Consistent with staff regulations 12.1 and 12.3, the present report contains the full text of amendments to the Staff Regulations and Rules pursuant to the report of the Secretary-General on management reform (A/72/492 and A/72/492/Add.2).

The General Assembly is requested to approve the amendments to the Staff Regulations and to take note of the amendments to the Staff Rules set out in the annexes to the present report.

The Secretary-General proposes to implement the amendments as from 1 January 2019.

* A/73/150.

I. Introduction

1. Pursuant to the report of the Secretary-General on management reform (A/72/492 and A/72/492/Add.2) and General Assembly resolutions 72/266 A and B, the Administration has undertaken a comprehensive review of the complete set of Staff Regulations and Rules.
2. The main objective of the review is to support the “simplified, streamlined and easy to understand and implement” policy framework for the management of financial and human resources, which is required to underpin the new management paradigm.
3. Annex I to the present report contains the proposed amendments to the Staff Regulations. Annex II contains the amendments to the Staff Rules.
4. Pursuant to staff regulation 12.4, the proposed amendments contained in the annexes to the present report will take effect on 1 January 2019, subject to any modifications that may be directed by the General Assembly.
5. The review and the resulting proposed amendments are an integral part of the Secretary-General’s reform agenda towards achieving the vision of a more agile, effective and transparent organization. These efforts for the streamlining and simplification of the Organization’s regulatory framework will be further expanded, with additional amendments to be proposed in 2019, including with respect to contractual arrangements, and in 2020, with regard to conditions of service, for which review by the International Civil Service Commission may be required.

II. Amendments to the Staff Regulations and Rules

6. Throughout the articles of the Staff Regulations and the chapters of the Staff Rules, the text has been modified to be gender-inclusive and updated to be clearer and easier to understand. Substantive changes which are within the authority of the Secretary-General have been introduced, as detailed below.
7. In an effort to improve the user-friendliness of the text, subheadings for each regulation have been added and tables introduced where possible. Cross references have been eliminated where feasible or clarified to enhance the readability of the text. Finally, duplications between the Staff Regulations and the Staff Rules have been removed where appropriate.
8. Article I of the Staff Regulations and chapter I of the Staff Rules, on duties, obligations and privileges, have been reorganized in order to ensure that the general principles are defined in the Regulations and the application of those principles further detailed in the Rules. Additional clarifications have been provided in relation to outside activities. Lessons learned from the experience of the Ethics Office have been reflected. To improve clarity, any unnecessary duplications have been eliminated. In particular, the following amendments are proposed:
 - (a) Staff regulation 1.1 (b) and staff rule 1.1 have been amended to replace the word “declaration” with “oath of office” to distinguish this fundamental act from all other administrative declarations that staff have to routinely make and sign during their service with the Organization;
 - (b) Staff regulation 1.2 (n) has been renumbered as regulation 1.2 (p), and has been amended to reflect that staff members carrying out procurement or investment functions should also file financial disclosure statements;
 - (c) Staff rule 1.2 (e), under which marriage to a person under the age of 18 had previously been recognized as an exception to the prohibition of sexual activity with children, has been amended in line with the Organization's efforts to eliminate all forms of sexual activity with children.

9. Chapter II of the Staff Rules, on classification of posts and staff, has been amended to reflect actual practice and to clarify the division of responsibility and authority between the International Civil Service Commission and the Secretary-General.

10. Article III of the Staff Regulations and chapter III of the Staff Rules, on salaries and ~~related~~ allowances, have been simplified and duplications have been removed. Clarification on the application of the education grant has been provided, for example, that the grant is not payable beyond the age of 25 years unless compelling reasons exist. In addition, several changes have been introduced to simplify the administration of the rules, such as:

(a) Regulation 3.2: amendments are proposed to clarify that payment of tuition in the mother tongue is not an additional entitlement but part of the admissible expenses pursuant to General Assembly resolution 70/244, and that the wording "mother tongue" may refer to the mother tongue of the child's other parent and not only to the mother tongue of the staff member;

(b) Rule 3.3: a change of category would no longer give rise to a transitional allowance reflecting the concept of equal pay for work of equal value. Instead, a move between categories would trigger a reassessment of the educational and professional background of the selected candidate and ensure consistency in the determination of the step in grade, eliminating the inequity currently existing between candidates selected internally and those selected externally;

(c) Rules 3.6 and 3.7: the provisions for the post adjustment and rental subsidy have been revised to provide flexibility to allow for the payment of the post adjustment at the previous duty station for up to six months, if appropriate, even if that post adjustment is lower than the one at the new duty station (currently this is only possible if the previous post adjustment is higher). This change would allow for staff to be paid the security allowances for the previous duty station in case family members move later.

