2. Center for Migration Studies of New York

Special consultative status granted in 2001

PART I

The Center for Migration Studies (CMS), founded in 1964 and incorporated in 1969 in the State of New York as an educational non-profit institute for independent, interdisciplinary migration studies, strongly supports the goals and principles of the United Nations. To disseminate new knowledge and foster effective policies relating to international migration, CMS relies on its globally recognized journal, THE INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION REVIEW, its book publications, documentation center, annual national legal conferences, and, since 2001, its United Nations affiliation as a Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) in Special Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). From the outset, Dr. Eva Sandis, Professor Emerita of Sociology at Fordham University, has served as the Center's NGO Representative to ECOSOC at UN Headquarters in New York.

PART II.

Participation in Meetings and Activities of the Economic and Social Council, its Subsidiary bodies and other United Nations Bodies

CMS' NGO representative, Ms. Sandis has been actively involved in the work of ECOSOC bodies, especially the Commission for Social Development (CSD) and the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW). In 2004, when the 42nd session of the CSD considered social perspectives on migrants and migration as an important "emerging issue" (item 3a); the CMS representative initiated and co-moderated a panel presentation on "Children in Immigrant Families", with panelists from the International Labour Organization (ILO) and UNICEF, as a mid-day Side Event on 12 February at UNHQ. Throughout the entire quadrennial period, the representative has been a registered attendee at the annual meetings of the CSD and CSW, and in cooperation with other NGOs, prepared yearly statements to heighten the Commission members' awareness of the vulnerabilities and protection needs of families, especially those fragmented by poverty and conflict.

CMS has supported a number of Department of Economic and Social Affairs (DESA) initiatives on behalf of ECOSOC. Both in 2003 and in 2004, CMS was invited to participate in the annual Coordination Meeting on International Migration, organized by the Population Division of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (DESA) to prepare for the High-Level Dialogue on International Migration and Development that the United Nations General Assembly will conduct in 2006. Dr. Donald Heisel, the CMS director of research, contributed an invited paper on "Activities of the Center for Migration Studies" for the 2003 meeting, October 15-16, at UNHQ. In 2003 and in 2004, the CMS New York representative also took part in the open sessions of the 2nd and 3rd annual International Fora for Social Development (IFSD), initiated by DESA in preparation for the February CSD meetings, to which IFSD is closely linked both in theme and chairmanship. At the October 8, 2003 open session of the 3rd Forum, whose theme was International Migration and Development, Ms. Sandis encouraged DESA to increase its NGO outreach to enhance IFSD outcomes. In January 2004, in response to a DESA request, CMS submitted responses to a Millennium Development Goals Questionnaire, to Ms Meena Sur of the NGO Section.

Throughout the quadrennial period, the CMS representative has systematically followed the proceedings of the United Nations General Assembly's Second and Third Committees on all items relating to Migration and Development, and to The Human Rights of Migrants. In 2003 and 2004, during the 58th and 59th UNGA sessions, at the request of the Permanent Observer Mission of the Holy See, she provided them with her summary reports of the Committee discussions about remittances, migration and development, and the human rights of migrants, as a basis for Mission input at the UN.

Among UN special sessions, the CMS representative was primarily involved with the 27th, namely, the UNGA Special Session on Children, held at UNHQ on May 8-10, 2002. For the second preparatory meeting for this event, CMS organized a workshop on Family Survival in War and Peace, held at UNHQ on 29 January 2001 in collaboration with UNICEF's NGO Working Group on Children and Armed Conflict, and with the International Rescue Committee (IRC). Refugee mothers from Kosovo (Serbia and Montenegro) and Somalia gave UN delegation members and other workshop participants, first hand accounts of their experiences. CMS also participated in the NGO Caucus to revise the Outcome document, "A World Fit for Children."

