Point 117 de l'ordre du jour

La Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies

Activités menées par le système des Nations Unies pour appliquer la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies

Rapport du Secrétaire général

I. Introduction

1. En 2006, l'Assemblée générale a adopté la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies (résolution 60/288) par consensus et, depuis, l'examine tous les deux ans. Les quatre résolutions qui ont résulté de ces examens complètent la Stratégie et donnent des orientations concernant sa mise en œuvre. Dans sa résolution 68/276, l'Assemblée a prié le Secrétaire général de lui présenter un rapport en avril 2016 au plus tard. Le présent rapport et les recommandations qui y sont formulées visent à encourager les échanges de vues sur les thèmes exposés il y a 10 ans dans la Stratégie en insistant davantage sur l'importance cruciale que revêt une coopération internationale globale et résolue dans la prévention efficace de l'extrémisme violent et la lutte contre le terrorisme et sur le rôle que l'Organisation des Nations Unies devrait jouer dans le renforcement de cette coopération.

2. L'Assemblée a clairement indiqué que c'était aux États Membres qu'il incombaît au premier chef d'appliquer la Stratégie. Elle a également considéré que les organismes des Nations Unies avaient un rôle important à jouer, s'agissant de la promotion d'une application cohérente et coordonnée de la Stratégie aux échelons national, régional et international et de la mise à disposition d'une assistance aux États Membres qui en font la demande. Le Secrétariat, les organismes, fonds et programmes des Nations Unies et les organisations apparentées contribuent à l'application de la Stratégie dans le cadre de leurs mandats respectifs et en tant que membres de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme. Celle-ci compte actuellement 38 membres et son bureau, qui relève du Département des affaires politiques, est chargé de promouvoir la coordination et la cohérence de l'action menée par les membres sous la direction du Secrétaire général adjoint aux affaires politiques.

3. Le présent rapport rend compte des changements importants qui se sont produits au cours des 10 dernières années dans le domaine du terrorisme mondial, ainsi que des difficultés et des perspectives qui s'y présentent, et souligne l'importance que revêt la coopération internationale dans la réalisation efficace des objectifs de la Stratégie. Il comporte en conclusion des recommandations sur la voie à suivre. Des informations complémentaires sont également fournies dans deux pièces jointes, dont : une liste des instruments juridiques internationaux et des résolutions de l'Assemblée générale et du Conseil de sécurité relatifs au terrorisme et un résumé des principales activités menées par les entités des Nations Unies dans le cadre de l'application de la Stratégie, suivi d'un tableau récapitulatif des projets qu'elles ont mis en place dans le monde entier pour lutter contre le terrorisme.

II. Évolution de la situation depuis l'adoption de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies

4. Si d'importants progrès ont marqué la mise en œuvre de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies depuis son adoption en 2006, des obstacles imprévus sont également apparus, notamment avec l'émergence d'un nouveau type de menaces contre la paix et la sécurité internationales. La propagation d'idéologies extrémistes violentes et l'émergence de groupes terroristes alimentée par ces idéologies posent le défi le plus grave. L'extrémisme violent est un phénomène multiforme, qui échappe à toute définition claire. Néanmoins, au cours des dernières années, des groupes terroristes comme l'État islamique d'Iraq et du Levant (EIIL), Al-Qaida et Boko Haram ont façonné l'image que nous avons du terrorisme et de l'extrémisme violent et influencé le débat sur les moyens de lutter contre cette menace. La réalité de ces groupes dépasse les frontières nationales, d'où la nécessité de renforcer la coopération internationale pour prévenir, contrecarrer et combattre la menace qu'ils représentent.

5. Divers phénomènes ont alimenté les rancœurs et les frustrations, notamment : l'incapacité de la communauté internationale à régler des conflits prolongés et à empêcher de nouveaux conflits; les interventions militaires; le mépris du droit international, y compris les droits de l'homme et le droit international humanitaire; l'application insuffisante des résolutions du Conseil de sécurité et de l'Assemblée générale; la stigmatisation croissante de certaines religions, ethnies et cultures; l'incapacité de remédier aux problèmes de gouvernance; la lenteur du développement socioéconomique et la persistance de la marginalisation et de l'exclusion dans certaines sociétés; et l'aggravation des inégalités entre les États et à l'intérieur des États. Ces phénomènes témoignent des difficultés qu'éprouve la communauté internationale à éliminer les conditions qui favorisent la propagation du terrorisme et de l'extrémisme violent.

6. Ces dernières années, les groupes terroristes et les groupes extrémistes violents ont causé des dégâts considérables. Les chiffres sont alarmants : des milliers de civils ont été tués ou blessés lors d'attentats terroristes au cours des dix dernières années et des millions d'hommes, de femmes et d'enfants ont été déplacés ou contraints de fuir leurs foyers. Les femmes et les enfants sont les plus durement touchés, un grand nombre d'entre eux ayant été abusés sexuellement et réduits en esclavage.

7. Pour une bonne part, les situations de détresse vécues sont la conséquence directe de conflits et de guerres qui se sont multipliés et intensifiés depuis 2008 et qui, dans de nombreux cas, sont caractérisés par l'implication de terroristes. L'Organisation des Nations Unies a elle-même été touchée, des missions et équipes de pays en Afrique, au Moyen-Orient et en Asie ayant subi des attaques. La lutte contre le terrorisme a ainsi pris une part grandissante dans les préoccupations du Conseil de sécurité.

8. Selon Global Terrorism Database, site Internet largement consulté, en 2006, le monde a été le théâtre de 2 729 attentats terroristes, dont un grand nombre ont eu lieu en Afghanistan, en Iraq et dans d'autres zones de conflits. Le nombre des attentats a augmenté les deux années suivantes, passant à 3 236 en 2007 et à 4 779 en 2008. Il a légèrement diminué en 2009, passant à 4 713, avant de remonter, en 2010, à 4 782 attentats. Depuis lors, ce chiffre a fortement grimpé, quadruplant pratiquement en l'espace de quatre ans pour atteindre 16 818 en 2014. Cette multiplication des attaques, notamment depuis 2012, est due à la montée en puissance de l'État islamique d'Iraq et du Levant et d'Al-Qaida à la suite des guerres en Iraq, en République arabe syrienne et au Yémen, où ils contrôlent un territoire étendu.

9. En 2006, les groupes terroristes disposaient d'une certaine liberté de mouvement depuis leurs bases situées dans des zones non gouvernées. Dans certains pays majoritairement musulmans, Al-Qaida a cherché à jouer un rôle de chef de file, préparant le terrain en vue d'une prise de contrôle de l'État. Son succès, qui est resté limité, s'est traduit par de nombreux décès, touchant presque toujours des musulmans. Al-Qaida a néanmoins ouvert la voie qui a permis l'émergence d'une forme plus implacable et plus résolue du terrorisme. Al-Qaida en Iraq est devenue l'État islamique d'Iraq en 2006, puis l'État islamique d'Iraq et du Levant en 2013, pour finir par s'appeler simplement l'État islamique tout en déclarant le rétablissement du califat en 2014.

10. On ne peut guère distinguer l'EIIL d'Al-Qaida si l'on s'en tient à leurs idéaux et à leurs objectifs ultimes. Toutefois, leurs tactiques diffèrent. Depuis sa création, Al-Qaida a jugé qu'il devait faire preuve de patience, alors que l'EIIL prône l'action rapide. Ce dernier s'est emparé de territoires et a fait du renforcement et de l'élargissement de sa mainmise les piliers de sa politique. L'EIIL, qui contrôle toujours une zone importante de l'Iraq et de la République arabe syrienne, a étendu son rayon d'action par l'intermédiaire de groupes affiliés en Afrique de l'Ouest, en Libye et au Yémen et revendique également des « provinces » dans d'autres pays. L'un de ses affiliés, Boko Haram, s'est rendu particulièrement notoire par ses actes meurtriers. L'EIIL a également inspiré, encouragé ou dirigé des attaques dans des pays éloignés tels que l'Australie, le Bangladesh, la Belgique, le Canada, les États-Unis d'Amérique, la France, l'Indonésie, le Pakistan, la Somalie et la Turquie. En outre, il a attiré des recrues de plus de 80 pays, d'où une menace potentielle pour la sécurité, liée à la perspective du retour de ces combattants dans leur pays. Poussé à l'émulation, Al-Qaida et ses affiliés ont pris le contrôle de territoires, notamment en République arabe syrienne, en Somalie et au Yémen et continuent d'organiser des attentats en Europe et en Afrique du Nord, de l'Ouest et de l'Est, ainsi qu'en Asie.

11. Les groupes terroristes transnationaux ont généralement eu moins de difficultés à survivre que ceux dont les aspirations se cantonnent à un pays, ce qui donne à penser que la coopération internationale a été moins efficace que l'action menée au niveau national. Deux groupes font encore exception : les Taliban en Afghanistan et les Chabab en Somalie, qui n'ont pas faibli parce que les gouvernements de leurs pays ne disposent toujours pas des capacités, des ressources et de l'appui nécessaires pour les vaincre.

