Overall orientation

- 21.1 The overall purpose of the programme is to promote the economic, social and environmentally sustainable development of Latin America and the Caribbean through international cooperation, by undertaking applied research and comparative analysis of development processes and providing the relevant normative, operational and technical cooperation services in support of regional development efforts.
- 21.2 The mandate for the programme, which falls within the purview of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC), derives from Economic and Social Council resolution 106 (VI), by which the Council established the Commission for the purpose of contributing to and coordinating action towards the economic and social development of the region and reinforcing economic relationships among the countries of the region and with other regions and countries in the world. In 1996, pursuant to Commission resolution 553 (XXVI), the Commission was instructed, inter alia, to collaborate with Member States in the comprehensive analysis of development processes geared to the design, monitoring and evaluation of public policies and the resulting provision of operational services in the fields of specialized information, advisory services, training and support for regional and international cooperation and coordination.
- 21.3 The Commission will continue to pursue key objectives shared by all the regional commissions, to support the development pillar of the United Nations, to foster economic integration at the subregional and regional levels, to promote the implementation of the post-2015 development agenda and the resulting internationally agreed sustainable development goals (once approved by the General Assembly) and to facilitate sustainable development by helping to bridge economic, social and environmental gaps between and among countries in the region and the industrialized economies.
- 21.4 To achieve these objectives, ECLAC will continue to respond to the needs of the countries in the region, serving as a regional forum and facilitator in building regional consensus, supporting public-policy formulation to meet the development challenges facing the region and promoting and conducting multilateral dialogue, sharing knowledge and networking at the interregional, regional and subregional levels. The Commission will promote intraregional and interregional cooperation through coordinated actions with other regional commissions and collaborate with other regional organizations, particularly with United Nations entities.
- 21.5 The overall strategy of the Commission for achieving the objectives of the programme is structured around 14 interdependent and complementary subprogrammes, implemented through an integrated and multidisciplinary approach. Special efforts have been made to ensure that the gender mainstreaming strategy of the Commission is reflected throughout the present biennial programme plan. During the biennium, ECLAC will continue to ensure that its gender mainstreaming strategy complements the substantive work of all its divisions and offices with gender objectives and follow-up indicators.
- 21.6 The main guidelines and overarching orientation for the formulation of the strategic framework for the biennium 2016-2017 were drawn from the internationally agreed development goals stemming from the major United Nations conferences and summits in the economic and social fields, including those set forth in the Millennium Declaration, the 2005 World Summit Outcome, the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (General Assembly resolution 66/288/annex), as well as the resulting new set of sustainable development goals deriving from the post-2015 development agenda (once approved by the General Assembly).
- 21.7 Economic growth in Latin America and the Caribbean between 2003 and 2011 enabled the region to recover from a lacklustre period that began with the debt crisis of the early 1980s. Between 2003 and 2011, following the five-year period from 1998 to 2002 known as the “lost half-decade”, most of the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean experienced their fastest growth since the 1960s, outpacing the global average and the advanced economies. This led to a significant improvement in the living conditions of the population, as reflected in social and labour indicators. Not only was headway made in reducing unemployment, poverty and extreme poverty, but also for the first time in several decades, a sizeable subset of countries in the region achieved positive results in terms of income distribution. This was also a period of relative macroeconomic stability, with growth accompanied by single-digit annual inflation on average, despite the spike in international prices for oil, food and other commodities. Most of the countries in the region were able to take advantage of the favourable external environment, pairing economic growth with fiscal surpluses and falling external debt levels.

