1. Åland Islands Peace Institute

(Special; 2004)

PART I Introduction

i. The purpose of the organization and its main courses of action

The Åland Islands Peace Institute conducts projects and research into peace and conflict issues in a broadly defined sense from the vantage-point of Åland and the special status that Åland enjoys under international law. It focuses on autonomy in various forms, minority-related issues, demilitarisation and conflict management. The Peace Institute's researchers and guest researchers focus on three broad subject areas: Security, minorities and autonomy, including the "Åland Example" (i.e. The Åland Islands as an autonomous, demilitarized, neutralized and monolingually Swedish region of Finland).

The Institute regularly publishes books and reports in these areas. By arranging seminars and conferences and through a growing library that is open to the public, the Institute serves as a meeting-point for Åland, the Nordic countries and the Baltic Sea region.

The Åland Islands Peace Institute arranges courses and seminar series in Åland and internationally, aimed at researchers, politicians, journalists, the broad public and groups from conflict-ridden regions around the world in the following areas: Conflict management and non-violence, global and regional security, democracy and human rights, autonomies, minorities and trafficking prevention.

The Institute runs a project called Educating for Peace in Åland's schools. The aim is to introduce knowledge and experience about conflict management, non-violence, tolerance and school mediation in local schools.

The Åland Islands Peace Institute has built a well-functioning network of non-governmental organisations in Lithuania, Belarus and the Kaliningrad region of the Russian Federation. This co-operation is based on the experiences gained and methods developed at the Nendre Centre for Women and Children in Vilnius, the Capital of Lithuania. The Centre offers social services to single mothers and their children. The Åland Islands Peace Institute participates in international youth work, sends out and receives volunteers and arranges seminars, courses and other activities aimed at promoting dialogue and knowledge about the living conditions of other people. The Åland Conciliation Office is run by the Åland Islands Peace Institute on behalf of the County Administration in Åland. The Conciliation Office offers conciliation in accordance with the Finnish Act on Conciliation in Criminal and Certain Civil Cases. The Åland Islands Peace Institute has a limited field of activities and focuses primarily on ethnic conflicts, women's rights and disarmament. The activities related to the United Nations has been concentrated to these areas in view of the limited resources. However the Institute is currently considering the possibilities of engaging a representative based in Geneva. Discussions with a person already linked to the Peace Institute are being held. This would facilitate the possibilities to attend and participate in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies.

ii) Change that has had a significant impact on the orientation of the organization.

During 2007 the Åland Islands Peace Institute changed its organization, in order to focus more on research, strengthen its international presence, including within the United Nations, and to link its practical actions more to above mentioned research. A director, who is a researcher and holds a doctoral degree in International Law, has been engaged in order to enhance capacity and to provide additional outcomes in the areas of the Institute's competence. The Institute's website is the main source of communication. On the website the research reports that the institute has initiated can be downloaded, as well as its books, for example "Right of domicile in Åland", which is right now being translated into English.

PART II Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the United Nations

Commission on the Status of Women, Forty-ninth session, 28 February-11 March 2005, New York. The chairman of the board and a consultant from The Åland Islands Peace Institute participated and submitted a statement on the Institute's work with empowerment projects with young women in Lithuania, aimed at enhancing gender equality and preventing sexual slavery.

The Geneva representative of the Åland Islands Peace Institute attended the following meetings at United Nations Headquarters in Geneva, in 2005: Commission on Human Rights, 61st session, 14 March-22 April 2005, Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination, 66th session, 21 February-11 March 2005, Committee on the Rights of the Child, 39th session, 17 May-3 June 2005. The representative also attended several side events, reported to the Institute from the sessions, and otherwise worked mainly within the NGO network. The Åland Islands Peace Institute is a member of the Conference of Non-Governmental Organizations in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CONGO) and thereby has continuous access to and profits from the possibilities of exchange of information with other NGOs related to the United Nations. During 2005 the Institute's Geneva representative participated in several meetings organized by CONGO.

Human Rights Council, Fourth session, 12-30 March 2007, United Nations Headquarters, Geneva. The Åland Islands Peace Institute submitted a written statement stressing the importance of objectivity, continuity and rapidity in the work of the Human Rights Council.