12. Les tactiques terroristes ont également évolué. Les attentats-suicides sont devenus plus fréquents, tout comme les attaques complexes particulièrement meurtrières organisées par des groupes d'assaillants agissant ensemble dans un ou plusieurs endroits et décidés à mourir. Les attaques peu coûteuses, qui n'exigent qu'un minimum de formation et de planification mais ont un impact considérable, sont de plus en plus fréquentes. Les terroristes sont désormais plus susceptibles d'agir seuls ou en petits groupes, davantage inspirés que dirigés par des organisations terroristes connues, attaquant à l'heure et à l'endroit choisis par chaque individu, ce qui les rend quasiment impossibles à détecter.

13. La tolérance croissante dont des États font preuve vis-à-vis du terrorisme, en particulier lorsqu'il vise des adversaires, constitue une autre tendance préoccupante. Ce faisant, ces États sous-estiment les effets profondément destructeurs du terrorisme pour la paix et la sécurité nationales et internationales. Le terrorisme reste une menace commune et une préoccupation partagée, quelles que soient ses cibles immédiates.

14. Le rôle des médias et l'utilisation des médias sociaux par les groupes terroristes et extrémistes violents ont pris une nouvelle dimension et doivent par conséquent être davantage pris en compte. Même les complots déjoués attirent l'attention des médias, ce qui sert le dessein de leurs instigateurs de semer la peur et de provoquer des réactions. Le risque existe ainsi que les médias confortent la position des groupes terroristes et attirent de nouvelles recrues. Les progrès de la technologie des communications, en particulier de l'Internet, ont donné une plus grande portée aux messages et influencé les modes de recrutement. Les groupes terroristes et extrémistes violents ont fait preuve d'adaptation et d'inventivité en exploitant les sentiments de désillusion, d'injustice et d'exclusion chez les jeunes marginalisés, y compris les femmes et les filles, et leur désir de donner un sens à leur existence. La plupart des nouvelles recrues ont aujourd'hui entre 17 et 27 ans, présentent différents niveaux d'instruction et sont issus de milieux socioéconomiques divers, d'où la difficulté de comprendre et de contrer l'attrait qu'exerce le terrorisme et les problèmes qu'éprouve la communauté internationale à lutter efficacement contre ce phénomène. La nécessité de protéger le droit à la liberté d'expression de chacun doit être mise en balance avec la nécessité de protéger des personnes vulnérables de l'incitation à la haine, à la discrimination ou à la violence.

III. Mesures prises par la communauté internationale pour répondre à l'évolution de la menace terroriste

15. Le fait que la situation décrite ci-dessus ait pris forme et se soit même aggravée alors que la communauté internationale a investi davantage de ressources dans la lutte contre le terrorisme suscite de profondes interrogations :

a) Les États Membres ont-ils suffisamment appliqué les normes et les instruments juridiques pertinents non seulement pour lutter contre le terrorisme mais également pour éliminer les conditions propices à son émergence?

b) Les organismes des Nations Unies ont-ils réussi à fournir aux États Membres l'aide dont ils avaient besoin pour prévenir l'extrémisme violent et lutter contre le terrorisme?

c) Avant tout, les outils et les ressources dont dispose la communauté internationale pour la prévention suffisent-ils pour relever les défis posés par le terrorisme et l'extrémisme violent?

16. L'adoption de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies a donné lieu à un consensus international sans précédent quant à la nécessité d'une action conjointe contre le terrorisme. L'une des grandes réussites de la Stratégie a consisté à préserver l'entente sur le fait que tous les États Membres sont touchés par le problème du terrorisme et gagnent donc à participer à l'action. Le Secrétaire général est fermement convaincu que la Stratégie est aussi pertinente aujourd'hui qu'elle l'était il y a 10 ans. La coopération internationale, qui passe par une mise en œuvre effective de la Stratégie, est non seulement souhaitable mais également plus urgente que jamais. Pour une mise en œuvre plus réussie, la communauté internationale doit à nouveau s'engager à appliquer les quatre piliers de la Stratégie de manière globale et équilibrée. Les États Membres disposent de moyens accrus pour prévenir et combattre le terrorisme et l'Organisation des Nations Unies joue un rôle plus important en matière de renforcement des capacités. Néanmoins, l'ampleur des interventions menées n'a permis ni d'éliminer les conditions propices à l'expansion du terrorisme ni de garantir le respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit dans la lutte antiterroriste.

17. Le Plan d'action pour la prévention de l'extrémisme violent, présenté par le Secrétaire général (voir A/70/674) a pour but de renforcer les mesures destinées à éliminer les conditions propices à l'expansion du terrorisme et de l'extrémisme violent en abordant la question plus en amont et en dépassant le cadre d'intervention traditionnel afin de prévenir l'extrémisme violent et de lutter ainsi contre le terrorisme. Cette démarche est conforme à l'importance que le Secrétaire général attache à la prévention sous tous ses aspects et confirme la nécessité de la prévention, telle qu'elle a été soulignée dans les examens et processus de haut niveau qui ont eu lieu en 2015, notamment l'examen réalisé par le Groupe indépendant de haut niveau chargé d'étudier les opérations de paix (voir A/70/95-S/2015/446) et le rapport de suivi du Secrétaire général sur l'avenir des opérations de paix des Nations Unies (A/70/357-S/2015/682), l'étude mondiale sur les femmes et la paix et la sécurité et l'examen du dispositif de consolidation de la paix des Nations Unies par un groupe d'experts (A/69/968-S/2015/490).

18. À mesure que l'on s'achemine vers la prochaine décennie, il importe de renforcer davantage la coopération internationale pour lutter contre le terrorisme et prévenir l'extrémisme violent avec une plus grande efficacité. Il convient, à cette fin, de commencer par dresser un bilan sans concession des 10 années écoulées depuis l'adoption de la Stratégie.

A. Élaboration d'un cadre normatif et juridique

19. Pour relever le défi qui se pose à elle, la communauté internationale a élaboré un cadre juridique et mis en place un dispositif pour son application judicieuse. L'Organisation des Nations Unies a joué un rôle de premier plan dans l'élaboration du cadre juridique et normatif international destiné à la lutte contre le terrorisme sous toutes ses formes. Pour l'heure, ce cadre comprend les conventions et protocoles internationaux relatifs au terrorisme et aux droits de l'homme, la Stratégie et les résolutions de l'Assemblée générale et du Conseil de sécurité sur la question (voir annexe I).

20. En outre, les États Membres poursuivent les négociations concernant une convention générale sur le terrorisme international afin de renforcer encore la coopération internationale. Beaucoup ont également mis au point leur propre cadre législatif national sur la base du cadre international existant et coopèrent aux niveaux bilatéral et régional pour renforcer la lutte contre le terrorisme.

B. Progrès accomplis par les États Membres et les organismes des Nations Unies dans l'application de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies

21. Les États Membres ont déployé des efforts considérables pour appliquer les quatre piliers de la Stratégie. De nombreux États ont également œuvré aux niveaux bilatéral et multilatéral en vue de promouvoir la coopération régionale et internationale en faveur de la lutte contre le terrorisme. Le Secrétariat a reçu des États Membres ci-après des rapports dans lesquels ils rendent compte des mesures qu'ils ont prises pour appliquer la Stratégie : l'Albanie, l'Allemagne, l'Argentine, l'Australie, l'Autriche, le Bélarus, la Belgique, le Brésil, la Bulgarie, le Cambodge, le Canada, Chypre, Cuba, les Émirats arabes unis, les États-Unis d'Amérique, la Fédération de Russie, la Finlande, la France, la Géorgie, la Grèce, la Hongrie, l'Inde, l'Iraq, Israël, le Japon, le Kazakhstan, la Lettonie, le Liban, la Norvège, Oman, les Pays-Bas, le Royaume-Uni de Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande du Nord, la Serbie, la Slovénie, le Soudan, la Suisse, la Thaïlande, l'Ukraine et la Zambie. En outre, l'Association des nations de l'Asie du Sud-Est et l'Union européenne ont rendu compte de leurs activités à l'appui de la Stratégie. Ces rapports peuvent être consultés sur demande par tous les États Membres auprès du Bureau de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme (Département des affaires politiques).

22. Parallèlement, les organismes des Nations Unies ayant pour principal mandat la lutte contre le terrorisme et ceux ayant des programmes et activités dans ce domaine ont continué d'aider les États Membres à appliquer la Stratégie. Quelques-unes des principales activités menées par ces entités depuis le dernier examen réalisé en 2014 sont énumérées à l'annexe II, qui comprend également une liste des activités des organismes des Nations Unies.

C. Coordination, cohérence et démarche intégrée des Nations Unies

23. À la suite du précédent rapport du Secrétaire général, dans lequel il s'est engagé à renforcer davantage la coordination et la cohérence dans l'ensemble du système des Nations Unies pour fournir aux États membres une assistance en matière de lutte contre le terrorisme en appliquant le principe d'Unité d'action, des progrès ont été réalisés. En 2014 et 2015, plusieurs groupes de travail interorganisations de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme ont été réorganisés par thème afin de faire face aux nouveaux problèmes.

24. Le moment est venu de mobiliser et de conjuguer les efforts en vue d'appliquer de manière plus systématique une démarche intégrée des Nations Unies. Il convient de mieux intégrer les initiatives et de les orienter vers un objectif commun, en mettant au point des solutions multiformes.

