1. Cooperative Housing Foundation

(Special; 1999)

I. Introduction

a) The mission of Cooperative Foundation also known as CHF International is to be a catalyst for long-lasting positive change in low- and moderate-income communities around the world, helping them to improve their social, economic and environmental conditions.

b) Action: CHF International is successful because it brings together the people, organizations and resources necessary to ensure steady, sustainable change. Our programs ensure that individuals, families and communities:

- Begin to participate in the decisions that impact their lives
- Learn to work together to solve their own problems
- Are provided with the tools and skills needed to escape from the bonds of poverty
- Form productive partnerships that will sustain the cycle of progress
- Develop confidence in their ability to create a brighter, more prosperous future.

CHF International's constitution, affiliations, and programs have not changed in any manner that has had an impact on the CHF International's mission or programmatic design.

II. Contribution to the work of the United Nations

a) CHF International's contribution to the United Nations Economic and Social Council: While CHF International has worked closely with a number of United Nations agencies, CHF has not participated directly with the Economic and Social Council, including its subsidiary bodies, due to the following factors:

- CHF International has not received regular notices of conferences, workshops, or other related Economic and Social Council activities.
- CHF International has been extremely active in developing and expanding its activities in the Middle East, the Americas, Asia, and Europe and the Caucasus. We have almost doubled in size over the course of the last several years.

b) CHF International's cooperation with other United Nations Agencies or other international bodies besides the United Nations Economic and Social Council: CHF International has worked with a number of United Nations agencies and other international agencies, including:

- CHF International received funding from the United Nations Slum Upgrading Facility, along with United States Agency for International Development, for its joint venture with HFC Bank (Ghana) to establish the Boafo Microfinance Services Ltd. Boafo Microfinance Services Ltd.'s mission is to extend services to low- and moderate-income Ghanaian households and lend "a helping hand" in their pursuit of shelter, business, education, and other opportunities.
- Since 2004, CHF has been a leading provider of humanitarian assistance programs in the West Bank and Gaza which provide critical services for thousands of unemployed, vulnerable families. CHF continues to implement the largest food-for-work and food-for-training program in the region, funded by the United Nations World Food Program. CHF's work covers the entire Gaza Strip and three major governorates of the West Bank. The program provides gainful employment, viable job skills trainings and much needed food aid and has assisted over 22,000 families, or around 150,000 people.

- Funded by the United Nations Development Program (UNDP), CHF is implementing a $340,000 shelter and housing program in Darfur, Sudan.
- Following the earthquake in Yogyakarta, Indonesia, United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs provided funding for CHF to construct 435 shelter kits and tool kits to construct durable, semi-permanent shelters for families before the onset of the rainy season. This grant was awarded after CHF successfully completed the construction of more than 1,100 transitional shelters with a grant from the United States Agency of International Development's Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA).
- CHF International is represented on the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe's (UNECE) Housing and Urban Management Advisory Network (HUMAN). CHF, through HUMAN, advises UNECE on housing policy, research, and programs, including for all of Europe and North America.

c) CHF International's Contribution towards Achieving the Millennium Development Goals:

Goal 1: Eradicate Extreme Poverty and Hunger

Ethiopia- Generating Employment and Building Independence (GEBI): The program strategy focuses on sustainable development, including an emphasis on adding value to the full range of agricultural and non-farm products, and exploring the role of markets and marketing in supporting household income. GEBI is targeting 71,500 chronically food-insecure people in seven districts, to increase their self-reliance and improve their access to diverse sources of revenue.

Goal 2: Achieve Universal Primary Education

Lebanon/Yemen- Alternatives to Combat Child Labor through Education and Sustainable Services in the Middle East and North Africa (ACCESS-MENA): ACCESS-MENA is a four-year program that specifically aims to decrease the number of young children working and increase their numbers in school. To date, ACCESS-MENA has reached: > 3,737 children in Lebanon; > 1,412 children in Yemen.

Goal 3: Promote Gender Equity and Empower Women

Montenegro- Community Revitalization through Democratic Action (CRDA): "Roditelji za Ucenike", an NGO in Montenegro, was approached by a group of local artisans who were searching for assistance with organizing and promoting their crafts. The NGO appealed to CHF for assistance. The collaborative program was able to organize the first ever souvenir and handicrafts fair, implemented in Kolasin in 2005.

