1. Arab Network for Environment and Development (Special; 1996)

PART I. Introduction

RAED is a network of Arab Non-Governmental Organizations “NGOs” including more than 250 NGOs from Mauritania, Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, the Sudan, Egypt, Jordan, Palestine, Lebanon, the Syrian Arab Republic, Iraq, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain, Oman, Saudi Arabia and Yemen. RAED has been established to satisfy NGOs actual needs in the different Arab countries with a view to create an umbrella that gather them all. This has been made clear through the Arab NGOs consultancy conference, held in Cairo 1990, in preparation for the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil 1992. RAED is an Arab international organization that has legal entity and that is financially and morally independent so it is completely eligible to run its activities and achieve its goals. RAED has the official recognition as “An International Non Governmental Organization” by the Egyptian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and is registered in the Ministry of Social Solidarity.

The following objectives are: (i) Facilitating the communication channels between NGOs at the international level on one hand, and the Arab NGOs participating in the network on the other hand, to strengthen the Arab presence in the international arena; (ii) Establishing partnerships with all relevant stakeholders in the region and internationally; (iii) Designing the regional CSOs strategies on sustainable development; (iv) Preparing and drafting proposals concerning the implementation of different size projects through RAED members and national coordinators as well as the Secretariat; (v) Developing training and orientation programs to upgrade the capabilities of RAED coordinators; (vi) Participating in the Arab and International symposia and conferences, if their themes are of relevance to RAED activities; (vii) Satisfying the members’ needs in term of technical and administrative professionals through information exchange between them and capacity building activities.

In 1995, The League of Arab States (LAS) recognized RAED and offered it the position of being an active observer in all meetings of the Technical General Secretariat of the “Council of the Arab Ministries Responsible for Environment” (CAMRE). RAED was the first Arab NGO that has been given this honour. His Excellency Mr. Amr Mousa, Secretary General of LAS, accepted the honourable presidency of RAED. ## 2. Global Fund for Children (Special; 2004)

PART I. Introduction

i) Aims and purposes

The mission of The Global Fund for Children (GFC) is to advance the dignity of children and youth around the world. GFC pursues its mission by making small grants to innovative community-based organizations working with some of the world’s most vulnerable children and youth, complemented by a dynamic media program that, through books, documentary photography, and film, highlights the issues affecting children and celebrates the global society in which we all live.

ii) Changes that have had significant impact on vision or function

Revision of Portfolios: GFC’s traditional portfolio areas of Schools and Scholarships, Hazardous Child Labour, Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children, and the Distinctive Needs of Vulnerable Boys were absorbed within new macro frames: Learning, Enterprise, Safety, Healthy Minds and Bodies, and Creative Opportunities. This impacted the scouting and classification of grantee partners.

Responding to Crisis: Following the 25 December 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami, Rapid Response grants are given to current grantee partners who have been affected by and are responding to an immediate crisis; Recovery and Renewal grants are given to current grantee partners in areas where a large scale crisis has been declared over, but reconstruction is either ongoing or has failed. This expanded the type of support that GFC provides to grantee partners.

Metrics: In Fiscal Year 2007, GFC contracted The Vallarta Institute and Sociometrics Corporation to collaborate with GFC President, staff, Metrics Subcommittee of GFC's Board of Directors, and other key stakeholders to design and implement an evaluation framework. This increased GFC's ability to collect and report metrics data related to GFC's grant making.

Under Eight Initiative: GFC launched an Under Eight (U-8) Initiative at the 2007 Annual Meeting of the Clinton Global Initiative from 26-28 September 2007 in New York City. This expanded our grant making strategy into a new area.

3. Human Lactation Center (Special; 2000)

Human Lactation Center (HLC) is a non-profit corporation utilizing medical and anthropological research methods with issues related to the welfare and status of women and children worldwide. For 28 years, HLC has researched breastfeeding and weaning practices, the effects of HIV in breast milk, child sexual abuse, and the result of such abuse on women during childbirth, and post-partum. HLC is also concerned with development issues. Globally, it has educated public health officials and individuals on how critical it is to support women's social and economic betterment. Its research has uncovered common strands of supportive behaviour in the cultures studied and dysfunctional effects, particularly on the mother, where such support is lacking. HLC continues to examine the effects of sexual abuse on the reproductive and mental health of women and children. By creating and speaking in conferences, partnering in studies with others, and publishing the research relevant to the effects of childhood sexual abuse, we are attempting to help reshape attitudes and reverse public and professional apathy and tolerance for childhood trafficking and sexual abuse. The Human Lactation Center collaborates with the United States of America Association for the Club of Rome, Post Partum Support International, the American Anthropological Association, the Family Violence & Sexual Assault Institute, and others, to achieve these goals. #### 4. International Rehabilitation Council for Torture Victims (Special; 1996)