25. Concrètement, cela signifie que les entités qui interviennent directement dans la lutte contre le terrorisme et l'extrémisme violent devraient élaborer des stratégies en coopération et que celles qui jouent un rôle indirect devraient veiller à ce que leurs activités tiennent compte de la nécessité de prévenir l'extrémisme violent et de combattre le terrorisme. Pour cela, les entités membres doivent collaborer plus étroitement par l'intermédiaire de l'Équipe spéciale, favorisant ainsi la circulation des informations, des ressources et des compétences, de manière à renforcer l'application du principe de responsabilité, l'efficacité et les résultats des activités sur le terrain. La prise en main par les pays est essentielle à la réussite et les activités doivent toujours être en accord avec celles menées par les gouvernements hôtes et les personnes qu'elles visent à aider.

26. Tout l'intérêt de la démarche intégrée des Nations Unies a été démontré sur le plan thématique et technique lors de la coordination de l'élaboration d'un plan de mise en œuvre des projets prioritaires de renforcement des capacités visant à endiguer le flot de combattants terroristes étrangers, comme l'a recommandé le Conseil de sécurité (voir S/PRST/2015/11). Un groupe de travail spécial interinstitutions sur les combattants terroristes étrangers de l'Équipe spéciale a recensé, pour la première phase, 37 projets complémentaires de renforcement des capacités que 12 entités des Nations Unies devront mettre en œuvre en ce qui concerne les domaines prioritaires définis dans le cadre de l'évaluation de l'importance des projets par la Direction exécutive du Comité contre le terrorisme. Ces projets doivent aborder l'intégralité du parcours des combattants terroristes étrangers, notamment leur radicalisation, leur entraînement, les voyages dans les zones de conflit, leur financement, les combats auxquels ils ont participé, leur retour potentiel et la reprise de leurs activités, ainsi que leur réinsertion et leur réadaptation s'ils rentrent chez eux.

27. L'Initiative d'assistance intégrée pour la lutte antiterroriste de l'Équipe spéciale est un autre exemple de la démarche intégrée des Nations Unies : elle réunit plusieurs entités des Nations Unies dans le but de fournir aux États Membres qui en font la demande une aide coordonnée et cohérente en vue de renforcer leurs capacités. Toutes les entités du système des Nations Unies dans le pays demandeur, notamment le Coordonnateur résident, le Représentant spécial et d'autres membres de l'équipe de pays des Nations Unies, sont partenaires pendant toute la durée des projets. S'il continue d'appuyer les programmes d'assistance intégrée pour la lutte antiterroriste au Mali et au Nigéria, afin de répondre aux menaces auxquelles doivent faire face les pays du Sahel, le Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme envisage d'étendre son initiative d'assistance intégrée pour la lutte antiterroriste à l'ensemble du Groupe de cinq pays du Sahel et à certains pays de l'Afrique de l'Ouest, à leur demande, comme l'a encouragé le Conseil de sécurité dans sa résolution 2195 (2014) et dans la déclaration de son président en date du 8 décembre 2015 (S/PRST/2015/24).

28. Le Secrétaire général ne doute pas que la démarche intégrée des Nations Unies contribuera à ce que les priorités de la lutte contre le terrorisme soient prises en compte dans l'ensemble des organismes des Nations Unies et harmonisées entre eux, conformément au programme général de prévention de l'Organisation des Nations Unies.

IV. Renforcement de la collaboration internationale pour la prochaine décennie

29. Dans la mesure où le terrorisme et l'extrémisme violent continuent d'évoluer dans des directions nouvelles et imprévisibles, les initiatives engagées pour lutter contre ces phénomènes doivent également évoluer. Il faut renforcer la coopération et la collaboration internationales dans des domaines cruciaux de la lutte contre le terrorisme à l'échelon mondial, régional et sous-régional. Il importe également de promouvoir la coopération Nord-Sud et Sud-Sud, de manière à ce que les meilleures pratiques des États les plus touchés soient mises en commun suffisamment tôt pour aider à prévenir l'expansion du terrorisme et de l'extrémisme violent à d'autres pays.

A. Mesures visant à promouvoir la mise en œuvre équilibrée des quatre piliers de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies

30. Dans son précédent rapport (A/68/841), le Secrétaire général a souligné que le succès de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale reposait sur une mise en œuvre équilibrée de ses quatre piliers. En ce qui concerne le pilier II de la Stratégie, on comprendra que de nombreux États Membres aient utilisé leurs maigres ressources principalement pour développer et renforcer leur appareil de sécurité et leur système de justice pénale en vue de lutter contre le terrorisme. Toutefois, si les mesures de répression et de sécurité ont été renforcées, l'attention et les ressources consacrées aux activités de prévention sont insuffisantes. Les questions et obligations liées aux droits de l'homme, essentielles dans la lutte contre le terrorisme, ne figurent malheureusement pas en tête de liste des priorités de plusieurs États Membres.

31. De nouveaux signes encourageants donnent à penser que les États Membres commencent à se concentrer sur les piliers I et IV de la Stratégie, mais il faudra redoubler d'efforts. L'élimination des conditions qui favorisent la propagation du terrorisme, comme le prévoit le pilier I, doit être placée au cœur des activités de prévention. Dans le même temps, il faut également reconnaître l'importance du rôle et des besoins des femmes et des filles, qui font de plus en plus les frais du terrorisme et sont radicalisées et recrutées par les groupes terroristes. Dans le cadre de la prévention, il est tout aussi important de mettre l'accent sur les jeunes. Une action efficace dans ce domaine entraînerait un regain d'intérêt pour la prévention et la résolution des conflits, le renforcement du dialogue, de l'entente et de l'inclusion sociale, un développement socioéconomique équitable et juste et la promotion du rôle constructif que les femmes et les jeunes peuvent jouer dans la société.

32. De même, la communauté internationale ne peut pas se permettre de créer davantage de terroristes tout en essayant de lutter contre eux. L'importance du pilier IV de la Stratégie, qui met l'accent sur le respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit dans la lutte antiterroriste, ne saurait être sous-estimée. Le Secrétaire général note avec satisfaction que les États Membres ont commencé à demander à l'Organisation des Nations Unies de les aider à sensibiliser et à former les membres des forces de l'ordre et de sécurité dans ce domaine crucial.

B. Prévention de l'extrémisme violent

33. L'extrémisme violent, tout comme le terrorisme, est une menace pour tous les États Membres, que ce soit directement ou indirectement. Depuis quelques années, face à l'extrémisme violent, la communauté internationale s'est principalement attachée à lutter contre la menace qu'il représente. Ces efforts doivent se poursuivre, mais il est également nécessaire d'élargir l'angle d'attaque, d'intervenir plus tôt et de s'attaquer aux causes de l'extrémisme violent.

34. Le Plan d'action pour la prévention de l'extrémisme violent aborde la question sous l'angle de la prévention, complétant et renforçant ainsi les piliers I et IV de la Stratégie. Il énonce une série de mesures visant à prévenir l'extrémisme violent en amont, en adoptant une démarche pratique pour s'attaquer aux facteurs sous-jacents de l'extrémisme violent à l'échelle nationale, régionale et mondiale. La plupart de ses 70 recommandations sont adressées aux États Membres, qui ont la responsabilité première de sa prévention.

35. La principale recommandation du Plan d'action prévoit que chaque État Membre envisage d'élaborer un plan d'action national pour la prévention de l'extrémisme violent, en tenant compte des facteurs locaux et nationaux. Ces plans devraient suivre une démarche intégrée à l'échelle du gouvernement ou de la société pour favoriser les synergies entre tous les acteurs. Le Plan d'action propose également de compléter les plans nationaux par des plans régionaux et sous-régionaux.

36. Le Secrétaire général a suggéré que les plans nationaux et régionaux comprennent des éléments qui reflètent les sept domaines prioritaires : le dialogue et la prévention des conflits; le renforcement de la bonne gouvernance, du respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit; la participation des populations; la mobilisation des jeunes; l'égalité des sexes et l'autonomisation des femmes; l'éducation, le renforcement des compétences et la facilitation de l'accès à l'emploi; la communication stratégique, notamment par le truchement d'Internet et des réseaux sociaux.

37. Les États Membres devront prendre l'initiative de l'élaboration et de la mise en œuvre de plans d'action nationaux et régionaux visant à prévenir l'extrémisme violent. Les organismes des Nations Unies pourront les aider dans cette tâche et devront par ailleurs examiner leurs activités afin de s'assurer qu'ils font tout leur possible pour aider les États à s'attaquer aux causes de l'extrémisme violent au niveau local et que toutes les entités compétentes collaborent pour produire des résultats spécifiques dans les sept domaines prioritaires définis.

38. Les 7 et 8 avril 2016, le Secrétaire Général a coprésidé la Conférence de Genève sur la prévention de l'extrémisme violent : la voie à suivre, avec le Ministre suisse des affaires étrangères, Didier Burkhalter. En tout, 745 participants de 125 États Membres, 23 organisations internationales et régionales, 26 entités des Nations Unies, et 67 organisations de la société civile et entreprises privées y ont assisté. Le Secrétaire général s'est félicité que son appel à l'action et à l'unité dans la mise en œuvre du Plan d'action ait été suivi d'une réponse résolue. Lors de la Conférence, on a pu définir les points de convergence et examiner les différents points de vue concernant la prévention de l'extrémisme violent. La Conférence a également été l'occasion d'étudier plus avant le Plan d'action, dans le cadre de l'examen de la Stratégie par l'Assemblée générale.