- 21.8 The behaviour of the region’s economies after 2003 can be explained by internal as well as external factors. Within the region, a series of policies were implemented that paved the way for a relatively balanced evolution of the most important macroeconomic variables. On the external front, there was an improvement in the terms of trade for commodity-exporting countries, an increase in foreign direct investment and fluid access to international financing, as well as foreign income from tourism and migrant worker remittances. This combination, not exempt from contradictions and sudden changes, as evidenced during the international crisis of 2008-2009, helped to prevent or alleviate some of the historical tensions on the external accounts, especially in export-led economies based on natural resources.
- 21.9 Nonetheless, there were important differences with respect to growth rate and economic performance between the subregions of Latin America and the Caribbean. These are associated with: (a) the varying degrees of global financial integration, which mean different levels of exposure and vulnerability to the liquidity cycles of key countries; (b) exposure to the real cycle of the advanced economies, in particular the United States of America (as in the case of Mexico and the countries of Central America and the Caribbean); (c) the effect of international commodity price movements on the terms of trade; and (d) the different initial conditions, institutional settings and policy measures in place in each economy. These differences led to various behaviours in terms of investment and exports and their capacity to lift the rest of the economy and thus raise gross domestic product (GDP).
- 21.10 However, the structural hurdles gravitating on the region’s economies and their future performance warrant a degree of caution. The region still carries a legacy that perpetuates inequalities and exclusion mechanisms. Rigid productivity gaps persist and low productivity sectors still have little margins for social mobility (especially for women from lower-income socioeconomic strata). Although fertility rates are falling, which could denote better chances of well-being for families with fewer dependants, society’s reproduction is concentrated in poor households, in particular among adolescent women from socially vulnerable segments of the population, thereby perpetuating exclusion from one generation to the next. The countries that have benefited from the commodities boom are very susceptible to an eventual deterioration or even reversal in the terms of trade trend. But even if these favourable external conditions were to persist, there are reasons to be concerned about the trends in the production structure, particularly with the reprimarization of export specialization.
- 21.11 At the same time, a new global geography is beginning to take shape, prompting a rethinking of strategic alliances and according greater weight and importance to South-South relations. This means taking on new development challenges: working towards articulating regional positions and coordinating them with those of other developing regions in order to tackle huge global challenges, such as climate change, that compel the region and the world at large to develop comprehensive strategies for building low-carbon, more energy-efficient economies capable of achieving food, water and climate security and ensuring public safety.

- 21.12 Some of the major lessons learned from the recent past indicate that the economies of the region ought to maintain macroeconomic prudence, strengthen macroeconomic management, continue to progress towards sustainability in their fiscal and external accounts and reinforce the macroprudential treatment of finance flows and credit. In tandem, they should also maintain the drive of social policy and public investment and base their main policy decisions on the long-term behaviour of economic variables beyond nominal stability.
- 21.13 In order to face the challenges in the currently changing international economic order, ECLAC has proposed, since 2010, to place equality at the centre of all major policy decisions. Equality refers to spreading capacity-building, technological progress, ample job opportunities and universal access to social protection through the production structure by weaving them into the fabric of society. Quality employment with a rights-based approach is the master key to overcoming inequality, closing gaps and mainstreaming perspectives of gender, ethnic and racial equality. The region should break away from production structures centred on static comparative advantages and seek more dynamic competitive advantages in knowledge-intensive sectors with emphasis on technological progress.
- 21.14 Technological progress must be spread within the region as a means of diversifying the production structure and creating more quality jobs. In this sense, ECLAC advocates for industrial policies that facilitate the diversification of the economy towards higher value added sectors, which is the aim of structural change. This should be done with a proactive role of the State that stimulates synergies between macroeconomic policies and industrial and social policies. A new equation between State, market and society should be built, with fiscal and social covenants to confer legitimacy on the process. Structural change is based on a long-term political decision, which must be instituted through social covenants that meet the challenges of both continuity and fresh directions within the framework of democratic institutional settings.
- 21.15 To meet the challenges referred to above, ECLAC will continue to focus the programme of work in the biennium 2016-2017 on the following priorities:
- (a) Improving macroeconomic stability and further enhancing policies that reduce vulnerability and mitigate the effects of economic and financial volatility and crises;
 - (b) Strengthening the region's access to financing for development and enhancing the financial architecture at the global, regional and domestic levels;
 - (c) Increasing the region's productive potential and reducing productivity gaps to achieve convergence with a particular emphasis on innovation and new technologies;
 - (d) Improving the region's position in the international economy through trade, regional integration and cooperation;
 - (e) Promoting fiscal and social covenants to improve social equality, reduce social risks and reinforce gender mainstreaming in public policies;
 - (f) Promoting the implementation of the resulting new set of internationally agreed sustainable development goals (once approved by the General Assembly) and the ensuing strategies and public policies, including policies and programmes on energy efficiency and addressing the impacts of climate change, taking into account the outcome of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development;
 - (g) Strengthening public management to enhance the role of the State in the twenty-first century, particularly through progressive and green fiscal policies;