Colombia/Iraq/Serbia-Women's Involvement in Local Leadership (WILL): This research program was designed to examine the factors believed to contribute to the cultivation of sustainable and credible women's leadership at the local level in conflict-affected communities in Colombia, Iraq and Serbia.

Goal 6: Combat HIV/AIDS, Malaria and Other Diseases

Kenya-Local Prevention and Treatment of HIV/AIDS– Grants Management (LPATH-GM): Working with over 30 local partner organizations, we are improving their technical capacity, to ensure they understand and apply best practices when offering prevention, treatment, and care services to their communities.

Rwanda-Community HIV/AIDS Mobilization Program (CHAMP): This community-based program aims to revitalize AIDS activism by building a powerful community based movement bridging HIV/AIDS, human rights, and struggles for social and economic justice, and promoting equitable access to available services.

Ethiopia-Generating Employment and Building Independence (GEBI): CHF is engaging in HIV/AIDS prevention and education activities to raise community awareness, reduce social stigma, and assist local organizations in carrying out HIV/AIDS services. GEBI is targeting the most at-risk groups and people living with HIV and AIDS through health education activities that are disseminating knowledge about transmission, prevention, and treatment of HIV/AIDS.

Honduras-Sustainable Improvements to Family Health (SIFH): CHF provided grant funds to 43 government offices to increase the effectiveness of Honduras' primary programs in reproductive health and child survival, infectious disease, health reform, and the prevention of sexually transmitted infections and HIV/AIDS. Our work furthered Honduras' vaccine, HIV/AIDS and tuberculosis campaigns through the coordination of workshops for officials, nurses, doctors and community leaders, and through the procurement of better equipment for rural clinics and hospitals.

Sudan-Livelihoods and Income Revitalization for Mundri (LIRIM): CHF is working with the New Sudan Women's Federation (NSWF) to build their organizational capacity to expand current activities, including HIV/AIDS awareness and prevention. Poverty stricken internally displaced persons (IDPs) who lack basic amenities are now organizing regular meetings to hold HIV/AIDS awareness activities.

Goal 7: Ensure Environmental Sustainability

Sudan- Berkeley-Darfur Fuel-Efficient Stoves (BDS): In collaboration with the Berkeley National Laboratory CHF has been working to deliver the new Berkeley-Darfur stoves, to the displaced persons of the Sudan. The new stoves are approximately 75% more fuel-efficient than the traditional clay stoves. The distribution of these stoves will greatly reduce the amount of fuelwood used for cooking.

Goal 8: Develop a Global Partnership for Development

Serbia- Software Development and Support (SDS): This program is a strategic business unit tasked with providing technology solutions to assist the core activities and support the values of the organization. Presently, the SDS unit is responsible for developing and supporting software for CHF International, as well as other clients. Two of SDS's successful enterprises are Web-PRS and Web-Abacus.

Web-based Project Reporting System (Web-PRS): Web-PRS is an extensive information management and reporting system that has been designed to give stakeholders a practical way to track the progress of a broad-based and far-reaching program, like the Community Action Program (CAP) in Iraq. Web-PRS provides a transparent way for implementers and donors to monitor the immediate as well as long-term impact of development programs worldwide.

Web-Abacus: Web-Abacus is a comprehensive Online Loan Portfolio Management System. Web-Abacus is flexible enough to be configured to each individual Microfinance Institution (MFI), and can therefore also grow with the institution. This tool facilitates the day-to-day management of microfinance operations in different programs around the globe, allowing for the effective management of different products and portfolios, while providing the flexibility to generate individual and consolidated reports across all programs.

5. International Rescue Committee

(Special; 1999)

Part I: Introduction

The International Rescue Committee (IRC) is a global humanitarian aid organization that serves refugees and communities victimized by oppression or violent conflict worldwide. Founded in 1933, the IRC is committed to freedom, human dignity, and self-reliance. This commitment is expressed in our efforts in emergency relief, protection of human rights, post-conflict development, resettlement assistance, and advocacy. For more than 75 years, the IRC has been a leader in humanitarian relief. IRC mobilizes quickly in crises bringing sustained support to regions torn apart by violence and deprivation. IRC provides a new start in the United States for resettled refugees and advocates on behalf of the displaced, addressing the root causes of violence and standing up for the world's most vulnerable populations.

