (Africa)), at the request of national Governments, in coordination with regional and subregional organizations (for example, the African Union), non-governmental organizations and donor countries; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

45. OHCHR. Promotion of the ratification and domestic incorporation of international legal instruments in the field of human rights in a peacebuilding situation, by developing a ratification strategy and raising awareness about outstanding human rights treaties, for the benefit of government officials (for example, Convention on the Rights of Migrant Workers and their Families, additional protocol to the African Charter on the Rights of Women and Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, for officials in Sierra Leone).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, the United Nations Integrated Office in Sierra Leone (UNIOSIL), under Security Council resolutions 1620 (2005) and 1734 (2006), in coordination with the United Nations country team and government agencies).

46. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Promotion of participation in conventions related to the work of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL), in particular in respect of sale of goods, dispute resolution, transport and electronic commerce, for the benefit of government officials (including policymakers, legislators, regulatory and implementing agencies), legal practitioners, academics, judges, parties to transactions and other stakeholders.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraphs 8 (b) and (c), as reaffirmed by General Assembly resolutions 62/64 and 62/65, in close coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section) and in coordination with multilateral (for example, the World Bank) and bilateral (Deutsche Gesellschaft für Technische Zusammenarbeit (GTZ) and the United States Agency for International Development (USAID)) aid agencies, local authorities (such as ministries) and organizations, international, regional or local, governmental and non-governmental (for example, chambers of commerce or arbitral institutions); financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

See also paragraphs 63 and 110 below.

47. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Promotion of uniform interpretation and implementation of conventions related to the work of UNCITRAL, through technical assistance activities (see paragraph 63 below), coordination and cooperation with other organizations active in the field (see paragraph 274 below), the collection and dissemination of information on the Case Law on UNCITRAL texts (CLOUT) (see paragraph 161 below), the publication of digests of case law, provision of relevant networks, forums and facilities, and management of the UNCITRAL website, in particular in respect of sale of goods, dispute resolution, transport and electronic commerce, for the benefit of government officials (including policymakers, legislators, regulatory and implementing agencies), legal practitioners, academics, judges, parties to transactions, and other stakeholders.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (d), in coordination with various entities (for example, the International Bar Association, the Permanent Court of Arbitration, and the International Council for Commercial Arbitration for the monitoring of the Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards (New York, 10 June 1958); CLOUT national correspondents and other experts in the field for CLOUT and digests of case law); financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

48. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Organization of, or participation in, treaty promotion events related to the work of UNCITRAL, through the provision of personnel, expertise, facilities and other logistical and organizational support, for the benefit of Member States.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II paragraph 8 (b) and (c), in close coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section) and other organizations where necessary; financed under the regular budget.

49. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Preparation, organization and execution of the annual treaty event and of its related publication to encourage wider participation in multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General, for the benefit of all States and international organizations.

Implementation. Since the millennium celebration in 2000 supported by Member States and, most recently, in the World Summit Outcome (General Assembly resolution 60/1, paragraph 134 (b)), in coordination with relevant entities within the United Nations, (such as the Department of Public Information, the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management) and Member States; financed under the regular budget.

50. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Promotion of participation in newly adopted multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General through the preparation of signature ceremonies; for the benefit of all States and international organizations.

Implementation. Under a mandate generally deriving from Article 98 of the Charter of the United Nations, express or implied approval of the organ recommending the adoption of the multilateral treaty in question, and the Secretary-General's bulletin on procedures to be followed by the departments, offices and regional commissions of the United Nations with regard to treaties and international agreements (ST/SGB/2001/7); in coordination with other departments, offices, units, etc., of the United Nations, such as the Department of Public Information, the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management, OHCHR, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime or the Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division), and Member States; financed under the regular budget.

51. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Promotion of the ratification and application of the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict, for the benefit of government officials.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolutions 51/77, paragraph 36; 54/149, paragraph 3; and 60/231, paragraph 36.

52. United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. Promotion of accession to certain international and regional instruments (such as the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol; the 1954 Convention relating to the Status of Stateless Persons; the 1961 Convention on the Reduction of Statelessness), through the preparation of accession packages, specific seminars and research, for the benefit of legislators and government officials.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolutions 428 (v), chapter II, paragraph 8 (a); 49/169, paragraph 20, and 50/152, paragraph 15 (in coordination with the Inter-Parliamentary Union in the preparation of a handbook on statelessness and discussions on good practices in addressing statelessness issues).

1.3. Activities relating to the provision of technical assistance or advice on international law matters

53. International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia. Capacity-building and completion strategy initiatives, through the sharing of expertise with those involved in the development of other international courts, such as the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda, the International Criminal Court, the Special Court for Sierra Leone, for the benefit of national judges and judicial systems.

Implementation. Under Security Council resolutions 1503 (2003) and 1534 (2004), in coordination with international criminal tribunals; financed under the regular budget and voluntary contributions of Member States.

54. Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs. Organization of workshops on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, for the benefit of government authorities, national security forces, United Nations agencies, non-governmental organizations and civil society actors.

Implementation. At the request of United Nations country teams and humanitarian coordinators through the Office, in collaboration with partner agencies and the resident coordinator/humanitarian coordinator and under the supervision of informal task forces; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

55. Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs. Protection Standby Capacity (PROCAP): training and deployment of protection advisers in the field of international humanitarian law and human rights, in order to provide guidance on developing comprehensive protection frameworks to strengthen the protection of civilians (including displaced persons and other vulnerable groups) in a conflict or post-conflict situation, for the benefit of United Nations country teams and their partners (including government counterparts).

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 46/182, at the request of United Nations country teams or the resident coordinator/humanitarian coordinator, in partnership with the Norwegian Refugee Council; financed by the Norwegian Refugee Council and multiple donors under extrabudgetary funding.

56. OHCHR. Provision of support on the rights of indigenous peoples (for example, promotion of the rights of indigenous peoples in Africa within the framework of the Second International Decade of the World's Indigenous Peoples prior to the forty-second session of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights (October 2007)).

Implementation. Co-organized with the International Work Group for Indigenous Affairs, the Indigenous Peoples of Africa Coordinating Committee, the working group on indigenous populations/communities of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights; financed with the Spanish Agency for International Cooperation.

57. OHCHR. Technical assistance in the ratification of international human rights instruments, in a post-conflict situation (for example, OHCHR in Angola, UNTOP in Tajikistan), for the benefit of ministries of foreign affairs, national stakeholders relevant for the ratification process, and non-governmental organizations.

Implementation. At the request of Member States, upon recommendation of the human rights officer (in coordination with UNDP, Swedish International Development Agency and national counterparts in Tajikistan); financed under the regular budget (Angola) and extrabudgetary resources (Tajikistan).

58. OHCHR. Support for special procedures mechanisms (related to adequate housing, arbitrary detention, children and armed conflict, human rights and economic reform or debt, disappearances, education, food, freedom of expression, freedom of religion, summary executions, human rights defenders, independence of judges and lawyers, indigenous people, internally displaced persons, mercenaries, migrants, minority issues, poverty, racism, sale of children, terrorism, torture, toxic waste, trafficking and violence against women), for the benefit of mandate holders and working groups of the Human Rights Council.

Implementation. By the special procedures of the Human Rights Council; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

59. OHCHR (Southern African regional office). Harmonization of national, regional and international norms and standards protecting human rights, (for example, in southern Africa), by strengthening capacity of national and regional institutions to ratify and implement international human rights frameworks through advocacy missions and capacity development, with a focus on policy development, description of the work of treaty bodies, domestic application of international norms and standards, and adoption of national human rights action plans and strategies, for the benefit of government officials, regional partners and United Nations country teams.

Implementation. In coordination with UNDP and its offices in related countries.

60. OLA (Codification Division). Preparation of in-depth analytical studies on various subjects of public international law for legal bodies, in particular the International Law Commission, such as:

(a) Historical Review of Developments relating to Aggression (United Nations publication, Sales No. E.03.V.10);

(b) Survey of liability regimes relevant to the topic of international liability for injurious consequences arising out of acts not prohibited by international law (international liability in case of loss from transboundary harm arising out of hazardous activities) (A/CN.4/543);

(c) The effects of armed conflict on treaties: an examination of practice and doctrine: memorandum by the Secretariat (A/CN.4/550 and Corr.1 and Corr.2);

(d) Expulsion of aliens: memorandum by the Secretariat (A/CN.4/565 and Corr.1);

(e) Protection of persons in the event of disasters: memorandum by the Secretariat (2008) (A/CN.4/590);

(f) Immunity of State officials from foreign criminal jurisdiction: memorandum by the Secretariat (2008) (A/CN.4/596).

Implementation. Under Article 13 of the Charter of the United Nations, General Assembly resolutions 174 (II), and 62/66, in cooperation with Member States, international organizations, and academic institutions as appropriate; financed under the regular budget.

61. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Providing advice and support to relevant international organizations (for example, International Maritime Organization (IMO), United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization/Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (UNESCO/IOC), the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), UNHCR, UNEP, UNU, the secretariat of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora, secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity, and regional fisheries management organizations and arrangements), in order to ensure consistency between instruments and programmes in their respective areas of competence and the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and its implementation agreements, through the participation in meetings, the preparation or review of documents, and periodic studies.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolutions 37/66, 49/28, and 52/26, in conformity with ST/SGB/2006/12 (section 8.2 (a), (c) and (f)); financed under the regular budget, or by the inviting entity, where applicable.

62. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Assistance to regional organizations with implementation of their programmes in respect of international trade law (including sale of goods, insolvency, dispute resolution, transport, electronic commerce, procurement and secured transactions), for the benefit of regional organizations, their member States, regional legal practitioners, academics, judges, arbitrators (for example, assistance to organizations with regional legal reforms, in the drafting of their internal rules (such as arbitration rules for arbitration centres) and of uniform rules for use in the region (such as uniform rules for the Organization for the Harmonization of Business Law in Africa)).

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (b), (c), (d) and (e), at the request of the regional organizations; financed under budgetary and extrabudgetary resources, UNCITRAL Trust Fund for Symposia, and other sponsoring institutions.

63. OLA (International Trade Law Division). Technical assistance for law reforms in the field of international trade law, including through assistance to Governments with review of existing legislation and assessment of needs for law reforms in the commercial field, assistance with drafting of national legislation to implement international trade law texts, including international conventions, advice and assistance to international and other organizations and agencies, professional associations, organizations of attorneys, chambers of commerce and arbitration centres on the use of UNCITRAL texts and other international commercial law instruments; for the benefit of government officials (including policymakers, legislators, regulatory and implementing agencies), legal practitioners, academics, judges, parties to transactions and other stakeholders.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (b), (c), (d) and (e), as reaffirmed by General Assembly resolution 62/64; at the request of Governments, organizations and other entities, in coordination and cooperation with national authorities, international and regional organizations (for example, aid agencies), individual experts, and non-governmental organizations; financed under extrabudgetary resources (including voluntary contributions to the UNCITRAL Trust Fund for Symposia and joint projects with other sponsoring institutions).

64. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Provision of advice on treaty law and practice, inter alia, in respect of issues of succession, denunciation of treaties, deposit of late reservations, the time limit for objections, treaty-making capacity of international organizations and entities other than States, accepting the depositary functions in respect of multilateral treaties, including those not concluded under United Nations auspices, dealing with the issue of name changes of States and their impact on the depositary practice, and notifying the signatories and contracting parties of errors in authentic texts and communicating proposals to correct them; for the benefit of international organizations, Governments, United Nations offices, bodies, etc., and treaty secretariats.

Implementation. Under a mandate generally deriving from Article 98 of the Charter of the United Nations, express or implied approval of the organ recommending the adoption of the multilateral treaty in question, General Assembly resolution 24 (1) and the Secretary-General's bulletin on procedures to be followed by the departments, offices and regional commissions of the United Nations with regard to treaties and international agreements (ST/SGB/2001/7); financed under the regular budget.

65. Office of Legal Affairs (Treaty Section). Contribution to the drafting of new multilateral treaties to be deposited with the Secretary-General through the provision of advice on final clauses, for the benefit of all States and international organizations.

Implementation. Under a mandate generally deriving from Article 98 of the Charter of the United Nations, express or implied approval of the organ recommending the adoption of the multilateral treaty in question, General Assembly resolution 24 (1) and the Secretary-General's bulletin on procedures to be followed by the departments, offices and regional commissions of the United Nations with regard to treaties and international agreements (ST/SGB/2001/7); financed under the regular budget.

66. United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Capacity-building for effective participation in trade negotiations, through the Joint Integrated Technical Assistance Programme to Selected Least Developed and Other African Countries, for the benefit of ministries dealing with World Trade Organization (WTO) accession, lawyers, academics and research institutions; non-governmental organizations and the private sector affected by international trade rules and their implementation at the domestic level.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 108, in cooperation with the International Trade Centre UNCTAD/WTO and WTO; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

67. UNCTAD (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Assistance to developing countries in managing the interface between multilateral and regional trade rules with a view to maximizing development benefits (for example, through research and analysis, meetings (both intergovernmental and others) and technical assistance), for the benefit of ministries dealing with international trade (both, regionally and multilaterally), lawyers, academics, research institutions; non-governmental organizations and private sector affected by rules and negotiations on international trade.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 96, at the request of Member States; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

68. UNCTAD (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Provision of technical assistance in institution- and capacity-building with a view to supporting regional negotiation, as well as building a coherent and mutually supportive approach for the relevant region in interregional and multilateral trade negotiations (for example, assistance to the Southern African Development Community secretariat, negotiating machinery and government officials in initiating and conducting negotiations on trade in services (including the development of a Southern African Development Community protocol on services trade)), for the benefit of ministries dealing with international trade or services, lawyers, academics and research institutions; and non-governmental organizations and the private sector affected by rules and negotiations on international trade.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 96 (at the request of the Southern African Development Community member States, Southern African Development Community secretariat); financed under extrabudgetary resources.

69. UNCTAD (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Assistance to developing countries in participating in the negotiation and implementation of international trade rules, especially in the area of competition policy (for example, through research and analysis, meetings (intergovernmental and others) and technical assistance), for the benefit of government officials, diplomats, national judges, competition experts and agencies, and non-governmental organizations engaged in the promotion of competition and consumer protection.

Implementation. By the Competition and Consumer Politics Branch, under General Assembly resolution 35/63 (see also the Set of Multilaterally Agreed Equitable Principles and Rules for the Control of Restrictive Business Practices, (TD/RBP/CONF/10/Rev.2)); financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

70. UNCTAD (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Assistance to countries acceding to WTO by sensitizing them on the development dimension of the WTO agreements, the challenges and opportunities of the multilateral trading system, and their rights and obligations in the accession process, for the benefit of ministries dealing with WTO accession, lawyers, academics, research institutions; and non-governmental organizations and the private sector affected by WTO accession.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 98, upon request of individual acceding countries (UNCTAD assistance being demand-driven and targeted to their specific needs); financed under extrabudgetary resources, supported by regular budget.

71. UNCTAD (Division on Investment, Technology and Enterprise Development). Assistance in the international transfer of technology, by providing substantive support to negotiators at WTO (especially the Working Group on Trade and Transfer of Technology), and by providing policymakers and researchers with materials and case studies on technology transfer to identify and disseminate successful cases of technology transfer and emerging global technological regimes.

Implementation. Under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 52; Bangkok Plan of Action (TD/386), paragraph 118; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

72. UNCTAD (Division for Services Infrastructure for Development and Trade Efficiency). Provision of legal technical advice and participation in relevant forums for the negotiation of legal instruments related to transport, trade facilitation and development issues (for example, participation in UNCITRAL working group III (transport law), high-level task force on the implementation of the right to development, in the United Nations Open-ended Informal Consultative Process on Oceans and the Law of the Sea, in various Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) working groups/parties, in the WTO negotiating group on trade facilitation, etc.), for the benefit of experts, government officials, civil servants, diplomats, academics, students, professional associations and academic institutions.

Implementation. Under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraphs 59, 93 and 107; Bangkok Plan of Action (TD/386), paragraph 150, in coordination with relevant entities (as mentioned above); financed under the regular budget extrabudgetary resources.