Seminar arranged by the Åland Islands Peace Institute, Amnesty, United Nations Association of Sweden, UNA of Sweden the Stockholm chapter, the Church of Sweden and the Swedish NGO Foundation for Human Rights. The Director of the Åland Islands Peace Institute moderated this event.

ii) Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies

Rhodri Williams, JD (Doctor Juris), worked at the Åland Islands Peace Institute in the period 2006-2008 as a guest researcher. Rhodri Williams' main activity was the drafting of a Manual on implementation of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement, a project carried out under the auspices of the United Nations Representative of the Secretary-General on the Human Rights of Internally Displaced Persons, Professor Walter Kälin, and the Brookings-Bern Project on Internal Displacement. Through his time at the Åland Islands Peace Institute, Rhodri Williams has enriched domestic understanding in Åland, Finland and the Nordic countries on issues of internal displacement, return of refugees and displaced persons and property restitution, while drawing upon the Peace Institute's contacts and expertise in discussions and seminars.

iii) Activities in line with the Millennium Development Goals

Goal 3 - Promote gender equality and empower women: The Nendre Centre for Women and Children in Vilnius was established in 1998 by the Åland Islands Peace Institute and the Devyndarbe Women's Club. Today the Centre offers social services to about 45 single mothers, 25 children 3-6 years old and about 18 children 7-18 years old a year. It provides support to the mothers, day care for small children and afternoon activities for schoolchildren. Nendre has become recognized as one of the leading organisations in the field of gender equality education and promotion in Lithuania.

Since 2005 Nendre shared its experience with organisations in Belarus and the Kaliningrad region of the Russian Federation. With the goal of giving marginalised groups the strength to manage their problems and take control of their own lives, Project initiatives included training, counselling and development activities for women and children.

The Åland Islands Peace Institute also helped to spread the "girls' group" method in Lithuania. This method, originally developed in the Nordic countries and adapted to local conditions, helps to strengthen young girls' self-awareness and prevent trafficking, in accordance with the Convention on the Elimination of All forms of Discrimination against Women and related principles.

Goal 7 - Ensure environmental sustainability: Target 4: Reduce by half the proportion of people without sustainable access to safe drinking water and basic sanitation.

During 2007 representatives from the Institute participated in meetings on water and rights arranged by the Swedish Water House, Stockholm. The Institute has provided knowledge and otherwise supported preparations for World Water Week in Stockholm 2008.

ii. Any changes that may have had a significant impact on the organization vision and/or functions in terms of its orientation, its programme, the scope of its work.

a) The Members' Assembly amended some Charter's articles. The main modification was the insertion of a new responsibility for the Vice President, who has the functions and the powers that the President, the General Council and the Board of Directors may decide to give him. The Vice Presidential terms of reference were incompatible with other operations assignments in the organizational structure. This new function may enable us to have better participation in events, meeting and sessions related to cooperation and humanitarian aid, so as to contribute to United Nations work. The new approved Charter is available upon request.

3. Development Promotion Group

(Special; 2000)

I. Introduction

Founded in 1986, Development Promotion Group (DPG) supports social development among women, children and neglected minorities in South India. The aim is to eradicate poverty by empowering the disadvantaged with the tools to lift themselves. More information can be found on the website www.dpgsulo.com or from our audited annual reports.

Strategy: DPG's operational strategy emphasizes the formation of micro level institutions to implement sustainable development projects, working with local communities, other NGOs and the government in a participatory manner. DPG is estimated to have reached over 70,000 households.

Change: Although the group vision has remained consistent, DPG continues to expand its work to provide micro credit access to the poor. In 2003, the Micro Finance Development India Initiatives (MFDII) was established (website: www.mfdii.com). From 2004-07, this fund has lent Rs.7,202,500 (US$184,384) to the poor, mostly for small businesses. In 2004, after the Tsunami, we shifted a lot of resources to rehabilitate families in the Nagapattinam and Tuticorin districts. Through this project, we built shelters for 822 families, and rehabilitated the livelihood of 1,569 families. The Tsunami Rehabilitation work is scheduled to be completed by 2009.

During the period from 2004-2007, DPG received financial assistance from the United Nations: United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP) contributed Rs.299,021 towards DPG's Tsunami-related activities in 2005.

II. Contributions of the Organization to the work of the United Nations

The Second Asian Civil Society Forum 21st-25th Nov, 2004, Bangkok, Thailand: The Chief Executive Officer of DPG attended the forum, convened by the Conference of NGOs in Relationship with the United Nations (CONGO) and in partnership with Forum Asia.

DPG has participated in a limited number of these events, as our efforts and funding are primarily project-based. Our work continues to be on the grassroots level and heavily involved with the Tsunami. However, we hope that when the opportunity arises, we can contribute to more of these events.