To strengthen the input of CMS expertise in behalf of UN goals, our NGO representative has persistently collaborated with other NGOs which have expressed similar concerns. In 2004, Ms Sandis was elected Vice Chair (and in 2005, Co-Chair) of the NGO Committee on the Family, N.Y., and has been a member of its Executive Committee since 2000. CMS is an active member of the NGO Human Rights Committee's Subcommittee on Immigrants and Refugees, since its formation in 2003; and a long standing member of the NGO Committee on the Status of Women (concerned with trafficking), the NGO Committee on the Rights of the Child (concerned with child labor) and the Working Group on Children and Armed Conflict of the NGO Committee of UNICEF.

Through the efforts of our New York Representative and her colleagues on the NGO Committee of the Family's planning group, the May 13th program in observance of the tenth anniversary of the International Year of the Family in 2004 included an address by H.E. Olara Otunnu, Special Representative of the Secretary General for the protection of children in armed conflict. On September 8, 2004, in conjunction with the 57th annual Department of Public Information (DPI) NGO Conference at UNHQ, Dr. Sandis made a presentation on "Transnational Families: Adjusting to New Global Realities," which expanded on the Conference theme, Millennium Development Goals (MDGs): Civil Society Takes Action. The Side-Event was co-sponsored by the NGO Committee on the Family and the NGO Subcommittee on Immigrants and Refugees. This Subcommittee, of which Ms Sandis is an active participant, also organized, in collaboration with the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, a special forum on the Protection of the Human Rights of Migrants, in observance of International Migrants Day, 2004. Numerous UN delegations were represented at this event, held on December 17 at UNHQ.

During 2003, CMS initiated and moderated two programs for the monthly General Membership Meetings of the NGO Committee of the Family. The first program, on April 24, was entitled "Iraqi Families: Coping with Conflict and Uncertainty." The title of the second program, on October 23, was: "Migrant Families: Global Human Rights Challenge."

To conclude this summary of our organization's activities during the first four years of CMS' partnership with the United Nations, CMS offers two independent initiatives undertaken by its NGO representative intended to support the overall goals and objectives of the United Nations. On April 2 and 23, 2004, Dr. Sandis held a two day workshop, pro bono, at Fordham University, on UN child protection issues, for students of the College at 60 on the Lincoln Center Campus. In August 2004, during the annual meetings of the American Sociological Association (ASA), at which former UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, Mary Robinson, gave an invited address about the Millennium Development Goals, the ASA Section on Peace, War, and Social Conflict took two actions. First, it held a symbolic moment of silence at its Reception on 16 August to mark the first anniversary of the violent deaths of the former United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Sergio Vieira de Mello and his colleagues. Secondly, based on Dr. Sandis' initiative, the Section inaugurated a program of annual awards to graduate and undergraduate students to commemorate those United Nations officials who have lost their lives in the effort to reduce human violence, and to encourage the recipients to carry on their work.

3. Coalition against Trafficking in Women

Special consultative status granted in 1989

Statement of Organization's Goals:

The Coalition Against Trafficking in Women (CATW) is a non- governmental organization (NGO) that promotes women's human rights. It works internationally to combat sexual exploitation in all its forms, especially prostitution and trafficking in women and children. CATW has a 17-year history of working against trafficking and prostitution worldwide. It was the first global network organized on a cross-country level to combat trafficking, prostitution, sex tourism, mail order bride industries and the international sex industry. Having regional networks in Asia, Africa, Australia, Europe, Latin America and North America, CATW is able to bring both international and national attention to all forms of sexual exploitation, including sex trafficking, prostitution, pornography, sex tourism, and marriage marketing.

The specific goals of CATW are: 1) Support for coalitions in sending countries, or in countries of origin for trafficking, whose governments are in economic and/or political crisis; 2) Direct services and assistance to victims of trafficking from developing countries or countries in financial and political crisis; 3) Technical assistance to coalitions in developing countries and countries in financial and political crisis; 4) Support for human rights advocacy, policy and legislation that challenges prostitution and “voluntary trafficking” as an economic development strategy for poor women; 5) Establishing prevention of trafficking programs and direct service programs for victims which help provide economic alternatives for women who have been trafficked and sexually exploited.

