PROGRAMME BUDGET FOR THE BIENNIUM 1996-1997

REVIEW OF THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS AND DECISIONS
ADOPTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT ITS TENTH SPECIAL SESSION:
ADVISORY BOARD ON DISARMAMENT MATTERS; UNITED NATIONS INSTITUTE FOR DISARMAMENT RESEARCH

Request for a subvention to the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research resulting from the recommendations of the Board of Trustees of the Institute on the work programme of the Institute for 1997

Note by the Secretary-General

1. In accordance with the provisions of paragraph 2 of article VIII of the statute of the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR),¹ the proposed annual budget, together with the comments and recommendations thereon of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, shall be submitted to the Board of Trustees of the Institute for action in accordance with article III, paragraphs 2 (b) and (c), of the statute. On 31 October 1996, the Advisory Committee reviewed UNIDIR's work programme and proposed budget for 1997, which had been reviewed and approved by its Board of Trustees. In its report presented to the Advisory Committee, UNIDIR stated that although efforts were continuing to increase the portion of administrative costs in tied contributions, the scarcity of non-earmarked contributions persisted. As such, the subvention from the United Nations regular budget used to cover the costs of the Director and staff of the Institute continued to ensure the economic viability and independence of the Institute; hence the subvention was essential. The recommendation of the Board of Trustees of UNIDIR for a subvention of $213,000 from the regular budget of the United Nations is hereby transmitted to the General Assembly for approval.

2. The Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters, in its capacity as Board of Trustees of UNIDIR, upon adopting the work programme for 1997 (A/51/364, annex II, chap. II) and the 1997 estimated expenditures of the Institute, noted that for several years the subvention received from the United Nations had not been adjusted for inflation. The Board considered that the subvention is vital in sustaining the ongoing development of the Institute, since restrictions are not applied against its use, as is often the case with the Institute's other sources of funding (voluntary contributions from Member States and research grants from foundations), which are usually "tied" or "earmarked". For 1996, the subvention is an estimated 21.3 per cent of the revised estimated income from voluntary sources, as reflected in annex I to the present note; therefore, the Board concluded that the level of the subvention from the United Nations should be kept under review as part of the Institute's efforts for continued growth in voluntary contributions.

3. The proposed programme budget of the United Nations for the biennium 1996-1997² had contained under section 2, Political affairs, a provision of $440,000 as a grant, representing the United Nations subvention to UNIDIR for 1996-1997. The Board has concurred, in view of the request of the General Assembly in its resolution 50/214 of 23 December 1995 for savings to be achieved in the 1996-1997 programme budget, that the subvention from the regular budget of the United Nations for 1997 be at $213,000, accounting for a reduction of $7,000 applied against the annual subvention of $220,000 which has prevailed for a number of years. A request for a subvention for 1997 of $213,000 is therefore being submitted to the General Assembly, in keeping with established procedure.

4. Should the General Assembly decide to approve the recommendation of the Board of Trustees of UNIDIR, no additional appropriation would be required under section 2, Political affairs, of the programme budget for the biennium 1996-1997.

5. Under section IV of General Assembly resolution 44/201 B of 21 December 1989, entitled "Subvention from the regular budget to the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research", the Secretary-General is requested "to report annually to the General Assembly on the situation of the Institute". In that connection, it should be noted that the financial situation of the Institute is as follows:

(a) Funds available at the beginning of 1996 amounted to $99,900;

(b) Total income estimated for 1996 from voluntary contributions ($1,033,900), interest ($10,000), miscellaneous sources ($18,000) - basically income from sales of UNIDIR's publications - and the subvention from the United Nations regular budget ($213,000) is estimated at $1,274,900. The estimates reflect a net increase of $343,400 over the estimates provided in 1995 (A/50/416), owing mainly to an increase in voluntary contributions. The details of revised 1996 and 1997 contributions are provided in annexes I and II to the present document;

(c) Total 1996 estimated expenditure is $1,193,500, which includes a provision of $46,700 for programme support costs. Requirements for 1997 are estimated at $949,000, inclusive of $35,000 for programme support costs. The breakdown of 1996 revised estimated expenditures and the 1997 estimates is provided in annex III to the present document;

(d) Available funds at the end of 1996 are estimated at $181,300, including an operating reserve of $147,000.