C. Le rôle de l'Organisation des Nations Unies dans le renforcement de la coopération internationale

39. L'ONU est bien placée pour renforcer la collaboration à l'échelon national, régional et mondial. Sa composition lui donne une capacité de rassemblement inégalée qui peut être mise à profit pour accroître la mobilisation politique en faveur d'un renforcement de la coopération internationale dans des domaines spécifiques de la lutte contre le terrorisme. L'Organisation peut s'appuyer sur les ressources et les compétences de ses différents membres pour aider d'autres États Membres, d'autant que nombre d'entre eux se tournent de plus en plus souvent vers elle lorsqu'ils ont besoin d'aide. Les organismes des Nations Unies ont su se montrer à la hauteur en rassemblant les ressources nécessaires à la réalisation de programmes essentiels. Toutefois, des efforts supplémentaires sont nécessaires. Les besoins sont particulièrement importants en ce qui concerne les projets visant à renforcer les capacités nationales. Dans divers domaines de la lutte contre le terrorisme, il est crucial d'aider les pays à renforcer leurs capacités, notamment dans le cadre d'initiatives de formation des formateurs.

40. Une solide coopération internationale peut également être utile pour ce qui est d'élaborer et de diffuser des pratiques optimales destinées à orienter les politiques des États Membres qui cherchent à mettre en place des mesures conformes aux droits de l'homme, ceci afin de lutter légalement et efficacement contre les nouvelles menaces, et l'Organisation peut apporter son aide dans ce domaine. À cet égard, le Secrétaire général est conscient de la précieuse contribution que les organisations régionales et internationales telles que l'Union européenne, le Conseil de l'Europe et l'Organisation pour la sécurité et la coopération en Europe ont apportée à l'élaboration et à la diffusion des meilleures pratiques pertinentes. L'ONU continuera de collaborer avec ces organisations et redoublera d'efforts pour mettre au point des pratiques optimales qui profitent à tous les États Membres.

41. De nombreuses entités des Nations Unies aident activement les États Membres à renforcer leurs capacités dans des domaines cruciaux de la lutte contre le terrorisme. Le Secrétaire général remercie la Direction exécutive du Comité contre le terrorisme, l'Équipe d'appui analytique et de surveillance des sanctions créée par les résolutions 1526 (2004) et 2253 (2015) du Conseil de sécurité concernant l'EIIL (Daech), Al-Qaida, les Talibans et les personnes et entités qui leur sont associées, l'Office des Nations Unies contre la drogue et le crime (ONUDC), le Bureau des affaires de désarmement de l'ONU, l'Organisation de l'aviation civile internationale (OACI), l'Agence internationale de l'énergie atomique, le Groupe d'experts du Comité créé par la résolution 1540 (2004), le Fonds monétaire International (FMI), le Département des opérations de maintien de la paix, le Département des affaires politiques, l’Alliance des civilisations de l’Organisation des Nations Unies, l’Institut interrégional de recherche des Nations Unies sur la criminalité et la justice, le Programme des Nations Unies pour le développement, le Haut-Commissariat des Nations Unies aux droits de l’homme, ainsi que toutes les autres entités pour leur précieuse contribution à ces efforts. Avec la création du Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme, il existe désormais de nouveaux moyens de favoriser l’assistance au renforcement des capacités concernant les quatre piliers de la Stratégie.

42. Au cours des deux dernières années, le Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme a été salué par l’Assemblée générale, le Conseil de sécurité et les États Membres pour les activités qu’il a menées en vue de renforcer la capacité des États Membres à appliquer la Stratégie. Un nouveau programme quinquennal pour la période 2016-2020 a été présenté en décembre 2015 pour fournir une orientation stratégique sur un plus petit nombre de projets plus importants. Le Centre a recensé 12 domaines thématiques clefs regroupés sous quatre grands objectifs au titre desquels il contribuera à la pleine mise en œuvre de la Stratégie à l’échelle mondiale, régionale et nationale : la répression et la prévention de l’extrémisme violent, la lutte contre le terrorisme, les droits de l’homme et l’aide aux victimes et la coopération internationale.

V. Observations et recommandations

Programme pour la coopération internationale

43. Le terrorisme bafoue les principes fondamentaux des Nations Unies et ne se justifie en aucun cas. Il ne peut être associé à une religion, une nationalité, une civilisation ou un groupe ethnique. La diabolisation de certaines religions, ethnies ou cultures est contraire aux droits de l’homme, nourrit les discours extrémistes et encourage la xénophobie, cela pouvant nuire irrémédiablement aux efforts de prévention de l’extrémisme violent et du terrorisme.

44. La pertinence de la Stratégie antiterroriste mondiale des Nations Unies dépend d’une coopération solide entre les États Membres aux niveaux mondial, régional et national. Le Secrétaire général s’engage à encourager la participation universelle et à accentuer le pouvoir rassembleur de l’Organisation des Nations Unies aux fins du renforcement de cette coopération.

45. La lutte contre le terrorisme exige un consensus international. La Stratégie, en tant que document de consensus adopté par l’Assemblée générale, constitue une base solide à partir de laquelle les États Membres peuvent collaborer et doit être préservée et renforcée. Le présent programme pour la coopération internationale se fonde sur la Stratégie et hiérarchise les principales mesures qui renforceront la mise en œuvre équilibrée de ses quatre piliers. Les interventions militaires nécessaires à court terme doivent être complétées par des mesures de prévention à moyen et à long terme, reposant sur le respect des droits de l’homme et de l’état de droit.

46. C’est aux États Membres qu’il incombe au premier chef d’appliquer la Stratégie. Toutefois, les organismes des Nations Unies, dans le cadre de l’Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme, jouent également un rôle important dans sa mise en œuvre aux niveaux national, régional et mondial. Il est nécessaire de se référer à des pratiques optimales pour orienter les États Membres. Le Secrétaire général s'engage à ce que les organismes des Nations Unies continuent d'élaborer et de diffuser les pratiques optimales et les connaissances relatives aux domaines de la lutte contre le terrorisme qui se rapportent aux quatre piliers de la Stratégie et dont les États Membres pourront tirer parti.

47. Le Secrétaire général est heureux de constater qu'il existe à présent plusieurs instances internationales et régionales qui, comme le Forum mondial de lutte contre le terrorisme, contribuent à la mise en œuvre de la Stratégie. Il prie instamment toutes ces organisations de collaborer avec l'ONU en vue d'harmoniser leurs actions et de favoriser ainsi la mise en œuvre efficace et coordonnée de la Stratégie.

48. L'ONU doit répondre à des demandes toujours plus grandes en matière d'assistance pour le renforcement des capacités dans la lutte contre le terrorisme, mais ses ressources sont limitées. À titre d'exemple, le Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme dispose d'un budget annuel de seulement 20 millions de dollars à consacrer à des projets de renforcement des capacités dans tous les États Membres, alors que certains États dépensent des milliards de dollars chaque année dans les activités militaires engagées contre le terrorisme. Dans un souci d'efficacité, l'ONU doit se montrer stratégique et apporter en priorité son aide aux régions et pays les plus touchés. Le Secrétaire général appelle tous les États Membres à appuyer les efforts déployés par tous les organismes des Nations Unies, en mobilisant davantage de ressources, à la fois en termes de financement et de compétences techniques. À cet égard, il salue la récente décision du Comité d'aide au développement de l'Organisation de coopération et de développement économiques de tenir compte du financement par les États Membres de plusieurs activités de paix et de sécurité, y compris dans certains domaines et activités de prévention des conflits et de l'extrémisme violent, dans la réalisation de l'objectif international qui vise à porter l'aide publique au développement à 0,7 % du revenu national brut des donateurs.

49. Le Secrétaire général affirme également que l'ONU soutiendra la coopération Sud-Sud en encourageant la mise en commun des ressources, des compétences et des meilleures pratiques entre les pays du Sud qui ont une expérience précieuse à partager avec la communauté internationale. Il s'agit en effet d'une importante ressource à exploiter.

50. Il est crucial d'utiliser les ressources de manière efficace et transparente. Le Secrétaire général continuera à promouvoir des mécanismes transparents destinés à fixer des objectifs, à mesurer des résultats et à déterminer l'impact des projets et activités de l'ONU. Les entités de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme chargées de ces projets continueront d'élaborer et d'appliquer des indicateurs mesurables et des critères d'évaluation afin d'améliorer leurs résultats.

51. Ces dernières années, l'ONU a déployé de nombreuses missions politiques spéciales et opérations de maintien de la paix dans des zones touchées par l'extrémisme violent et le terrorisme. L'insécurité et le comportement imprévisible et hostile des terroristes ont nui à la capacité des missions de s'acquitter de leurs mandats. Il faut intégrer la prévention de l'extrémisme violent et la lutte contre le terrorisme aux efforts de prévention et de gestion des conflits, en particulier par l'intermédiaire des missions. Le Secrétaire général est d'avis que ses Représentants et Envoyés spéciaux opérant dans de tels environnements profiteraient considérablement de l'expertise de conseillers en matière de lutte contre le terrorisme. Ces conseillers pourraient contribuer à intégrer, si besoin est, la lutte contre le terrorisme aux activités des missions et contribuer aux efforts de renforcement des capacités des gouvernements hôtes et organisations régionales dans les domaines clefs prévus par les quatre piliers de la Stratégie.

