1. Bischöfliches Hilfswerk Misereor

(Special; 2004)

Part I. Introduction

Misereor was founded in 1958 as an agency 'to combat hunger and disease in the world'. In its capacity as an overseas development agency of the Catholic Church in Germany, it aims at promoting development, fighting poverty worldwide, liberating people from injustice, exercising solidarity with the poor and the persecuted, in order to create 'one world'. Misereor is mandated to fight the causes of hardship and misery as manifested chiefly in countries of Asia, Africa and Central and Latin America in the forms of hunger, disease, poverty and other forms of human suffering. Respect, protection and fulfilment of all human rights - civil and political as well as economic, social and cultural – are the cornerstone to enable people to live in human dignity, to live 'free from fear and want'. Misereor, therefore, has a defined human rights policy and follows a human rights approach in its development cooperation.

The assistance Misereor provides is designed to stimulate and support self-help and pave the way for sustained improvement in the living conditions of the poor. It is available in principle to any human being in distress, irrespective of ethnic origin, gender, religion or nationality. Misereor does usually not send own staff or development workers to countries of the global South, but supports partner organizations from those countries. Being the largest German non-governmental development organization Misereor is, however, not only a partner in development projects in Asia, Africa and Central and Latin America, but also carries out development education and lobby and advocacy work in the North. The organization keeps the German public and politicians informed about living conditions of people living in poverty in Africa, Asia and Central and Latin America and suggests ways and means of exercising practical solidarity. For example, Misereor provides working material for parishes, solidarity movements and 'one-world-groups', as well as specialised briefings for German government ministers and the German parliament, as well as for politicians at the level of the European Union, other regional intergovernmental bodies and the United Nations. Misereor takes part in national and international conferences and networks with other non-governmental organizations and actively participates in multi-stakeholder round tables.

Misereor's work has two main pillars: helping those who are in need to lead a life of dignity, and addressing the structural causes of poverty and human rights violations.

Part II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations meetings

The organization also funded partner organizations so they were able to participate in the regional consultation of the Special Representative on Business and Human Rights in Johannesburg, South Africa, 27 – 28 March 2006. In 2007, Misereor started a three year project to fight the negative consequences of climate change in the Global South. 3. IUS PRIMI VIRI International Association

(Special; 2004)

I. Introduction

The main aim of the Association is to cooperate with democratic institutions to fully implement the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Its purposes are carried out through multidisciplinary integrated studies, research, meetings and conferences, courses for educators, civil servants, army forces, police forces, and teachers. The main fields of intervention are: justice, education, health, environment, and the foundations of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

The Association pursues its aims through conferences and seminars, lectures, training and education courses in cooperation with both the main Italian universities and international institutions in order to transmit a didactic methodology, developed in more than 20 years of studies and research by Centre for Human Evolution Studies (CEU) experts, capable of bringing abstract principles into consciousness and behaviour.

In July 2007, it was decided to modify the By-laws in order to render them more democratic, while maintaining the Association's primary aims and purposes. A Study Group of experts was created to this end, and the new By-laws were approved at the end of April 2008 and officially registered in May.

II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

Having obtained in July 2004 the Special Consultative Status with United Nations Economic and Social Council, the Association appointed representatives in New York, Geneva and Vienna in order to be fully entitled to participate in the work of United Nations.

In 2004 and 2005 IPV (IUS PRIMI VIRI) delegates participated with written statements and oral interventions, stressing the importance of Education and Human Rights Education, in the following meetings: (i) WSIS (World Summit on the Information Society) Second Phase – First Preparatory Committee (PrepCom), 24-26 June 2004, Yasmine Hammamet, Tunisia; (ii) Committee on the Rights of the Child Day of Discussion, 17 September 2004, Geneva, Switzerland, Written contribution “The rights of the Child”; (iii) Intergovernmental Working Group on the Effective Implementation of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action – Third Session, 11-22 October 2004, Geneva, Written contributions “An education fit for caring” and “Towards the humanization of labour”;

WSIS Second Phase – Second PrepCom, 17-25 February 2005, Geneva: (i) United Nations Economic and Social Council Preparatory High Level Segment Round Table Discussion, 16-17 March 2005, New York; (ii) 61st Session of the Commission on Human Rights, 14 March-22 April 2005, Geneva, Written contribution “Human rights and the genetic drives of human beings”; (iii) 57th Session of the Sub-Commission on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights, 25 July – 12 August 2005, Geneva.

- WSIS Second Phase – Third PrepCom, September 2005, Geneva; World Summit in Tunis, November 2005. The audiovisual “The Effects of TV on the Child's Brain” was presented.

In 2006 the work to increase awareness of the importance of Human Rights Education went on with the International Meeting on “Education to Human Dignity”, successfully organised in the Italian Senate in Rome together with the Italian Commission for UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) and the University of Rome Tor Vergata on 23 February 2006, with the participation of more than two hundred people. The final Declaration of this meeting was submitted on 5 July 2006 at the High Level Segment of the Substantive Session of ECOSOC (United Nations Economic and Social Council) held in Geneva from 3 to 28 July 2006.

On 15 September 2006 the paper “To educate in childhood to human dignity” was submitted to the Committee on the Rights of Child on the occasion of the Day of General Discussion in Geneva. Representatives of IPV participate in the work of the new Council for Human Rights, installed in Geneva, intervening in its debates always stressing the role of education.

In 2007 an IPV delegation participated in the Sixteenth Session of the United Nations Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice in Vienna, 23-27 April 2007, as a speaker with a written and oral contribution.

On the occasion of the First Annual Ministerial Review, held during the High Level Segment of United Nations Economic and Social Council, 2-5 July 2007, IPV submitted a poster on "The power of dignity within human resources". The poster was based on the training and improving intervention made on 22 November 2006 in Riano Flaminio, a small town near Rome (Italy), upon invitation by its Mayor, for borough council clerks and municipal staff.

From 27-31 August 2007 IPV representatives participated in Geneva in the Organizational session for the Durban Review Conference on Racism to be held in April 2009 in Geneva, underlining the importance of education in this field.

UNESCO - The Association, which for a number of years has had informal relations with UNESCO, registered officially to cooperate in 2004. In the meanwhile the Association attended at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris the international meeting: Freedom of Expression in Cyberspace, 3-4 February 2005, Paris; and began to strengthen its relationship with the Italian National UNESCO Commission organising together the International Conference on "Education for Human Dignity" held on 23 February 2006 at the Italian Senate.

FAO – FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations) already recognized Ius Primi Viri as an International Association, and invites regularly to participate and cooperate in its work. Representatives participated, on FAO request, in the IGWG/RTFG meetings (Intergovernmental Working Group for the Elaboration of a Set of Voluntary Guidelines to Support the Progressive Realization of the Right to Adequate Food in the Context of National Food Security), stressing the role of education.

TRAINING: In the same period the association continued to hold human right courses at different levels from schoolteachers to Police forces, Armed forces, lawyers and civil servants.

IPV activity could have been more intense, but, being a no-profit Association, financial difficulties hampered our work and, mainly, the participation in United Nations activities. We hope, however, with the changes recently occurred in the Association to improve our participation and contribution to United Nations in order to help the achievement of a better world for all.