- (h) Improving institution-building related to the management of transboundary issues and the provision of public global goods at the regional level.
- 21.16 To that end, the Commission will emphasize analytical, normative, advocacy and capacity-building work to strengthen the design of sustainable development strategies and public policies and to facilitate the continuous monitoring of their practical implementation as part of the post-2015 development agenda. Operational services in the areas of specialized information, technical cooperation and training will foster cooperation, networking and sharing of good practices at the subregional, regional and interregional levels, including South-South cooperation.
- 21.17 ECLAC will continue to work on the integrated and comprehensive follow-up to the world summits from a regional perspective, in particular the outcome of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development, and in articulating the region's approach to the post-2015 development agenda (once approved by the General Assembly). For that purpose, ECLAC will reinforce its leading role as the convener of the regional coordination mechanism to coordinate the work programme of the specialized agencies, funds and programmes of the United Nations system in the region, which reports to the Economic and Social Council and to the General Assembly. The Commission will continue its active participation to foster substantive coordination among all participating entities in the Executive Committee on Economic and Social Affairs.
- 21.18 Collaboration will also be continued with the Bretton Woods institutions, especially the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank as well as with other inter-American and Ibero-American organizations such as the Organization of American States (OAS), the Inter-American Development Bank (IADB) and the Ibero-American Secretariat.
- 21.19 Furthermore, ECLAC will reinforce its close cooperation with regional mechanisms such as the Community of Latin American and Caribbean States (CELAC), the Union of South American Nations (UNASUR), the Caribbean Community (CARICOM), the Latin American Integration Association, the Common Southern Market (MERCOSUR), the Central American Integration System (SICA) and the Bolivarian Alliance for the Peoples of the Americas. ECLAC will also strengthen its collaboration with private sector associations, non-governmental and civil society organizations, think tanks and the academic sector to promote policy dialogue and to engage them in the implementation of the sustainable development agenda.

Overview of resources

- 21.20 The overall resources proposed for the biennium 2016-2017 for this section amount to $112,076,000, before recosting, reflecting a net decrease of $1,974,000 (or 1.7 per cent) compared with the appropriation for 2014-2015. Resource changes result from four factors, namely, (a) technical adjustments relating to the removal of non-recurrent requirements; (b) new mandates and inter-component changes; (c) resource changes in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 on efficiencies; and (d) resource changes in line with Assembly resolution 69/264 (further reductions). The proposed reductions will not have an impact on full and effective mandate implementation.
- 21.21 Resource changes in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 reflect proposals for freezing recruitment against established posts and for reductions in non-post resources that are anticipated in the biennium 2016-2017.
- 21.22 The proposed reductions will be influenced by the future impact of the deployment of Umoja (Umoja Foundation and Umoja Extension 1) by the end of 2015. Since it is too early to determine the specific future impact of Umoja, the proposed reductions, while firm in financial terms, are flexible in operational terms. The flexibility means that the specific composition of the post freezes, and the reorganization of functions and roles as a result of the freezes and abolishment of posts, will only be determined during 2016-2017, when the impact of Umoja becomes more clear.

21.23 The distribution of resources is reflected in tables 21.3 to 21.5 below.

Technical adjustments

- 21.24 Resource changes reflect the removal of non-recurrent requirements totalling $736,700 relating to one-time expenditures for the implementation of resolution 66/288, in which the General Assembly endorsed the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development, entitled “The future we want”.