Pilier I : mesures visant à s'attaquer aux conditions propices à la propagation du terrorisme

52. Le Secrétaire général exhorte les États Membres à accorder un niveau de priorité élevé à la prévention de l'extrémisme violent, dont il a fait une des principales priorités de sa dernière année de mandat. Il a pris bonne note des discussions constructives tenues à l'Assemblée générale en février concernant le Plan d'action pour la prévention de l'extrémisme violent, dont l'initiative a été saluée par l'Assemblée dans sa résolution 70/254. Il se félicite également des débats de fond relatifs au Plan d'action qui se sont déroulés le 8 avril 2016 à Genève, et attend avec intérêt les prochains débats qui se tiendront en juin 2016 lors du cinquième examen de la Stratégie. Il espère que les États Membres parviendront à un consensus solide à l'appui du Plan d'action, qui soutiendra efficacement les piliers I et IV de la Stratégie.

53. Outre le Plan d'action, le Secrétaire général recommande aux États Membres d'élaborer des plans d'action nationaux et régionaux sur la prévention de l'extrémisme violent, qui tiennent compte des sept priorités exposées dans le Plan d'action, à savoir : le dialogue et la prévention des conflits; le renforcement de la bonne gouvernance, des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit; la participation des populations; la mobilisation des jeunes; l'égalité des sexes et l'autonomisation des femmes; l'éducation, le renforcement des compétences et la facilitation de l'accès à l'emploi; la communication stratégique, Internet et les réseaux sociaux;

54. Le Secrétaire général étudie également les moyens à mettre en œuvre pour que les organismes des Nations Unies puissent travailler de manière plus intégrée à la lutte contre le terrorisme et à la prévention de l'extrémisme violent. À cette fin, il étudiera, en collaboration avec toutes les entités compétentes, la mise en place d'arrangements institutionnels.

55. La participation de la société civile est nécessaire à la création d'un environnement propice au dialogue et à l'élaboration de mesures de substitution à l'extrémisme violent. À cet égard, la participation active des femmes et des jeunes aux efforts de prévention et de lutte contre le terrorisme a été qualifiée de priorité requérant l'attention des États Membres. Il faut que les femmes et les jeunes, tant au niveau communautaire qu'aux postes de hauts-responsables de l'État, puissent faire entendre leur voix au sujet des conséquences sur leur quotidien du terrorisme et de l'extrémisme violent et des stratégies mises en place pour enrayer ces menaces. À cet égard, comme l'a demandé le Conseil de sécurité dans sa résolution 2242 (2015), le Secrétaire général recommande aux États Membres et à l'Organisation de prendre davantage en considération les questions relatives aux femmes, à la paix et à la sécurité et à la lutte contre le terrorisme. En outre, il prie instamment les organismes des Nations Unies d'intégrer la problématique hommes-femmes dans leurs activités de lutte contre le terrorisme.

56. Le Secrétaire général encourage les États Membres à mettre en œuvre la résolution 2250 (2015) du Conseil de sécurité visant à la participation des jeunes à tous les niveaux aux instances de décision des institutions et dispositifs de prévention et de règlement des conflits, y compris ceux qui luttent contre l'extrémisme violent.

Pilier II : mesures visant à prévenir et combattre le terrorisme

57. Tout en concentrant l'action sur les piliers I et IV, il faut continuer de renforcer les arrangements de la coopération actuelle et les progrès réalisés dans la lutte contre le terrorisme au cours des 10 dernières années. Plus particulièrement, dans sa résolution 2178 (2014), le Conseil de sécurité appelle tous les États Membres à coopérer le plus rapidement possible en vue de la prévention des mouvements de terroristes et de combattants terroristes étrangers en renforçant les contrôles aux frontières et les mesures de lutte contre le financement du terrorisme, ainsi que dans d'autres activités essentielles, notamment des mesures de sensibilisation à la tolérance, au pluralisme et à la déradicalisation. Le Secrétaire général invite les États à coopérer étroitement entre eux et avec les organismes des Nations Unies en échangeant leurs informations, meilleures pratiques et autres ressources et en participant à des projets pertinents dans le cadre du plan d'application du renforcement des capacités en matière de lutte contre les combattants terroristes étrangers.

58. Le Secrétaire général salue les progrès enregistrés par les États Membres dans le renforcement des mesures de sécurité aux frontières par le biais de mécanismes bilatéraux et multilatéraux. L'Organisation internationale de police criminelle (INTERPOL) a contribué à ces efforts en mettant en place et en renforçant les ressources et les outils essentiels s'y rapportant. Toutefois, de nombreux États Membres sont encore loin de partager leurs informations. Il prie donc tous les États Membres et toutes les organisations régionales de coopérer et d'entrer dans les bases de données d'INTERPOL les informations sur l'avancée des mesures visant à éliminer les problèmes relatifs au contrôle des frontières.

59. Dans sa résolution 2178 (2014), le Conseil de sécurité se penche sur un autre domaine dans lequel une coopération internationale accrue est nécessaire et invite les États Membres à exiger des compagnies aériennes qu'elles communiquent aux autorités nationales compétentes les renseignements préalables concernant les voyageurs afin de détecter le départ de leur territoire et la tentative d'entrée sur leur territoire ou de transit par leur territoire de personnes désignées par le Comité faisant suite aux résolutions 1267 (1999) et 1989 (2011) relatives à Al-Qaida et aux personnes et entités qui lui sont associées. Le Secrétaire général invite les États Membres à renforcer la mise en œuvre des procédures de renseignements préalables concernant les voyageurs et d'autres dispositifs avec le soutien des entités compétentes de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme (la Direction exécutive du Comité contre le terrorisme, l'Organisation de l'aviation civile internationale, l'Organisation internationale pour les migrations, l'Association du transport aérien international, INTERPOL et le Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme) et à introduire des mécanismes juridiques de respect des normes internationales relatives aux droits de l'homme garantissant que les lois nationales prennent en compte les éventuels problèmes entre les obligations liées aux renseignements préalables concernant les voyageurs et les lois sur la protection de la vie privée et la protection des données.

60. Comme l'a souligné le Conseil de sécurité dans sa résolution 2253 (2015), s'attaquer au financement des activités terroristes devient de plus en plus important. En effet, les groupes comme l'État islamique d'Iraq et du Levant lancent de nouveaux défis en raison de la multiplicité de leurs sources de revenus, notamment la contrefaçon, les enlèvements contre rançon et la traite des femmes et de filles. Si la plupart des États Membres ont érigé le financement du terrorisme en infraction, conformément à la Convention internationale pour la répression du financement du terrorisme et à la résolution 1373 (2001) du Conseil, le nombre de condamnations demeure faible. De plus, nombre d'États Membres ne respectent pas pleinement les recommandations du Groupe d'action financière et peu appliquent les obligations que leur impose la résolution 2178 (2014) concernant la lutte contre le financement des mouvements des combattants terroristes étrangers. Le Secrétaire général appelle la communauté internationale à redoubler d'efforts pour renforcer les capacités de contrôle des opérations financières et des systèmes de réglementation à travers le monde et ainsi empêcher les terroristes de lever et exploiter des fonds. Pour ce faire, il faudra coopérer activement avec le secteur privé, via des partenariats entre secteur public et secteur privé avec les institutions financières. Que les États Membres tiennent compte des évaluations faites par les entités compétentes, comme la Direction exécutive du Comité contre le terrorisme, l'Office des Nations Unies contre la drogue et le crime et le Fonds monétaire international pourrait contribuer au renforcement de leurs capacités nécessaire à la réalisation de ces objectifs.

61. Les terroristes ont intelligemment exploité les nouvelles technologies de la communication pour radicaliser et recruter des jeunes à travers le monde et le risque qu'ils se lancent dans le cyberterrorisme dans les années à venir est tangible, ce qui aurait des effets dévastateurs. Il est donc nécessaire de renforcer la coopération internationale pour lutter contre la radicalisation et le recrutement par Internet, mais d'une manière qui garantisse et encourage la liberté d'expression et défende les normes internationales des droits de l'homme. L'accent doit être mis sur la prévention des actes de cyberterrorisme par des individus associés à l'extrémisme violent et au terrorisme. Les réseaux de la communication électronique modernes soutiennent les infrastructures les plus critiques, y compris celles qui régissent les fonctions essentielles du gouvernement et du secteur industriel. Seul un renforcement des partenariats avec le secteur privé permettra de la protéger du cyberterrorisme.

62. L'achat et l'utilisation d'armes de destruction massive, en particulier de matières nucléaires, par des groupes terroristes représenteraient une menace manifeste pour la paix et la sécurité internationales. Cette menace se compose de plusieurs éléments se chevauchant, dont le lien de plus en plus étroit entre le terrorisme, les armes de destruction massive et les cybermenaces, et doit être abordée de manière globale et coordonnée. Enrayer la menace requiert l'action collective des organismes des Nations Unies. Le Secrétaire général entend renforcer les efforts de l'Organisation visant à relever les défis posés par la sécurité nucléaire et le terrorisme en débattant avec les États Membres de la mise en place d'une approche intégrée. Il veillera à ce qu'une action coordonnée soit menée au sein du Secrétariat et des organisations internationales partenaires. Il s'emploiera également à la mise en œuvre intégrale et universelle de la résolution 1540 (2014) du Conseil de sécurité et de la Convention internationale pour la répression des actes de terrorisme nucléaire.