73. United Nations Democracy Fund. Support in the ratification and monitoring of treaties in the field of human rights and the fight against corruption (including by increasing knowledge of African parliaments about human rights treaties, assisting in the preparation of country reports to the treaty bodies, and supporting a global coalition of experts to develop a set of global standards that clarify some provisions of the United Nations Convention against Corruption).

Implementation. In collaboration with UNDP; financed with voluntary contributions by Member States.

74. UNEP. Legal support in negotiation of, or in conferences of the parties to, global and regional environmental conventions (particularly in matters involving shared resources), for example, by advising Governments on the importance of including provisions for notification and sharing of information as a way of avoiding disputes and keeping each other informed on matters that can affect areas beyond each others' jurisdiction.

Implementation. Under UNEP Governing Council decision 21/23, in coordination with secretariats of the relevant conventions; financed under the Environment Fund and extrabudgetary resources.

75. UNHCR. Advocacy and capacity-building for the dissemination and promotion of international refugee law and standards relating to statelessness as well as their practical implementation (based on a strong presence in the field and participation in a number of (standing) national and regional coordination and consultation processes), for the benefit of Governments, non-governmental organizations, and academic partners.

Implementation. 221. UNITAR. Organization of workshops on the domestic implementation of treaties and international environmental law for government and other public officials and university students (for example, in Dushanbe, 2006).

Implementation: At the request of national Government (for example, the Ministry of Justice of Tajikistan), in coordination with local authorities (for example, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs), financed under extrabudgetary resources.

222. Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States. Organization of an annual workshop for the national focal points from the least developed countries (for example, the 2005 Annual workshop on governance in least developed countries: challenges and opportunities) as part of strengthening of the effective national implementation of the Brussels Declaration (A/CONF.191/12) and the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010 (A/CONF.191/11) endorsed by General Assembly resolution 55/279, including Commitment 2 on good governance at the national and international levels, which includes, inter alia, commitments to strengthen the rule of law, as well as respect for all internationally recognized human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Implementation. In coordination with funds, programmes and organizations throughout the United Nations system, financed within existing resources (except for travel and per diem of participants).

2.3. Activities relating to monitoring, collection of information and/or reporting on the domestic implementation of international law

223. OHCHR. Provision of assistance and technical support on reporting obligations under ratified international human rights treaties (for example, in Sierra Leone, by developing a reporting strategy, raising awareness about outstanding treaties, training and capacity-building of relevant government ministries, facilitating the nomination of human rights focal points in each ministry, and the involvement of non-governmental organizations in the reporting process, developing manuals with practical information and guidelines on how to draft State reports, ensuring follow-ups with the Government on the implementation of concluding observations and recommendations of treaty bodies, etc.), for the benefit of Governments (for example, through a reporting project undertaken jointly with UNDP in Afghanistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNIOSIL, in coordination with the United Nations country team and government agencies; financed under the action 2 initiative of the Secretary-General (A/57/387).

224. OHCHR. Strengthening of partnership with existing regional and national initiatives on monitoring, promotion, and protection of human rights: focus on strengthening capacity of government officials on monitoring and reporting mechanisms (for example, in Southern Africa), for the benefit of government officials and United Nations country team human rights focal points.

Implementation. By OHCHR regional office (for example, Southern Africa Regional Office), in collaboration with UNDP national offices, financed under OHCHR and UNDP budgets.

225. OHCHR (Treaties and Commission Branch). Substantive support to six of the seven treaty bodies monitoring the implementation of the core human rights instruments, including the individual complaints procedures.

Implementation. Financed under regular and extrabudgetary resources.

226. OLA (Codification Division). Collection and dissemination of information on implementation and alleged violations of international law in the fields of diplomatic and consular relations, and international terrorism.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolutions 61/31 (diplomatic and consular relations) and 49/60 (international terrorism); financed under the regular budget.

227. OLA (International Trade Law Division). Monitoring of the legislative interpretation of the Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards (New York, 10 June 1958) through the preparation of studies, digests and reports to UNCITRAL, based on information provided by Governments, as well as the provision of assistance (networks, forums and facilities for monitoring, reporting, disseminating information and promoting uniform interpretation and implementation of texts).

Implementation. By the UNCITRAL secretariat, under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (d) and (e), in cooperation with Member States and other entities (for example, the International Bar Association, the Permanent Court of Arbitration and the International Council for Commercial Arbitration); financed under the regular budget.

228. OLA (International Trade Law Division). Monitoring of the adoption, or enactment of domestic legislation on the basis, of UNCITRAL texts and dissemination of the relevant information, including by posting it on the UNCITRAL website and issuing annual reports to UNCITRAL on the status of conventions and model laws, based on information provided by Governments or collected by the International Trade Law Division from other sources, such as the networks of national correspondents, experts and available public sources.

Implementation. By the UNCITRAL secretariat, under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (e), in cooperation with Member States and other entities; financed under the regular budget.

229. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Assessment of the domestic implementation of Security Council resolutions concerning child protection in situations of armed conflict, through country visits, consultations with national authorities and recommendations for targeted action and measures to address systematic and grave violations against children.

Implementation. Pursuant to the relevant Security Council resolutions (for example, resolutions 1539 (2004) and 1612 (2005)), in coordination with UNICEF, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, Governments and United Nations missions in the relevant countries.

230. UN-Habitat (Housing Policy Section-Advisory Group on Forced Evictions). Provision of advisory and mediation services to support local and national Governments in Member States to adhere to international housing rights legislation and promote application of relevant housing rights instruments and eviction guidelines, including through the identification, monitoring and documentation of cases of forced eviction in Member States.

Implementation. Under article 7 of UN-Habitat Governing Council resolution 19/5, in the context of the Global Campaign for Secure Tenure, in cooperation with relevant organizations of members of the Advisory Group on Forced Evictions and the Advisory Group support network; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

231. UNHCR. Monitoring and reporting on domestic implementation of asylum legislation, including by reviewing legislative provisions and commenting on reform measures, intervening in precedent-setting or leading asylum cases, direct involvement with State actors in refugee status determination proceedings, and engaging in close dialogue with government officials and other actors to ensure that international refugee law standards are adhered to.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR statutory mandate.

2.4. Activities relating to dissemination (preparation of manuals, model rules and use of other means as general guidelines) concerning the domestic implementation of international law

232. Department of Economic and Social Affairs. Convening and leading the inter-agency support group tasked with preparing a strategy for the implementation of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

Implementation. By the secretariat of the Convention, pursuant to General Assembly resolution 61/106 and following the report of the High-level Committee on Programmes at its twelfth session (CEB/2006/7), in coordination with FAO, ILO, UNDP, UNESCO, UNICEF, WHO and the World Bank, financed under the regular budget.

233. Department of Political Affairs (Office of the United Nations Special Coordinator for the Middle East Peace Process). Participation in the judicial and legislative reform support groups: providing input into the agenda of the meetings of the judicial reform support group, participating in those meetings, monitoring progress of the justice sector of the Palestinian Reform and Development Plan within the framework of the local development forum and the local donor coordination forum, and keeping abreast of developments in the legal and judicial sector; specific objectives include upgrading civil and criminal justice infrastructure, building the capacity of the unit created within the police force tasked with enforcing court decisions and protecting judges and court employees, automation of processes and archiving systems and provision of dedicated facilities in the West Bank and Gaza to provide training and continuous professional development for judges and justice sector employees, including a judicial training institute; for the benefit of justice sector employees, judges, and the general public.

Implementation. By UNSCO, based on General Assembly resolution 48/213 of 21 December 1993, the Quartet Performance-based Roadmap to a Permanent Two-State Solution to the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict (S/2003/529) and Security Council resolution 1515 (2003) endorsing the Roadmap, on the recommendation by UNSCO via the international donor coordination mechanisms and the Palestinian Reform and Development Plan.

234. OHCHR. Legal analysis in needs assessment or contingency planning missions to frame an ongoing human rights/international humanitarian law situation and analyse how the situation may evolve, to ensure an appropriate OHCHR and United Nations response, including early warning.

Implementation. By OHCHR geographic desks, the Peace Missions Support and Rapid Response Unit and the Rule of Law and Democracy Unit, financed under the regular budget.

235. OHCHR. Publication of a fact sheet on human rights, terrorism and counter-terrorism, with the aim of enhancing understanding of the relationship between human rights and terrorism, for the benefit of national authorities, national and international non-governmental organizations, national human rights institutions, legal practitioners, etc.

Implementation. Under Commission on Human Rights resolution 2005/80 and General Assembly resolution 60/158, in consultation with relevant United Nations partners.

236. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Preparation of guides to enactment of model laws, and explanatory notes and commentaries to model legislative provisions, legal and legislative guides and other instruments prepared by UNCITRAL, as well as to the Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards (New York, 1958), aimed at facilitating the domestic implementation of UNCITRAL instruments and the New York Convention.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (b), (c), (d) and (e), and specific mandates by UNCITRAL, in consultation with individual experts and relevant organizations active in the field (for example, the World Bank); financed under the regular budget.

237. UNCTAD (Division for Services Infrastructure for Development and Trade Efficiency). Dissemination of information in the field of transport law, for example:

(a) Collection and dissemination of information on national implementation of international conventions in the field of transport and maritime law negotiated under the auspices of UNCTAD, for the benefit of experts, government and other public officials, diplomats, academics, students and professional associations (for example, on the use of transport documents in international trade, on multimodal transport, on the implementation of the International Convention on Maritime Liens and Mortgages, 1993, and the International Convention on Arrest of Ships, 1999);

(b) Development of training material in the field of transport law, including multimodal transport and trade facilitation (for example, Customs and transit conventions affecting multimodal transport (2005 CD-ROM)) for the benefit of experts, government and other public officials, diplomats, academics, students and professional associations.

Implementation. Under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraphs 59, 60, 107 and 108, and the Bangkok Plan of Action (TD/386), paragraphs 104, 149, 150 and 152; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

238. UNEP. Organization of intergovernmental consultative processes for the adoption of guidelines in the field of national enforcement of laws to implement multilateral environmental agreements (for example, Guidelines for compliance with and enforcement of multilateral environmental agreements, adopted by UNEP Governing Council decision SSVII/4) to assist Governments, their competent authorities, enforcement agencies, secretariats of multilateral environmental agreements, where appropriate, and other relevant international and regional organizations in developing tools, mechanisms and techniques in this regard. Follow-up on the implementation of such guidelines through the preparation and dissemination of complementary tools (for example, Manual on the use of and further elaboration of the guidelines).

Implementation. Under a mandate from the UNEP Governing Council (for example, Governing Council decision 21/23, Governing Council/Global Ministerial Environment Forum decision SS/VII/4 and Governing Council decision 23/1), at the request of Governments, in coordination with UNDP, the secretariats of the relevant conventions and regional partners, financed under environment funds and extrabudgetary resources.

239. UNEP. Development of a programme to assist States in the implementation of chemicals related conventions.

Implementation. Under a mandate from the UNEP Governing Council (Governing Council decision 21/23, Governing Council/Global Ministerial Environment Forum decision SS/VII/4 and Governing Council decision 23/1), at the request of Governments, in coordination with UNDP, the secretariats of the relevant conventions and regional partners, financed under environment funds and extrabudgetary resources.

240. UN-Habitat. Development of global mechanism for measuring the progressive realization of housing rights enabling stakeholders (international human rights monitoring bodies, national Governments, housing rights advocates and experts) to assess progress in the full and progressive realization of housing rights.

Implementation. Under Commission on Human Settlements resolutions 16/7 of 7 May 1997 and 2001/28, and a request by the Governing Council of UN-Habitat, as part of the United Nations Housing Rights Programme, a joint initiative of UN-Habitat and OHCHR; financed under extrabudgetary resources (funding from Member States for the benefit of the Global Campaign for Secure Tenure).

241. UNHCR. Preparation and dissemination of translations into local languages of certain international legal instruments, regional and national legislation, precedent-setting court cases, and other documents related to standards, for the benefit of government and other public officials, parliamentarians, non-governmental organizations and the academic community.

Implementation. By UNHCR regional or country offices, in consultation with national authorities, academic partners and non-governmental organizations, financed under the respective budgets.

242. UNICRI. Elaboration of research projects on criminal law matters (for example, intelligence sharing in the European Union to fight terrorism, mapping the European intelligence community and recommending strategies to improve cooperation within the European Union, for national intelligence officers and security services and officers from European information agencies).

Implementation. Under the general mandate of article II of the UNICRI Statute, with monitoring by UNICRI and other entities (for example, Compagnia di San Paolo) and coordination with public entities (for example, Europol), financed under voluntary contributions (for example, by the Compagnia di San Paolo, as part of the European foreign and security policy studies programme).

243. UNITAR. Preparation of national profiles and of other instruments to strengthen the domestic implementation of international obligations (for example, preparation of national profiles, priority-setting and action plan development to implement principle 10 of the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development in Central America; preparation of national profiles to assess and strengthen national capacities related to the implementation of the Convention on Access to Information, Public Participation in Decision-making and Access to Justice in Environmental Matters (Aarhus, 25 June 1998) for the benefit of government officials.

Implementation. Under the general mandate of UNITAR, at the request of the relevant Governments, in coordination with regional economic commissions (ECE, ECLAC) and other entities (for example, Central American Commission on Environment and Development), financed under extrabudgetary resources and voluntary contributions of Member States.

244. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. Preparation of manuals, model rules, etc. for the domestic implementation of international law in criminal law matters (for example, draft model law on mutual assistance in criminal matters, model legislation on the Trafficking Protocol, organization of an intergovernmental expert group to develop a model legislation on the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, and an intergovernmental expert group to develop regulations and procedures on international legal cooperation).

Implementation. Under the relevant international instrument and General Assembly and Economic and Social Council resolutions mandating the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to provide assistance in the area of transnational organized crime and corruption, financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

2.5. Activities relating to the provision of technical assistance in the preparation of national legal instruments for the domestic implementation of international law

245. Department of Economic and Social Affairs (Division for Public Administration and Development Management). Technical support to administrative institutions in the preparation of a manual for human rights sensitization and support for the harmonization of national legislation with international conventions (for example, in Mauritania).

Implementation. At the request of UNDP and the relevant government (Mauritania), under a letter of agreement, in partnership with UNDP and national authorities (Ministry of Economic Affairs and Development), financed under extrabudgetary resources (UNDP).

246. Department of Political Affairs. Technical assistance in the harmonization of national criminal law with international treaties, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in the Central African Republic).

Implementation. By the human rights section of the relevant field mission (for example, BONUCA in the Central African Republic), under its general mandate, in coordination with national authorities (for example, the ministries of justice and the civil service), financed under the budget of the field mission and OHCHR.

247. Department of Political Affairs. Technical assistance in the preparation and bringing into compliance with international human rights standards of draft national legislation assistance for purposes of implementing international law standards, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field mission (for example, UNTOP), under its general mandate, at the request of the host country authorities on the recommendation of the human rights officer, jointly with the OHCHR regional office and in coordination with national authorities (for example, the Office of Constitutional Guarantees of Citizens' Rights under the President of Tajikistan, Ministry of Justice), foreign organizations (for example, the Swedish International Development Agency) and international entities (UNDP, Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women); financed under extrabudgetary resources.

248. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Support in the drafting and revision of legislation and in constitutional reform: see paragraph 359 below.

249. ECA. Provision of substantive support for the implementation of the Programme of Action for implementing the Declaration on Democracy, Political, Economic and Corporate Governance from the African Peer Review Mechanism through assistance to countries and organization of review missions.

Implementation. In collaboration with the African Peer Review Mechanism secretariat, UNDP and the African Development Bank, financed under extrabudgetary resources.

250. Office for Disarmament Affairs. Assessment of norms and legislation, through the establishment of a database platform and organization of subregional and regional workshops, to assist States to assess the status of their national legislation on weapons of mass destruction and their delivery vehicles, identify new coordination and cooperation opportunities and propose solutions to any problems that might hamper their work undertaken either individually or jointly (for example, in Latin America and the Caribbean).

Implementation: By the relevant regional centre (for example, the Regional Centre for Peace, Disarmament and Development in Latin America and the Caribbean), under its general mandate (for example, General Assembly resolution 43/76 H for the Regional Centre) and specific mandate (Assembly resolution 59/74, paragraph 9), in coordination with the Office for Disarmament Affairs (Regional Disarmament Branch); financed under extrabudgetary resources.

