I. Constitutional, political and legal issues

1. The United States Virgin Islands is an organized, unincorporated territory of the United States of America. Under the Organic Act of the Virgin Islands (1936), its revision in 1954 and subsequent amendments to the Revised Organic Act of 1954, the Territory has a legislature, known as the Senate, which is a unicameral body comprising 15 senators elected to a two-year term by popular vote. Executive power is vested in the Governor, who, since 1970, has been elected by popular vote to a four-year term on the same ticket as the Lieutenant Governor. The Governor is limited to two consecutive terms. With the advice and consent of the Legislature, the Governor appoints the heads of the executive departments and has the power to approve or veto legislation and issue executive orders.

2. In November 2018, Albert Bryan Jr. was elected Governor, and Tregenza Roach was elected Lieutenant Governor for a four-year term. Both were re-elected for a second four-year term in November 2022. The Territory also elects a delegate to the United States House of Representatives, who is able to vote in committees. Congresswoman Stacey Plaskett won the election held on 8 November 2022 and was elected to her fifth term as delegate. The Territory's senatorial elections were also held on 8 November 2022.

3. The Territory's judicial system has a district court, a superior court and a supreme court. The supreme court, which became operational in January 2007, is the appellate court that hears appeals decided by the superior court. Its establishment eliminated federal judicial involvement in purely local legal matters. In December 2012, the President of the United States signed House of Representatives bill No. 6116 authorizing direct review by the United States Supreme Court of decisions made by the Supreme Court of the United States Virgin Islands. The legislation was sponsored by the Territory's congressional delegate.

4. Since the revision of the Organic Act of the Virgin Islands by the Government of the United States in 1954, there have been four attempts to replace it with a local constitution approved by the people of the Territory that would organize the internal mechanisms of the Government. Although the United States Congress authorized the adoption of a local constitution in 1976 under United States Public Law 94-584, none of the four attempts made was successful.

5. As previously reported, on 26 May 2009, the Fifth Constitutional Convention adopted a proposed constitution of the United States Virgin Islands by a two-thirds vote. It was submitted to the Governor on 31 May 2009. With a preamble and 19 articles, the 27-page text included provisions on a bill of rights; principles, branches and subdivisions of government; Virgin Islanders; elections; education; youth; taxation, finance and commerce; economic development; public health, safety and welfare; culture; environmental protection; referendums and recalls; and the creation of a political status advisory commission. Further details can be found in previous working papers.

6. On 26 February 2010, the President of the United States submitted the proposed constitution to Congress, endorsing the conclusions reached by the United States Department of Justice that several features of the proposed text warranted analysis and comment, including: (a) the absence of express recognition of United States sovereignty and the supremacy of federal law; (b) provisions for a special election on the territorial status of the United States Virgin Islands; (c) provisions conferring legal advantages on certain groups defined by place and timing of birth, timing of residency or ancestry; (d) residence requirements for certain offices; (e) provisions guaranteeing legislative representation of certain geographical areas; (f) provisions addressing territorial waters and marine resources; (g) imprecise language in certain provisions of the proposed bill of rights; (h) the possible need to repeal certain federal laws if the proposed constitution were adopted; and (i) the effect of congressional action or inaction on the proposed constitution.

7. On 11 September 2012, the Governor signed Act No. 7386 establishing and convening a body called the Fifth Revision Convention, formed by the 30 delegates elected to the Fifth Constitutional Convention and five attorneys. The Fifth Revision Convention was convened on 1 October and mandated to ratify and approve, no later than 31 October and by a two-thirds majority vote of all the delegates, the final revised draft constitution consistent with the nine issues identified by the Government of the United States (see para. 6). The Act established that, if the Fifth Revision Convention agreed upon a proposed revised draft constitution by the deadline, the President of that body should have it submitted to the Governor and to the President of the United States. In case of the non-adoption of the text, both the Fifth Constitutional Convention and the Fifth Revision Convention would be dissolved, and the Legislature of the United States Virgin Islands would have full authority to address the Territory's constitution. As reported in previous working papers, however, the outcome of the Fifth Revision Convention was surrounded by controversy and has continued to remain unclear. In January 2013, in his State of the Territory address, the Governor expressed the hope that the Territory would find "the means and courage that will lead us from the Organic Act to a Virgin Islands constitution".