63. Tout progrès dans tous les domaines décrits ci-dessus continuera de dépendre de la coopération et du partage d'informations pratiques au sein de la communauté internationale.

Pilier III : mesures visant à renforcer les capacités des États de prévenir et combattre le terrorisme et à renforcer le rôle des organismes des Nations Unies à cet égard

64. Les États Membres doivent accorder la priorité à la coordination du renforcement de leurs capacités dans les domaines clefs de la lutte contre le terrorisme. De nombreux organismes des Nations Unies y contribuent et leur action devrait être renforcée grâce à des mécanismes de suivi et d'évaluation efficaces. L'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme s'attachera à renforcer la coordination et la cohérence de l'action de ses 38 entités membres grâce à la redynamisation de ses groupes de travail interinstitutions et fera tout son possible pour réduire les doubles emplois et promouvoir la transparence et l'utilisation efficace des ressources des donateurs, tout en maximisant les effets des actions menées sur le terrain pour les États Membres.

65. Le Centre des Nations Unies pour la lutte contre le terrorisme et d'autres organismes des Nations Unies maintiendront également leur assistance au renforcement des capacités des États Membres et des organisations régionales aux fins de la mise en œuvre équilibrée des quatre piliers de la Stratégie. Le programme quinquennal (2016-2020) du Centre fournit le cadre de cet engagement. Le Secrétaire général encourage les États Membres à contribuer à l'élaboration, au financement et à l'application des projets de renforcement des capacités, en collaboration avec le Centre et d'autres organismes compétents des Nations Unies, afin d'intensifier et de généraliser la lutte contre le terrorisme aux niveaux national, régional et mondial.

66. Étant donné l'aspect à la fois multidimensionnel et régional du terrorisme, la coopération inter et intrarégionale est cruciale. Les États Membres d'Asie centrale ont déjà élaboré et mis en œuvre une stratégie régionale, suivis il y a peu par les États d'Afrique centrale et australe. Les États devront coopérer efficacement pour mobiliser la volonté politique et les ressources nécessaires à la mise en œuvre équilibrée et globale de leurs stratégies aux fins de résultats durables sur le terrain. Tout en continuant d'appuyer la mise en œuvre des stratégies actuelles, le Centre contribuera à l'élaboration de stratégies régionales de lutte contre le terrorisme dans d'autres régions, telles que l'Afrique de l'Est.

67. Il faut adopter des mécanismes de justice pénale viables pour lutter efficacement contre le terrorisme, mener des enquêtes et traduire en justice les auteurs d'actes terroristes, y compris les violences sexuelles liées aux conflits. Une attention particulière devra également être accordée à l'élaboration d'une formation spécialisée à l'intention des enquêteurs, des procureurs et des juges afin de renforcer l'action de la justice pénale contre le terrorisme, dans le respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit. Les organismes des Nations Unies dont les mandats et les compétences sont spécialisés, l'Office des Nations Unies contre la drogue et le crime, par exemple, continueront d'aider les États dans ce domaine capital.

Pilier IV : mesures visant à faire du respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit la base de la lutte contre le terrorisme

68. Les États Membres, les dirigeants à titre particulier et les hauts responsables, doivent respecter les droits de l'homme et l'état de droit conformément aux obligations qui leur incombent en vertu du droit international des droits de l'homme, ainsi que du droit international humanitaire et du droit international des réfugiés. Toutes les législations, politiques, stratégies et pratiques adoptées pour prévenir l'extrémisme violent et lutter contre le terrorisme doivent être empreintes de respect des droits de l'homme et de l'état de droit.

69. Les services de maintien de l'ordre et les agents de sécurité jouent un rôle central dans la prévention et la répression des attaques terroristes et, dès lors, permettent aux États de s'acquitter de leur obligation de protéger les droits des personnes relevant de leur juridiction. Il faut que les États Membres renforcent plus avant les mesures destinées à sensibiliser les forces de sécurité au droit des droits de l'homme et à assurer qu'elles s'y conforment dans le cadre de leurs opérations. Le Secrétaire général invite les États Membres à participer à des projets d'assistance technique ciblée, comme celui de l'Équipe spéciale de lutte contre le terrorisme visant à renforcer les capacités des agents des services de répression et à les former en intégrant les normes relatives aux droits de l'homme et à l'état de droit dans leurs pratiques quotidiennes et leurs directives opérationnelles.

70. Si les actions sont renforcées, il ne faut pas oublier les victimes d'actes terroristes et leurs familles. L'empathie témoignée aux victimes doit également s'appliquer aux personnes qui fuient les zones de conflit où le terrorisme joue un rôle majeur, et en particulier aux femmes et aux enfants qui ont été enlevés ou brutalisés par des extrémistes violents et des terroristes et qui, dans de nombreux cas, ont subi des violences sexuelles. La communauté internationale doit faire preuve de responsabilité à l'égard de toutes les victimes du terrorisme.

71. Le 11 février 2016, la Conférence des Nations Unies sur les droits de l'homme des victimes du terrorisme a marqué une étape importante et a souligné la nécessité d'inclure les droits des victimes dans les mesures de prévention de l'extrémisme violent et du terrorisme. L'action destinée à rendre justice aux victimes et à leur famille, ainsi qu'à répondre à leurs besoins, doit être renforcée. Le Secrétaire général encourage les États Membres à tout mettre en œuvre pour s'acquitter de leur obligation de traduire les auteurs en justice et répondre aux besoins des victimes, en s'appuyant sur l'assistance technique fournie par les organismes des Nations Unies dont les mandats et les compétences sont spécialisés dans ce domaine, tels que l'Office des Nations Unies contre la drogue et le crime.

72. Les victimes sont les alliés les plus forts et les plus courageux de la communauté internationale, qui permettront de révéler l'hypocrisie des discours terroristes et extrémistes. Le Secrétaire général recommande de faire davantage entendre les voix des victimes, afin de proposer des discours différents de ceux des extrémistes violents, et de se montrer solidaire envers les victimes en participant à des campagnes de sensibilisation à l'échelle mondiale, notamment par l'intermédiaire du portail des Nations Unies de soutien aux victimes du terrorisme. Il appelle les États Membres à communiquer des informations concrètes au portail aux fins du renforcement des capacités de soutien aux victimes.

73. Enfin, le Secrétaire général exprime sa profonde compassion à toutes les victimes des actes de groupes terroristes et extrémistes violents, ainsi qu'à leur famille et à leurs communautés. Il rappelle que l'ONU a également souffert de pertes tragiques et salue les membres du personnel qui ont perdu la vie ou ont été gravement blessés alors qu'ils s'employaient à instaurer la paix, la stabilité et l'espoir dans des régions troublées du monde. Toutes ces personnes méritent le plus profond respect.

Supplementary information: development of the normative and legal framework*

The 19 international legal instruments consist of: Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft, 1963; Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft, 1970; Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation, 1971; Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation, 1988; Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of Crimes against Internationally Protected Persons, including Diplomatic Agents, 1973; International Convention against the Taking of Hostages, 1979; Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, 1980; Amendment to the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material, 2005; Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation, 1988; Protocol to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation, 2005; Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Fixed Platforms Located on the Continental Shelf, 1988; Protocol to the Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Fixed Platforms located on the Continental Shelf, 2005; Convention on the Marking of Plastic Explosives for the Purpose of Detection, 1991; International Convention for the Suppression of Terrorist Bombings, 1997; International Convention for the Suppression of the Financing of Terrorism, 1999; International Convention for the Suppression of Acts of Nuclear Terrorism, 2005; Convention on the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Relating to International Civil Aviation 2010; Protocol Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft 2010.

Although a number of terrorism-related resolutions/declarations were adopted by the General Assembly in the past, an important milestone was the 1994 Declaration on Measures to Eliminate International Terrorism (A/RES/49/60). Following a report by my predecessor in May 2006, “Uniting against Terrorism: recommendations for a global counter-terrorism strategy”, the General Assembly arrived at a consensus resolution on “The UN Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy” on 8 September 2006. The Strategy has been reviewed biennially since then. Additionally, from 2006, the General Assembly produced 48 resolutions which have addressed different aspects of terrorism, such as the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms while countering terrorism; mandates of specialized UN bodies such as the UN CTITF and UNCCT; and preventing the acquisition by terrorists of radioactive materials and of weapons of mass destruction.

The Security Council initially used its sanctions regime to address terrorism, such as the 1999 adoption of resolution 1267 and 1269 aimed at the Taliban in Afghanistan and later, Al-Qaida and related groups. Subsequent Council resolutions such as resolutions 1373, 1540 and 1624, have strengthened the legal framework for preventing and combatting terrorism. Since 2013, the Council has enacted further resolutions, often invoking Chapter VII, to address new types of terrorist threats. These include, among others, SCR 2133 (2014) which addressed the issues of kidnapping and hostage-taking by terrorists, and SCR 2170 (2014) and 2178 (2014) on suppressing the flow of Foreign Terrorist Fighters (FTFs), financing and other support to terrorist groups in Iraq and Syria. Additionally, SCR 2178 (2014) addressed for the first time the need to counter violent extremism. SCR 2195 (2014) called for international action to prevent terrorists from benefiting from transnational organized crime. Similarly, in 2015, the Council adopted resolution 2199 (2015), aimed to prevent terrorist groups in Iraq and Syria from benefiting from trade in oil, antiquities and hostages, and from receiving donations. Resolution 2242 (2015) outlined sweeping actions to improve implementation of its landmark women, peace and security agenda, covering its work on countering violent extremism and terrorism. In resolution 2253 (2015), the Security Council expanded and strengthened its Al-Qaida sanctions framework to include a focus on ISIL, and outlined efforts to dismantle its funding and support channels. Over the past decade, other key UN bodies, such as the ECOSOC and Human Rights Council, contributed to the Organization's work in this area.