Organization’s Information Program as it Relates to the Work of the United Nations; Estimated Number of People Reached Through Activities and Production – Evidence of Public Information Capability

UN Meetings:

1. August-September, 2001 – UN World Conference Against Racism, Racial Discrimination, Xenophobia and Related Intolerance, Durban, South Africa – CATW sent a large delegation to this conference, organizing 2 workshops on prostitution and trafficking and participating in 5 others. The deputy director of CATW-Asia Pacific was elected chairwoman of the NGO anti-trafficking caucus. CATW’s delegates also participated in the governmental conference and one of CATW’s member chaired the Trafficking Caucus during the official conference.
2. June – 2001- CATW was invited by the UNESCO Program for the Advancement of Mediterranean Women to speak at a public conference in Paris on “The International Community and the Traffic in Human Beings.” This was also organized to discuss the new UN Trafficking Protocol and the 1949 Convention for the Suppression of the Traffic in Persons and the Exploitation of the Prostitution of Others.
3. CATW participates annually in the Council on the Status of Women (CSW) meetings at the United Nations in New York. From 2001-04 CATW has organized and chaired the NGO Violence Against Women Caucus. Each year, CATW organizes several panels and roundtables on the subjects of sex trafficking and sexual exploitation. These panels and roundtables have been co-sponsored by the Sisters of the Congregation of the Good Shepherd, the Soroptomists, the European Women’s Lobby, and many others. Activities reach thousands.

In March, 2003 at the 47th session of the UN Council on the Status of Women (CSW), CATW member and survivor of domestic violence and the marriage marketing industry spoke to the CSW Plenary Session. Three hundred and fifty NGOs and hundreds of governmental delegates were in attendance.

4. CATW participates annually in the UN Working Group on Contemporary Forms of Slavery, the UN Sub-Commission on Human Rights and the UN Commission on Human Rights at the United Nations in Geneva. In 2001, 2002, 2003, and 2004 at the 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th sessions of the Working Group, CATW prepared both oral and written statements on the topics of modern day slavery, sex trafficking and sexual exploitation that were then incorporated into the resolutions of both the Working Group and the 54th, 55th, and 56th sessions of the UN Sub-Commission on Human Rights. These activities reach thousands.

Online Activities and Newsletter organized by CATW:

1. Web Site and Online Documentation Centre (www.catwinternational.org) – 35,000 hits in 2004.
2. Listserve for 300 NGOs and individuals on trafficking and sexual exploitation issues.
3. Annual newsletter and report mailed to 400 NGOs, individuals, and governments.

4. League of Women Voters of the United States

Special consultative status granted in 1997

Mission: The League of Women Voters (LWV), a nonpartisan political organization, encourages the informed and active participation of citizens in government, works to increase understanding of major public policy issues, and influences public policy through education and advocacy. Nationally, League of Women Voters activities are coordinated and staffed by two distinct but complementary organizations. The League of Women Voters of the United States (LWVUS) is the advocacy and membership organization. The League of Women Voters Education Fund (LWVEF) established in 1957, is the citizen education and research organization.

Principles: The League of Women Voters believes in representative government and in the individual liberties established in the Constitution of the United States of America. The League of Women Voters believes that democratic government depends upon the informed and active participation of its citizens and requires that governmental bodies protect the citizen’s right to know by giving adequate notice of proposed actions, holding open meetings and making public records accessible. The League of Women Voters believes that every citizen should be protected in the right to vote; that every person should have access to free public education that provides equal opportunity for all; and that no person or group should suffer legal, economic or administrative discrimination. The League of Women Voters believes that efficient and economical government requires competent personnel, the clear assignment of responsibility, adequate financing, and coordination among the different agencies and levels of government. The League of Women Voters believes that responsible government should be responsive to the will of the people; that government should maintain an equitable and flexible system of taxation, promote the conservation and development of natural resources in the public interest, share in the solution of economic and social problems that affect the general welfare, promote a sound economy and adopt domestic policies that facilitate the solution of international problems. The League of Women Voters believes that cooperation with other nations is essential in the search for solutions to world problems and that international law is imperative in the promotion of world peace.