8. According to the Department of the Interior in its 2023 budget justification for the Office of Insular Affairs, the Office allocated a $250,000 grant to the University of the Virgin Islands in 2021 to support the Office of Self-Determination and Constitutional Development. The Office works with other stakeholders across the Territory to address the issue of self-determination. Major duties and responsibilities include political status and constitutional education, research and development and universal public education.

9. The fiftieth anniversary of the first observance of the United States Virgin Islands-British Virgin Islands Friendship Day Celebration was commemorated on 22 October 2022, hosted by the Government of the British Virgin Islands.

10. At the Caribbean Regional Seminar on Decolonization held from 2 to 4 May 2019, the Lieutenant Governor said that the United States Virgin Islands required separate treatment in the decolonization process. He noted that the Congress of the United States had passed legislation authorizing a locally drafted constitution, but that such a constitution would require the approval of the Congress. Pursuant to General Assembly resolution 1514 \(XV\), however, the United Nations would not endorse the adoption of a constitution by a Non-Self-Governing Territory that must be approved by the administering Power. He added that the current territorial Government recognized the need for the Territory to embark on a new and meaningful conversation regarding its status, which should culminate in a status referendum within the four-year term. He cited challenges related to the issue of identity and said that native inhabitants should be entitled to special recognition and that the Territory would welcome the presence of the United Nations as an objective and credible voice regarding the decolonization process, as well as financial support and other resources that could serve to advance the dialogue. He added that the administering Power should also provide financial support in that regard.

11. On 7 May 2020, the territorial Legislature adopted an Act providing for a referendum vote on convening a constitutional convention to consider adopting the Revised Organic Act of the United States Virgin Islands or portions of it as the Constitution of the Territory. The bill was signed by the Governor on 19 May 2020. At the general election held on 3 November 2020, voters were asked whether they were in favour of the legislature enacting legislation to convene a constitutional convention to adopt the Revised Organic Act of the Virgin Islands, 68 Stat. 497, or portions of it as the Constitution of the Virgin Islands. A majority of 72 per cent voted in favour.

12. On 20 January 2022, the Committee on Government Operations and Consumer Protection of the territorial Legislature approved and forwarded for further processing Bill No. 34-0153, entitled “An Act establishing the Sixth Constitutional Convention of the Virgin Islands; and providing for an appropriation to cover convention-related expenses”. According to a press release of the territorial Government dated 2 February 2023, the Governor of the Territory approved Bill No. 34-0153, which established and provided an appropriation to fund the Sixth Constitutional Convention, although he pointed out that the measure did not have an identified adequate funding source.

13. The Interagency Group on Insular Areas, established through Executive Order 13537 of 14 April 2010, advises the President of the United States on the establishment or implementation of policies concerning the insular areas, solicits information and advice concerning those areas from the Governors of, and other elected officials in, the insular areas and from representatives of entities or other individuals, and solicits information from executive departments or agencies for purposes of carrying out its missions, in order to help to ensure coordination and collaboration among federal agencies in addressing issues of concern to, among others, American Samoa, Guam and the United States Virgin Islands. On 8 February 2023, the Interagency Group convened its annual plenary session with the Governors of the Territories.

14. The Governor of the Territory attended the plenary session of the Interagency Group on Insular Areas on 8 February 2023, during which he expressed appreciation and gratitude for the support received from the federal Government and spoke about efforts to increase renewable energy and the federal Government’s requirement to use local funds to match disaster recovery funds as two remaining areas of concern for the Territory. The Governor added that the Territory had a unique opportunity to stand out as a model for renewable energy use in the United States. The Governor stated that, within two years, the Territory would have 85 megawatts of renewable energy, equivalent to the entire load of the Territory.