Annexe II

Supplementary information: activities of United Nations entities in support of the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy*

Many United Nations entities under the UN Counter-Terrorism Task Force framework actively work to implement the four pillars of the UN Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy. This attachment shows some of the major activities these entities have carried out over the last two years.

Pillar I: Measures to address conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism

Pillar I of the Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy commits Member States to implement measures to address conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism such as preventing and resolving conflicts, encouraging economic development, reducing social exclusion and marginalization, and fostering understanding among peoples of varied religions and cultures through dialogue. It also emphasizes the need to support victims of terrorism and their families, and in supporting and engaging with civil society groups, particularly women and youth.

Conflict prevention and resolution

The Department of Political Affairs (DPA) is the operational arm for much of my good offices, preventive diplomacy, and mediation work. This work is perhaps best exemplified by my special envoys, advisers and representatives, whether they lead regional political offices (in West Africa, Central Africa and Central Asia), regional strategies (in the Great Lakes Region, in support of the Middle East Peace Process), or are dispatched from Headquarters. Country-specific field-based missions, be they political or peacekeeping missions led, respectively by DPA and DPKO, also undertake preventive work as they look to identify and address possible triggers for a relapse or an escalation of conflict.

Where the United Nations has neither an envoy nor a mission, Resident Coordinators and the United Nations Country Teams assist national actors, at their request, in addressing emerging challenges. The Joint DPA-UNDP Programme on Building National Capacities for Conflict Prevention supports local capacity building in this vein. UNDP and several United Nations agencies, funds and programmes carry out a wide range of “structural” or “upstream” prevention activities aimed at addressing the root causes of conflict. In my capacity as Chair of the United Nations System Chief Executives Board for Coordination, I am engaging the broader United Nations system on how we can collectively strengthen our conflict prevention and peacebuilding work. Lastly, my Human Rights Up Front initiative has at its core a strong focus on prevention of large-scale human rights violations, which are often correlated with an increased risk of conflict.

Promoting economic and social development

Since its founding, the United Nations system has continued its support in this area through its specialised Agencies, Funds and Programmes, and particularly through its UN Country Teams in the field. I extend my sincere gratitude to all Member States as well as the United Nations system for working diligently over the last 15 years to successfully achieve the Millennium Development Goals. Moving forward, I am firm in my belief that the new 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and particularly, SDG16 on building peaceful, just and inclusive societies, will further contribute our efforts to address one of the key conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism.

UNDP's approach to addressing conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism and violent extremism through inclusive development, the promotion of tolerance and respect for diversity serves as an example of our work in the field. It has been assisting Member States and civil society on building two critical sets of capacities: the governance of increasingly diverse and multi-cultural societies, and the mitigation of those factors that provide a tipping point from alienation towards radicalisation and eventually violent extremism. For example, in Mindanao in the Philippines, UNDP is supporting efforts by the Philippines Centre for Islam and Democracy to work with local religious leaders to woo disenchanted youth away from joining violent extremist groups, towards supporting peace-building in their communities. In Syria, UNDP has supported efforts in twelve out of the country's fourteen governorates to maintain social cohesion, through credible local intermediaries and local peace committees, by assisting different groups and sectors to work together to maintain local services. UNDP focuses particularly on the role of youth in peacebuilding. For example, in Bosnia and Herzegovina, UNDP and PBSO have collaborated to promote coexistence, trust and appreciation for diversity, by creating spaces to increase the influence of youth in policy dialogues.

Fostering dialogue and understanding

In 2015 the High Representative of the UN Alliance of Civilizations (UNOAC) continued his efforts to promote interreligious and intercultural dialogue. In this regard, the Secretary-General, the President of the General Assembly and the UNOAC High Representative hosted a high level debate in April 2015 on the role of religious leaders on issues related to conflict and violent extremism. UNOAC also supported dialogue and understanding efforts through its Fellowship Programme for young civil society leaders from around the world, and through institutionalizing of an Intercultural Innovation Award.

In April 2015 the United Nations Office on Genocide Prevention and the Responsibility to Protect, with the support of the King Abdullah Centre for Intercultural and Interreligious Dialogue and the Kingdom of Morocco, brought together religious leaders from around the world to discuss their role in preventing incitement to atrocity crimes.

Other activities

In December 2014, UNICRI jointly organised in Rome, Italy, together with the Global Counterterrorism Forum (GCTF), the first "Expert Workshop on Reintegrating Returning Foreign Terrorist Fighters: Challenges and Lessons Learned". A follow-up regional workshop was held in Manila, the Philippines. UNICRI has also been working in the area of de-radicalisation of prisoners and is developing re-entry programming for such prisoners, as well as for returning FTFs.

UNICRI also recently launched a four-year programme to counter radicalisation and violent extremism in the Sahel Maghreb region.

In January 2016, UNICRI initiated work toward developing and implementing a pilot diversion program for juveniles who are at risk or first time involved in FTF activities. In the first step, UNICRI finalised the preliminary desk review on the legal background/conditions in five countries (i.e., Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kenya, Morocco, Nigeria, Tunisia).

In May 2015, UNCCT supported UNESCO, the UNCT Pakistan and the Prime Minister of Pakistan's Youth Programme to convene a Needs Assessment Conference in Islamabad, Pakistan, on Youth Engagement, Skills Development and Employment Facilitation. The project aims to address needs of educational institutions to include technical skills, vocational training to promote of spirit of dialogue, understanding and skills development.

In June 2015, UNESCO convened in Paris an international conference on "Youth and the Internet: fighting radicalisation and extremism". UNESCO is also developing a Teachers' Guide on Violent Extremism, which is expected to be finalized in early 2016.

CTED has prepared six analytical reports on the foreign terrorist fighter phenomenon; raised awareness of the need to ensure full implementation of resolution 2178 (2014) through a wide range of events and activities; and enhanced its collaboration with UN Women and integrated gender as a cross-cutting issue into its activities. To strengthen its capacity to continuously monitor emerging developments, CTED has, pursuant to paragraph 19 of resolution 2129 (2013), established a Global Research Network.

Pillar II: Measures to prevent and combat terrorism

UN entities have stepped up engagement with Member States on a number of Pillar II topics, especially enhancing border control, countering the financing of terrorism and collaborating with regional organisations to develop regional counter-terrorism strategies.

Many UN entities under the umbrella of the CTITF framework, such as UNCCT, CTED, the 1540 Group of Experts, ODA, INTERPOL, OPCW, UNODC and others work to deliver capacity-building initiatives and knowledge-building undertakings. As part of the growing focus on stemming the flow of FTFs, the United Nations has launched or expanded major initiatives on building capacity of border officials and financial regulators. The recent resolutions of the Security Council, including resolution 2253 (2016), provide an impetus to the efforts related to countering the financing of terrorism, and the UNCCT has commenced activities related to addressing the growing threat from kidnapping for ransom in this regard. Keeping ahead of tactics employed by terrorists, the UN system has also carried out activities related to enhancing coordinated border management and addressing weaknesses in border control, especially with regards to securing unmanned spaces between distant border posts. The UN is also keen to explore work in sharing national practices on protecting cyberspace from terrorist attacks.

Activities on law enforcement and border control

The UNCCT Border Security Initiative, which is being implemented jointly with GCTF, and the Governments of Morocco and the United States, will enhance knowledge on good practices in border security and management and increase understanding of capacity needs in key regions and offer ways to address them. The project will also enhance collaboration with border communities and relevant authorities, with particular focus on the Sahel and Horn of Africa.

As a follow-up to the CTITF Experts Meeting on Coordinated Border Management, which took place at INTERPOL HQ in May 2015, the CTITF Working Group on Border Management and Law Enforcement held a subsequent workshop on coordinated border management in Nairobi, Kenya in December 2015.

Activities on preventing and responding to WMD attacks

To improve the ability of the UN system to respond to possible chemical or biological attacks the UNCCT implemented a project entitled ‘Ensuring effective inter-agency interoperability and coordinated communication in case of chemical or biological attacks’ jointly with OPCW and IAEA.

The IAEA established two Working Groups open to Member States to improve coordination of efforts in two areas -the Border Monitor Working Group (BMWG), and the Working Group on Radioactive Source Security (WGRSS). It also trained over 6000 individuals in nuclear security in over 200 courses and workshops. It assisted States in establishing Nuclear Security Support Centres, and continued to organise and facilitate meetings for the International Network for Nuclear Security Training and Support Centres (NSSC Network).

The UN Office for Disarmament Affairs (ODA) contributed to the efforts of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1540 (2004) to enhance its engagement with Member States and their implementation efforts. Over 60 events in this regard have been held during the last two years. These activities have led to 21 Member States submitting voluntary national implementation action plans as encouraged by Resolution 1977 (2011).