New mandates and inter-component changes

- 21.25 The net increase of $120,600 is due to: (a) resources in the amount of $97,100 that have been provided in support of the establishment of the Regional Conference on Social Development in Latin America and the Caribbean, approved as a subsidiary organ of the Commission at the thirty-fifth session of ECLAC pursuant to resolution 682 (XXXV), subsequently endorsed by ECOSOC resolution E/2014/15/Add.1/Rev.1; and (b) resources for the proposed upward reclassification of 1 P-4 post to the P-5 level in the executive direction and management component, offset in part by the proposed redeployment of 1 P-4 from subprogramme 3, Macroeconomic policies and growth (Santiago) to subprogramme 13, Subregional activities in the Caribbean (Port of Spain), and the proposed abolishment of 1 Local level post in programme support.

Resource changes in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 (further reductions)

- 21.26 Resource changes of $485,400 are proposed in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264, under posts ($264,600) and non-posts ($220,800). The decrease of $264,600 under posts reflects proposals for freezing recruitment against established posts in subprogramme 3, Macroeconomic policies and growth.
- 21.27 The proposed decrease of $220,800 under non-post resources relates mainly to travel of staff and other staff costs that take into account the anticipated impact of the new standards of accommodation for air travel, and further efficiencies that the Commission plans to bring about in the biennium 2016-2017, in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264.

Resource changes in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 (efficiencies)

- 21.28 Resource changes of $872,500 are proposed in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264, under posts ($800,300) and non-posts ($72,200). The decrease of $800,300 under posts in the programme support component reflects proposals for freezing recruitment against established posts ($706,500) and the abolition of one post ($93,800).
- 21.29 The proposed decrease of $72,200 under non-post resources relates mainly to supplies and materials, general operating expenses and contractual services that take into account further efficiencies that the Commission plans to bring about in the biennium 2016-2017, in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264.

Other assessed and extrabudgetary resources

- 21.30 The projected extrabudgetary resources of $25,508,900, reflecting an increase of $508,700, as compared with revised estimates for the biennium 2014-2015, will be used for various studies and technical cooperation activities, including advisory services, assistance and support to the countries of the region, field projects on integration issues and training courses for policymakers to build institutional capacity to address poverty, social inequity and gender issues. As anticipated, over the past two bienniums, ECLAC has shown a continuous decrease of extrabudgetary resources, due, on the one hand, to the world financial crisis, and, on the other, to the trend of refocusing the main flows of development cooperation efforts to other geographical areas since most Latin American and Caribbean countries are currently considered as middle-income economies. In that regard, efforts are being undertaken to stabilize extrabudgetary resources, including by reaching out to non-traditional donors, in order to maintain the Organization's capacity to respond to the needs of Member States for technical cooperation.

Other information

- 21.31 Pursuant to General Assembly resolution 58/269, in which the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to ensure that resources dedicated to monitoring and evaluation functions were clearly identified in all sections of the proposed programme budget, the amount of $810,500 has been identified for monitoring, self-evaluation and evaluation activities. The provision, which represents a total of 48.1 work-months of Professional posts and 31.75 work-months of Local level posts, comprises $740,300 from regular budget post-related resources (reflected under each subprogramme) and $12,700 from extrabudgetary post-related resources; and $57,500 in non-post resources from extrabudgetary resources.
- 21.32 The publications programme, as part of the overall ECLAC programme of work, has been reviewed within each subprogramme. It is anticipated that recurrent and non-recurrent publications will be issued in the formats summarized in table 21.6 below and distributed according to the information on outputs described in each subprogramme.

- 21.56 The amount of $1,455,700, reflecting a net increase of $13,200, provides for the servicing of the meetings of ECLAC intergovernmental bodies.
- 21.57 The net increase of $13,200 is due mainly to increased requirements to implement a new mandate to establish the Regional Conference on Social Development in Latin America and the Caribbean ($97,100), offset in part by reductions in travel of staff that take into account the anticipated impact of the new standards of accommodation for air travel, and further efficiencies that the Commission plans to bring about in the biennium 2016-2017, in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 ($83,900).