She, herself, does shoe-stitching work through work orders from an agent who sends the product to a local shoe company. Since she joined SHG in December 2000, the loans have allowed her to build two houses, one for her husband and herself, and another for her grown son. She has also received Entrepreneurial Development Program (EDP) training and was introduced to the Sakthi business scheme through a project staff. Motivated by the training, she took a loan of Rs.10,000 and became a Sakthi Dealer. The loan has been repaid regularly. Being part of the SHG has empowered her to participate in political activities. The efforts of women in her community prevented the sale of illicit alcohol in the village. Saithiyavani has also contested in the PRI election and joined the Human Rights Protection Committee in the area. With low-interest loans now accessible through her self-help group, she hopes that someday she can start her own shoe-upper stitch unit, with direct work orders from shoe companies.

Goal 7: Ensure Environmental Sustainability: During 2004 to 2007, DPG worked on and partially completed projects to provide useable water for 88 villages in Karnataka. The projects focus on reducing the impact of droughts on the land and the inhabitants; (ii) DPG ensures that the villages take ownership of their projects by contributing a portion of the costs, usually in the form of labour. In addition, the villagers form committee to maintain the facilities once they have been built.

Goal 8: Develop global partnership for community: (i) DPG has established partnerships within the country as well as internationally; (ii) In addition, we have received development cooperation from the following agencies: (a) Church Development Service (EED), Germany; (b) Inter-Church Organizations for Development cooperation (ICCO), the Netherlands, (c) Diakonie Emergency Aid (DEA), Germany; (d) Christian Aid, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland; (e) Self Development of People (SDOP), United States of America; (f) Association of Confederation of Credit Unions (ACCU), Bangkok: Thailand; (g) American Indian Foundation, Delhi; (h) Times Foundation, Delhi; (i) Government of Karnataka.

III. Conclusion

DPG is a NGO that has been extremely active in all areas related to the eradication of poverty and improvement of lives. We are an active member of CONGO, and a contact with a global network of foundations. We hope to continue our network with UN and to continually improve our global contacts.

iv) Initiatives undertaken by the organisation in support of internationally agreed Millennium Development Goals (MDGs)

The following activities cover Goal 7 of the MDGs: Throughout the reporting period, the organization has been deeply involved in implementation of various technologies to improve sanitation through its Branch Offices in 26 States and 3 Union Territories in India. It has been implementing the technology of Sulabh two-pit toilet for safe disposal of individual household waste, public toilets for public places and in slum settlements, generation and utilization of biogas from human waste from public toilets to provide energy to slum dwellers; wastewater treatment through duckweed and economic return through pisciculture associated with the system. 5. War Veterans Committee

Part I. Introduction

An NGO - War Veterans Committee (WVC) is registered with the Federal Registration Service of the Russian Federation, and since July 2004 has been in Special Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council, which is an official recognition of the legitimacy of its relations with this international organization. The Committee comprises about 50 international and regional veterans' organizations from post-Soviet countries. The Committee helps and upholds the rights of those who took part in hostilities, fulfilling their military duty, and those who suffered from hostilities, local conflicts and acts of terror as well as their families. At a conservative estimate, there are about 3 million such people in the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) countries.

In 2005-2007 the Committee rendered assistance to war veterans, participants of local conflicts and victims of terrorism worth several million dollars, which made it possible to provide thousands people with prosthetics, wheelchairs, medical rehabilitation treatment and medications. By mobilizing the funds of sponsors the Committee extended financial aid to victims of local conflicts in Dagestan, Ossetia, Ingushetia, Transdnistria, Tajikistan, Chechnya and Afghanistan.

The Committee encouraged society to pay more attention to these issues, constantly pushing governments, legislative bodies and local authorities towards this, and maintained a high level of concern about these issues in society. The Committee remained very sensitive to various aspects of humanitarian activities including some specific as searching for those reported missing in action during the Afghanistan war as well as in burying servicemen in their native countries. During 2004-2007 the WVC sent several search expeditions: 20 July-10 August 2005 and 1-14 September 2005, 9th search expedition; 15-30 July 2006 and 15 October-7 November 2006, 10th expedition. In general during late 90s - 2007 the Committee jointly with the governments of a number of states has freed from captivity and returned home 23 people. In the November 2006 the Committee's 10th search expedition found, prepared and brought home another former Soviet prisoner of war Yury Stepanov with his Afghan family. The Committee helped him to find a home and settle down in Bashkortostan (Russian Federation).

In 2005-2007 the NGO expanded areas of activities affiliating new member veteran's organizations from the CIS countries, regions of the Russian Federation and Bulgaria. It established contacts and strengthened relations with veterans' organizations from other countries, namely the United States of America.

PART II Contribution of the WVC to the work of the United Nations