251. OHCHR. Provision of advice to States on an appropriate constitutional or legislative framework regarding new national human rights institutions and on their nature, functions, powers and responsibilities, including through comparative analyses, technical cooperation, needs assessments, project formulation and evaluation missions (for example, in Angola, Belgium, Burundi, Cambodia, Chile, the Comoros, Côte d'Ivoire, France, Italy, Iraq, Kosovo, Lesotho, the Maldives, Nepal, Nigeria, Pakistan, Serbia, Sierra Leone, Sri Lanka, the Sudan, Tajikistan, Timor-Leste, the United Kingdom (regarding Scotland), Uruguay and Zimbabwe).

Implementation. At the request of the relevant national authorities, frequently in collaboration with other United Nations partners (for example, UNDP and the Department of Peacekeeping Operations) and regional networks of national human rights institutions.

252. OHCHR. Provision of assistance in the domestic implementation of international human rights instruments, for example:

(a) Advisory services for the harmonization of domestic laws with the international human rights standards (for example, meetings, lobbying and advice provided to the Law Reform Commission, Ministry of Justice and the Parliament in Sierra Leone; review of prison laws in Sierra Leone; review and recommendations on Nepali national legislation; and review of drafts and trainings in view of the elaboration of a law on indigenous peoples in the Republic of the Congo); implemented by the relevant field office (for example, the United Nations Integrated Office in Sierra Leone and OHCHR-Nepal), under different mandates (for example, mandate from the Security Council, the Peace Consolidation Strategy, the poverty reduction strategy and recommendations from the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in Sierra Leone; agreement between the High Commissioner and the Government of Nepal), in coordination with United Nations entities (for example, UNDP, UNIFEM, UNICEF, ILO) and non-United Nations agencies (for example, ICRC, the Justice Sector Development Project and human rights non-governmental organizations);

(b) Provision of assistance and advice on national compliance (for example, national legislation, publications, guidelines) with international human rights standards for the benefit of States Parties and international organizations;

(c) Deployment of staff members in national administrations to provide technical assistance for the domestic implementation of human rights treaty obligations on a short or midterm basis, for the benefit of the Government, national human rights institutions and non-governmental organizations (for example, in Afghanistan, Chile, Guyana, the Russian Federation, Sri Lanka, and Timor-Leste); implemented by the Treaties and Commission Branch and the Capacity-building and Field Operations Branch at the request of the relevant national authorities, under a general mandate from the General Assembly, financed under extrabudgetary resources and the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Technical Cooperation.

253. OHCHR. Participation in the Arab-European Human Rights Dialogue organized by the Danish Institute for Human Rights and the Jordan National Centre for Human Rights, held in Amman, Jordan in April 2007; aimed at assisting Arab and European national institutions to better address the threats posed to human rights by both terrorism and counter-terrorism national legislation.

254. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Providing advice, assistance and information to Member States to facilitate their implementation and uniform application of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and its implementing agreements.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolutions 37/66, 49/28 and 52/26 (mandate renewed on an annual basis in General Assembly resolutions on oceans and the law of the sea), and the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, at the request of Member States, financed under the regular budget within existing resources.

255. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Assistance in enacting national legislation based on UNCITRAL model laws, including on international commercial arbitration and conciliation, electronic commerce and cross-border insolvency, and assistance with the assessment of needs in international trade law reforms.

Implementation. By the UNCITRAL secretariat, with assistance from the requesting Government or organization, under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (b), (c), (d) and (e), as reaffirmed by subsequent resolutions on UNCITRAL (for example, resolution 62/64), in coordination with multilateral (for example, the World Bank) and bilateral (GTZ and USAID) aid agencies, national authorities (such as government ministries) and various international, national and regional organizations, both governmental and non-governmental; financed under extrabudgetary resources (voluntary contributions to the UNCITRAL Trust Fund for Symposia and joint projects with other sponsoring institutions).

256. UNAIDS. Technical assistance and support to conduct policy reviews, advocate for law reform, carry out public education campaigns and develop legislation in the areas of HIV and women's property and inheritance rights.

257. UNCTAD (Division on International Trade in Goods and Services, and Commodities). Assistance to countries acceding to WTO in adapting their legal framework with a view to complying with WTO obligations, for the benefit of ministries dealing with WTO accession, lawyers, academics, research institutions, non-governmental organizations and the private sector affected by WTO accession.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 98, upon request of individual acceding countries (UNCTAD assistance being demand-driven and targeted to their specific needs); financed under extrabudgetary resources, supported by the regular budget.

258. UNCTAD (Division for Services Infrastructure for Development and Trade Efficiency). Provision of legal advice on the implementation of international maritime and multimodal transport law requirements at the national level, as well as the establishment of regulatory and legal frameworks; backstopping technical assistance projects involving the preparation of national legislation in the above-mentioned areas, including, as required, reviewing draft proposed legislation, providing substantive comments and advice, particularly with reference to international regulatory instruments in the field and their effective implementation at the national level; and assisting in improving customs performance and transit of cargo.

Implementation. Under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraphs 59, 60, 107 and 108, and the Bangkok Plan of Action (TD/386), paragraphs 104, 149, 150 and 152; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

259. United Nations Democracy Fund. Assistance for adhesion and implementation of United Nations treaties for the protection of human rights, the rights of women and the fight against corruption, notably for the benefit of emerging democracies.

Implementation. In coordination with UNDP, financed by voluntary contributions from Member States.

260. UNEP. Advisory services and technical assistance programme for the domestic implementation of international environmental agreements (for example, the Ramsar Convention on Wetlands, the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora, the Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Wastes and their Disposal, as well as conventions and protocols relating to biodiversity and biosafety), including through the convening of expert meetings (for example, the Colombo Process for the implementation of multilateral environmental agreements), for the benefit of government (ministries of environment and justice) and other public officials (environmental protection agencies, customs officials and police).

Implementation. Under a mandate from the UNEP Governing Council (for example, Governing Council decision 21/23, Governing Council/Global Ministerial Environment Forum decision SS/VII/4 and Governing Council decision 23/1), at the request of national Governments, in coordination with UNDP, secretariats of the conventions and regional partners; financed under environment funds and extrabudgetary resources.

261. UNFPA. 2.6. Activities relating to the general promotion of the domestic implementation of international law

266. Department of Political Affairs General promotion of human rights standards and encouragement of national adherence to international instruments in the field, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNTOP), under its general mandate, at the request of the Member State on the recommendation of the human rights officer, jointly with the UNDP and OHCHR regional office, in coordination with national authorities (for example, the Office for Constitutional Guarantees of Citizens' Rights under the President of Tajikistan, Ministry of Justice), international bodies (for example, the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women), foreign entities (for example, the Swedish International Development Agency) and non-governmental organizations; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

267. ECA. Organization of the African Civil Society Forum (2008) to assist African non-governmental organizations and associations in their involvement with the work of the United Nations and their implementation of good governance.

Implementation. Under the ECA African Development Forum IV, on the initiative of the ECA secretariat and the Conference of NGOs in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CONGO), in coordination with subregional offices, CONGO, the African Women's Development and Communication Network (FEMNET), the African Union, etc.; financed under extrabudgetary resources.

268. Office for Disarmament Affairs. Promotion of compliance with measures against the proliferation or terrorist acquisition of weapons of mass destruction, including through the organization of subregional workshops and other outreach activities, with emphasis on reporting, assistance and promoting awareness of requirements under the resolution.

Implementation. Under Security Council resolution 1540 (2004), in consultation with the Chairman of the 1540 Committee; financed under the regular budget.

2.7. Activities relating to the provision of material and logistical support in the domestic implementation of international law

269. Department of Political Affairs. Establishment of a peacekeeping group within the Ministry of Interior to participate in United Nations peacekeeping operations, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field mission (for example, UNTOP), under its general mandate, in coordination with the national training centres (the Swedish, Hungarian peacekeeping training centres, Russian peacekeeping training centres), financed under extrabudgetary resources (for example, the Swedish International Development Agency, the Embassy of the United Kingdom in Tajikistan, and the British Council).

270. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Maintenance and further development of the geographic information management services (relating to the work of the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf, and the provision of advice and assistance to States in connection with the monitoring of State practice vis-à-vis the implementation of various aspects of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea): see paragraph 187 above.

271. UNHCR. Provision of direct protection and assistance measures, including substitutive measures to meet basic survival needs, including conduct of refugee status determination procedures, resettlement of refugees, camp management, provision of care and maintenance and other humanitarian assistance, in situations where host Governments are unable or unwilling to fully secure the human rights of refugees and other persons of concern, or in the absence of a functioning national asylum system.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR general mandate, frequently in consultation with the relevant Government, financed under the UNHCR country programme budget.

2.8. Activities relating to the strengthening of coordination and cooperation for the domestic implementation of international law

272. OHCHR. Joint initiative on gender, human rights and HIV/AIDS: see paragraph 192 above.

273. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Participation in the administration of the Assistance Fund Under Part VII of the Agreement for the Implementation of the Provisions of United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982 relating to the Conservation and Management of Straddling Fish Stocks and Highly Migratory Fish Stocks, which provides assistance in the implementation of the United Nations Fish Stocks Agreement (facilitating participation of representatives from developing States Parties in the meetings and activities of relevant regional and subregional fisheries management organizations and arrangements; assistance with travel costs associated with the participation of these States Parties in relevant meetings concerning high seas fisheries of relevant global organizations; support for negotiations aimed at establishing new regional or subregional fisheries management organizations and arrangements; capacity-building for activities in key areas such as effective exercise of flag State responsibilities, monitoring, control and surveillance, data collection and scientific research relevant to straddling and highly migratory fish stocks on a national or regional level).

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 58/14 and article 26 of Part VII of the United Nations Fish Stocks Agreement, at the request of States Parties to the Agreement, jointly with the Assistance Fund, in collaboration with the FAO secretariat; the Fund is financed with voluntary contributions (from States, intergovernmental organizations, international financial institutions, national institutions and non-governmental organizations, as well as natural and legal persons).

274. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Coordinating the work of organizations active in the field of international trade law and encouraging cooperation among them, through preparation and submission to UNCITRAL of surveys of activities of other organizations in the field of international trade law, holding or participating at coordination meetings (for example, regular meetings with UNIDROIT and the Hague Conference on Private International Law at the level of the heads of the respective secretariats), participation in the related work of other organizations (such as the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime on the issues of commercial fraud and on anti-corruption aspects in public procurement) and involving other organizations in the work of UNCITRAL (for example, through joint events, circulation of questionnaires and requests for comments to organizations, and consultations with representatives of organizations).

Implementation. By UNCITRAL secretariat, under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraphs 8 (a), (f) and (g), 11 and 12, as reaffirmed by subsequent resolutions on UNCITRAL specifically Assembly resolutions 34/142 on coordination in the field of international trade law and 62/64, and under the delegated authority of UNCITRAL; financed under the regular budget.

275. UNHCR. Cooperation and information exchange with treaty bodies and special procedures of the Human Rights Council.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR Statute, supplemented by paragraphs (k) and (l) of UNHCR Executive Committee Conclusion 95 (LIV)-2003 and Commission on Human Rights resolutions 2005/45 and 2005/48, based on input from field and regional offices collected by the Protection Operations and Legal Advice Section (Division of International Protection Services), in cooperation with OHCHR.

276. UNICRI. Under the project Coordinating National Research Programmes on Security during Major Events in Europe, to identify and, where possible, eliminate legal and financial barriers for effective and comprehensive cooperation in research activities within the European Union (notably in the area of international terrorism and its implications for the rule of law), through information exchange, best practices, strategic activities, joint initiatives and transnational research.

Implementation. Under article II of the UNICRI Statute, in cooperation with relevant Member States of the European Union, the European Police Office and the European Community, financed by the European Commission's Directorate-General for Research.

277. UNICRI. Strengthening of international cooperation to combat illicit trafficking and criminal use of chemical, biological, radiological or nuclear substances and weapons, by improving capabilities, exchange of information, analysis, national expertise and responses (for example, in Euro-Asia, Latin America/Caribbean, Africa, southern and eastern Asia).

Implementation. Under article II of the UNICRI Statute, in cooperation with regional organizations (for example, in Euro-Asia, the European Commission, Europol and the Southeast European Cooperative Initiative (SECI) Centre) and technical support by various international organizations (IAEA, Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW), WCO, OSCE); financed under extrabudgetary resources and private donations.

278. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. Provision of advice and assistance to Member States on the use and application of United Nations standards and norms concerning legal, institutional and practical arrangements for international cooperation; including assistance in combating terrorism, organized and transnational crime, corruption, money-laundering, and drug and illicit trafficking; for the benefit of government officials, legislators, judges, prosecutors and law enforcement officials.

Implementation. By the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime field offices; under General Assembly resolution 46/152, as reaffirmed by General Assembly resolution 60/175, paragraph 5, and Economic and Social Council resolution 1996/16, as reaffirmed by Council resolution 2005/21, paragraphs 1, 2, 4, and 7; at the request of a Member State; in collaboration with OSCE, OECD, and institutes comprising the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme Network; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

3. Activities relating to dispute resolution at the international level

3.1. Activities relating to good offices, mediation, fact-finding, judicial proceedings and other means of settlement of international disputes

279. Department of Political Affairs. Provision of support in the areas of international criminal law, administration of justice, and human rights law (for example, supporting the efforts of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for the Lord's Resistance Army-affected areas); for the benefit of judicial authorities.

Implementation. Under the mandate provided in the letter dated 30 November 2006 from the Secretary-General to the President of the Security Council (S/2006/930); at the request of the President of Uganda in the letter dated 24 April 2006 from the Permanent Representative of Uganda to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/271) in coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs, Office of the Legal Counsel and OHCHR.

280. Department of Political Affairs. Provision of good offices and diplomatic initiatives, for example:

(a) Provision by UNSCO of good offices and diplomatic initiatives to Palestinian and Israeli authorities, in collaboration with the other members of the Quartet (United States of America, the European Union and the Russian Federation), the Palestinian Authority and Israel; requested in the letter dated 10 September 1999 from the Secretary-General to the President of the Security Council (S/1999/983);

(b) Good offices mission of the Secretary-General on Cyprus, for the benefit of the general population (Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots), implemented by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and Chief of Mission, United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP), and the Department of Political Affairs/Americas and Europe Division Cyprus team, at the initiative of the Secretary-General and in coordination with the Department of Peacekeeping Operations regarding the UNFICYP mission, and UNDP regarding bicomunal projects, under Security Council resolution 186 (1964), paragraph 7, as reaffirmed by Security Council resolution 1728 (2006), paragraphs 1 and 5; financed under the special political missions budget.

281. Department of Political Affairs (Africa II). Support to mediators for the peaceful settlement of international disputes (for example, the Special Adviser and Mediator on the territorial dispute between Equatorial Guinea and Gabon), including the drafting of memoranda of understanding (for example, memorandum of understanding for the establishment of a joint development zone (6 July 2004)) and the elaboration of settlement plans.

Implementation. Under a specific mandate (for example, communiqué signed in January 2004 between Gabon and Equatorial Guinea agreeing to the terms of United Nations mediation to peacefully resolve their territorial dispute, including the appointment of a special adviser and mediator), in cooperation with other United Nations entities (for example, the Office of Legal Affairs); financed under the regular budget.

282. Department of Political Affairs (Policy Planning Unit-Mediation Support Unit). Organization of regional consultations on mediation (for example, in Africa, Latin America, Central Europe and Central Asia), including a systematic region-by-region analysis of mediation experiences, and training on mediation support and critical rule of law issues (for example, federalism and decentralization, transitional justice), for the benefit of United Nations and non-United Nations mediators, staff of regional organizations and United Nations staff.

Implementation. Under the Charter of the United Nations, Article 33, and General Assembly resolutions 59/6 and 60/1 on the 2005 World Summit Outcome, at the request of Member States at the World Summit, in cooperation with regional organizations (for example, the African Union, OSCE, OAS), national partners (for example, the Centre for Conflict Resolution in Cape Town, South Africa; the Geneva Centre for Security Policy; Folke Bernadotte Academy, Sweden; and Swisspeace) and other United Nations entities (for example, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and special representatives of the United Nations Secretary-General); financed under extrabudgetary sources.