The LWV has State Leagues in every state in the United States and has approximately 900 local Leagues in communities across the country. It has over 150,000 members and supporters in the United States. LWV members at local, state and national levels act in the public interest after study and member agreement on key public policy and community issues.

Participation in Conferences of ECOSOC or Other UN Entities

The UN Commission on the Status of Women: The LWV attended the CSW meetings on (March 6 - 16, 2001; March 4 - 15, 2002; March 3 - 14, 2003; March 1 - 12, 2004) and spoke to many CSW members and other government delegates about the needs of the girl child, women and older women. Working in NGO coalitions, wording on these issues was drafted and suggested to government delegates. Some wording was adopted by the delegates and used in outcome documents or other documents. Additionally, oral and written statements were presented to the CSW. The LWV conducted a workshop at the UN Church Center on training the trainers of girls in conflict management on Thursday, March 4, 2004 as a side event at the CSW 48th Session. The LWV collaborated with other NGOs in presenting side events and conducting caucus meetings at all the CSW meetings above. The written statements that the LWV presented at the CSW meetings were document numbers E/CN.6/2003/NGO/10 on UNIFEM and Women's Human Rights; and both E/CN.6/2003/NGO/22 and E/CN.6/2004/NGO/20 on the Girl Child. The LWV observers also attended several sessions of the CEDAW Committee meetings to observe. The sessions were the 28th session, January 13 - 31 2003; the 29th session, June 30 - July 15, 2003; and the 30th session Jan 12 - 30, 2004.

Second World Assembly on Ageing: The LWV attended the UN Second World Assembly on Ageing meeting in Madrid held April 2-12, 2002 and the NGO Forum on Ageing held April 5 - 9, 2002 and spoke as a member of a panel at the Forum.

UN General Assembly Special Session on Children: The LWV attended the Preparatory Committee meetings for this Special Session. The 2nd Preparatory Meeting was held January 25 - February 2, 2001. The 3rd Preparatory Meeting was held June 11-15, 2001. The LWV suggested wording to delegates, some of which was used by the delegates in drafting text. The LWV also attended the UN GA Special Session on Children, May 8 to 10, 2002. At these meetings, the LWV helped to conduct side events and caucuses. At the Special Session, the LWV helped the Working Group on Girls of the NGO Committee on UNICEF (WGG) to conduct a side event workshop on Wednesday, May 8th entitled "Girls As Their Own Advocates". The LWV also helped the WGG with caucus meetings throughout the Preparatory Meetings and the Special Session.

Cooperation With UN Bodies and Specialized Agencies

UNICEF (2001-2004): A special focus of the LWV at the UN during the reporting period has been as a member of the Steering Committee for the NGO Committee for UNICEF, Working Group on Girls, which works to focus the attention of world governments on the plight of girls. The Working Group works closely with UNICEF. WGG formed an International Network for Girls (INfG), a world wide advocacy network working on behalf of the girl child, and used information obtained from this network to prepare reports which were presented to delegates at UN meetings. The LWV worked on a newsletter, which was sent to all members of the International Network for Girls several times a year. The LWV also worked in collaboration with the US Fund for UNICEF.

UN Department of Public Information/ Non Governmental Organization (DPI/NGO) and other Activities (2001-2004): The LWV served on the NGO/DPI Executive Committee. Work on this committee included serving on the mid-day workshop committee for the annual DPI/NGO Conference, serving on the Communications Workshop Committee, chairing the Nominating Committee, chairing the website committee, conducting training sessions for NGOs and writing articles for the newsletter.

