307 (IV). Economic development and international economic and commercial policy

Considering that experience has shown that many aspects of international economic and commercial policy exercise a powerful influence on the economic development of under-developed countries,

Recommends that, in the Economic and Social Council's forthcoming work and studies on economic development, further attention should be paid to such questions of international economic and commercial policy as may influence the process of development of the economies of under-developed countries, with a view to making recommendations to the General Assembly.

employment in accordance with Articles 55 and 56 of the Charter, is a basic requirement for the achievement of a stable and expanding world economy;

4. That, in addition, action is needed to overcome unemployment and under-employment such as that arising, particularly in under-developed countries, among large numbers of people engaged in agricultural pursuits; and that, to this end, it is necessary, inter alia, to stimulate the economic development of under-developed countries;

5. That the objectives of international agreements for the furtherance of the production and consumption of, and the expansion of international trade in, goods on as free as possible a basis would be seriously impaired by failure to take, or by delay in taking, action designed to maintain full and productive employment especially in those countries which have an important share in world trade; and

6. That a high and stable level of international investment, particularly in the under-developed areas of the world, would contribute materially to the realization of those objectives;

Notes with satisfaction:

7. Declarations of various Governments of their intention to deal promptly with unemployment, and their recognition of the contribution which such steps will make towards the maintenance of world-wide economic stability; and that the measures they have already put into effect, or have under study, for increasing purchasing power and for promoting full employment include such measures as the extension of unemployment insurance, the expansion of social services generally, public works programmes including low-cost housing and natural resources development projects, measures affecting the level and methods of taxation, incentives for the encouragement of private capital investment; and

8. The intention of the Economic and Social Council to study further the related questions of measures to achieve full employment and to encourage international investment;

9. Recommends that each Government consider, as a matter of urgency, its international responsibility under Articles 55 and 56 of the Charter to take action, as the need arises, designed to promote and maintain full and productive employment, through measures appropriate to its political, economic and social institutions;

10. Requests the Economic and Social Council, during its consideration of full employment and economic development, to give attention to unemployment and under-employment, especially in under-developed countries and particularly in such critical fields as agriculture;

11. Decides that the world economic situation be reviewed again at the next regular session of the General Assembly in the light of Articles 55 and 56 of the Charter.