PART I - Introduction

The International Rehabilitation Council for Torture Victims (IRCT) is an international, independent health professional organisation that supports and promotes the rehabilitation of torture survivors and works for the prevention of torture worldwide. With a General Secretariat in Denmark, the IRCT is composed of 139 member torture rehabilitation centres and programmes in 70 countries that provide treatment to torture survivors and advocate for an end to torture worldwide.

ii. Changes within the organisation

Expanded membership and activities: Membership within the IRCT global network of torture treatment centres and programmes has grown steadily during the reporting period, from 97 in 2004 to 139 today. This growth means that the IRCT works in ever more countries in all regions and collaborates globally with even more human rights and civil society groups. In particular, the IRCT has received funding to prioritise the creation and support of torture rehabilitation services in conflict and post-conflict environments, with recent initiatives focused on Iraq, Darfur, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Afghanistan.

Diversified funding base: Since its last report, the IRCT has been able to find a growing number of donors to support its work. These donors include an increasing number of OECD governments, several private foundations and a number of individuals. This diversified donor base means that the IRCT is able to expand its work into new geographical areas and provides for long-term sustainability.

PART II. Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

i. Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its bodies, and/or other United Nations meetings: (i) 60th session of Commission on Human Rights, Geneva, March-April 2004. The IRCT participated, submitted a written statement and organised a side event with the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture, Professor Theo van Boven as panellists, focusing on "The role of rehabilitation centres in the prevention of torture"; (ii) 61st session of Commission on Human Rights, Geneva, March-April 2005. The IRCT participated and organised a side event with Justice Renate Winter from the International Court of Sierra Leone in a roundtable discussion about the medical and legal documentation of torture using the Istanbul Protocol. The IRCT also worked during this session to liaise with diplomatic delegations and promote the adoption of the United Nations Basic Principles of Remedy and Reparation for Victims of Human Rights and Humanitarian Law Violations.; (iii) 62nd session of the Commission on Human Rights, Geneva, first quarter 2006. The IRCT co-signed a joint statement made on behalf of 265 non-governmental organisations on the final session of the Commission; (iv) 1st session of the Human Rights Council, Geneva, June 2006. The IRCT participated and submitted a written statement, lobbying for an institution building process that will facilitate an effective universal periodic review of Member States' fulfilment of their human rights obligations and commitments. Furthermore, the IRCT advocated for a strong mandate of the United Nations Special Procedures mechanism, in particular the Special Rapporteur on Torture; (v) 4th session of the Human Rights Council, Geneva, March 2007. The IRCT participated and submitted a written statement the welcoming the report of the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture, which highlighted survivors' rights to reparations, including medical and psychological rehabilitation.

ii. Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field or at Headquarters: (i) Collaboration with the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture (SR Torture). The IRCT continues to engage in fruitful collaboration with the special mandate holder. IRCT provided the SR Torture with ongoing support throughout the reporting period, highlighting his reports and providing him with contact information for country visits and for medical experts. In December 2006, the Special Rapporteur on Torture was a keynote speaker at the IX International Symposium on Torture organised by the IRCT in Berlin, Germany. The Special Rapporteur also has signed his name to several statements and articles issued by the IRCT, in particular emphasising the importance of the global movement against torture in the context of the war on terrorism; (ii) United Nations Deputy High Commissioner for Human Rights, 3 May 2007. Visit to IRCT General Secretariat to discuss ways of strengthening co-operation between the IRCT and the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights; (iii) Collaboration with United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). The plight of children who suffer torture is an ongoing thematic concern of the IRCT. The IRCT has addressed and met with UNICEF representatives on several occasions in 2006 and 2007. In 2006, the IRCT further provided written recommendations to the United Nations Study on Violence against Children and joined the campaign in mid 2007 to support the establishment of the United Nations Special Representative for Violence against Children. A working group on children and torture was set up within the IRCT in late 2007 to focus on children and torture, and it is believed that the IRCT will continue to collaborate with UNICEF to promote this topic; (iv) Collaboration with United Nations Office of Project Services (UNOPS)/Iraq. The IRCT has collaborated with UNOPS in Iraq to set up and support the Basra-based centre Bahjat al Fuad Centre for Rehabilitation of Torture Victims. This support has included an intense training programme both inside and outside Iraq, to further develop the capacity of medical professionals to treat torture patients, and of legal professionals to identify, document and use evidence of torture in court proceedings. The centre has treated more than 600 patients and acts as a knowledge-sharing hub in the region; (v) Collaboration with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR). Because refugees represent a significant portion of the patients seeking services in IRCT member centres, the IRCT continues to engage in dialogue with UNHCR regarding three major issues: community services to refugees, resettlement and services for asylum seekers and refugees who are torture survivors. These issues were highlighted in a preface written by High Commissioner Antonio Guterres for the IRCT's 2007 publication Together against Torture; (vi) Collaboration with the World Health Organisation (WHO). From April to December 2005, the IRCT and WHO jointly carried a project in Uzbekistan, training 70 medical staff working in the prison system under the Uzbek Ministries for Interior and Health to recognise torture and ill-treatment.