283. Department of Political Affairs (Policy Planning Unit-Mediation Support Unit) Operational support for peace processes and other field activities within a rule of law framework, particularly in relation to constitution-making, transitional justice mechanisms, the security sector, wealth-sharing, power-sharing, electoral processes and expert advice to ongoing projects (for example, Western Sahara, Darfur, northern Uganda), for the benefit of United Nations envoys and entities engaged in good offices work (including mediation), United Nations departments and agencies supporting mediation, regional organizations, and parties to disputes in which the United Nations or its partners play a third-party role.

Implementation. Under the Charter of the United Nations, Article 33, and the strategic framework for the Department of Political Affairs approved by General Assembly resolutions 59/6 and 60/1 on the 2005 World Summit Outcome, at the request of Member States at the World Summit, in cooperation with regional divisions, special representatives of the Secretary-General, national partners (for example, the African Union and other regional organizations), resident coordinators and other United Nations entities (for example, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, UNDP); financed under extrabudgetary resources.

284. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Assistance in the context of the settlement of international disputes (for example, many Department of Peacekeeping Operations-led peace operations provide assistance in conflict mediation and resolution, and in stabilizing the situation in the context of conflicts with international repercussions).

Implementation. Under mandates provided by the Security Council varying from operation to operation; at the request of parties to the dispute; in coordination with the Department of Political Affairs or in accordance with the designated lead role, with the countries affected, with the international community or with other partners; financed under individual peacekeeping budgets (mission activities), the peacekeeping support account (Headquarters activities), or the regular budget where appropriate.

285. Executive Office of the Secretary-General. Provision of good offices, including with regard to territorial disputes (for example, Bahrain/Qatar, Cameroon/Nigeria, Gabon/Equatorial Guinea), non-territorial disputes (for example, Senegal/the Gambia, the Gambia/Guinea-Bissau, Afghan refugees en route to Nauru, the Middle East conflict), and internal conflicts (for example, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Myanmar, Nigeria, Togo, Zimbabwe).

Implementation. On the Secretary-General's initiative or by specific request (in particular from the parties to the dispute); in coordination with the heads of States concerned, other national authorities, special envoys, and the president of the International Court of Justice.

286. International Court of Justice. Judicial settlement of international disputes, through a judicial process following general and special international law, for the benefit of States.

Implementation. Under the mandate provided in the Charter of the United Nations and the International Court of Justice Statute; at the initiative of State parties to the Statute and States parties to international treaties containing special provisions conferring jurisdiction on the Court; financed under a budget determined by the General Assembly under article 33 of the International Court of Justice Statute.

287. International Court of Justice. The rendering of advisory opinions, following the procedure established in the International Court of Justice Statute articles 65-68, for the benefit of States and international organizations.

Implementation. Under the mandate provided in the Charter of the United Nations and the International Court of Justice Statute; at the request of the General Assembly, the Security Council, other United Nations organs and specialized agencies if so authorized by the General Assembly, State parties to the Statute, and States parties to international treaties containing special provisions conferring jurisdiction on the Court; financed under a budget determined by the General Assembly under article 33 of the Statute.

288. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Provision of technical assistance to the Secretary-General in the exercise of his good offices and mediation in the area of the law of the sea and ocean affairs, for the benefit of Member States.

Implementation. Under the mandate provided in the Charter of the United Nations, Article 99, and Secretary-General's Bulletin on the Organization of the Office of Legal Affairs (ST/SGB/2006/12) section 8; at the request of the Secretary-General or of a Member State with the consent of the Secretary-General; financed under the regular budget.

289. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Maintenance and further development of the geographic information management services (facilitating the Secretary-General's assistance to bodies involved in the peaceful settlement of disputes), including the maintenance of a database of cartographic information illustrating various scenarios for the outer limits of maritime zones; for the benefit of States, intergovernmental organizations, non-governmental organizations, academics and government officials specialized in ocean affairs and the law of the sea.

Implementation. By the geographic information systems officers in collaboration with law of the sea/ocean affairs officers dealing with maritime zones jurisdiction; in coordination with bodies to which the Secretary-General offers his assistance in the context of the peaceful settlement of disputes (and other international and national hydrographic, cartographic and educational entities as appropriate); under the mandate of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and relevant General Assembly resolutions on oceans and the law of the sea in the context of the peaceful settlement of disputes; at the initiative of the Secretary-General upon a request for assistance by States; financed under external resources (usually the budget of the bodies directly involved in the peaceful settlement of disputes).

290. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Technical assistance in the area of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, including assistance to (a) the Permanent Court of Arbitration in drafting its internal rules, which are based on the UNCITRAL Arbitration and Conciliation Rules; (b) regional organizations, such as the Asian-African Legal Consultative Organization, in setting up regional arbitration centres; (c) regional arbitration centres and similar institutions in developing countries in formulating their rules of arbitration, as well as interpreting and implementing UNCITRAL texts; and (d) the Commonwealth Telecommunications Organisation in drafting their internal rules of dispute settlement; for the benefit of Governments, organizations, judges, arbitrators, other legal practitioners and parties to transactions.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (b), (c), (d) and (e); as reaffirmed by General Assembly resolution 62/64; at the request of regional and other organizations, national arbitration and conciliation institutions; in coordination with the Asian-African Legal Consultative Organization, regional arbitration and conciliation centres (such as in Cairo and Kuala Lumpur), Governments, national arbitration and conciliation institutions, and intergovernmental organizations (such as the Permanent Court of Arbitration and the Commonwealth Telecommunications Organisation); financed under extrabudgetary resources (including voluntary contributions to the UNCITRAL Trust Fund for Symposia and joint projects with other sponsoring institutions).

291. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Preparation, or facilitation of preparation, of international standards in the field of international settlement of commercial disputes, such as model laws on international commercial arbitration and conciliation, arbitration and conciliation rules, notes on organizing arbitral proceedings and recommendations to assist arbitral institutions and other interested bodies with regard to arbitrations under the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules, the primary focus of which is international/cross-border commercial disputes; for the benefit of Governments, organizations, including arbitral institutions, arbitrators and other legal practitioners, parties to commercial transactions and judges.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 2205 (XXI), section II, paragraph 8 (c) (see also the Secretary-General's bulletin on the organization of the Office of Legal Affairs (ST/SGB/2006/12), section 9), in consultation with individual experts and relevant organizations active in the field; financed under the regular budget.

292. Office of Legal Affairs (Office of the Legal Council). Maintaining liaison with the International Court of Justice and discharging the legal responsibilities of the Secretary-General under the Statute of the Court; in particular the judicial settlement of international disputes and the implementation of international judicial decisions; concerning the law of international organizations, human rights law, humanitarian law, international dispute settlement procedures, and other treaty law; for the benefit of Governments and the United Nations.

Implementation. Under the mandate provided in the Secretary-General's Bulletin (ST/SGB/2006/12); at the request of the Secretary-General; in coordination with the International Court of Justice and possibly the Department of Political Affairs; financed under the regular budget.

293. UNCTAD. Addressing issues related to cooperation and dispute settlement mechanisms on competition policy in regional free trade agreements (for example, through the Ad Hoc Expert Group on Competition Law and Policy in 2006); for the benefit of government officials, diplomats, national judges, competition experts, competition agencies, and non-governmental organizations engaged in the promotion of competition and consumer protection; taking into account issues of particular concern to small and developing countries.

Implementation. By the officer in charge (Committee on Commodity Problems); under the resolution adopted by the Fifth United Nations Conference to Review All Aspects of the Set of Multilaterally Agreed Equitable Principles and Rules for the Control of Restrictive Business Practices at its closing plenary meeting on 18 November 2005, paragraph 12; in accordance with the mandates received by UNCTAD in the area of competition policy; financed under the regular budget.

294. UNDP. Supporting capacity development programmes for national cooperation partners participating in international dispute settlements; for the benefit of national judiciaries, prosecutors, police, parliaments, ministries, correction services, other State bodies and the general public.

Implementation. By national cooperation partners directly (by the UNDP country office, regional office or headquarters), or by experts (appearing on pre-established global and regional expert rosters); in coordination with UNICEF, OHCHR, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, UNIFEM, UNHCR, UNFPA, UNAIDS, UNTOP and WHO; with guidance from the UNDP Bureau for Development Policy and the Bureau for Crisis Prevention and Recovery at the global level and by the justice and rule of law advisers at the regional level; under the general mandate of UNDP, as well as specific agreements with donors and partner Governments; at the request of governmental or State institutions (and in some cases non-governmental organizations); financed through UNDP core funding, trust funds or other multilateral or bilateral donors.

295. UNHCR. Cooperation with regional courts, such as the European Court of Human Rights and the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, including by information exchange, training of judges and court staff, submission of amicus curiae briefs on precedent-setting cases related to persons of concern.

Implementation. Through the Division of International Protection Services at UNHCR headquarters, as well as involvement of concerned field offices.

3.2. Activities relating to the provision of material and logistical support to States for the settlement of international disputes

296. Department of Political Affairs (Africa II). Support to the Cameroon-Nigeria Mixed Commission's work in the implementation and monitoring of the International Court of Justice judgment of 10 October 2002 on the boundary dispute between Cameroon and Nigeria.

Implementation. Under the final communiqué of the meeting between the Secretary-General and the Presidents of Cameroon and Nigeria (15 November 2002) establishing the Mixed Commission, in cooperation with other United Nations entities (for example, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, the Department of Field Support and the Office of Legal Affairs); financed under the regular budget for Department of Political Affairs special political missions and voluntary contributions (for the demarcation exercise).

297. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Providing financial assistance for expenses incurred in respect of cases submitted to the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea, as implementing office for the Trust Fund to Assist States in the Settlement of disputes through the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea; for the benefit of States Parties to the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 55/7, paragraph 9; at the request of the General Assembly and interested States; financed with voluntary contributions.

298. Office of Legal Affairs (Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea). Providing financial assistance for expenses incurred in respect of dispute resolution through the administration of the Assistance Fund under Part VII of the Agreement for the Implementation of the Provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982 relating to the Conservation and Management of Straddling Fish Stocks and Highly Migratory Fish Stocks; providing financial assistance for meeting the costs involved in proceedings for the settlement of disputes between States parties to the Fish Stocks Agreement concerning the interpretation or application of the Agreement or proceedings concerning the interpretation or application of a subregional, regional or global fishery agreement relating to straddling fish stocks or highly migratory fish stocks to which they are parties; for the benefit of developing States parties to the Agreement.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 58/14 and article 26 of Part VII of the Fish Stocks Agreement, at the request of States parties to the Agreement, administration of the Fund is in collaboration with the FAO secretariat; the Fund is financed with voluntary contributions (from States, intergovernmental organizations, international financial institutions, national institutions and non-governmental organizations, as well as natural and legal persons).

4. Activities relating to conflict resolution and transitional justice

4.1. Activities relating to the implementation of programmes combining capacity-building and technical assistance in the establishment and/or operation of national institutions and processes in the context of situations of conflict resolution and transitional justice

299. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Assistance in the establishment of international and hybrid criminal tribunals and in transitional justice consultation processes, truth and reconciliation processes, protection of witnesses and victims, and reparation programmes in post-conflict situations.

Implementation. By specific peace operations (for example, the United Nations Operation in Burundi (ONUB)/BINUB) and their various components (human rights, political affairs, mission leadership), depending on their particular mandate and the country context, in cooperation with other United Nations entities (for example, the Office of Legal Affairs and OHCHR); financed under the peacekeeping missions budgets and donor funding.

300. International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia. Support for national transitional justice mechanisms, including through liaison with national authorities, war crimes commissions and other entities (embassies, United Nations agencies, non-governmental organizations), support to investigators (including fugitive tracking efforts), assistance and support for the creation of institutions for the prosecution and trial of persons suspected of serious violations of international humanitarian law, and coordination of and support for observers monitoring war crimes development, in a post-conflict situation (former Yugoslavia).

Implementation. By Tribunal liaison offices in Belgrade, Sarajevo, Zagreb, Pristina, Skopje and Banja Luka, pursuant to Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, 1994 the memorandum of understanding between the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and the Government of Bosnia and Herzegovina and the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina and the Annexes thereto (collectively the Peace Agreement (S/1995/999, annex)), at the initiative of the Office of the Prosecutor; financed with voluntary contributions of Member States and under the regular budget.

Implementation. By UNICEF country offices (in Burundi, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Guatemala, Liberia, Nepal, Peru, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Timor-Leste, Uganda) in cooperation with national authorities and civil society and with support from UNICEF headquarters and Innocenti Research Centre, in line with the UNICEF mandate to support implementation of the Convention on the Rights of the Child worldwide; depending on the countries, projects are financed under either regular budget or extrabudgetary resources.

303. UNIFEM. Programmes to support women's engagement in peacebuilding and to prevent sexual violence in conflict (in Afghanistan, Haiti, Liberia, Rwanda, Timor-Leste and Uganda), and post-conflict situations, through the identification and support of forms of peacebuilding and peace consolidation and community-level responses to abuses against women, and regional and global pressure and monitoring on decision makers (including parties to peace negotiations, heads of State and traditional authorities); support for gender-sensitive police reform, community oversight, co-policing measures, women's access to justice, harmonization of traditional/informal justice mechanisms with international standards, facilitation of women's access to governance and development decision-making forums, targeted advocacy for effective policies and programmes at national, regional and international levels; in support of women victims of sexual and gender-based violence, government ministries (justice, interior, gender), police, bar associations, women's development organizations, women's lawyer's associations and women's peace networks.

Implementation. By UNIFEM country and regional offices and headquarters, under outcome 2 of the multi-year funding framework, for 2004-2007 (DP/2004/5).

304. UNIFEM. Promotion of women's empowerment in the transitional justice process (in Morocco) to ensure that implementation of the recommendation of the Moroccan Truth and Reconciliation Commission fully addresses women's human rights, through socio-economic development/reparation programmes, research and documentation, capacity-building (for the security and justice sectors), sensitization of stakeholders at the national and local levels, and support for the organization of a regional conference on the issue.

Implementation. By the UNIFEM subregional office for North Africa, under outcome 2 of the multi-year funding framework 2004-2007 (DP/2004/5), in cooperation with the Moroccan Consultative Council on Human Rights and in partnership with local non-governmental organizations and expert practitioners on transitional justice and gender issues, in coordination with other national and international stakeholders.

4.2. Activities relating to the establishment and operation of international and hybrid criminal tribunals

305. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Political, technical, logistical or security support for the establishment and operation of criminal tribunals, for example: support for the International Criminal Court, the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, the Special Court for Sierra Leone and the two transitional justice mechanisms currently envisaged in Burundi; placement of international judges and prosecutors within the domestic judicial system of Kosovo (United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK)); and provision of international judges, prosecutors and defence counsel in Timor-Leste.

Implementation. By the relevant peace operations and their various components (human rights, political affairs, mission leadership), under their respective mandates from the Security Council, in cooperation with the Office of Legal Affairs and OHCHR; financed under each peacekeeping mission budget and donor funding.

306. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Transfer of persons indicted by the Tribunal to national jurisdictions for trial, in a post-conflict situation.

Implementation. By the Prosecutor of the Tribunal, under the Rules of Procedure and Evidence of the Tribunal and its Completion Strategies (Security Council resolution 1534 (2004)), in coordination with relevant organizations or Governments; financed under the regular budget and voluntary contributions.

307. International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia. Establishment of a special chamber of war crimes prosecution in the State Court of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and technical assistance and capacity-building for the Court, in a post-conflict situation, including through participation by the Office of the Prosecutor in elaborating legislation and instituting a framework of judicial cooperation in the region; assistance in, and monitoring of, national criminal proceedings; developing training seminars for national judges and prosecutors; creation of a legal framework (under rule 11 bis of the Tribunal) for the transfer of lower-level prosecution to national jurisdictions, and implementation of that framework; and mutual cooperation with national judges.

Implementation. Under Security Council resolutions 1503 (2003) and 1534 (2004), in cooperation with other international and regional organizations (for example, OSCE, UNDP), financed through voluntary contributions from Member States and under the regular budget of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia.