II. Budget

15. The fiscal year begins on 1 October and ends on 30 September. Major sources of revenue include individual income tax, corporate income tax, real property tax and gross receipts tax. On 1 October 2023, the Governor signed the executive budget for the fiscal year 2024/25, which totals approximately $1.02 billion.

16. The Virgin Islands Office of Disaster Recovery was established in February 2019 within the Virgin Islands Public Finance Authority. The Office serves as the centre of coordination for the anticipated $10 billion of federal funding to be received in support of the recovery from the devastation caused by the hurricanes in 2017. By Executive Order of the Governor, the Office oversees all federal disaster assistance funding programmes for the Territory, the largest of which are: Public Assistance Grant Program, Hazard Mitigation Grant Program, Community Development Block Grant – Disaster Recovery, and Federal Highway Administration – Emergency Relief.

III. Economic conditions

A. General

17. On 22 May 2023, the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the United States released a report containing estimates of gross domestic product (GDP) for the United States Virgin Islands for 2021, in addition to estimates of GDP by industry and compensation by industry for 2020. The Bureau noted that the real GDP for the Territory had increased by 2.8 per cent in 2021 after decreasing by 1.9 per cent in 2020. The rise in real GDP reflected increases in exports and personal consumption expenditures, which were partly offset by decreases in private inventory investment, private fixed investment and government spending. Imports, a subtraction item in the calculation of GDP, also decreased.

18. According to the report of the Bureau of Economic Analysis, exports had increased by 94.9 per cent, reflecting growth in both goods and services. The growth in exports of goods primarily reflected increases in exports of crude oil and petroleum products. Exports of services, which consist primarily of spending by visitors, also increased. Total visitor arrivals were higher in 2021 than in 2020. Although cruise arrivals were lower, statistics published by the Territory's Bureau of Economic Research show that arrivals of air visitors, who spend more on the islands than cruise visitors, were 97 per cent higher in 2021. Personal consumption expenditures increased 0.6 per cent, reflecting increases in spending on both goods and services. Consumer spending was supported by assistance payments from the Government of the United States distributed to households through the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act and the American Rescue Plan Act.

19. According to the same report, private inventory investment decreased because crude oil and petroleum product inventories were drawn down for export and use in petroleum refining. Private fixed investment decreased by 36.8 per cent, reflecting declines in business spending on construction and equipment. Investment spending had been elevated in prior years to support capital improvement projects, including the restart of the oil refinery on St. Croix. Government spending decreased by 1.2 per cent, primarily reflecting a decline in spending by the federal government, which had been increased in 2020 to support the reconstruction of federal facilities heavily damaged during the 2017 hurricanes Irma and Maria. Territorial Government spending decreased by 0.3 per cent, reflecting a decline in employee remuneration costs.

20. According to the report, in 2021, the Territory's economy was supported by the continued federal government response related to the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic. Territorial government and consumer spending were supported by federal payments authorized by the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act of 2020, the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2021 and the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021. Expenditures funded by these payments are reflected in the GDP estimates. However, the full effects of the pandemic cannot be quantified in the statistics of the Bureau of Economic Analysis because any such impacts are generally embedded in the data sources used to estimate the specific components of GDP.

21. On 20 October 2020, the Governor announced the commission of a 20-year economic development plan for the Territory. In March 2021, the Economic Development Authority completed Vision 2040, a long-term economic recovery, revitalization and resilience plan for the Territory. The plan sets two macroeconomic goals for the Territory: reaching full employment by 2030 and achieving economic stability by 2040. The plan also establishes eight aspirational goals to help the Territory to achieve those macroeconomic goals.

B. Tourism

22. According to the United States Virgin Islands Bureau of Economic Research, there were 1.6 million cruise passengers in 2023 compared with 1.02 million in 2022, an increase of 58.0 per cent. In 2023, 495 cruise ships called at ports in the Territory, a 19.6 per cent increase compared with 2022. There were 782,022 air visitor arrivals in 2023 compared with 792,008 in 2022, a decrease of 1.3 per cent.