IRC headquarters are based in New York, Washington DC, London, Brussels, and Geneva, Switzerland. IRC's resettlement programs stretch across the United States of America in 14 States and 17 cities. Currently, IRC's field offices are in the following regions of the world: African Great Lakes, Asia, Caucasus, Horn of Africa, Middle East, South America, and West Africa.

IRC currently employs 9,000 staff worldwide most of whom are refugees, Internally Displaced Persons or nationals of the countries we work in.

IRC builds on our decades of experience in delivering aid and development assistance to war-torn societies to ensure that our work is effective as possible. IRC programs span life-saving interventions during crisis to longer-term reconstruction after conflict. IRC has a range of program interventions that assist war-affected individuals and families survive a crisis with dignity and rebuild their lives and communities by promoting social cohesion and strengthening key institutions of governance. Typically, IRC works with conflict-affected communities for a minimum of ten years, assisting them in recognizing and promoting rights, opening up participation for all groups, and building strong partnerships and sustainable capacity for lasting peace and stability.

IRC maintains the capacity to respond rapidly to complex humanitarian emergencies — quickly mobilizing resources to ensure skilled teams arrive early in a crisis and start delivering vital programs. As the situation stabilizes, IRC moves into partnership with local civil society groups, government institutions, and commerce to assist in return, reintegration and reconstruction. This field mobilization capacity is backed up with in-depth technical expertise, a robust global management structure, and effective advocacy. Some highlights of IRC's response capacity include:

- 17-member Emergency Response Team, able to immediately mobilize key personnel in times of crisis so that the life-saving needs of displaced and war-affected populations are met quickly
- Roster of skilled technical and managerial staff, able to be deployed quickly to back up the Emergency Response Team and provide additional response capacity

- Logistics structure, with a central Logistics team and a regional hub based in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, able to support field logistics staff in getting programs established and running smoothly
- Wide range of in-house expert technical assistance, able to support field programs in initial emergency, protracted emergency, and post-conflict development phases, providing access to advice on health, child and youth protection and development, alleviation of gender-based violence, governance and rights, and economic recovery and development
- Commitment to learning and improvement, with a specialized Research, Evaluation & Learning unit focused on support in monitoring and evaluation, and a Post-Conflict Development Initiative, analyzing the changing dynamics of international community engagement with post-conflict societies and supporting the strategic development of IRC programs
- Commitment to staying the course with war-affected societies, working alongside and strengthening local capacity from emergency to the threshold of longer-term development, peace and stability

Part II: Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

The work of the IRC is closely aligned with the mandate, objectives, and priorities of the United Nations and interacts with many domains within the United Nations system. This includes working with United Nations funds, specialized agencies, and programs in humanitarian operations and seeks to influence the work of member states of the United Nations, such as the United Nations Security Council, through participation in major conferences, consultations, and other United Nations meetings.

As a result of the increasing convergence and compatibility of IRC's mandate with the mission of the United Nations, in the summer of 2005, IRC created a new staff advocacy position, Director of Humanitarian Affairs and United Nations Liaison, that is devoted to collaborating with the United Nations on many shared concerns and issues related to humanitarian situations and topics of global peace and security. This position is now an ongoing function within IRC's advocacy efforts and an integral part of several NGO networks and campaigns that collaborate with the United Nations on various situations of armed conflict, political emergencies, and disasters.

IRC participated in a number of United Nations consultation processes, conferences, meetings and panels related to UN-Civil Society interests as well as ECOSOC conferences and its subsidiary bodies. IRC has met personally with the United Nations' Emergency Relief Coordinator Jan Egeland on Uganda and Democratic Republic of the Congo and with Sir John Holmes on Iraq refugees and Darfur to advocate on behalf of populations in extremis. IRC has met on a couple of occasions with Secretary General Kofi Annan advocating on behalf of Darfur and Secretary General Ban Ki-moon related to the Sudan and the creation of an African Union – United Nations Hybrid Force.

IRC participates on the NGO Working Group on the Security Council together with representatives of other NGOs and meets regularly with Security Council Ambassadors and senior United Nations officials. IRC participated in informal meetings and formal consultations and Arria-