308. Office of Legal Affairs (Office of the Legal Counsel). Assistance in the establishment of international and hybrid criminal tribunals and support to those tribunals once established, including through drafting reports of the Secretary-General on the establishment of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda; drafting their respective statutes; practical arrangements for the initial operation of the various international and hybrid criminal tribunals; drafting and negotiating the Agreement for and Statute of the Special Court for Sierra Leone; representation of the Secretary-General on the Management Committee of the Special Court for Sierra Leone (under article 7 of the Agreement); drafting, negotiation and conclusion of the Agreement between the United Nations and the Royal Government of Cambodia concerning the Prosecution under Cambodian Law of Crimes Committed during the period of Democratic Kampuchea; preparation of reports of the Secretary-General and practical arrangements for establishing the Special Tribunal for Lebanon; negotiations with Burundian parties on creating an international judicial commission of inquiry in Burundi.

Implementation. Under the Secretary-General's bulletin on the organization of the Office of Legal Affairs (ST/SGB/2006/12), at the request of the relevant Member State, the General Assembly or the Security Council, under the regular budget and voluntary contributions.

309. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Proposals and discussion on the jurisdiction of the Special Court for Sierra Leone, including through the convening of discussion groups, to ensure that it included the war crime of conscripting or enlisting children under the age of 15 years into armed forces or groups, or using them to participate actively in hostilities.

Implementation. In cooperation with UNICEF and non-governmental organizations.

4.3. Activities relating to the establishment and operation of other transitional justice mechanisms (consultation processes, truth and reconciliation processes, fact-finding and commissions of inquiry, protection of victims and reparation programmes)

310. Department of Political Affairs. Conduct of investigations and technical assistance to investigations conducted by national authorities on terrorist attacks (in Lebanon).

Implementation. By the Investigation Division of the United Nations International Independent Investigation Commission, with supervision by the Commissioner and monitoring by the Security Council, under Security Council resolutions 1595 (2005), 1636 (2005), 1644 (2005), 1686 (2006) and 1748 (2007), at the request of national authorities, in cooperation with other United Nations entities (the Department of Field Support, the Office of Legal Affairs, the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL), ESCWA, UNDP, the Office of the United Nations Special Coordinator in Lebanon), financed under the regular budget.

311. Department of Political Affairs (Americas and Europe Division). Organization of international commissions (for example, the International Commission against Impunity in Guatemala); for the benefit of the general public (as potential victims) and justice sector professionals (in terms of training received).

Implementation. Under the Guatemalan Peace Accords Comprehensive Agreement on Human Rights (March 1994), and General Assembly resolutions 58/238, and 58/239; at the request of a Member State; in coordination with OHCHR, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and UNDP in Guatemala; financed through the Trust Fund for Preventive Action, the Open Society Institute and the Latin America Program.

312. Department of Political Affairs (Africa I). Participation in assessment missions (for example, in Burundi in 2004 and 2006), in view of the establishment of a twin mechanism composed of a non-judicial accountability mechanism (truth commission) and a judicial accountability mechanism (special chamber), in a post-conflict situation.

Implementation. Pursuant to Security Council resolutions 1606 (2005) and 1719 (2006), in cooperation with the Office of Legal Affairs and OHCHR and the Peacebuilding Commission.

313. Department of Political Affairs (Africa II). Provision of support for national reconciliation processes (for example, in the Central African Republic), through high-level missions to the country concerned, during a conflict.

Implementation. In cooperation with field mission (for example, BONUCA), financed under the regular budget.

314. Department of Political Affairs (Policy Planning Unit-Mediation Support Unit). Support for the development and implementation of conflict prevention initiatives at the national level (for example, in Ecuador, Ghana, Guinea-Bissau, Guyana, Kenya, Mauritania, Nigeria) and for other prevention activities (for example, in Bangladesh, the Gambia, Lesotho, Sierra Leone, Sri Lanka, the Sudan, Yemen, Zimbabwe) in the areas of conflict management, programming and coordination, promotion of stakeholders dialogue (including legislation) aimed at preventing electoral violence, and dialogue and reconciliation, for the benefit of national institutions and communities.

Implementation. Through the UNDP-Department of Political Affairs Joint Programme on Building National Capacities for Conflict Prevention, under General Assembly resolutions 55/281 and 57/337 on the prevention of armed conflict, 60/1 on the 2005 World Summit Outcome, and Security Council resolution 1366 (2001), in coordination with relevant regional centres and other United Nations entities (for example, the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, UNICEF, WHO).

315. Department of Political Affairs-OHCHR.¹⁴ Mediation, consulting and conflict prevention in the context of reconciliation and reintegration of former combatants, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNTOP) in coordination with national authorities (Ministry of Interior).

316. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Assistance in the establishment and operation of international and hybrid criminal tribunals; provision of international judges, prosecutors and defence counsel to serve in the judicial system of the host country of a peace operation; and international assistance in transitional justice consultation processes, truth and reconciliation processes, protection of witnesses and victims, and reparation programmes in post-conflict situations: see paragraph 299 above.

317. Executive Office of the Secretary-General. Assistance in the creation of truth and reconciliation commissions (for example, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Ghana).

Implementation. On the Secretary-General's initiative or by specific request (see paragraph 285 above) or under a mandate from the Commission on Human Rights (in the case of the Democratic Republic of the Congo) and the Security Council (in the case of Ghana).

318. OHCHR. Assessment and operational planning for human rights components in peace operations, including with regard to transitional justice and human rights monitoring, through the participation in interdepartmental technical assessment missions (for example, Darfur (June 2006), Chad (December 2006 and February 2007), Somalia (March 2007) and Côte d'Ivoire (April 2007)).

Implementation. Under a mandate from the Security Council.

319. OHCHR. Assistance and support in processes for the establishment of national mechanisms of transitional justice and in the activity of those mechanisms, for example:

(a) Organization of a workshop leading to the drafting of the Act to Establish the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Liberia, based on prior consultations with grass-roots organizations in five countries, subsequent lobbying for the adoption of the corresponding legislation and participation in a working group on implementation, by the Human Rights and Protection Section, in collaboration with UNDP, non-governmental organizations and with the technical input of the

International Centre for Transitional Justice and the South African-based Foundation for Human Rights;

(b) Support to joint missions of mandate holders in Lebanon and Israel, and in Darfur, Sudan (High-level mission on Darfur, established by the Human Rights Council in 2006-2007 and the United Nations Experts Group on Darfur, established by Human Rights Council decision S-4/101);

(c) Advice on transitional justice mechanisms in Colombia;

(d) Advice to key stakeholders in the Uganda peace negotiations process on accountability and reconciliation under international law, including through the development of an options paper on transitional justice and the preparation of a qualitative study on transitional justice;

(e) Support to truth and reconciliation commissions and other fact-finding bodies in the Central African Republic, Liberia, Nepal, Timor-Leste;

(f) Support to the fact-finding missions established by the Human Rights Council (for example, High-level fact-finding mission on Beit Hanoun in the occupied Palestinian territories, and the Commission of Inquiry on Lebanon);

(g) Forensic assessment missions in Afghanistan and Liberia;

(h) Assistance to the Government of Sierra Leone in the implementation of the imperative recommendations of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (including through advisory services to national authorities (for example, meetings, lobbying, advice on international standards), training and sensitization to national authorities (government ministries and agencies) and non-governmental organizations) and of the reparations programme for victims of the civil conflict (including through support and monitoring in the setting up and functioning of the trust fund for war victims, assistance in securing funding for the reparations, training and sensitization).

Implementation. Under OHCHR general mandate or specific mandates (for example, Commission on Human Rights/Human Rights Council for Lebanon and Israel, and Darfur, Sudan; agreement with the Government of Nepal), by country missions when appropriate, in coordination with national authorities and local non-governmental organizations, as well as relevant United Nations and non-United Nations entities; financed under regular or extrabudgetary resources (for example, USAID funding in Uganda; the Government of Sierra Leone and the United Nations Peacebuilding Fund in Sierra Leone).

320. OHCHR. Support for the establishment and operation of national and international commissions of inquiry, for example by:

(a) Maintaining a system of preparedness for the establishment of commissions of inquiry and other human rights fact-finding missions, involving human, financial and material resources;

(b) Supporting and monitoring national commissions of inquiry into human rights and humanitarian law violations, with a view to ensuring respect for international standards relating to the administration of justice and law enforcement; for the benefit of Member States and the victims of violations;

(c) Strengthening the methodology of commissions of inquiry into violations of international human rights, humanitarian and criminal law (implemented by OHCHR geographic desks, the Rapid Response Unit and the Rule of Law and Democracy Unit, in collaboration with the Methodology, Education and Training Unit).

Implementation. Under the OHCHR general mandate; financed under the regular budget.

321. Office of Legal Affairs (General Legal Division). Assistance in the establishment of internal fact-finding and inquiry committees relating to alleged violations of United Nations rules or applicable laws and regulations of Member States in the implementation of United Nations programmes or activities.

Implementation. At the request of the Secretary-General or the General Assembly, in cooperation with external entities dealing with the United Nations (for example, contractors) and relevant national law enforcement authorities.

322. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Promotion of the interests of children in the context of peacemaking processes, in post-conflict situations, through:

(a) Advocacy with negotiators of peace agreements (for example, the Good Friday Agreement in Northern Ireland (1998); the Lomé Peace Agreement for Sierra Leone (1999); Arusha Accords on Burundi (2000); the Comprehensive Peace Agreement for Liberia (2003); peace agreements in the Sudan (2005));

(b) Technical input on child protection for the creation of a comprehensive United Nations peacemaking databank by the Department of Political Affairs, providing guidance to United Nations peace mediators, including elements for peace agreements.

Implementation. By the Special Representative and her office, in coordination with peace negotiators and relevant international entities (for example, Special Representative of the Secretary-General for West Africa, ECOWAS and UNICEF in Liberia; UNICEF and the United Nations Mission in the Sudan (UNMIS) in the Sudan; the Department of Political Affairs in the development of the databank).

323. Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict. Establishment of guidelines for the Special Court for Sierra Leone and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in Sierra Leone on the protection and participation of children in a post-conflict situation.

Implementation. In coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs, UNICEF, OHCHR, non-governmental organizations and the United Nations Mission in Sierra Leone (UNAMSIL).

324. United Nations Compensation Commission. Ad hoc institutional arrangement to compensate claimants for direct loss, damage or injury, including environmental loss and damage, arising from Iraq's unlawful invasion and occupation of Kuwait in August 1990, in a post-conflict situation, through the examination of claims, verification of their validity, evaluation of losses, and distribution of payments for the benefit of affected individuals, companies, Governments and international organizations; including through a follow-up programme specific to certain claims belonging to four Governments for environmental loss and damage, for the purpose of monitoring compliance with the technical elements of projects for which funds were awarded and for ensuring financial transparency in their implementation.

Implementation. Under section E of Security Council resolution 687 (1991), financed under the Compensation Fund (created pursuant to paragraph 18 of Security Council resolution 687 (1991)), and direct contributions from participating Governments in the case of the follow-up programme pursuant to United Nations Compensation Commission Governing Council decision 258 (2005).

325. UNDP. Comprehensive support to transitional justice: see paragraph 301 above.

326. UNHCR. Assistance in the implementation of voluntary repatriation and reintegration programmes in the context of peace settlements, in conflict and post-conflict situations, for example:

(a) As the lead agency with regard to the implementation of the Agreement on Refugees and Displaced Persons (Annex 7 of the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina), development of a special protection framework and multiple actions to facilitate the return and reintegration of former refugees and internally displaced persons from Bosnia and Herzegovina (including removal of administrative and legal obstacles to return, training and capacity-building, initiation of legal reform (for example, on property rights), amnesty, residence registration, identification cards, pensions, access to documents, recognition of public documents, etc.);

(b) In Georgia, assistance in the negotiation process on the territorial conflict over the region of Abkhazia, with regard to issues relating to security for refugees and internally displaced persons, and in the return of refugees and internally displaced persons to the region; participation in the Joint Control Commission established by OSCE concerning the territorial conflict in South Ossetia.

Implementation. Based on the relevant peace agreement or an ad hoc mandate, in coordination with other international entities.

327. UNHCR. Technical and substantive assistance to State institutions contributing to conflict resolution and transitional justice, such as those that are providing compensation and complaint procedures for returnees, in conflict and post-conflict situations (for example, in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Colombia).

Implementation. By UNHCR headquarters and relevant country offices, under the UNHCR Statute and relevant memorandums of understanding, at the request of national authorities (Governments, parliamentary partners) or on the own initiative of UNHCR.

4.4. Activities relating to capacity-building, dissemination and advocacy in the field of conflict resolution and transitional justice

328. Department of Economic and Social Affairs/Division for Public Administration and Development Management. Support for improving the institutional and human capacities of countries acceding to WTO (for example, assistance with setting up an inter-institutional mechanism supporting accession), for the benefit of ministries dealing with WTO accession, lawyers, academics, research institutions; non-governmental organizations and the private sector affected by WTO accession.

Implementation. By the Trade Negotiations and Commercial Diplomacy Branch, under the São Paulo Consensus (TD/410), paragraph 98, upon request of individual acceding countries (UNCTAD assistance being demand-driven and targeted to their specific needs); financed under extrabudgetary resources, supported by the regular budget.

419. United Nations Democracy Fund. Support for the strengthening of accountability, transparency and integrity for the benefit of local, regional and international non-governmental organizations, United Nations agencies, civil servants, the media and the general public.

Implementation. Under the approved project description, by UNDP country offices (based on a memorandum of understanding), the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, relevant non-governmental organizations or international organizations, financed by voluntary contributions of Member States.

420. UNDP. Reduction of poverty through sustainable land management and the maintenance of land-based ecosystem integrity, inter alia by assisting countries and communities in land governance and reform of land tenure, and by promoting the mainstreaming and integration of major environmental conventions to reduce land degradation, help land users adapt to climate change and maintain services through ecosystem integrity.

Implementation. Under the UNDP strategic plan 2008-2011, focus area of energy and environment.

421. UNDP. Provision of electoral assistance, including the production of a number of products and tools on electoral matters, e.g., the cost of registration and elections study with IFES, which is designated to help developing countries devise innovative ways to budget cost-effectively for elections; a compendium of comparative electoral laws in the Election Process Information Collection (EPIC) with International IDEA and IFES; and a guide on procurement for post-conflict elections with the Inter-Agency Procurement Services Organization.

Implementation. Under the UNDP strategic plan, 2008-2011, at the global, regional and country levels, in close collaboration with the Department of Political Affairs (Electoral Assistance Division) and with other leading institutions engaged in electoral support programmes.

422. UNDP. Support, through legislative reform, capacity development and institution-building, in all democratic governance fields (constitutional reform, legal reform commissions, elections, parliamentary support, anti-corruption, decentralization and local governance, gender, human rights and justice, etc.)

Implementation. See the UNDP web page on democratic governance (<http://www.undp.org/governance/>) and crisis prevention and recovery (<http://www.undp.org/cpr/>).

423. UNEP. Advisory services and technical assistance in environmental law and institutions for the development of legislation in the field (framework environmental laws, regulations, environmental impact assessment legislation, laws for the implementation of multilateral environmental agreements), including through needs assessment missions, review of existing legislation and identification of gaps, oversight of the legislative process, support for national consensus-building workshops between relevant ministries and various stakeholders.

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 3436 (XXX) and UNEP Governing Council decisions 21/23 and 23/1, at the request of the relevant Governments, in coordination with UNDP, national authorities and environmental agencies, financed under the Environment Fund and extrabudgetary resources.

424. UNFPA. Support for initiatives for the elimination of female genital mutilation/cutting, including law reform and implementation, for the benefit of government officials, diplomats, national judges and legislators (for example, in Benin, Burkina Faso, Djibouti, Egypt, Ethiopia, the Gambia, Kenya, Nigeria, Senegal, the Sudan and Uganda).

Implementation. Under the International Conference on Population and Development and the Beijing Platform for Action, at the request of Governments, in coordination with United Nations country teams.