B. Executive direction and management

Resource requirements (before recosting): $7,499,100

- 21.58 The Executive Secretary (USG), assisted by the Deputy Executive-Secretary (D-2), provides overall guidance, supervision and management to ECLAC to implement the legislative mandates and the approved programme of work. - 21.59 In addition, the Office of the Executive Secretary provides leadership and policy orientation and establishes the criteria to coordinate follow-up in the region on the implementation of the internationally agreed development goals, including the sustainable development goals (once adopted by the General Assembly), and the mainstreaming of other cross-cutting issues, such as gender and sustainability perspectives, throughout ECLAC substantive subprogrammes. In addition, it is responsible for coordinating its programme of work with other United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies in the region. The Office includes the Office of the secretariat of the Commission, which is responsible for maintaining political relations with the Governments and authorities of ECLAC member States and for performing diplomatic and protocol functions and is entrusted with servicing intergovernmental meetings.
- 21.60 The Programme Planning and Operations Division, headed by a staff member at the D-2 level, will continue to provide overall coordination, guidance and advice to the ECLAC subprogramme managers with respect to the formulation of the proposed biennial programme plan and priorities and its revisions; the preparation of the draft programme of work and the biennial report on the activities of the Commission, for consideration and adoption at the biennial session of the Commission; and the preparation of the biennial proposed programme budget and subsequent budget and programme performance reports.
- 21.61 The Division will continue to: (a) monitor and evaluate the implementation of the programme of work, including the mandatory self-assessment exercise and discretionary internal evaluations; (b) enhance the evaluation work by undertaking selected project, subprogramme and thematic evaluations according to the risks and needs of the organization; (c) carry out budget planning with a results-based orientation and further expand the results-based management practices of ECLAC; and (d) coordinate and provide guidance and supervision of the ECLAC technical cooperation programme and the relevant fund-raising activities, carried out in the Project Management Unit.

- 21.62 The Public Information Unit at ECLAC headquarters in Santiago is a component of executive direction and management. 21.65 The distribution of resources for executive direction and management is reflected in table 21.9 below.

Table 21.9 Resource requirements: executive direction and management

	Resources (thousands of United States dollars)		Posts
	2014-2015	2016-2017 (before recosting)	2014-2015	2016-2017

Extrabudgetary	1 207.0	1 207.0	1	1
Total	8 586.2	8 706.1	31	31

- 21.66 The amount of $7,499,100, reflecting a net increase of $119,900, provides for the financing of 30 posts (1 USG, 2 D-2, 4 P-5, 1 P-4, 2 P-3, 1 P-2, 18 Local level, 1 National Professional Officer) ($6,395,600) and for non-post requirements, including general temporary assistance, consultants, travel of staff, contractual services, general operating expenses, supplies and materials, and furniture and equipment ($1,103,500).
- 21.67 The net increase of $119,900 is due to net increased requirements under posts ($156,400); resulting from the proposed:
- (i) Inward redeployment of one P-3 post from the Project Management Unit, intended to support the formulation of the proposed strategic framework, the preparation of the draft programme of work of the Commission and the coordination of technical cooperation activities funded under the regular programme of technical cooperation and the Development Account ($237,200);

(iii) The outward redeployment of one Local level post to the Publications and Web Services Division ($132,300).

21.68 The above is offset in part by reductions in the travel of staff that take into account the anticipated impact of the new standards of accommodation for air travel and further efficiencies that the Department plans to bring about in biennium 2016-2017, in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 ($36,500).

21.69 During the biennium 2016-2017, extrabudgetary resources are expected to amount to $1,207,000 to support the activities carried out within this component.

External factors

21.87 The subprogramme is expected to achieve its objectives and expected accomplishments on the assumption that: (a) economic policies take into account the complex context faced by the region in order to progress towards achieving economic and social well-being for the people of Latin America and the Caribbean. The external context will be less favourable for the economic development of Latin America and the Caribbean, with global growth and commodity prices expected to be considerably more restrained than during much of the past decade, which will impose tighter conditions on the region’s economic development; and (b) the international community supports and attaches a high priority to the concerns and needs of ECLAC member States with respect to their macroeconomic policies and economically sustainable growth strategies in the context of the implementation of the post-2015 development agenda at the regional and international levels. In that regard, the guidelines established by the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council, as well as the internationally agreed development goals and instruments adopted at the world summits and conferences in the economic and social spheres, will be taken into account.