Activities on combating the financing of terrorism

The UNCCT also launched a project on ‘International Good Practices on Addressing and Preventing Kidnapping for Ransom (KFR)’ which seeks to contribute to curbing the ability of terrorist organisations to raise funds through KFR. The Centre is also supporting a UNODC implemented project on ‘Mock Trials on Financing of Terrorism’ which seeks strengthen capacity of criminal justice officials in Argentina and Colombia to counter the financing of terrorism.

Activities on protecting vulnerable targets, critical infrastructure and the Internet

INTERPOL is developing a proactive SOCMINT (Social Media Intelligence) program, with both analytical and operational components, to support member countries to address the challenges and opportunities created by increasing use of internet and other information tools by terrorist groups such as ISIL.

Under the CTITF Working Group on Strengthening the Protection of Vulnerable Targets, the CTITF Office undertook a project to deliver capacity-building trainings to UN field security officers.

Pillar III: Measures to build States' capacity to prevent and combat terrorism and to strengthen the role of the United Nations system in this regard Pillar III recognizes that States need to have the capacity to prevent and combat terrorism, and that international assistance in that regard must be provided in a coordinated and coherent manner. It specifically envisages a strong role for the UN in the provision and coordination of such coherent assistance in all four pillars of the Global Strategy. The CTITF's Integrated Assistance in Countering Terrorism (I-ACT) initiative, described in the main report, is designed specifically to provide holistic assistance to a requesting State by strengthening coordination and coherence among all UN entities working in that country.

Enhancing the implementation of legal and international instruments, providing legal assistance and enhancing the capacity of criminal justice officials and law enforcement officers

Most Member States visited by CTED continue to experience difficulties in their efforts to implement a robust criminal justice system framework for dealing with complex terrorism cases. CTED and other relevant UN entities continue to provide necessary assistance to Member States in this area.

DPKO and DPA-led field missions have also contributed in this regard. The United Nations Stabilization Mission in Mali (MINUSMA) supported the elaboration of a national strategy to counter both organised crime and terrorism, and supported the Government in the establishment of a specialised judicial unit on terrorism and transnational organised crime (Pôle Judiciaire Spécialisé). In Afghanistan, UNAMA worked closely with the Taqnin legislative Department at the MoJ and the parliament to draft new laws and/or amend existing laws in relation to terrorism. In Libya, UNSMIL provided technical assistance to the national MOJ while drafting the Libyan counter terrorism law in 2014. In Syria, UNSMIS reviewed the amendments of the Syrian counter terrorism law (2012) and highlighted the deficiency and contravention of its provisions with the international standards of human rights and due process.

UNODC has continued to promote the ratification of the 19 international legal instruments related to terrorism and to support Member States with their implementation. Since the establishment of the Global Programme on Strengthening the Legal Regime against Terrorism, UNODC's support resulted in 668 additional ratifications of the international legal instruments by assisted Member States, 139 pieces of legislation revised or drafted with UNODC assistance and more than 24,000 criminal justice officials provided with the enhanced knowledge and expertise in terrorism prevention issues. In 2015, legislative services were provided to 25 Member States, and more than 100 national and regional capacity building workshops were carried out. In 2015 UNODC in partnership with the EU and other donors launched a technical assistance initiative on Strengthening the Legal Regime against Foreign Terrorist Fighters in MENA and Balkan countries. Similar assistance was commenced for Central Asia, South East Asia and the Sahel. In addition, UNODC, in coordination with UNICEF, also initiated assistance to Cameroon, Chad, Niger and Nigeria on the criminal justice aspects of treatment of children allegedly involved with terrorist groups.

UNODC has been also implementing a project on strengthening national capacity for human rights compliance in criminal justice responses to terrorism. A training module on Human Rights and Criminal Justice Responses to Terrorism has been developed and considerably utilized in training and development of country-specific training materials, for example in Kenya and Nigeria. Ongoing technical assistance in the MENA region was complemented with a four-year initiative for Maghreb countries on Effective Counter-Terrorism Investigations and Prosecutions while Respecting Human Rights and the Rule of Law. A similar project has been successfully implemented for eight South Asian countries. UNODC has also launched a project to assist Member States upon request to improve the response of prison administrations to violent extremism in prisons, and it has been working on a comprehensive handbook on this topic to be used as a basis for such assistance.

By the end of 2015 UNODC/TPB has developed and integrated in its technical assistance programmes 38 tools and publications to support the implementation of the international legal instruments related to terrorism. The latest publications developed include Good Practices for Supporting Victims of Terrorism within a Criminal Justice Framework.

Other activities

The UNCCT has established a rapidly deployable List of Counter-Terrorism Advisors to support Member States on four key thematic areas: developing counter-terrorism strategies, countering radicalisation, vulnerable targets and victims support.

Through its project on ‘Facilitating the Development of a Regional Counter-Terrorism Strategy for Southern Africa’ the UNCCT worked with SADC Member States to develop a preventive and comprehensive regional counter-terrorism strategy for Southern Africa, which was adopted in August 2015. Likewise, the Centre, working closely with CTED and UNOCA, supported the development of an Integrated Counter-Terrorism and Non-Proliferation of Arms Strategy in Central Africa, which was adopted in [November] 2015. The Centre continued its work to fostering international counter-terrorism cooperation and promoting collaboration between national, regional and international counter-terrorism centres and initiatives, including by organising a conference of such CT Centres in Brussels and developing the Network against Terrorism web portal.

Pillar IV: Measures to ensure the protection of human rights and the rule of law while combating terrorism

Pillar IV of the Global Strategy calls on Member States to respect human rights, fundamental freedoms and the rule of law in all their counter-terrorism efforts. Pillar IV also seeks to promote and protect the rights of victims of terrorism.

Basic human rights reference guides

Under the CTITF Working Group led by OHCHR, progress has been made in the development of a series of reference guides for providing practical guidance for national action on human rights-compliant counter-terrorism measures. UNCCT has supported the updating of the reference guides on the stopping and searching of persons and on security infrastructure. Other relevant reference guides are in process of publication.

Support for victims of terrorism

CTITF/UNCCT organised the Conference on The Human Rights of Victims of Terrorism was held in New York on 11 February 2016, which strengthened understanding of the human rights of victims of terrorism at the international, regional and national level.

The UNCCT project on “Amplifying voices, building campaigns: Training and capacity building on the media in establishing a communications strategy for victims of terrorism” will hold the first two workshops in the Middle East and North Africa/Sahel regions in the second and third quarter of 2016.

The UN Victims of Terrorism Support Portal, launched during the fourth review of the Strategy, has had over 121,000 guest users by January 2016.

UNODC has been working with Member States to strengthen the implementation of national legislation and policies that support and protect victims of acts of terrorism. To maximize the impact of its technical assistance in this area, it has developed specialized tools, such as The Criminal Justice Response to Support Victims of Acts of Terrorism and Good Practices for Supporting Victims of Terrorism within a Criminal Justice Framework, that are fully integrated in UNODC’s provision of assistance.

Further activities to implement all the four pillars of the UN Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy are reflected in the summary matrix below:

Supplementary information: Matrix of United Nations Counter-Terrorism Projects and Activities

This summary matrix of counter-terrorism projects being carried out by UN entities under the CTITF framework is based on a more comprehensive CTITF matrix which was developed to promote transparency among UN agencies, ensure more rational allocation of resources to counter terrorism projects and avoid overlaps and duplication. The summary matrix provides a snapshot of the range and breadth of counter-terrorism-related assistance of the United Nations and is hoped to facilitate an efficient and balanced provision of capacity-building assistance across the four pillars of the Strategy. The global reach of these projects, covering diverse subregions such as West Africa, South Asia, Eastern Europe and the Middle East, demonstrates the resourcefulness of UN entities and the opportunities available for pooling resources and synergies. As such, it serves as a valuable source of information for programming, monitoring and evaluating projects.

This CTITF Matrix of UN Counter-Terrorism Projects and Activities includes essential information on all United Nations Counter-Terrorism Projects and Activities being carried out or planned by CTITF Entities. The Matrix is a practical information tool and a live data-base updated regularly by the CTITF Office in consultation with CTITF entities. As of December 2015, CTITF Entities have a total of 295 projects across the 4 pillars of the Strategy: 110 projects under Pillar I; 57 projects under Pillar II; 108 projects under Pillar III and 20 projects under Pillar IV.

The CTITF matrix shows that the United Nations counter-terrorism projects and activities have significantly expanded its geographical scope since 2014. Most projects currently are under Pillars I and III, which indicates that CTITF entities acknowledge importance to address the conditions conducive to spread of terrorism with a particular emphasis on youth, and to undertake necessary measures to build states' capacity to combat and prevent terrorism. Projects under Pillar II have more than doubled in number since the emergence of a new phenomenon of FTFs, and encompass important topics related to border controls, countering the financing of terrorism, spread of WMD, and information sharing capacities of member states. Pillar III projects have enlarged the scope of capacity-building activities, including strengthening law enforcement and criminal justice system capacities and enhancing collaboration among states and relevant institutions. The Matrix indicates a significant improvement in the collaborative work of member states and relevant agencies in terms of protection of human rights and the rule of law while countering terrorism (Pillar IV).