425. UN-Habitat. Support for a municipal spatial planning support programme (in Kosovo (Serbia)), through assistance to municipalities in drafting municipal and urban development plans (job assistance, guidance to municipal planning bodies, local government officials, non-governmental organizations and the private sector), strengthening the dialogue between the municipal and central levels on issues related to local policy, legislative and spatial planning issues, capacity-building among non-governmental organizations and the private sector in the field.

Implementation. Under paragraph 180 of the Habitat Agenda, in the context of the UN-Habitat global campaigns on good urban governance and secure tenure, at the request of, and in collaboration with, the Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning of Kosovo (originally at the request of UNMIK), in coordination with the relevant local authorities, local and international non-governmental organizations, UNMIK, other United Nations agencies, OSCE and the European Agency for Reconstruction; financed under voluntary contributions of member States.

426. UN-Habitat. Support for initiatives on crime prevention and urban safety (for example, the Safer Nairobi Initiative), through the review and update of city council by-laws to enhance service delivery, for the benefit of local authorities (for example, the City Council of Nairobi) and the Government (for example, the Kenyan Ministry of Local Government).

Implementation. On a memorandum of understanding between UN-Habitat and the relevant Government (for example, the Government of Kenya), in partnership with UNDP, in collaboration with local authorities and the Government, financed by UNDP and UN-Habitat.

427. UN-Habitat. Establishment and management of the Global Land Tool Network, providing resources for the implementation of pro-poor land policies aimed at sustainable equal access to land and to the use of land, for the benefit of Governments, local authorities, non-governmental organizations, land professionals, researchers, donors, users and utilities.

Implementation. Under the UN-Habitat mandate and General Assembly resolution 59/239, financed under a special basket fund with contributions from donors.

428. UN-Habitat. Provision of support to good governance programmes (for example, the Governance, Justice, Law and Order Sector Reform Programme in Kenya): see paragraph 537 below.

429. UNHCR. Technical assistance in drafting and implementing national and international asylum legislation, the status of internally displaced persons and the establishment of effective national protection systems, including assistance and advice in the design and improvement of national asylum systems in compliance with international law and adjusted to specific country needs; direct participation in appeal bodies; training of government officials and non-governmental organization staff; provision of country of origin information; advice on international protection needs in individual cases; submission of amici curiae to courts; provision of information technology hardware and software allowing proper registration; profiling and processing of asylum-seekers and refugees.

Implementation. By the relevant branch office, under the UNHCR general mandate (possibly enhanced at country level by a memorandum of understanding) and, when applicable, the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees (article 35), at the request of national authorities or on the initiative of UNHCR, occasionally with the assistance of local academic partners; financed under the regular UNHCR country budget.

430. UNHCR. Technical advice in the implementation of national and international legislation related to the acquisition of citizenship and the status of stateless persons and on the setting up of effective administrative systems for government and parliamentary partners, including: promotion of accession and implementation of the 1954 Convention relating to the Status of Stateless Persons, the 1961 Convention on the Reduction of Statelessness and other instruments containing provisions on the right to nationality and statelessness; technical advice on the conceptualization, drafting and revision of nationality laws and other relevant legislation; assistance in the development of administrative implementation structures and procedures; assistance in birth registration; support in the dissemination of information on access to citizenship; operational support to resolve situations of statelessness; advocacy to guarantee the exercise of rights of nationality of former stateless persons.

Implementation. By the relevant branch office, in consultation with the regional bureau and the Protection Operations and Legal Advice Section, under the UNHCR mandate related to the prevention and reduction of statelessness and the protection of stateless persons, at the request of national authorities (government, parliamentary partners) or on the initiative of UNHCR, with support of regional support hubs and local academic partners, in cooperation with national authorities (government, human rights institutions), regional intergovernmental bodies (for example, Council of Europe, OSCE, OAS, the Asian-African Consultative Organization), financed primarily under the UNHCR country budget, including some European Union co-funded projects.

431. UNHCR. Activities related to registration, documentation and profiling of individuals of concern, including refugee, asylum-seekers and potentially stateless persons, as well as internally displaced persons, for government authorities and other national partners.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR general mandate (possibly enhanced at country level by a memorandum of understanding), at the request of national authorities or on the initiative of UNHCR, in cooperation with the national Government.

432. UNHCR. Activities for the promotion of the housing, land and property rights of individuals of concern, including refugees, returnees, stateless persons and internally displaced persons, for the benefit of government authorities (including the judiciary) and other partners.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR general mandate at the request of national authorities or United Nations partners (UN-Habitat), or on the initiative of UNHCR, financed primarily under the regular UNHCR country budget.

433. UNICRI. Technical assistance in support of children and youth rights (including through the establishment of juvenile justice court, a juvenile justice department in the ministry of justice and a national children's institute documentation centre and database, as well as a network of prevention and rehabilitation centres), by strengthening professional personnel capacities in juvenile justice, organization of awareness and information campaigns and technical legal assistance, for the benefit of juvenile justice and law enforcement personnel, social services personnel and non-governmental organizations, in a post-conflict situation (for example, support programme for children and youth rights in Angola).

Implementation. Under the UNICRI Statute, article II, at the request of the relevant Government (Angola), with the social component subcontracted to non-governmental organizations, under the direct supervision of UNICRI, in partnership with the local government (Ministry of Justice and Ministry of Social Affairs of Angola) and in collaboration with UNDP and UNICEF; financed under earmarked extrabudgetary resources and donations from the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

434. UNICRI. Activities aimed at countering organized crime and corruption by strengthening the rule of law (for example, in Serbia and in Montenegro); including increasing the efficiency of Serbian legislation in order to combat organized crime and corruption through judicial reform, harmonizing national legislation with European and international standards, and strengthening capacities of judges and prosecutors in the fight against organized crime and corruption through specific training focused on relevant international legislation and best practices, with particular reference to the Italian experience; for the benefit of Serbian legislators, prosecutors, and judges.

Implementation. Under the UNICRI Statute, article II, in coordination with the University of Florence and in collaboration with local partners (the Institute of Comparative Law and the Belgrade Judicial Training Centre); financed under extrabudgetary resources provided by the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

435. UNIFEM. Capacity-building and strengthening of accountability to promote gender equality in constitutional reforms, in post-conflict situations, for example with the programme on accountability for the protection of women's human rights in south-east Europe (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Serbia and Kosovo).

Implementation. Under outcomes 1 and 2 of the UNIFEM multi-year funding framework, 2004-2007 (DP/2004/5), at the initiative of UNIFEM, in cooperation with national gender equality institutions, non-governmental organizations, experts and other international organizations.

436. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. Advice and assistance in combating money-laundering and the financing of terrorism (adoption of relevant legislation; the acquisition of the necessary knowledge, means and expertise to implement legislation, financial investigations and prosecutions, detection, seizing and confiscation of the proceeds of crime and terrorist funds and assets, development of Financial Action Task Force-style regional bodies), including through training, awareness-raising, publications, management of research resources in the field (International Money Laundering Information Network), for the benefit of government officials, legislators, national judges, prosecutors, police officers, financial supervisors and regulators, financial intelligence units and private sector financial institutions.

Implementation. By the Global Programme against Money Laundering, under the 1988 United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, the 2000 United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, the 1998 Political Declaration adopted by the General Assembly at its twentieth special session (A/RES/S-20/2), the 2003 United Nations Convention against Corruption, the 1999 International Convention for the Suppression of the Financing of Terrorism, General Assembly resolution 60/288 and relevant Security Council resolutions (for example, resolution 1624 (2005), at the request of Member States or partner organizations, in cooperation with other United Nations entities (for example, the Counter-Terrorism Committee/Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate) and international organizations (International Monetary Fund, World Bank, INTERPOL, World Customs Organization, Commonwealth Secretariat, Financial Action Task Force of the OECD (and its several regional bodies), OSCE and several regional development banks); financed under extrabudgetary resources and the regular budget.

437. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (Anti-Corruption Unit). Technical assistance in anti-corruption matters (including promotion of information exchange, streamlining of policies, strategies and programmes among members of the International Group for Anti-Corruption Coordination and the broader anti-corruption community), aimed at strengthening the capacity of domestic anti-corruption and criminal justice institutions to effectively prevent and control corruption and to seize and confiscate the proceeds of corruption at the domestic level and internationally, for the benefit of government officials, policy makers, legislators, national institutions, the judicial system, prosecutors, lawyers and non-governmental organizations.

Implementation. In accordance with the provisions of the United Nations Convention against Corruption, under relevant General Assembly resolutions (for example, resolution 61/181) and Economic and Social Council resolutions (for example, resolution 2006/24), at the request of Member States, in cooperation with the host country, financed under extrabudgetary resources.

438. UNOPS. Support for public institutions in the field of the rule of law (for example, the Kosovo Property Agency) charged with receiving, registering and assisting the courts in resolving specific claims on private immovable property, enforcing legally final decisions and administering abandoned properties, through direct supervision of human resources administration, contract management, procurement and logistical services; for the benefit of the Housing and Property Claims Commission and the general public.

Implementation. At the request and on behalf of UNMIK, financed by various donors (for example, the European Agency for Reconstruction, the United States of America, Switzerland).

439. UNOPS. Support for initiatives aimed at sustainable social and economic development through a regionally owned reform process focusing on effective governance and efficient management in the public sector (improving management of human resources, enhancing integrity, transparency and accountability in the delivery of public services, strengthening institutional capacity), in particular through the programme on good governance for development in the Arab countries.

Implementation. At the request of the Governments concerned (ministers and representatives of 16 countries of the region in September 2004), on the basis of an agreement with UNDP, in collaboration with the UNDP Regional Bureau for Arab States and the UNDP Bureau for Policy and Programme Support, financed by UNDP TRAC funds and cost-sharing.

1.7. Activities relating to the provision of technical assistance or advice to non-governmental institutions in the field of the rule of law

440. OHCHR. Provision of technical assistance in public interest litigation and draft legislation, in particular in the areas of anti-terrorist legislation, criminal law, impunity and fair trial rights, for the benefit of national non-governmental organizations (for example, in Nepal).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, OHCHR-Nepal), under an agreement between the High Commissioner and the national Government, at the request of the non-governmental organizations concerned, financed under the regular budget.

441. OHCHR. Provision of grants for community-based human rights education and training projects, including training for prison staff, local administration and non-governmental organizations on human rights and conflict resolution, training and legal assistance to vulnerable groups and public information campaigns, for the benefit of national and local non-governmental organizations.

Implementation. By the joint OHCHR/UNDP Assisting Communities Together (ACT) project.

442. United Nations Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States. Support for the establishment of parliamentary support groups in the least developing countries and donor countries, including through capacity-building in good governance for the more effective implementation of the Brussels Declaration and the Program of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010, which articulates in its commitments a comprehensive poverty reduction strategy and is tailored to the special needs of the least developed countries; providing the least developed countries with opportunities to focus on social infrastructure and social service delivery, the promotion of a culture of peace and strengthening efforts towards peaceful resolution of conflicts, as well as social integration and fostering measures for ensuring respect for human rights and strengthening mechanisms for participation and protection of all peoples.

Implementation. Under the United Nations Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States general mandate and the Brussels Declaration and the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010 (endorsed by General Assembly resolution 55/279), in collaboration with the International Parliamentary Union, financed under extrabudgetary resources.

1.8. Activities relating to the promotion and dissemination of rule of law issues

443. Department of Political Affairs-OHCHR.¹⁷ Provision of information and education on rule of law issues, in particular through the maintenance of a human rights information library and website (by the Human Rights Information and Documentation Centre), the organization of meetings and discussions, and the regular publication of a human rights newspaper, for the general public, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNTOP), under its general mandate, on the recommendation of the human rights officer, in collaboration with the Human Rights Information and Documentation Centre, financed under extrabudgetary resources.

444. Department of Political Affairs-OHCHR.¹⁸ Promotion of the establishment of independent human rights institutions, through organization of international conferences, dissemination of publications and press campaigns, lobbying at high-level meetings, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Tajikistan).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNTOP), under its general mandate, at the request of United Nations human rights treaty bodies and OHCHR, on the recommendation of the human rights officer, in coordination with other international agencies (for example, in Tajikistan, UNDP and OSCE), foreign agencies (for example, in Tajikistan, Swedish International Development Agency, Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation, Danish Human Rights Institute), financed under extrabudgetary resources.

445. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Outreach programme, in a post-conflict situation, for the benefit of the population of Rwanda:

(a) Awareness-raising programmes within Rwanda. The Tribunal conducted regular awareness-raising workshops in order to increase the knowledge and understanding of the work of the Tribunal in all Rwandan provinces. The workshops provide local participants from all walks of life the opportunity to listen to information about the work of the Tribunal and its relevance to Rwandans and to express their views and share their perceptions with Tribunal staff members who provided them with first-hand information about the work of the Tribunal. During the workshops, particular attention is given to audience feedback in order to improve future interventions. The outreach programme has extended its awareness-raising campaigns to youth in Rwandan secondary schools;

(b) Media relations. The outreach programme of the Tribunal facilitates the work of Rwandan journalists who broadcast on a daily basis from Arusha. It also sponsors visits of Rwandan journalists from broadcast and print media to the Tribunal so that they can gather first-hand information and report directly on important events such as the delivery of judgements, Appeals Chamber sittings and the opening of new trials. The journalists are also provided with audio or videocassettes of Tribunal hearings that they can broadcast via government and private stations in Rwanda;

(c) Visits and seminars. The outreach programme organizes regular visits of Rwandan lawyers, religious leaders, human rights advocates and civil society representatives to the Tribunal in Arusha, where they are able to attend and observe trials in progress and to be briefed on various aspects of the work of the Tribunal.

Implementation. Under the relevant General Assembly and Security Council resolutions, in cooperation with the national Government, universities, media

Implementation. In cooperation with local organizations (for example, youth movements in the Central African Republic).

447. OHCHR. Organization of national consultations and information seminars on the national human rights commission with national and local authorities, non-governmental organizations, the media and the general population, for the benefit of the general population, in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Burundi).

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, BINUB in Burundi), under Security Council resolution 1719 (2006), at the request of, and in cooperation with, government authorities (for example, Ministry of Solidarity, Human Rights and Gender of Burundi) and UNDP, financed under the Peacebuilding Fund.

448. Office of Legal Affairs (International Trade Law Division). Dissemination of indicators of commercial fraud for educational and preventive purposes for the benefit of all stakeholders in the field (including individuals, corporations and government authorities).

Implementation. Pursuant to the Report of UNCITRAL on its thirty-seventh session (Supplement No. 17 A/59/17, paragraph 112), on recommendation by the UNCITRAL secretariat and other organizations, in cooperation with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, financed under the regular budget.

449. UNAIDS. Development of the *Handbook on HIV and Human Rights for National Human Rights Institutions, for the national human rights institutions, national AIDS programmes, non-governmental organizations and the general public.

Implementation. Jointly with OHCHR.

450. United Nations Democracy Fund. Promotion of electoral support, civic education, political parties, democratic dialogue, constitutional processes and access to information, for the benefit of United Nations entities, national political parties, non-governmental organizations and the general public (in particular, women and disadvantaged groups).

Implementation. By other United Nations entities (for example, UNDP, UNIFEM) and non-governmental organizations, at the request of the United Nations entities and non-governmental organizations concerned, in cooperation with UNDP (on the basis of a memorandum of understanding, when appropriate), financed by voluntary contributions of Member States.

451. UNDP. Support, through legislative reform, capacity development and institution-building, in all democratic governance fields (see paragraph 422 above).

452. UN-Habitat. Publication of a guide to property law, for the benefit of members of local council courts, paralegals working with displaced communities, staff of humanitarian agencies, public officials and the affected population (in Uganda).

Implementation. Under the Habitat Agenda (paragraphs 40 (l), 43 (z), 170-176, 208 (d) and (e), and 228 (c)); resolution HSP/GC/19/7, General Assembly resolution 59/239, and resolution HSP/GC/20/17, at the request of, and in cooperation with, the relevant United Nations country team, the national Government (for example, Ministry of Land, Housing and Urban Development of Uganda), local and international non-governmental organizations, district disaster management committees, relevant land agencies and affected communities, financed by voluntary contributions of Member States.