Other Activities (2001-2004)

The LWV Observers contributed to the work of several committees of the Conference of Non Governmental Organizations in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CONGO). The LWV attended the DPI briefings, U.S. Committee for UNIFEM meetings and United States Mission briefings. The LWV served on the Executive Board of the Council Of Organizations of the United Nations Association -United States of America (UNA-USA). The LWV also served on UNA-USA's National Council, whose mission is promoting the United Nations in the United States. The LWV also promoted the UN and its issues through public speaking engagements and outreach to LWV members around the country. A UN listserver for LWV members to learn about the UN and its work was started. In 2002, the LWV updated its UN position with a concurrence from the grassroots members around the country. Much information about the UN was provided in our national magazine, The National Voter, to prepare members. Many Leagues around the country made presentations to members about the UN at the local level. The LWV also attended the weekly briefings for NGOs presented by the UN Department of Public Information.

Promoting Democracy in the United States: The goal of most LWV programs is to promote an open governmental system that is representative, accountable and responsive; that protects individual liberties established by the Constitution and that assures opportunities for citizen participation in government decision making. Our work grows from the conviction that government at all levels must be accountable, accessible to citizens and protective of their rights. Local LWV organizations monitor their local government meetings and address local issues. The LWV has been actively involved in getting out the vote; promoting communities of inclusion to combat racism; and in informing the public about public policy issues.

On a national level, the LWV has many positions that have been reached by grassroots consensus or concurrence of local LWV branches. These positions are on representative government, citizen rights, international relations, natural resources, environmental protection, pollution control, and social policy including equality of opportunity, fiscal policy, health care, meeting basic human needs, childcare, early intervention for children at risk, violence prevention, gun control and urban policy. Local LWV organizations can act in their communities on these issues. State and local LWV organizations also have positions they have arrived at in their state or local consensus process and they can act locally on these issues. Most of these issues are of concern to ECOSOC. Local LWV members feel a special commitment to inform their communities about the UN and the work it accomplishes and to urge financial support for the UN. The LWV includes articles on the UN in The National Voter, which is distributed to all members. Other reports about the UN are sent to the presidents of all local Leagues. Many local LWV's include these articles in their local newsletters. The LWV also writes articles about the UN for the LWV's website and gives talks to local LWV members and other groups interested in the UN.

Internationally: The LWV has been involved in many international initiatives to train grassroots women leaders in the political process, to provide technical assistance and training manuals to female candidates, and to observe or monitor elections. This has included projects in Chile, Paraguay, and several projects in Brazil. The LWV also had projects in Africa, including ones in Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria, Uganda, United Republic of Tanzania, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

In 2004, the LWV was an international election observer in Parana, Brazil and provided technical assistance to women candidates. The LWV organized a two-day symposium for women running for local office in Chile, in which 70 candidates participated. In Tikambirane, Malawi the LWV working with several NGOs from the area, presented a series of training workshops on civic education and election monitoring, in which they trained 7,000 poll workers.

From 2001 through 2002, the League continued its program begun in 1999 entitled Women Power Politics: Building Grassroots Democracy in Africa. This project focused on engaging African women in the political life of their countries at the grassroots level and the role NGOs play in promoting open and participatory democracy. In 2001, The LWV conducted two training workshops for women, in Spanish, in Asuncion, Paraguay, to increase women's leadership skills.

Promoting UN Funding and UN Issues on Capitol Hill: The LWV actively supported the establishment of the United Nations in 1945 and has been one of its most steadfast proponents for the ensuing 60 years. The LWV believes that the United States should pay its obligations to the UN expeditiously and without restrictions. The LWV has lobbied key members of Congress on payment of U.S. arrearages and for the ratification of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and worked with coalitions toward this goal. The LWV has been involved in community forums such as "The People Speak" to engage the public of the United States in international issues and concerns. In 2003 and 2004 they presented 57 programs throughout the United States.

5. Susila Dharma International Association

Special consultative status granted in 1989

Susila Dharma International Association (SDI) is a non-profit organization in continuous operation since 1969 and is registered as a United States charity. SDI fosters capacity building by supporting national Susila Dharma organizations in 23 countries and 62 humanitarian projects.