11. No substantive amendments are proposed to article IV of the Staff Regulations, on appointment and promotion. Several clarifications have been brought to the text of chapter IV of the Staff Rules, on appointment and promotion. For instance:

(a) Rule 4.4, on the recruitment of National Professional Officers, has been revised to take into account General Assembly resolution 72/255, in which the Assembly approved the guidelines for the employment of staff members in this category;

(b) Rule 4.7, on family relationships, has been revised to revert to the language in effect for over 60 years until 2010, which prevented discrimination on the basis of family status. The rule has been further revised to clarify that members of the same family, including grandparents, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins, may not supervise one another;

(c) Rule 4.13, on fixed-term appointment, has been amended to ensure clarity regarding the parameters of the statute of the United Nations Dispute Tribunal,¹ in that a decision on renewal or conversion of an appointment constitutes a decision on appointment;

¹ See article 10 (2), on temporary measures, and article 10 (5), on the award of compensation as an alternative to the rescission of a contested decision, of the statute of the United Nations Dispute Tribunal.

(d) The rules on re-employment and reinstatement have been amended to provide flexibility for the reinstatement or re-employment of staff members. The provisions of current rule 4.17 (c) have been deleted so that deductions will no longer be made for termination indemnity, repatriation grant or commutation of accrued leave paid in respect of prior periods of service upon re-employment, for the purposes of operational simplification.

12. Article V of the Staff Regulations and chapter V of the Staff Rules, on annual and special leave, have been reorganized to regroup all provisions related to attendance and leave under a new heading, "Attendance and leave". Other proposed changes include the following:

(a) Provisions of article I of the Staff Regulations on hours of work and official holidays, as well as provisions of chapter III of the Staff Rules on overtime, compensatory time off and night differential, have been moved to article V of the Staff Regulations and chapter V of the Staff Rules, respectively (as new regulation 5.1 and new rules 5.1 and 5.2);

(b) The language in regulation 5.4 and rules 5.3, on annual leave, 5.4, on home leave, and 5.5, on special leave, has been significantly streamlined and simplified, with operational details removed, as they are captured in the administrative issuances. No change is proposed to the implementation of the current rules.

13. The terminology in article VI of the Staff Regulations and chapter VI of the Staff Rules, on social security, has been modernized and simplified, as follows:

(a) In regulation 6.2 and rule 6.3, the wording "paternity leave" and "maternity leave" has been replaced by the gender-inclusive wording "parental leave", the duration of which varies depending on whether the staff member gives birth to the child and other grounds, such as the designation of the staff member's duty station as non-family. The content of the rule has been simplified by deleting detailed provisions relating to the timing of the exercise of the entitlement, which are captured in the relevant administrative issuances. The amendments proposed do not alter the duration of this leave as recommended by the International Civil Service Commission and approved by the General Assembly in prior resolutions;

(b) Rule 6.2, on sick leave, has been revised to provide more clarity. Clearer definitions of certified and uncertified sick leave have been provided, and the rules on the maximum entitlements have been streamlined. The text reflecting the obligations of staff members with regard to sick leave entitlement has been simplified;

(c) A new rule 6.7 is proposed, which encompasses all of the provisions on the review of decisions relating to sick leave by an independent medical practitioner or a medical board. Those provisions are currently reflected in staff rules 6.2 (j)–(l). The language has been simplified by deleting the information on the applicable procedure. The scope of the rule has been broadened to reflect the current practice of applying the same dispute resolution procedures to all medical decisions and recommendations, and not only to those relating to sick leave.

14. No amendments are proposed to article VII of the Staff Regulations, on travel and relocation expenses, except for the introduction of subheadings for each regulation. Chapter VII of the Staff Rules, on travel and relocation expenses, has been reorganized to be more concise and easier to read and understand by both managers and staff members. Operational details covered in the administrative issuances have been removed where feasible. Other proposed changes include the following:

(a) In rule 7.2, clarification has been brought to the entitlements applicable to staff members and their eligible family members for each type of official travel, thus eliminating the need to search in multiple places;

(b) All the provisions for deviation from the official itinerary for personal reasons have been regrouped under a new subheading in rule 7.3 and clarified to eliminate inconsistent operational practices.

15. No amendment is proposed to article VIII of the Staff Regulations or chapter VIII of the Staff Rules, on staff relations, other than editorial changes to make the text gender-inclusive.

16. Minor editorial amendments are proposed to article IX of the Staff Regulations, on separation from service. Chapter IX of the Staff Rules, on separation from service, has been reorganized in a more logical sequence and aligned with article IX of the Staff Regulations. Duplications have been removed where feasible and tables introduced to facilitate understanding of the applicable provisions. Other proposed changes include the following:

(a) Rule 9.5, on retirement, has been revised to clarify the relationship between the mandatory age of separation and the normal age of retirement;

(b) A related amendment is proposed in rule 9.8 to capture the new situation, whereby the Organization may have to pay termination indemnity to a staff member who has reached the normal age of retirement but has not yet reached the mandatory age of separation in cases where the staff member's appointment is terminated owing to the abolition of posts or a reduction in staff;

(c) A new rule 9.9, on grant upon death, has been introduced to reflect the existing grant paid upon the death of a staff member. Such a grant has existed since 1947, but has not been adequately captured;

(d) The rule on repatriation grant has been moved from chapter III to chapter IX of the Staff Rules as new rule 9.12. This proposal is made in order to mirror the organization of article IX of the Staff Regulations and ensure consistency in the presentation of entitlements among the different articles of the Staff Regulations and chapters of the Staff Rules. The language has also been simplified to remove the operational details that are captured in the relevant administrative issuances. The details had previously been added to reflect General Assembly resolutions 33/119 and 34/165.

17. Some editorial changes have been made to article X of the Staff Regulations and chapter X of the Staff Rules, on disciplinary measures, to increase clarity and simplify the language, as follows:

(a) Rule 10.2 has been amended to remove reference to administrative leave with partial pay. In practice, this option is not used and the recent policy developed on administrative leave does not provide for it (see ST/AI/2017/1);

(b) Rule 10.4 has been amended to clarify that administrative leave shall be without pay when there is probable cause that a staff member has engaged in sexual exploitation and/or sexual abuse.

18. Article XI of the Staff Regulations and chapter XI of the Staff Rules, on appeals, have been amended to provide clarity to the readers and to make the text gender-inclusive.

19. No amendment is proposed to chapter XII of the Staff Rules, on general provisions.

20. Chapter XIII of the Staff Rules, on transitional measures, has been reorganized to follow the order of the rest of the Staff Rules and a consistent approach:

(a) All rules under chapter XIII are due to expire at some point in the future. They are part of the Staff Rules only for a limited period of time until there is no longer a staff member in service with such acquired rights. Accordingly, all rules introduced in 2009 that are no longer necessary have been removed, such as the rules on 100-, 200- and 300-series appointment, probationary appointment following national competitive examinations, mission appointment and the internal system of justice;

(b) New transitional rules have been introduced to close some loopholes that have arisen in the context of the implementation of the changes to the compensation package for internationally recruited staff members in accordance with resolution 70/244. These are the transitional rules on the prior mobility allowance (new rule 13.4), the prior full removal of personal effects and household goods (new rule 13.7) and the prior non-removal element of the mobility and hardship allowance (new rule 13.8), which reflect the transitional measures as endorsed by the General Assembly that had not been adequately reflected under chapter XIII in the prior amended version of the Staff Regulations and Rules, even though they have been implemented and reflected in the relevant separate administrative issuances since 1 July 2016.

21. The annexes to the Staff Regulations and the appendices to the Staff Rules have been amended to provide further clarity and improve user-friendliness for the reader, as follows:

(a) Annex I to the Staff Regulations has been streamlined and only the provisions relating to the salary policy have been maintained. The provisions relating to entitlements covered under other regulations or rules (such as language allowance) have been consolidated under those regulations or rules;

(b) A new annex II to the Staff Regulations has been created that incorporates the information on the staff assessment rates presently in tabular form in the text of staff regulation 3.3 to harmonize the presentation of the text of that regulation with that of other articles of the Staff Regulations and chapters of the Staff Rules (such as separation from service).

III. Actions to be taken by the General Assembly

22. The General Assembly is requested to approve the amendments to the Staff Regulations contained in annex I to the present report and to take note of the amendments to the Staff Rules contained in annex II.

23. The General Assembly is further requested to approve the proposed implementation and effective dates for the amendments to the Staff Regulations and Staff Rules, as set out in paragraph 4 above.