2. Activities relating to the administration of justice and law enforcement

2.1. Activities relating to capacity-building in the administration of justice and law enforcement

453. Department of Political Affairs. Establishment and organization of training programmes and courses, for example:

(a) Establishment of training programmes in international law at police academies, by the relevant field office, for the benefit of police academy cadets (for example, UNTOP programme within the Tajik Ministry of the Interior Police Academy financed by the Embassy of the United Kingdom);

(b) Organization of courses on human rights, juvenile justice and counter-terrorism for public officials (for example, correction facilities personnel) and non-State actors (for example, the bar association), for example, in Iraq (in coordination with UNICEF, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the Multinational Force in Iraq and national authorities);

(c) Training on police procedures and respect for human rights (for example, the United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office in Guinea-Bissau (UNOGBIS) training).

454. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Assistance in the training of justice sector officials, including the provision of support to national authorities for training and support of national counterparts in the development of training institutions and provision of direct training, for example:

(a) Training to legal professionals in the military justice system, by the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC), in conjunction with national counterparts;

(b) Support for national legal professionals in their provision of training to other legal professionals, developing the capacity of the local law school, by UNMIL;

(c) Support for the development of a local judicial training facility and provision of a broad range of training by UNMIK (including through its various pillars);

(d) Training to legal professionals and development of the legislative basis for a national judicial training institution (Magistrates School), by MINUSTAH, in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice and Public Security.

For the benefit of the Ministry of Justice, law schools, magistrates schools and legal practitioners of the particular recipient country (the ultimate beneficiaries include the legal and judicial institutions of the host country and the society at large).

Implementation. By peacekeeping missions under their respective mandates; at the request of host-country authorities; in coordination with various United Nations and non-United Nations actors; financed under the budgets of individual peace operations.

455. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Capacity-building activities for police and law enforcement personnel, including cases where personnel of the police components of peace operations support the reform, restructuring and rebuilding of police and other national law enforcement agencies through training, advising and mentoring, as well as cases of direct assistance (for the refurbishment of facilities and the procurement of vehicles, communication equipment and other law enforcement material); such assistance has been provided in 25 countries since 1991, for example:

(a) In Afghanistan, Angola, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Burundi, Cambodia, the Central African Republic, Chad, Côte d'Ivoire, Croatia, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, El Salvador, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Georgia, Guatemala, Guinea-Bissau, Haiti, Kosovo (Serbia), Liberia, Mozambique, Rwanda, Sierra Leone, Somalia, the Sudan, Tajikistan and Timor-Leste, United Nations peace operations were tasked to assist national authorities in establishing new policing institutions or in building the capacity and integrity of existing ones;

Implementation. Under General Assembly resolution 61/66; in coordination with Member States and non-governmental organizations; financed under budgetary and extrabudgetary resources.

501. OHCHR. Provision of assistance and technical advice and support to specific government sectors or national programmes related to human rights and the rule of law in various countries, for example:

(a) Assistance in the rehabilitation of courts and tribunals in Burundi; for the benefit of the Government, parliament, the judiciary, and the population of Burundi; by BINUB; under a memorandum of understanding between OHCHR and Burundi; in coordination with the Ministry of Justice and UNDP; financed under the Peacebuilding Fund;

(b) Collaboration with the Supreme Court of Mexico (and several lower courts) aimed at systematizing Court jurisprudence on human rights, providing technical assistance in human rights, and promoting general human rights training; including the submission of an amicus curiae brief analysing: (i) the international obligations assumed by Mexico regarding torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, and (ii) issues relating to the competence of the Supreme Court under article 97, paragraph 2, of the Mexican Constitution in relation to the investigation of the events which occurred in San Salvador Atenco, where violations of the right to life and the right to physical integrity took place;

(c) Support for the chain-link initiative in northern Uganda; composed of magistrates, State Attorney's Office officials, prison officials, the police, and legal aid projects; for the benefit of the restoration of civilian administration of justice structures, the development of effective human rights reporting mechanisms, adequate dispute settlement mechanisms (including with respect to land and property rights), and community-based transitional justice mechanisms; for the benefit of chain-link members;

(d) Strengthening of the Attorney General's Office in Colombia; including the provision of advice to the Human Rights and International Humanitarian Law Unit, assistance for the victim and witness protection programme, implementation of training for prosecutors, advice for the implementation of the career system, advice for the incorporation of a gender approach, and advice to the Special Investigation Group on links between public servants and illegal armed groups; for the benefit of the staff of the Attorney General's Office;

(e) Advice on penitentiary practices and revision of regulations as to their conformity with international standards in Colombia; in coordination with the ministries of interior and justice, and the National Penitentiary and Prison Institute;

(f) Support in the introduction of mediation into the Angolan justice system through the training of Angolan stakeholders and organization of training of trainers for future mediators; by an OHCHR-hired consultant in coordination with the Ministry of Justice; for the benefit of members of the Law Reform Commission, State prosecutors, non-governmental organizations, the Angolan Bar Association, and the Angolan population in general; financed under the regular budget;

(g) Implementation of the judicial forum in Sierra Leone; serving as a forum for the exchange of ideas on how to strengthen the judiciary and to advance legal and judicial reform; for the benefit of justice sector institutions, the Government, and the people of Sierra Leone; by UNIOSIL in coordination with the Chief Justice, the Ministry of Justice, the Bar Association and law school; under Security Council resolutions 1620 (2005) and 1734 (2006), the Sierra Leone peace consolidation strategy and the poverty reduction strategy; financed by OHCHR and UNDP.

502. United Nations Democracy Fund. Judicial reforms in accordance with human rights norms; in particular the promotion of women's role in the transitional justice process, inter-ethnic dialogue, and inter-community dialogue; for the benefit of local non-governmental organizations, UNDP, women, and minority groups.

Implementation. Under a memorandum of understanding if executed by UNDP; in coordination with local non-governmental organizations and UNDP; financed by voluntary contributions of Member States.

503. United Nations Democracy Fund. Activities relating to the administration of justice, in particular judicial reform.

Implementation. Under a memorandum of understanding if executed by UNDP; financed by voluntary contributions of Member States.

504. UNDP. Activities related to law enforcement and security sector reform; including long-term strategic planning (for example, the UNDP programme in Somalia) and long-term development contexts (for example, the UNDP programme in Mozambique).

Implementation. By national partners and the UNDP country office.

505. UNDP. Establishment of a community of practitioner networks where queries and responses are posted by members of the community, external experts, or advisers at the headquarters or regional level.

Implementation. By regional centres, subregional resource facilities or headquarters.

506. UN-Habitat. Safer cities.

Implementation. Under the Habitat Agenda; in coordination with local authorities, court systems, law enforcement agencies, non-governmental organizations, women and youth organizations, the media, relevant central government authorities (at the national and local levels), and UNDP and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (at the inter-agency level); financed by multiple donors.

507. UNHCR. Support for courts in the adjudication of asylum cases (for example, through the creation of a national conflict of interest system easily accessible to courts and the organization of amicus curiae on precedent-setting cases): see paragraph 478 above.

508. UNHCR. Support for courts in the adjudication of cases concerning nationality issues, naturalization, and the status of stateless persons, including promoting the interpretation of national legislation in compliance with international law and standards through the training of judges, the provision of legal background materials, and the submission of “amicus curiae” briefs on precedent-setting cases; for the benefit of ministries of interior, ministries of justice, courts, judges and lawyers (and ultimately benefiting stateless persons or persons threatened with statelessness).

Implementation. By UNHCR in consultation with the Government and courts, sometimes upon request of a non-governmental organization or a lawyer; financed under the regular budget.

509. UNHCR. Support for law and order and administration of justice related to refugees, internally displaced persons or other persons of concern, for the benefit of the ministry of the interior, the police authorities, the ministry of justice, courts, judges and lawyers (and ultimately the refugees or the internally displaced persons themselves or persons threatened with displacement), for example:

(a) Support to national police and other security personnel in order to enhance their presence near refugee or internally displaced persons camps and other settlements;

(b) Measures for the enhancement of the administration of justice in camps and other locations hosting refugees or other persons of concern, including by assisting Governments in the reallocation of administration of justice resources to locations of displacement; performing human rights monitoring of traditional justice systems (while acknowledging the value of such systems in complementing national systems, in particular in camp situations); creating decentralized chambers or local courts; and improving communications.

Implementation. Under the UNHCR Statute and relevant memorandums of understanding, in consultation with the host Government and courts, sometimes at the request of a non-governmental organization or a lawyer; financed under the UNHCR country budget.

510. UNICEF. Technical assistance in (re-)establishing juvenile justice systems and child-sensitive procedures for child victims and witnesses.

Implementation. By some 100 UNICEF country offices in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East and the regional office in CEE/CIS, in cooperation with national authorities and civil society and with support from UNICEF headquarters, in line with the UNICEF mandate to support implementation of the Convention on the Rights of the Child worldwide; depending on the countries, projects are financed either under the regular budget or extrabudgetary resources.

511. UNICRI. Support for improving and enhancing international cooperation and information-sharing in preventing trafficking in minors and commercial sexual exploitation of children, including through collection, evaluation and monitoring of data, implementation of modular technical cooperation activities, training sessions, realization of an information system on legal cases and victims of trafficking to be implemented within the judicial system and organization of awareness campaigns, for the benefit of law enforcement agencies involved in counter-trafficking, social operators, persecutor's offices, minors and young women victims of trafficking or at risk of trafficking, in Central America.

Implementation. Under article II of the UNICRI Statute, under the supervision of UNICRI, in collaboration with local non-governmental organizations and with ECPAT International and in partnership with local government agencies and ministries, financed under extrabudgetary resources.

512. UNICRI. Provision of mentoring support to national authorities responsible for the security planning of major events (such as Olympic games, high-level summits and mass events) and promotion of international cooperation in this field, through the programme on International Permanent Observatory on Security during Major Events, covering every single stage of security planning, from the initial stages, including the drafting of security plans or the establishment of working groups, to a wide range of specific security areas, command and control, venue security, project management and dignitary protection.

Implementation. Under article II of the UNICRI Statute and Economic and Social Council resolution 2006/28 on the International Permanent Observatory on Security Measures during Major Events, at the request of national authorities, with the technical support of Europol and in cooperation with Member States (providing the International Permanent Observatory with law enforcement and security experts as in-kind contributions); financed by voluntary contributions from the Compagnia di San Paolo and from Member States that request International Permanent Observatory assistance.

513. UNICRI. Technical assistance in support of children and youth rights: see paragraph 433 above.

514. United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. Provision of advice and assistance to Member States on the use and application of United Nations standards and norms on:

(a) Crime prevention, witness protection and victim issues; for the benefit of government officials, legislators, national judges, prosecutors, police officers, victims' services and other professionals dealing with victims;

(b) Good governance, the independence of the judiciary, and the integrity of criminal justice personnel, including assistance in initiatives for judicial reform, the strengthening of legal aid, assistance in the re-establishment of law enforcement services, assistance in initiatives for law enforcement, assistance in monitoring and reporting on law enforcement activities, and assistance in combating corruption; for the benefit of government officials, legislators, national judges, prosecutors, lawyers and law enforcement officials;

(c) Persons in custody, non-custodial sanctions, juvenile justice, and restorative justice; including children in conflict with the law and child victims, support for customary, traditional and community-based justice and dispute resolution mechanisms, assistance in the re-establishment of penitentiary institutions, assistance in the determination and implementation of custodial and non-custodial measures, and integrity and oversight of criminal justice systems; for the benefit of government officials, legislators, national judges, prosecutors, police officers, prison administrators, prison institutions and social workers.

Implementation. By the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime field office network or as part of integrated United Nations missions; under General Assembly resolution 46/152, as reaffirmed by Assembly resolution 60/175, paragraph 5, and Economic and Social Council resolution 1996/16, as reaffirmed by Council resolution 2005/21, paragraphs 1, 2, 4, and 7; at the request of a Member State or another United Nations agency in particular the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and UNDP; in collaboration with the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, UNICEF and UNDP; in coordination with UNICEF, institutes comprising the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme network (Defence for Children International, Penal Reform International) and relevant non-governmental organizations, such as the International Bureau for Children's Rights and ICRC; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

515. UNOPS. Assistance in the vetting and selection of judges and prosecutors (for example, in Kosovo (Serbia)), for the benefit of the Kosovo Judicial Council, the Kosovo Prosecutorial Council, judges and the judicial system in Kosovo.

Implementation. By the relevant field office (for example, UNMIK in Kosovo (Serbia)); in collaboration with UNOPS; financed by the European Community and the United States.

516. UNOPS. Activities aimed at modernizing prosecutors' offices, through the creation of a regional network so that an active exchange of ideas can take place between experts, development partners, citizens and Governments in the area of citizens' rights and the rule of law, for the benefit of the national judicial systems in the relevant region (in particular, the pilot countries Algeria, Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Morocco and Yemen).

Implementation. Under the Programme on Governance in the Arab Region umbrella; at the initiative of the UNDP Regional Bureau for the Arab States; as suggested in the Arab Human Development Report (2002, p. 116); in collaboration with UNDP-Programme on Governance in the Arab Region, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and OHCHR; financed under UNDP TRAC funds and cost-sharing.

2.3. Activities relating to the provision of material and logistical assistance in the administration of justice and law enforcement

517. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Development and management of infrastructure rehabilitation (for example, in Côte d'Ivoire, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Haiti, Kosovo (Serbia), Liberia, the Sudan and Timor-Leste), including working with the national law enforcement, justice and prison authorities to develop project proposals and plans for rehabilitation, seeking donor funding, managing the implementation of rehabilitation projects, working with national counterparts, and facilitating projects managed by donors; for the benefit of the national law enforcement agencies, prison system and criminal justice system.

Implementation. By the individual peacekeeping mission, under its mandate; in coordination with Member States, UNDP and ICRC; financed under the budget of the peace operation and donor funds.

518. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Provision of infrastructure and technical support, for the benefit of judges and support staff of the Supreme Court and High Courts of Rwanda and other staff of the Rwandan judiciary.

Implementation. Under Security Council resolutions 955 (1994) and 1534 (2004), and Tribunal completion strategy documents; as initiated between the Rwandan judiciary and the Tribunal through normal diplomatic channels; in coordination with the Rwandan judiciary; financed under the regular budget of the Tribunal and the trust fund.

519. UNDP. Activities related to the provision of material and logistical assistance in the administration of justice and law enforcement.

Implementation. By national partners, regional centres or subregional resource facilities, country offices and headquarters.

520. UNICRI. Capacity-building and material and logistical assistance to strengthen the juvenile justice system, including training activities, support for the community justice system, elaboration of a code of conduct, awareness campaigns and the provision of a variety of equipment, for the benefit of minors at risk or in conflict with the law, national institutions and non-governmental organizations in a post-conflict situation (for example, in Mozambique since 2005).

Implementation. Under article II of the UNICRI Statute, in partnership with foreign donors (for example, the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs) and national authorities (for example, the ministries of justice and social affairs of Mozambique), in collaboration with UNDP and UNOPS; financed under earmarked extrabudgetary resources.

2.4. Activities relating to assistance in monitoring and reporting on judicial proceedings and law enforcement

521. Department of Political Affairs. Monitoring of, and report on, the proceedings before the Iraqi Higher Criminal Tribunal to observe the application of due process and fair trial standards.

Implementation. By UNAMI, under Security Council resolution 1770 (2007), at the request of the Secretary-General, in cooperation with OHCHR, international human rights non-governmental organizations and special procedures.

522. Department of Political Affairs (Americas and Europe Division). Monitoring of the process for the selection of judges in national supreme courts (for example, for the new Supreme Court of Justice of Ecuador).

Implementation. At the initiative of the Department of Political Affairs, the United Nations Special Rapporteur on the Independence of Judges and Lawyers and the United Nations Resident Coordinator, later approved by the relevant Member State, in partnership with the Special Rapporteur, in coordination with UNDP and OHCHR, in cooperation with OAS and the Andean Community; financed under the regular budget.

523. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Monitoring of legal and judicial processes for the purpose of making recommendations as to systemic challenges faced by the justice system, including the development of thematic reports; for the benefit of government authorities of the host country (for example, the ministry of justice, rule of law authorities, and legal and judicial institutions) and the general population.

Implementation. By the relevant peace operation (for example, UNMIL), under its respective mandate; at the request of host country authorities; in cooperation with OHCHR and other United Nations and non-United Nations actors; financed under the peacekeeping budget.

524. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Provision of assistance in monitoring and reporting on court proceedings, in a post-conflict situation; for the benefit of judges and support staff of the Supreme Court and of the High Courts of Rwanda and the Rwandan judiciary.

Implementation. By the Rwandan judiciary; under Security Council resolutions 955 (1994) and 1534 (2004), and Tribunal completion strategy documents; at the request of the Rwandan judiciary; financed under the regular budget of the Tribunal and the trust fund.

525. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Development and implementation of a knowledge assessment and follow-up procedure to monitor the impact of the training for Rwandan judiciary officials, for the benefit of staff of the Office of the Prosecutor General of Rwanda and the judicial sector of Rwanda.

Implementation. By the Office of the Prosecutor General of Rwanda; under Security Council resolutions 955 (1994) and 1534 (2004), and Tribunal completion strategy documents; at the request of the Prosecutor General of Rwanda; financed under the regular budget of the Tribunal, the trust fund and contributions from Rwandan development partners.

526. International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia. Review of national war crimes investigations and prosecution files of Bosnia and Herzegovina to ascertain whether such prosecutions were consistent with international standards (a process which came to be known as the “rules of the road” project).

Implementation. Under the Rome Agreement (1996), and Security Council resolution 1503 (2003); financed by voluntary contributions of Member States and under the regular budget.

527. OHCHR. Activities relating to monitoring of judicial proceedings, for example:

(a) Monitoring of trials and courts-martial (for example, in northern Uganda); for the benefit of victims of human rights violations and abuses (in particular sexual and gender-based violence survivors and children), paralegals and non-governmental organizations; under General Assembly resolution 48/141, and specific mandates provided in agreements with Member States in which OHCHR has a presence; financed under the regular budget and extrabudgetary resources.

(b) Monitoring of judicial proceedings (for example, in Nepal), including public interest litigation, habeas corpus petitions, torture compensation cases and criminal cases involving serious human rights violations; for the benefit of the justice system, victims and accused persons, under an agreement between the High Commissioner and the Government of Nepal, at the request of non-governmental organizations; financed under the regular budget;

(c) Organization of trial monitoring systems at the national level (for example, legal system monitoring pilot project in Afghanistan) to build local legal monitoring capacity and promote judicial accountability (including, creation of standardized case reporting forms, publication of trial monitoring manuals, organization of trainings), implemented by relevant units in field offices (for example, rule of law and human rights units of UNAMA in Afghanistan), in coordination with OHCHR headquarters.

528. OHCHR. Activities relating to monitoring and survey of law enforcement, for example:

(a) Monitoring of the police and army (for example, in Nepal); in particular concerning legality of arrests and detentions, treatment of detainees and detention records, filing of complaints, criminal investigations, the use of force in policing of demonstrations and rallies, and accountability for past abuses; for the benefit of the police and army, under an agreement between the High Commissioner and the Government of Nepal, at the request of non-governmental organizations; financed under the regular budget;

(b) Monitoring of prisons and detention facilities (for example, in Nepal), including the conditions of detention and imprisonment, treatment of detainees and prisoners, record-keeping, and the legality of detention; for the benefit of the prison system under an agreement between the High Commissioner and the Government of Nepal; at the request of non-governmental organizations; financed under regular budget;

(c) Organization of a joint campaign with the Afghanistan Independent Human Rights Commission to analyse adherence to due process standards in detention facilities and recommend reforms in Afghanistan (2006), in cooperation with the ministries of justice and the interior and the Attorney General's Office;

(d) Organization of the arbitrary detention survey (for example, in Afghanistan); aimed at an analysis of common practices relating to arbitrary arrest and detention in a range of government-run detention centres in order to assess whether detainees have been unlawfully arrested and detained according to national and international standards (for example, the Afghan Interim Criminal Procedure

Code and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights), in cooperation with the UNAMA Human Rights Unit and national organizations (for example, the Afghanistan Independent Human Rights Commission);

(e) Inventory and assessment of prisons (for example, in Sierra Leone); in particular, through an evaluation of the legal framework, the living conditions of the prisoners, the physical structure and facilities, and their operational administration; for the benefit of the courts, government authorities, prisoners, and prison staff; implemented by the relevant regional office (for example, UNIOSIL) under Security Council resolutions 1620 (2005) and 1734 (2006), the poverty reduction strategy, the peace consolidation strategy (2005), and responding to findings of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission; at the request of the relevant Government (for example, Sierra Leone) and the relevant regional office (for example, UNIOSIL); in cooperation with government authorities (for example, the judiciary, Ministry of Justice, Ministry of Internal Affairs, Department of Prisons), and other non-governmental entities such as ICRC and non-governmental organizations.

529. UNDP. Development of civil society watchdog and monitoring systems to strengthen accountability within the justice system; including curbing corruption in the justice system (see <http://www.undp.org/governance/sl-par.htm>).

2.5. Activities relating to the strengthening of legal aid, access to justice and fair trial

530. DPA-OHCHR.²⁰ Strengthening of legal aid (for example, in Tajikistan), through support of legal networking efforts (for example, human rights information and documentation centre), joint activities with regional organizations (for example, OSCE) on promoting sustainability of legal centres, organization of meetings of regional legal centres with an aim to establish a country-wide network; for the benefit of legal centres and the general public.

Implementation. By non-governmental organizations (for example, human rights information and documentation centre) and relevant regional offices (for example, UNTOP); under the general mandate of the relevant regional office (for example, UNTOP); in cooperation with international organizations (for example, OSCE, Swedish International Development Agency); financed under extrabudgetary sources.

531. Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Strengthening of legal aid, by supporting the development of legal aid systems, developing legal aid programmes (for example, by MINUSTAH), developing a criminal defence resource centre to facilitate the provision of legal aid (for example, by UNMIK), deploying international criminal defence lawyers (for example, by UNTAET, (United Nations Mission of Support in East Timor) (UNMISSET)), supporting national authorities in training judges, lawyers, prosecutors and other legal professionals (for example, by UNMIL, UNMIK, MINUSTAH), supporting national counterparts to develop training institutions (for example, by MINUSTAH) and developing the capacity of law schools (for example, by UNMIL), for the benefit of government authorities (for example, the Ministry of Justice), law schools, magistrates schools, legal practitioners, legal and judicial institutions, and the general population.

²⁰ The Department of Political Affairs and OHCHR have reported the same activity.

Implementation. By the relevant peace operations, under their respective mandates, at the request of host country authorities and various peace operations; in cooperation with United Nations and non-United Nations actors; financed under the budget of peace operations.

532. International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda. Strengthening of legal aid, for the benefit of judges and support staff of the Supreme Court and of the High Courts of Rwanda and the Rwandan judiciary.

Implementation. By the Rwandan judiciary, under Security Council resolutions 955 (1994) and 1534 (2004) and Tribunal completion strategy documents; at the request of the Rwandan judiciary; financed under the regular budget of the Tribunal and the trust fund.

533. OHCHR. Strengthening of legal aid, for example:

(a) Identifying partners to assist with legal aid (for example, in northern Uganda), in particular on sexual and gender-based violence; for the benefit of victims of human rights violations and abuses, in particular, sexual and gender-based violence survivors and children, in cooperation with UNICEF and UNHCR, civil society institutions and development partners (including a proposed Legal Aid Basket Fund by the Justice, Law and Order Sector); including through legal assistance to victims to file and pursue complaints (for example, new project on legal aid for gender-based violence cases in Kitgum district, northern Uganda, with advocacy and resource backing respectively from OHCHR and UNHCR);

(b) As part of the Uganda Task Force on Monitoring and Reporting established pursuant to Security Council resolution 1612 (2005), OHCHR trained over 200 paralegals and members of community-based organizations on monitoring and reporting of the six grave violations against children in situations of conflict, including sexual and gender-based violence; training modules and reporting formats were specifically developed by OHCHR, UNICEF and other child protection partners members of the Task Force;

(c) Advocacy for deployment of judicial officers and courts to ensure cases of suspects in non-capital cases (in northern Uganda) are scheduled for hearing;

(d) Publication of reports related to the strengthening of legal aid, access to justice and fair trial (for example, Diagnostic of Access to Justice for Indigenous Peoples in Mexico: A Case Study of Oaxaca), underlining the importance of indigenous jurisdiction as a component of the right to self-identification, the obligation to take into account indigenous uses, customs and norms when judging indigenous peoples in the national justice system, and the need for interpreters to ensure due process rights specific to indigenous peoples; the activity is part of the technical cooperation agreement between OHCHR and the Government of Mexico concluded in 2002; in cooperation with the Government of Oaxaca (the State Prosecutor and the Under-Secretary for Human Rights), the National Commission for the Development of Indigenous Peoples, the state of Oaxaca judicial branch, the Federal Judicial Branch and the Human Rights Commission of the State of Oaxaca; the Diagnostic was sponsored by the European Commission;

(e) Implementation of legal aid programmes (for example, in the Central African Republic), in particular the provision of legal assistance and representation to indigent victims of human rights violations, in cooperation with bar associations (for example, Central African Republic Bar Association).

534. OHCHR. Strengthening of access to justice, for example:

(a) Direct interventions to strengthen access: review and comments to the Justice, Law and Order Sector, Development Partner Group on the Land (Amendment) Act, 2007; drafting of a report on implementing the land restitution process in northern Uganda in 2007; contribution to the training project/programme support for police including its auxiliary forces, Special Police Constables, and the Anti-Stock Theft Unit, on human rights principles and standards and the ethical code of conduct, and also provision of training to local councils on human rights principles and standards and national laws pertinent to local council courts; OHCHR Uganda as part of its advocacy efforts, discussion with local administration prisons in Gulu to ensure access to justice for inmates in pre-trial detention for a long period; financed under extrabudgetary resources;

(b) Strengthening mechanisms to enhance access to justice (for example, in Angola), follow-up to a joint OHCHR-Ministry of Justice conference in 2005 on access to justice through the elaboration of laws to introduce mechanisms of mediation and arbitration in the country; in partnership with the Angolan Bar Association and civil society; financed under extrabudgetary resources;

(c) Facilitation of access to justice (for example, in Sierra Leone), through the provision of training programmes for select members from human rights committees to serve as paralegals in their respective districts, the provision of assistance and consultative services to victims of human rights abuses and others in need of advice, assistance to human rights committees in the area of logistics support with the aim of sustainability, facilitation of access to necessary law and human rights materials, advocacy for the establishment of national legal aid programmes by the Government, and advocacy for the establishment of public defender services; for the benefit of justice sector institutions, Governments and the general population.

Implementation. By the relevant regional office (for example, UNIOSIL), government authorities (for example, ministry of justice), bar associations, and non-governmental organizations; under Security Council resolutions 1620 (2005) and 1734 (2006), the poverty reduction strategy and the peace consolidation strategy (2005); at the request of the relevant regional office (for example, UNIOSIL); in cooperation with government authorities (for example, ministry of justice and the judiciary) and law schools; financed by the host Government (for example, Sierra Leone) and UNDP.

535. UNDP. Activities in support of access to justice, including legal protection, legal awareness, legal aid and counsel, adjudication, and enforcement, including assistance to disadvantaged people in understanding the right to redress, assistance in understanding access to justice through officials and institutions, the development of capacities to enable people to pursue justice procedures, the improvement of access to justice through increased availability of magistrates and other functionaries, and assistance in understanding legal procedures.

Implementation. By national partners, regional centres or subregional resource facilities and headquarters or country offices; under the Democratic Governance Thematic Trust Fund.

536. UNDP. Global, regional or country programmes supporting the strengthening of the justice system.

Implementation. At different levels, and with different scope and duration; funded by external donors under agreements with UNDP partner Governments or at the global or regional level.

537. UN-Habitat. Provision of support to good governance programmes (for example, the governance, justice, law and order sector reform programme in Kenya), aimed at responsive and enforceable policy, law and regulation; improved service delivery and reduction of corruption-related impunity; improved access to justice especially for the poor; marginalized and vulnerable; and more informed and mobilized citizenry and non-State actors; for the benefit of the general population.

Implementation. By the relevant programme office (for example, the coordination office for the governance, justice law and order sector reform programme in Kenya); under a memorandum of understanding between UN-Habitat and the Government of Kenya; at the request of the Ministry of Justice and Constitutional Affairs, the judiciary, the State Law Office, the Office of the Vice President and Ministry of Home Affairs, and the Office of the President and the Ministry of Immigration and Registration of Persons of Kenya; in cooperation with Canada, Denmark, Finland, Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden, the United Kingdom, Norway, the United States (USAID), the European Commission, the World Bank, UNDP, UNICEF and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime; financed under joint basket funding, bilateral and multilateral funding, and multilateral donor funding.

538. UNHCR. Provision of development and support to structures providing legal advice, through the establishment and provision of financial, substantive, educational and operational support and the promotion of governmental legal aid schemes, as well as UNHCR legal assistance programmes; for the benefit of legal clinics, lawyers, lawyer networks, non-governmental organizations, refugees, asylum-seekers, and stateless persons.

Implementation. Financed primarily under the regular UNHCR country budget.

2.6. Activities relating to the promotion of customary, traditional and community-based justice and dispute resolution mechanisms

539. OHCHR. Activities relating to the promotion of traditional justice, for example:

(a) Organization of meetings and conferences concerning human rights and the administration of justice by traditional and informal justice systems (for example, in Africa), for the benefit of Member States, non-governmental organizations, United Nations agencies and related institutions (for example, the World Bank), academics, human rights lawyers, human rights experts in Africa working at the national level, and OHCHR staff in Africa.

Implementation. Under Commission on Human Rights resolution 2004/43, mandates of the former Commission on Human Rights requesting OHCHR to give technical assistance, including in the field of the administration of justice, and the general mandate of the High Commissioner; in cooperation with academia (for example, Faculty of Law of the University of Namibia); in coordination with the relevant branch office responsible for field activities and field presences (for example, Capacity-building and Field Operations Branch), other United Nations entities (for example, UNDP, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, UNIFEM and the World Bank); financed under extrabudgetary resources;

(b) Preparation of a restatement of customary laws (for example, in Sierra Leone), for the benefit of efforts at their codification; for the benefit of Governments, the general population and local court personnel.

Implementation. By the relevant regional office (for example, UNIOSIL); in collaboration with government authorities (for example, the Law Reform Commission) and local authorities; under Security Council resolutions 1620 (2005) and 1734 (2006); the poverty reduction strategy, the peace consolidation strategy (2005), and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, in cooperation with the relevant United Nations country team, the Justice Sector Development Programme, and other partners; financed through UNDP and the Peacebuilding Fund;

(c) Support for the implementation of studies on traditional justice (for example, in Angola); for the benefit of members of the Reform Commission, State prosecutors, non-governmental organizations, and relevant ministries; financed under the regular budget and by the Friedrich Ebert Foundation.

540. OHCHR. Publication of reports related to the strengthening of legal aid, access to justice and fair trial (for example, “Diagnostic of access to justice for indigenous peoples in Mexico: a case study of Oaxaca”): see paragraph 533 above.

541. UNDP. Activities related to the promotion of customary, traditional and community-based justice and dispute resolution mechanisms; including:

- (a) Examining the potential of traditional mechanisms of justice;
- (b) Establishing alternative informal/semi-formal justice systems, such as informal dispute resolution mechanisms or security committees;
- (c) Training informal/semi-formal justice system personnel;
- (d) Recognition in national legislation of customary rights, for example, land rights and traditional authorities;
- (e) Understanding various informal systems and their likely interface with the formal system, as well as providing training and monitoring concerning human rights compliance;
- (f) Monitoring the activities of informal/semi-formal justice systems, reporting on human rights abuses and helping ensure fairer outcomes by assisting the informal/semi-formal justice systems to be responsive to the needs of marginalized groups.

Implementation. By national partners, country offices, regional centres or subregional resource facilities.

542. UNHCR. Monitoring of traditional justice systems in refugee camps; ensuring that international refugee and human rights standards are respected for persons of concern, including through monitoring the activities of systems of traditional justice in relation to criminal, family or property dispute matters.