21.88 During the biennium 2016-2017, the following outputs will be delivered:

- (a) Servicing of intergovernmental and expert bodies (regular budget and extrabudgetary):
 - (i) Ad hoc expert groups: meeting of experts on a selected issue relating to linkages between Latin America and the Caribbean and the global economy (1); meeting of experts on a selected macroeconomic policy issue of high relevance to the region (1); meeting of experts on fiscal policy experiences in planning, budgeting and evaluation in the countries of the region (2);

- (c) Technical cooperation (regular budget and extrabudgetary):
 - (i) Advisory services: provision of technical cooperation services to countries of the region, upon request, in relation to:
 - a. The design and implementation of macroeconomic and long-term growth-enhancing policies (areas of cooperation may include macroeconomic policy coordination and the design and implementation of fiscal policies and structural reforms) (1);

- b. The development of systems for monitoring and modelling economic development and the design of analytical indicators (1);

21.89 The distribution of resources for subprogramme 3 is reflected in table 21.16 below.

- 21.90 The amount of $6,537,100, reflecting a decrease of $436,200, provides for the partial financing of 30 posts (1 D-1, 4 P-5, 5 P-4, 3 P-3, 5 P-2, 12 Local level) ($6,220,800) and for non-post requirements, including general temporary assistance, consultants, expert groups, and travel of staff ($316,300).
- 21.91 The decrease of $436,200 is due to: (a) freezing recruitment against established posts ($264,600); (b) the outward redeployment of one P-4 post from the Economic Development Division (subprogramme 3) to the subregional headquarters for the Caribbean (subprogramme 13), offset in part by the inward redeployment of one Local level post from the General Services Section in the Division of Administration (programme support) to the Economic Development Division (subprogramme 3) ($161,600); and (c) reductions in travel of staff that take into account the anticipated impact of the new standards of accommodation for air travel, and further efficiencies that the Department plans to bring about in the biennium 2016-2017, in line with General Assembly resolution 69/264 ($10,000).
- 21.92 During the biennium 2016-2017, extrabudgetary resources are expected to amount to $3,999,800 and will be used to provide, upon request, advisory and technical cooperation services to countries, support training activities and strengthen the capacities of government entities and regional bodies in the design and implementation of suitable macroeconomic and long-term growth-enhancing policies with an emphasis on macroeconomic policy coordination, the design and implementation of fiscal policies and structural reforms, the development of systems for monitoring and modelling economic development and the design of analytical indicators. Specific activities will be undertaken in the context of technical cooperation projects to analyse and review the performance of Latin American and Caribbean economies and to study issues related but not limited to employment dynamics in Argentina; credit and financial markets in Brazil, their evolution in the first decade of the twenty-first century and their contribution to economic growth and income distribution in that period; relevant aspects for the region of the economic situation in Colombia and the measurement of economic and social variables in Colombia.

Subprogramme 4 Financing for development

Resource requirements (before recosting): $1,837,900

- 21.93 Responsibility for implementation of the subprogramme rests with the Financing for Development Division.
- 21.94 The subprogramme will be implemented in accordance with the strategy detailed under subprogramme 4 of programme 18 of the biennial programme plan for the period 2016-2017.

Table 21.17 Objectives for the biennium, expected accomplishments, indicators of achievement and performance measures

	Estimate		4	–
	Actual			–

External factors

- 21.95 The subprogramme is expected to achieve its objectives and expected accomplishments on the assumption that: (a) the international community supports and attaches a high priority to the concerns and concrete needs of ECLAC member States with respect to financial policies for development; and (b) the development of financial policy and linkages with global financial markets and the tools to access them will be subject to how the external context evolves. The Latin American and Caribbean region faces a very unpredictable international scenario, with the prospect of greater financial volatility of private and official capital flows and real volatility in the terms of trade. In that context, it is difficult to predict how the external context will evolve and whether there will be a prolonged period of stagnation or, worse, new recessions in developed economies.

Outputs

21.96 During the biennium 2016-2017, the following outputs will be delivered:
