The Territory at a glance

Territory: Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha, a Non-Self-Governing Territory under the Charter of the United Nations, is administered by the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Representative of administering Power: Governor Nigel Phillips (since August 2022).

Geography: Saint Helena is a small island of volcanic origin situated in the South Atlantic Ocean, approximately 1,900 km from Angola and 2,900 km from Brazil. Ascension lies 1,200 km to the north-west of Saint Helena, and Tristan da Cunha and the other small islands lie approximately 2,400 km to the south.

Land area: 310 km², consisting of the islands of Saint Helena and Ascension and the Tristan da Cunha group.

Exclusive economic zone: 1,641,294 km².

Population: 4,220 on Saint Helena (October 2022 est.); 983 on Ascension (September 2022); and 238 on Tristan da Cunha (November 2022).

Life expectancy at birth: 77 years (women: 81 years; men: 74 years (2022)).

Language: English.

Capital: Jamestown (Saint Helena); Georgetown (Ascension); Edinburgh of the Seven Seas (Tristan da Cunha).

Main political parties: None.

Elections: Most recent: Saint Helena: October 2021 (general election); Ascension: October 2022 (general election); Tristan da Cunha: March 2019 (general election).

Legislature: Unicameral Legislative Council on Saint Helena (15 seats, 12 elected members; 40 per cent of the 15 seats are held by women, including the Deputy Speaker). Under the 2009 Constitution, the Governor, acting after consultation with the relevant Island Council, may make laws for Ascension and/or Tristan da Cunha. Tristan da Cunha has an elected Island Council.

Gross domestic product per capita: £8,690 (Saint Helena, 2020/21). According to the administering Power, because Ascension has no permanent population, its gross domestic product per capita cannot be calculated. Data are unavailable for Tristan da Cunha.

Economy: The export revenue of Saint Helena is derived from tourism, fishing, coffee and the sale of commemorative coins and postage stamps. The provision of public services on Saint Helena depends on income taxes, customs duties, fees and financial aid from the United Kingdom. For Ascension, the United Kingdom provides financial assistance for the development of critical infrastructure, and the main source of revenue is derived through taxes and business levies, with additional revenue from sales of stamps and coins. The economy of Tristan da Cunha is based on sustainable lobster fishery, with some income from tourism (prior to the pandemic), and the sale of stamps and coins. It receives financial assistance from the United Kingdom for the development of infrastructure, the funding of posts in education, health care and public service training.

Unemployment rate: 3.6 per cent (Saint Helena, 2021 population and housing census). On Ascension, people must be employed to stay on the island, except for children, spouses and long-term partners. Tristan da Cunha has full employment.

Monetary unit: Saint Helena pound, which is pegged to the pound sterling (Saint Helena and Ascension); pound sterling (Tristan da Cunha).

Brief history: The island of Saint Helena was reportedly discovered in 1502 by a Spanish navigator in the service of Portugal. By the end of the sixteenth century, it had become a port of call for ships en route from Europe to the East Indies. In 1633, it was claimed by the Netherlands, but not settled. In 1659, the British East India Company took possession of and settled the island, after the grant of a charter to govern by the Lord Protector of the Commonwealth, Oliver Cromwell, two years earlier. It officially became a Crown colony in 1833, a British dependent territory in 1981 and a British overseas territory in 2002. According to the administering Power, Tristan da Cunha is the most remote inhabited island in the world. There is no airport and there are 9 scheduled sailings a year. A one-way trip from Cape Town, South Africa, lasts about seven days.

I. Constitutional, legal and political developments

1. The current Constitution of Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha, which entered into force in September 2009, provides for the protection of the fundamental rights and freedoms of the individual. The new Constitution changed the name of the Territory from “Saint Helena and its Dependencies” to “Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha”, giving the three islands equal status within the Territory. The Head of the Government is the Governor, who is appointed by the British Crown. However, the ability of the Governor to act inconsistently with the wishes of elected councillors is curtailed in comparison with the previous Constitution. The British Overseas Territories Act 2002 provides for the granting of British citizenship to “British overseas territory citizens” when certain qualifications are met.

2. The Legislative Council on Saint Helena comprises the Speaker, the Deputy Speaker, the Attorney General and 12 members elected by the public. Only the 12 members elected by the public are voting members. The Speaker and the Deputy Speaker are elected by the voting members and the Attorney General is an ex officio member. The Executive Council consists of the Chief Minister, four Ministers and the Attorney General, who is ex officio and non-voting. The Chief Minister is elected by the Legislative Council. The Chief Minister selects four Ministers from the voting members. The Governor presides at meetings of the Executive Council. There shall be a general election of the elected members of the Legislative Council at such time, being not less than six weeks nor more than three months after the date of every dissolution of the Council, as the Governor appoints.

3. The 2009 Constitution contains enhanced provisions for ensuring the independence of the judiciary from the legislative and executive branches of the Government. The judicial system comprises the Court of Appeal, the Supreme Court and subordinate courts (currently the Magistrates’ Court and the Labour Regulating Authority to determine employment claims; others may be established by ordinance) and the Coroner, to investigate certain sudden or suspicious deaths. There remains a final appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in prescribed circumstances. The Media Commission has been established by ordinance and deals with complaints about breaches of the media codes of practice.

4. Following a political governance review conducted in 2019 and 2020, a consultative poll on 17 March 2021 and the endorsement of the result of the poll by the Legislative Council, a Constitutional Amendment Order was made by Order in Council and laid before Parliament in July 2021 and came into effect on 25 October 2021. The Order made provision for the introduction of a ministerial system of government to replace the previous committee system.

5. From 1 April 2021, the Public Service adopted a new structure with five portfolios, and a Central Support Service providing overarching support to all portfolios. The five portfolios are: health and social care; education, skills and employment; environment, natural resources and planning; safety, security and home affairs; and treasury, infrastructure and sustainable development.

II. Budget

6. Owing to a small tax base due in part to migration and an ageing population, Saint Helena depends heavily on the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland for funding. The budget for the 2022/23 financial year, presented by the Minister for Treasury, Infrastructure and Sustainable Development on 13 May 2022, amounts to £44.7 million, representing a 7.8 per cent decrease in comparison with the previous financial year. According to the administering Power, to balance the recurrent budget, total financial aid required from the Government of the United Kingdom is £31.79 million for the 2022/23 financial year, including £26.79 million for core budget support, £2.8 million for airport operations and £2.1 million for conditional contingency funding.

III. Economic conditions

A. General

7. Between 2009 and 2017, Saint Helena improved its ranking in the human development index, rising from 93rd to 83rd place, largely driven by significant growth in incomes. The largest employer is the Government of Saint Helena. The next largest sectors for employment are retail and services. The local population also earns income from construction, fishing, horticulture and livestock-raising. According to the administering Power, the unemployment rate is currently very low, but there are concerns about the productivity rate of the labour force. Since the completion of the construction of the airport, wages on Saint Helena have generally risen less than inflation, resulting in a small drop in real terms. In 2019/20, the median gross income from full-time employment was £8,880, an increase of 2.1 per cent compared with the previous year. The cost of living is regarded as high because most goods must be imported. Prices are influenced heavily by external factors, including the exchange rate of the pound to the South African rand, sea freight rates and inflation in the United Kingdom and South Africa. In the third quarter of 2022, inflation was 5.4 per cent as compared with the same quarter in 2021. The biggest export of Saint Helena is the provision of services to visitors, who typically spend money on accommodation, food, hospitality and transport. The opening of the airport to commercial air services in October 2017 led to an increase in tourist numbers, with visitors to Saint Helena (including both tourists and members of the diaspora returning home to visit family and friends) spending between £4.6 million and £6.7 million on the island in 2019, although this dropped to between £2.6 million and £3.6 million in 2021 as a result of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic travel restrictions. Saint Helena is actively seeking to increase its tourism offer through international engagement and by supporting local providers, but it will take time. South Africa and the United Kingdom are the two largest sources of imports. According to the 2022/23 budget, the important reduction in arrivals to Saint Helena as a result of COVID-19-related travel restrictions has had, and will continue to have, a negative impact on the island's economy by reducing spending on the island.

B. Development

8. According to the administering Power, until the United Kingdom exited the European Union, Saint Helena was eligible to receive budget support from the European Union through the eleventh European Development Fund, as were Ascension and Tristan da Cunha. In 2019, the Department for International Development launched an economic development investment programme for the period 2019–2026, worth up to £30 million, to improve the infrastructure of the island, assist it in adapting to climate change and provide additional funding for the rehabilitation of the cloud forest.

9. On 1 May 2018, the Executive Council approved the Sustainable Economic Development Plan 2018–2028, which is focused on raising the standard of living and improving the quality of life in the Territory by increasing exports and reducing imports.

10. According to the vision and strategy of the Government of Saint Helena for the period from April 2022 to March 2025, sustainability is at the core of all its strategies and plans. Where possible and relevant, activities have been selected that are linked with the Sustainable Development Goals (in particular Goals 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 13 and 14).

C. Fisheries and agriculture

11. According to the Statistics Office, fish and coffee are the two main commodity exports of Saint Helena, with a total value of around £0.35 million to £0.4 million in each of the years 2017/18 and 2019/20 (roughly 1 per cent of the gross domestic product). In 2020/21 and 2021/22, there were no exports of fish owing to the closure of the Saint Helena Fisheries Corporation. The value of the export of goods commodities is normally much smaller than the export of services to visitors, including tourists.

D. Transport and utilities

12. Saint Helena is accessed mainly through its airport. A weekly scheduled commercial air service to the island from South Africa commenced on 14 October 2017, providing passenger and freight capability. In addition, Saint Helena receives other air traffic, such as private charter and medical evacuation flights.

13. According to the administering Power, the Government of Saint Helena, with support from the administering Power, organized charter flights from the United Kingdom to Saint Helena and between Saint Helena and Ascension during the pandemic to maintain access to the islands. These flights have now come to an end, and the island is reverting to its pre-pandemic arrangements with a fortnightly service from Johannesburg, South Africa, switching to weekly operation during peak periods.

14. A cargo vessel, the MV Helena, provides regular freight service to the island, with calls at Ascension four times per year. The Territory has some 166 km of paved roads (116 km on Saint Helena, 40 km on Ascension and 10 km on Tristan da Cunha) and 30 km of unpaved roads (20 km on Saint Helena and 10 km on Tristan da Cunha).

15. Saint Helena has two local radio stations and one satellite television provider that is rebroadcast terrestrially. Ascension has one local radio station and receives relays of broadcasts from Saint Helena. Broadcasts from the British Forces Broadcasting Service are available, as are television services for the military of the United States of America. Tristan da Cunha receives television and radio broadcasts from the Service. In August 2021, a branch of the Equiano subsea cable was landed in Rupert's Bay in Saint Helena, and the cable is expected to be operational and providing super-fast connectivity from 2024.

16. According to the administering Power, as of 2021, around 30 per cent of energy is produced using renewables. One of the goals of the energy strategy (see A/AC.109/2020/13) is to increase renewable energy to as close to 100 per cent as possible.

17. According to the administering Power, Saint Helena has developed a water strategy and is planning on developing a detailed water resource management plan. The water resource strategy for the period 2020–2050, endorsed in 2020, addresses the need to reduce the risk of water shortages and the associated impact on livelihoods, the economy and the environment.

E. Banking and credit

18. The Bank of Saint Helena is the sole banking entity; it provides banking and related financial services within Saint Helena and its sub-branch on Ascension. A local debit card service commenced in December 2017.

19. In May 2018, the Parliament of the United Kingdom passed the Sanctions and Anti-Money Laundering Act, pursuant to which the Secretary of State was required to provide all reasonable assistance to the Governments of overseas territories to enable each of those Governments to establish a publicly accessible register of the beneficial ownership of companies registered in its jurisdiction and to prepare, no later than 31 December 2020, a draft Order in Council requiring any overseas territory that has not introduced such a register to do so. On 14 December 2020, the Government of the United Kingdom published a draft Order in Council setting out a framework for the registers. The Government of Saint Helena has committed itself to introducing such a register, and the Government of the United Kingdom is providing support where required. The Government of the United Kingdom expects this register, and those of the other overseas territories, to be in place by the end of 2023. This is in line with the call by the United Kingdom to make publicly accessible registers a global norm by 2023.

F. Tourism

20. According to the administering Power and the Government of Saint Helena, the new airport is an important means of bringing new financial opportunities to the island and will help to promote tourism. The rugged natural beauty of the Territory, its rare wildlife and its historic sites, such as Longwood House and Napoleon Bonaparte's tomb, are expected to attract visitors. In the five years since the opening of the Saint Helena airport for commercial flights, 13,663 passengers have arrived by air: 5,927 passengers were leisure visitors, of whom 3,892 were Saint Helenians visiting family and friends; and 2,035 were tourists (totals calculated for the period October 2017–September 2022). Prior to the disruption caused by COVID-19, flights operated weekly to Johannesburg, South Africa, with an additional flight to Cape Town, South Africa, scheduled between December and February. A monthly charter flight usually connects Saint Helena with Ascension. In 2021, 43 yachts arrived, carrying 129 persons. This number is low compared with previous years owing to the impact of reduced movement during the initial stages of the pandemic. According to information from the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office of the United Kingdom, the tourism industry declined during the pandemic. A tourism recovery strategy will therefore need to be a priority over the coming years.

21. According to the Statistics Office, the number of arrivals to Saint Helena in 2020/21 (excluding day visitors on cruise ships) was 893, an 81 per cent drop on the number of arrivals in 2019/20, which was 4,777. This significant decrease was due to the COVID-19 pandemic, which caused the suspension of the regular scheduled weekly flight from South Africa in April 2020. The number of arrivals by air fell to 786 in 2020/21, from 4,167 in 2019/20. However, arrivals and departures in the 2021/22 holiday season were considerably higher than in the same period in 2020/21, and that trend continued into 2022.

IV. Social conditions

A. General

22. According to the administering Power, following the reintroduction of the granting of British citizenship to Saint Helenians in 2002, the island experienced an exodus. The population census conducted in 2016 showed some recovery, with a resident population of 4,534, an increase of 5.5 per cent from 2008. The increase in population began with the air access project, which has resulted in an increasing number of Saint Helenians returning to the island to take advantage of the improved employment and business development opportunities. The results of the February 2021 census showed a total resident population of 4,439, a slight drop compared to the 2016 census figure. Censuses are normally conducted every 10 years, but the decision to conduct the 2021 census after a shorter period was taken in view of the introduction of air access in 2017, following construction of the airport. Estimates published by the Statistics Office in May 2022 showed the resident population to be 4,199 at the end of April 2022, representing an annual reduction of 4.7 per cent compared with April 2021.

23. Measured by international standards, Saint Helena is a middle-income Territory with few signs of material poverty, according to information provided by the administering Power. A minimum income standard, introduced in July 2013, protects against poverty by providing an income-related benefit to households in receipt of income below that threshold. At the end of September 2022, 230 families were in receipt of income-related benefits, and just over 800 persons collected the basic island pension. The number of recipients of the pension has risen steadily in recent years, consistent with demographic projections and the ageing population.

24. The 2021 census data showed a rise in the age dependency ratio of the resident population, increasing from 35 in 2016 – a number that was already considered very high – to 44 in 2021. The overall age dependency ratio increased from 56 per cent to 66 per cent. That ratio places Saint Helena among the highest old-age dependency ratios in the world, with little potential for natural population change to remedy the situation in the foreseeable future. It will inevitably place pressure upon the delivery of appropriate care services for people with complex needs and the care requirements of older persons. There are challenges related to the age range of staff working in the care industry (25 per cent between 55 and 65 years of age and 10 per cent over 65 years of age).

25. There is one general hospital in Jamestown, and there are four health clinics serving people living in rural areas. Complex medical cases are referred to Pretoria. In 2020 and 2021, owing to the COVID-19 pandemic and restrictions introduced in South Africa, most complex medical cases were referred to the United Kingdom. Urgent medical evacuations, however, have continued to be sent to South Africa. Two residential units provide care and support for individuals with learning and physical disabilities. In addition, the island has two family centres for children and young people who need supported accommodation and two locations for vulnerable and older persons. The Strategic Delivery Plan 2022–2025 of the Health and Social Care Portfolio encompasses five strategic priorities and their corresponding targets and provides an overview of the challenges for the health-care sector in Saint Helena.

26. According to the administering Power, as part of its response to the COVID-19 pandemic, associated legislation was revised and implemented together with appropriate policies. A quarantine facility was established, and access to the island was limited to chartered flights. The Government of the United Kingdom provided support to build the resilience of Saint Helena and improve its preparedness through the provision of medical staff, technical support, medical equipment, supplies and resources. The Government of the United Kingdom also arranged for COVID-19 vaccines to be sent to Saint Helena.

27. According to the administering Power, significant progress has been made in Saint Helena with regard to the development of a professional children's services department that delivers effective child protection services and preventive interventions for children and families (see A/AC.109/2018/13).

28. Saint Helena has developed, published, and begun to implement a national response plan for safeguarding children. Its three strategic priorities are the physical and emotional health of children, their safety and security, and the provision of support to families when they need it. The Health and Social Care Portfolio is committed to developing its approach to working with children, families and vulnerable adults. It is implementing and embedding the "Signs of Safety" practice framework, an internationally utilized strengths-based approach to direct work with and the assessment of children, families and vulnerable adults. The administering Power has facilitated a partnership with a county council in the United Kingdom to provide technical support to the Government of Saint Helena to further improve child safeguarding services. The Equality and Human Rights Commission of Saint Helena developed a strategic plan for the period 2022–2025 that provides Saint Helena with the flexibility, responsiveness and relevance required to advance human rights on the island. Furthermore, the Commission confirms that the goals established in the plan were aligned with relevant Sustainable Development Goals.

B. Employment

29. A significant number of Saint Helenians are employed off-island, especially on Ascension, in the Falkland Islands (Malvinas)¹ and in the United Kingdom. According to the budget for the financial year 2022/23 presented by the territorial Government, there is no evidence that COVID-19 has led to increased unemployment. Unemployment claims for the first half of 2021/22 were lower than the corresponding month in either of the preceding financial years. It is unclear whether this is because individuals had found employment, stopped looking for work or left the island.

C. Education

30. Education is compulsory and free for children between 5 and 16 years of age. There are currently four publicly funded schools in operation in Saint Helena (three primary schools and one secondary school). All schools are supported by a teacher training section that focuses on the professional development and upskilling of all teaching staff. The Inclusion Service Education Directorate supports children and young people with special educational needs and disability.

31. Students from overseas territories benefit from the home student rate for tuition fees at British universities, provided that they have lived in a British overseas territory, the European Economic Area or Switzerland for the three years prior to the first academic year of their course of study. Students will be eligible for tuition fee loans in England provided that they have settled status upon arrival in the United Kingdom and are starting full-time or part-time undergraduate courses in the 2023/24 academic year. Eligible students are encouraged to ensure that they hold a British passport before applying for home fee status to study in the United Kingdom.

¹ A dispute exists between the Governments of Argentina and the United Kingdom concerning sovereignty over the Falkland Islands (Malvinas).

32. The Education, Skills and Employment Portfolio has taken advantage of the opportunity presented by Student Finance England to support higher education studies in the United Kingdom that was made available to the overseas territories for the academic year 2022/23. Further work on securing maintenance loans for students is in progress. Career Access Saint Helena, a service providing free and impartial career advice, information and guidance to anyone 11 years of age or older, has been in existence for a year. The service has had positive engagement with the unemployed. The Portfolio has revised the apprenticeship programme in order to improve equality between vocational and academic students. The service continues to offer all school-leavers the opportunity to engage in further education or work-based training and development.

33. Retaining qualified and experienced teaching staff continues to be a challenge. Staff are supported with professional development opportunities on the island to raise the overall quality of teaching through professional development. According to the administering Power, the level of retention of local teachers dropped to 94 per cent in 2022. Currently, 78 per cent of teachers are internationally qualified at level 4 or above.

34. According to the administering Power, in 2022, 39 per cent of students achieved five or more General Certificate of Secondary Education passes with a grade of C or higher, including in English and mathematics. This result was in line with the predicted target. Advanced Level results for 2022 showed a 96 per cent pass rate, the same rate achieved in 2020. Two students were awarded scholarships in 2022. Two students completed undergraduate studies in 2022 with second-class honours. To date, none of those students have returned to Saint Helena to take up employment.

35. Rigorous work continues in primary education to meet the demands of the new curriculum and to raise the levels of attainment in mathematics and English. In 2022, the key stage 2 standardized assessment test results showed a decrease in the attainment of pupils compared to 2021. In mathematics, 56 per cent of pupils attained the expected results for their age group, compared with 72 per cent in 2021. In English, 57 per cent of pupils attained the expected result for their age group, compared with 72 per cent in 2021. For the online tests conducted in 2022, students experienced issues with connectivity. Inclusion continues to be a key focus within schools, with all schools sharing a commitment to providing opportunities for all pupils. There are a growing number of children in the school system with special educational needs and disabilities. Currently, about 16 per cent of children in the system have special educational needs and disabilities or social, emotional and mental health needs. A multidisciplinary team provides ongoing support to ensure that appropriate individual learning plans are developed, in close collaboration with the students, teachers and parents or carers, and are regularly reviewed. The Saint Helena Community College continues to improve and offers robust programmes of study and support to adult learners, with an increasing range of academic and vocational courses offered. The College currently offers over 300 courses and has 1,131 students registered. In the academic year 2022/23, the College was able to support 76 per cent of the identified training needs of the island's workforce in the Government of Saint Helena and 98 per cent of the identified training needs of the private sector.

36. In November 2019, the Education and Employment Directorate officially launched the Saint Helena Research Institute (see A/AC.109/2020/13). Despite a decrease in research applications due to COVID-19, the Saint Helena Research Institute is now seeing more applications for research on Saint Helena from a variety of countries. To date, the Institute has received 47 applications from 14 different countries, including from the Territory. The Directorate also operates a public library service for the people of Saint Helena. To date, membership stands at 1,300, comprising 975 adult members and 325 children.

D. Environment

37. According to the administering Power, the isolated position of Saint Helena has given rise to an unusual and remarkable array of terrestrial and marine flora and fauna. Saint Helena relies heavily on project funding to support conservation initiatives. The Strategy and Delivery Plan 2022–2025 of the Environment, Natural Resources and Planning Portfolio encompasses six strategic priorities, with corresponding targets, for the improvement and protection of the environments, natural resources and biodiversity of Saint Helena. A 200-nautical-mile maritime zone in the sea around Saint Helena was formally designated a marine protected area in 2019.

38. According to the administering Power, following the adoption of a waste management policy and an implementation plan, significant improvements in waste management have been achieved, notably the processing of organic waste into compost and the establishment of a small materials recycling facility that compacts and bales aluminium drink cans (for export), plastics and cardboard at the landfill site. A recyclable waste collection service from homes and businesses is planned for early 2023 to compliment the operation of the facility. These outputs are expected to significantly extend the remaining useful life of the landfill site.

V. Ascension

A. Constitutional and political status

39. Executive authority for Ascension is exercised by the Governor of Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha. The resident Administrator is appointed by, and reports to, the Governor. The Governor is advised by the Island Council, currently comprising five elected members and three ex officio members: the Administrator, the Director of Resources and the Attorney General. Ex officio members have no voting rights. The current Administrator, Simon Minshall, was sworn in on 2 November 2022. The Administrator represents the Governor of the Territory, is the Head of the government of Ascension and, as an ex officio member, chairs the Island Council in the Governor's absence.

40. Elections are held every three years. The most recent general election was held in October 2022. All registered voters over 18 years of age are eligible to vote. Under the 2009 Constitution, the Governor, acting after consultation with the Island Council, may make laws for Ascension. Ascension has its own legislation, but Saint Helenian law applies to the extent that it is not inconsistent with local law, insofar as it is suitable for local circumstances and subject to such modifications as local circumstances make necessary.

41. According to the administering Power, there are five full-time police officers on Ascension, including a senior officer with the rank of Inspector, reporting to the Chief of Police of Saint Helena. The role of Law Officer is fulfilled by the Attorney General of Ascension, who also serves as Attorney General of Saint Helena and Tristan da Cunha. The Attorney General is based on Saint Helena and is supported locally by a Crown Counsel. The Chief Magistrate of Saint Helena serves as the Magistrate of Ascension and is supported by four local lay justices of the peace. The Saint Helena Public Solicitor provides legal advice to residents of Ascension and is supported on site by two local lay advocates. There are three local coroners and one based in the office of the Chief Magistrate on Saint Helena.

B. Economic and social conditions

42. Residence on Ascension is dependent upon employment and, consequently, according to the administering Power, the population of Ascension enjoys full employment (838 workers) or are dependants of employed persons. As at 30 September 2021, 44 inhabitants were non-working adults, 12 inhabitants were between 16 and 18 years of age and participated in youth training schemes, and 91 were children. Residents of Ascension have no right of abode, although some have been on the island for several years and have children and grandchildren residing there, according to the administering Power. Services are mostly provided by the Government. A private sector company provides the water and electricity supply to most of the island, with the United States military base making its own arrangements. There are no commercial exports and little indigenous food production apart from an experimental hydroponics facility set up by the Government. The economy is somewhat fragile and is dependent upon the defence and communication organizations based on the island. Government activities are funded through, among other things, business levies, property tax, income tax and customs duties. The revenues raised cover the expenditure necessary for the provision of essential public services. There is a continued requirement to invest in the island's infrastructure, balanced with the need to create sufficient liquid reserves. The Government of the United Kingdom has provided funding for critical infrastructure in Ascension, under its Conflict, Stability and Security Fund between 2018 and 2022 and under the International Programme Fund since 2022.

43. In the past, foreign-flagged tuna fishing vessels were licensed to fish in the Ascension exclusive economic zone. Licences were issued most recently in 2018. In August 2019, the entire zone was designated a marine protected area, meeting a commitment made by the Government of the United Kingdom and contributing to its wider Blue Belt initiative. According to the local Government, it is intended that no large-scale commercial fishing or mineral extraction will be permitted in the marine protected area, making it one of the largest in the world to offer such a level of protection.

44. Health services are provided through the fully functioning hospital in Georgetown. If treatment is not possible locally, cases are referred to the United Kingdom. One gym, three swimming pools and other, limited sporting facilities are available to islanders. Ascension began administering the first doses of COVID-19 vaccines in February 2021, and booster vaccines arrived on the island in November 2021, all supplied by the Government of the United Kingdom.

45. The airport on Ascension is open but has limited capacity until June 2023 (when the runway repair project is due for completion). On 18 November 2017, the first direct monthly charter flight from Saint Helena landed on Ascension. Sea links are maintained by chartered resupply ships and the MV Helena, which currently calls at Ascension four times a year. Under certain circumstances, the civilian population is also able to travel on United Kingdom military flights.

46. The school in Two Boats village provides education to all children from the age of 3 years to 16 years and, in 2021, began to offer a limited range of A-level courses for school-leavers. A case management team for safeguarding children, whose members include a social worker and representatives of the police and the health and education sectors, is in place. The group meets to discuss individual cases and makes decisions on how best to proceed with specific safeguarding situations. A larger safeguarding board, chaired by the Administrator, meets quarterly to oversee the team and address the wider themes of safeguarding on Ascension. The employment of a full-time social worker has significantly raised awareness of safeguarding and resulted in the implementation of new policies and procedures and the delivery of training to better align the practices of Ascension with those of the United Kingdom. Success has been noted in the regulation and registration of childminders, whose provision of preschool childcare is vital because there are currently no such facilities on the island. Community education and engagement across the wide range of community members also increase safeguarding awareness and access to social welfare provision.

C. Environment

47. The island has the second-largest nesting population of green sea turtles in the Atlantic Ocean and supports 7 plant, 1 seabird and 11 fish species that are endemic to the island. Other less studied groups are likely to contain unique species found exclusively on Ascension. The greatest threats to the biodiversity of the island are alien invasive species and climate change.

48. The Conservation and Fisheries Directorate has established a multidisciplinary team of scientists and managers based on the island to deliver the Ascension biodiversity action plan. Eight protected areas safeguard the island's terrestrial fauna and flora, and in August 2019, a marine protected area was designated, covering the entire 440,000 km² of the Ascension exclusive economic zone. In March 2021, after consultations with stakeholders, the Ascension Island marine protected area management plan was published, detailing how the area will be managed over the next five years. The marine protected area is home to threatened and endemic species, which have been relatively undisturbed by human activity. The plan is aimed at protecting entire marine ecosystems and the natural processes that support them, as well as respecting the cultural significance of the ocean to people living on Ascension. Large scale commercial fishing will be banned throughout the marine protected area and no fishing of any kind, other than licensed research fishing, will be permitted beyond 12 nautical miles of the island.

VI. Tristan da Cunha

A. Constitutional and political status

49. Executive authority for Tristan da Cunha is exercised by the Governor of Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha. The resident Administrator is appointed by, and reports to, the Governor. The present interim Administrator is Sean Burns. The Governor is advised by the Island Council, comprising the Administrator, who is the President of the Council, eight elected members (including the Chief Islander and at least one woman) and three appointed members. Elections are held every three years. All registered voters over 18 years of age are eligible to vote. Under the 2009 Constitution, the Governor, after consulting with the Island Council, may make laws for Tristan da Cunha.

50. Tristan da Cunha has its own legislation, but Saint Helenian law applies to the extent that it is not inconsistent with local law, insofar as it is suitable for local circumstances and subject to such modifications as local circumstances make necessary. As a last resort, the laws of England and Wales apply. There are three special constables and one full-time police officer. The Administrator also serves as the Magistrate and coroner. There is no prison on Tristan da Cunha.

B. Economic and social conditions

51. The economy of Tristan da Cunha is based on traditional subsistence farming and fishing. Rock lobster is sustainably fished and exported to Australia, the European Union, Japan and the United States. The departure of the United Kingdom from the European Union has caused some problems for market access for its lobster, although there are provisions for the tariff-free import of whole lobster into the European Union.

52. Since 2007, Tristan da Cunha has enjoyed limited telecommunications. Internet access is now available to the community through a Wi-Fi system.

53. In 2009, the Island Council set out broad strategies to secure the island's financial future. According to the United Kingdom, even with such reforms, the island would very soon become insolvent unless further drastic measures were taken. In 2011, a thorough review of budgets was undertaken and strict rules on procurement and expenditure were introduced. According to the administering Power, external financial assistance with infrastructure projects and capacity-building will continue to be needed for a number of years.

54. The Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office of the United Kingdom funds the positions of resident doctors. To build capacity on the island, it also funds several expatriate positions, including two clinical nurses, a finance officer, a police advisor, teachers and a social worker. In addition, the Department sponsors annual dental and biennial optometrist visits as well as visits by other medical specialists. Funding for short-term visits by other specialists, such as veterinarians and auditors, is also provided. The Department also funds training both on and off the island. The training has been provided throughout the Administration, covering the following areas: fisheries, agriculture, tourism, post office services, public works and information and communications technology. Through a multi-year capital programme worth £12.8 million, new health facilities and harbour infrastructure were built, and further capital investment for future necessary infrastructure is currently under negotiation.

55. The island has one school, which provides children and young people between 3 and 16 years of age with an education. There is currently one expatriate teacher at the school. After 16 years of age, further education must be pursued off-island, which the Government of Tristan da Cunha has committed to providing for all who want to pursue further studies. Most students leave school at 16 years of age and tend to work in the Government or the fishing sector.

56. The disruption to transport links caused by the COVID-19 pandemic have largely ended, with transport ships returning to their usual schedule. The island received initial doses (in April 2021) and booster doses (in October 2022) of COVID-19 vaccines from the Government of the United Kingdom.

C. Environment

57. Gough Island and Inaccessible Island are both World Heritage Sites of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and Nightingale Island is a Ramsar wetland site. Tristan da Cunha was hit by significant storms in July and November 2019. The July storm caused widespread damage and is regarded as one of the most damaging natural disasters to affect the island since the volcanic eruption of October 1961. Most structures affected have now been repaired, and longer-term sustainable repairs and infrastructure upgrading are being planned.

58. Tristan da Cunha is successfully implementing conservation projects with help from its partners, including the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds. The projects run by the Overseas Territory Environmental Programme and Darwin funds include efforts to remove invasive species from uninhabited islands in the Tristan da Cunha group. There have also been projects to protect the rare Wilkins's bunting and eradicate invasive flax from Inaccessible Island.

59. In November 2020, Tristan da Cunha designated a marine protection zone of 690,000 km² within its exclusive economic zone, which constitutes the largest no-take zone in the Atlantic. The marine protection zone will help to protect critically endangered albatrosses, rockhopper penguins, blue sharks and beaked whales, as well as other marine life and environments.

VII. Relations with international organizations and partners

60. According to the territorial Government, on 27 February 2020, the Economic Development Committee endorsed the recommendation that Saint Helena should formally declare itself to be a small island developing State and initiate the necessary steps to become affiliated with one of the United Nations regional commissions. On 24 March, the Executive Council approved the recommendation, subject to confirmation by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office that no entrustment from the administering Power was necessary.

VIII. Future status of the Territory

A. Position of the territorial Government

61. Information on political and constitutional developments regarding the status of Saint Helena is reflected in section I above.

B. Position of the administering Power

62. At the 9th meeting of the Special Political and Decolonization Committee (Fourth Committee), on 14 October 2022, during the seventy-seventh session of the General Assembly, the representative of the United Kingdom stated that the relationship of his Government with its overseas territories was a modern one based on partnership, shared values and the right of the people of each Territory to choose to remain British.

63. He added that the United Kingdom and the Territories were in agreement that the Territories had a large measure of internal self-government, subject only to the United Kingdom retaining powers that enabled it to carry out its obligations under international law. He also noted that the United Kingdom-Overseas Territories Joint Ministerial Council met annually to monitor and drive forward collective priorities, including environmental protection, and that the United Kingdom was committed to supporting Territories in achieving those collective priorities and to carrying out its responsibilities, including sharing security.

64. The Government of the United Kingdom has been supporting the overseas territories throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. The support has included the funding and supply of testing kits, laboratory consumables, medical equipment, medical supplies and COVID-19 vaccines, including booster doses, and the provision of public health expertise. According to the administering Power, its support is in line with its enduring commitment to the peoples of its overseas territories.

IX. Action taken by the General Assembly

65. On 12 December 2022, the General Assembly adopted resolution 77/144 without a vote, on the basis of the report of the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples for 2022 (A/77/23) and the subsequent recommendation by the Fourth Committee. (k) Took into account the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, including the Sustainable Development Goals, stressed the importance of fostering the economic and social sustainable development of the Territory by promoting sustained, inclusive and equitable economic growth, creating greater opportunities for all, reducing inequalities, raising basic standards of living, fostering equitable social development and inclusion and promoting the integrated and sustainable management of natural resources and ecosystems that supported, inter alia, economic, social and human development, while facilitating ecosystem conservation, regeneration, restoration and resilience in the face of new and emerging challenges, and strongly urged the administering Power to refrain from undertaking any kind of illicit, harmful and unproductive activities, including the use of the Territory as an international financial centre, that were not aligned with the interest of the people of the Territory;