C. Manufacturing and construction

23. According to the Government Accountability Office of the United States, the closed oil refinery in the Territory (see A/AC.109/2023/16, para. 20) would require a significant amount of capital investment and environmental modifications to reopen. On 16 November 2022, the Environmental Protection Agency determined that the owners and operators of the closed refinery on St. Croix must apply for and obtain a new air pollution permit before operating the refinery. On 25 July 2023, the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit ruled that the Agency had exceeded its authority under the Clean Air Act when it had told the owner of that refinery that it needed the permit.

24. According to the Division of Economic Research of the Office of Management and Budget of the United States Virgin Islands, the rum industry consists of two companies. Both distilleries have a combined production capacity of 29 million proof gallons of rum per year. Rum produced in the Territory is exported to the United States primarily in bulk and sold to local and regional bottlers for sale under a variety of brands. According to the latest construction permit report of the Bureau of Economic Research, the total construction permit value in the Territory for 2023 amounted to $341,156,000. Of that figure, $185,175,000 is attributed to private residential construction permits, $81,251,000 to private non-residential construction permits and $58,885,000 to public construction permits.

D. Trade, transportation and utilities

25. The United States Virgin Islands has some 1,250 km of roadways. The Territory also enjoys one of the deepest natural harbours in the Caribbean and is strategically located along the Anegada Passage, a key route for ships bound for the Panama Canal. The Territory has five major docking facilities, which can accommodate cruise ships and some naval vessels. Three of the docks are on Saint Croix: South Shore, Gallows Bay and Frederiksted. The other two are on Saint Thomas: the facilities operated in Crown Bay by the Virgin Islands Port Authority, a semi-autonomous government agency, and the West Indian Company, which is owned by the United States Virgin Islands.

E. Agriculture and fisheries

26. The Virgin Islands Department of Agriculture provides basic agricultural services and technical support to the Territory's farming community. The Department is primarily responsible for expanding the production and marketing of agricultural commodities as well as the processing of agricultural products throughout the Territory and for enforcing environmental protection laws relating to land, water and soil and regulatory practices relating to veterinary services.

27. The Virgin Islands Agricultural Plan was published in May 2022. The goal of the Plan is to increase agricultural productivity locally to make food security and sovereignty a reality for people living in the Territory. According to the Plan, 97 per cent of the food supply is imported. Importing food not only puts the local food supply at risk of shortages but also affects the quality of the food by reducing its freshness and nutritional value while adding extra transportation costs. Moreover, importing food has significant environmental implications, as it contributes to increased carbon emissions and pollution.

IV. Social conditions

A. Labour

28. According to the Bureau of Economic Research, 40,159 persons were employed in civilian jobs in October 2023, an increase of 1.1 per cent from October 2022. As of October 2023, the unemployment rate was 3.3 per cent. According to the executive budget for the fiscal year 2024/25, the labour supply in the Territory is the most significant headwind for economic growth or lack thereof.

B. Education

29. Education in the United States Virgin Islands is compulsory and free for all children between 5 and 16 years of age. The Territory's Department of Education comprises a State-level education agency and two local education agencies, one for the Saint Thomas-Saint John district and the other for the Saint Croix district. Each district has 2 high schools, 3 middle schools and 10 elementary schools. The University of the Virgin Islands has campuses on Saint Thomas and Saint Croix and a combined full-time and part-time body of some 2,500 students.

30. According to the executive budget for the fiscal year 2024/25, 10,166 students were enrolled for the 2022/23 school year. In his State of the Territory address in January 2024, the Governor said that, while attention on student academic achievement and effective strategies to address learning loss resulting from the disruptions of the 2017 hurricanes and the pandemic were imperative, those discussions could not overshadow the real concerns that faculty and students faced regarding the physical condition of schools.

C. Public health

31. The Territory's Department of Health maintains facilities on Saint Thomas, Saint John and Saint Croix, as well as a long-term care facility on Saint Thomas. Outreach efforts include educational, preventive and treatment services using clinics and subdivisions to address maternal and child health, family planning, environmental health, sexually transmitted infections, HIV, tuberculosis, mental health and substance abuse. The Department administers 33 activity centres and 16 federal programmes.

32. According to the Pan American Health Organization, life expectancy at birth in 2023 was 76 years, representing an increase of 3.3 years over the 2000 figure.

33. According to the administering Power, the Government of the United States provided considerable financial assistance to the United States Virgin Islands to assist the Territory in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act included $55 million in funding assistance for insular areas, which included the United States Virgin Islands, to support efforts to prepare for, prevent and respond to pandemics.

34. On 18 November 2023, the President of the United States declared an emergency in the United States Virgin Islands due to elevated levels of lead and copper in the St. Croix water supply and ordered federal assistance to supplement the Territory's response efforts. According to the State of the Territory address by the Governor in January 2024, subsequent testing performed by the Environmental Protection Agency of the United States confirmed that lead and copper levels were below the levels that would be of cause for concern.

D. Crime and crime prevention

35. According to the proposed executive budget for the fiscal year 2024/25, the Virgin Islands Police Department is charged primarily with the enforcement of laws. The Department comprises seven divisions: the Office of the Commissioner, the Division of Police Operations – Saint Thomas – Water Island, the Division of Administration Support and Logistics, the Division of Police Operations – Saint Croix, the Division of Highway Safety, the Division of Training and the Division of Police Operations – Saint John.

V. Environmental protection and disaster preparedness

36. Responsibility for ensuring the Territory's resilience to disasters lies with the Virgin Islands Territorial Emergency Management Agency. The Agency ensures the Territory's ability to recover rapidly from large and small disasters by assessing and mitigating hazards, enhancing preparedness, ensuring an effective response and building the capacity to recover.

VI. Relations with international organizations and partners

37. The United States Virgin Islands is an associate member of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. The Territory has observer status with the Association of Caribbean States and the Alliance of Small Island States, which serves as a platform to promote action on environmental issues, including climate change. According to information provided by the administering Power, the United States Virgin Islands received acceptance as a territorial Government with observer status at the Organisation of Eastern Caribbean States in 2009.

38. The Territory participates in meetings of the Inter-Virgin Islands Council between the British Virgin Islands and the United States Virgin Islands with a view to addressing mutual interests and challenges and fostering and promoting cooperation between the two Territories. Topics addressed at the meetings include law enforcement, pleasure boating and sport fishing, other maritime matters, cooperation in tourism, energy and utilities, and culture and education. The 9th meeting of the Inter-Virgin Islands Council was held on Saint Thomas in September 2022.

VII. Future status of the Territory

A. Position of the territorial Government

39. Developments regarding discussions on the future status of the United States Virgin Islands are reflected in section I.

B. Position of the administering Power

40. In a letter dated 2 November 2006 addressed to the delegate of American Samoa to the United States House of Representatives, the Assistant Secretary of State for Legislative Affairs elaborated on the position of the Government of the United States. He indicated that the status of the insular areas regarding their political relations with the federal Government was an internal United States issue and not one that came within the purview of the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples. He said that the Special Committee had no authority to alter in any way the relationship between the United States and those territories and had no mandate to engage the United States in negotiations on their status. He also said that, at the same time, in accordance with its obligations under the Charter of the United Nations to provide regularly to the United Nations statistical and other information of a technical nature relating to the economic, social and educational conditions in the Non-Self-Governing Territories, the federal Government submitted annual updates on the Territories under its administration to the Special Committee as a demonstration of its cooperation as an administering Power and as a way of correcting any errors in information that the Special Committee might have received from other sources.

41. At the 7th meeting of the Special Political and Decolonization Committee (Fourth Committee), on 9 October 2023, during the seventy-eighth session of the General Assembly, the representative of the United States said that his Government proudly supported the right to self-determination and would continue to fully uphold Article 73 of the Charter of the United Nations. His Government recognized the challenges faced by American Samoa, Guam and the United States Virgin Islands owing to their size, remote locations and limited natural resources, as well as the impact of years of slavery, colonialism and wars, followed by conflict and social adjustment, including during the periods of administration by the United States and the development of internal self-government. There was a strong relationship between the Territories and the rest of the United States, as had been demonstrated by their inclusion in the same federal COVID-19 pandemic relief and recovery package provided to all 50 States and in the roll-out and implementation of the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act and the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022. The current Administration, as part of its policies aimed at recognizing and remediating ethnic and racial injustice, had acknowledged past and present federal actions and institutionalized practices that, in some cases and circumstances, had not been consistent with the protection of equal rights and opportunities for all members of the diverse communities of the Territories.

42. He added that the United States recognized its obligations under Article 73 e of the Charter to promote self-determination for the peoples of American Samoa, Guam and the United States Virgin Islands. While they had the status of Non-Self-Governing Territories, they were locally self-governing, with residents free to decide on their priorities and how resources were spent, and enjoyed federal political representation. Their elected representatives to the House of Representatives served on several important committees, where they participated in debates on national legislation. The Governors of the Territories were regularly invited to meetings of the Senate and House committees of jurisdiction to report on territorial status and to advocate federal policy changes and initiatives. The Interagency Group on Insular Areas hosted the Governors and United States representatives from each Territory at an annual senior plenary session, where representatives of the Administration were in attendance, and they could register priorities and concerns related to the local execution of federal policies and initiatives (see A/C.4/78/SR.7).

43. At the 9th meeting, on 11 October 2023, the representative reiterated his delegation's concern that the draft resolutions to be adopted at the meeting placed too much weight on independence as a one-size-fits-all status option for Territories in pursuit of self-determination. He said that, as stated in the 1970 Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Cooperation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, the people of a Non-Self-Governing Territory could validly opt for free association as an alternative to independence or any other political status, including integration with the administering State, provided that that status was freely determined by the people, and that therefore the United Nations must not seek to influence the outcome of decolonization processes, but rather respect the free will of the people (see A/C.4/78/SR.9).

VIII. Action taken by the General Assembly

44. On 7 December 2023, the General Assembly adopted its resolution 78/99 without a vote on the basis of the report of the Special Committee for 2022 (A/78/23) and the subsequent recommendation by the Fourth Committee. In the resolution, the Assembly:

(a) Reaffirmed the inalienable right of the people of the United States Virgin Islands to self-determination, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations and with General Assembly resolution 1514 \(XV\), containing the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples;

(b) Also reaffirmed that, in the process of decolonization of the United States Virgin Islands, there was no alternative to the principle of self-determination, which was also a fundamental human right, as recognized under the relevant human rights conventions;

(c) Further reaffirmed that it was ultimately for the people of the United States Virgin Islands to determine freely their future political status in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter, the Declaration and the relevant resolutions of the General Assembly, and in that connection called upon the administering Power, in cooperation with the territorial Government and appropriate bodies of the United Nations system, to develop political education programmes for the Territory in order to foster an awareness among the people of their right to self-determination in conformity with the legitimate political status options, based on the principles clearly defined in Assembly resolution 1541 \(XV\) and other relevant resolutions and decisions;

(d) Welcomed the proposal of a draft constitution emanating from the Territory in 2009, as a result of the work of the United States Virgin Islands Fifth Constitutional Convention, for review by the administering Power, and requested the administering Power to assist the territorial Government in achieving its political, economic and social goals, in particular the successful conclusion of the internal Constitutional Convention exercise;

(e) Requested the administering Power to facilitate the process for approval of the proposed constitution and its implementation, once agreed upon in the Territory, and to regularly provide the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples with relevant updates in that regard, including on the process for convening a constitutional convention following the referendum held in November 2020;

(f) Also requested the administering Power to assist the Territory by facilitating its work concerning public educational outreach efforts, consistent with Article 73 b of the Charter, and in that regard called upon the relevant United Nations organizations to provide assistance to the Territory, if requested;

(g) Welcomed the establishment of the Office of Self-Determination and Constitutional Development in the University of the Virgin Islands, with funding from the administering Power, to address the issue of self-determination, including political status and constitutional education;

(h) Reiterated its call for the inclusion of the Territory in regional programmes of the United Nations Development Programme, consistent with the participation of other Non-Self-Governing Territories;

(i) Welcomed the active participation of the Territory in the work of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean;