iii. Initiatives supporting international development goals (MDGs)/global principles

United Nations Day in Support of Victims of Torture (26 June). For more than a decade, the IRCT has promoted and supported the worldwide commemoration of 26 June, the United Nations Day in Support of Victims of Torture. Each year, the IRCT produced television and radio spots, posters, advertisements and various other materials that are disseminated to centres and used throughout the world in the annual campaign. The IRCT utilised the day to promote ratification of the United Nations Convention against Torture and its Optional Protocol, and provided centres and organisations generic templates for approaching their governments about signing and ratifying these instruments.

Following the 26 June, the IRCT synthesised information from participating centres and organisations into an annual publication, Together against Torture, which provided, in visual and narrative format, information about the events held worldwide in celebration of the day. This report is often used as a source of fundraising and advocacy by IRCT member centres.

The IRCT further highlighted other special United Nations days, such as the World Health Day or Human Rights Day annually through press releases and statements on the web site.

United Nations Voluntary Fund for Victims of Torture (UNVFVT). The UNVFVT is a significant source of funding for IRCT member centres, yet it continues to only be able to fund roughly half of the requests it receives each year. With a grant from the Sigrid Rausing Trust, the IRCT initiated in 2006 a project aimed at increasing government contributions to the UNVFVT. Through letter writing and lobbying activities, the IRCT met with representatives from OECD governments and encouraged them to increase their support for rehabilitation both through direct funding to centres and by earmarking monies to the UNVFVT.

United Nations Convention against Torture (UNCAT) and its Optional Protocol (OPCAT). Full ratification and implementation of UNCAT and the Optional Protocol remains a priority concern of the IRCT. During the reporting period, the IRCT's campaign around this issue took several forms, from publication of letters/articles in world newspapers, to designating this topic as the theme for the 2006 annual 26 June campaign. In 2005 and 2006, the IRCT, as a member of the Coalition of International NGOs Against Torture (CINAT), organised a letter campaign addressed not only to those countries who have not ratified UNCAT, but also to those countries who at the time of ratification did not recognise the competence of the Committee against Torture under Articles 21 and 22 of the Convention.

In July 2007 IRCT joint a CINAT letter writing campaign lobbying UNCAT States Parties to fulfil their important duty to nominate only independent, committed and highly qualified candidates for election as Committee members.

5. Legal Advisory Office for Popular Organizations (Special; 2004)

PART I. Introduction

The Legal Advisory Office for Popular Organizations (acronym GAJOP in Portuguese, for Gabinete de Assessoria Jurídica às Organizações Populares) is a NGO created in 1981 in Recife, State of Pernambuco, Brazil. Its mission is to work for the protection and promotion of human rights and the consolidation of democracy in Brazil, specifically in the areas of access to justice and public security. GAJOP's work is carried out through four main projects: International Human Rights Program, Witness Protection Program, and Programs of Education for Citizenship and Citizen Justice. The International Human Rights Program is GAJOP's project which most contributed to the work of the United Nations.

PART II. Contributions of GAJOP to the work of the United Nations

i) Participation in the work of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or major conferences and other United Nations meetings.

Three representatives of our NGO attended the 61st session of the Commission on Human Rights in Geneva, Switzerland, between 14 March and 22 April 2005. On this occasion, they launched the English version of the book "Independence of Judges in Brazil: relevant aspects, cases and recommendations," during a briefing in the presence of Mr. Leandro Despouy, Special Rapporteur on Independence of Judges and Lawyers, held in Palais des Nations, on 4 April. This book included four articles on related topics, reports of 37 cases of violations of judicial independence in Brazil, as well as versions in Portuguese of the Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary and the Bangalore Principles of Judicial Conduct, which until then were unpublished in that language. In parallel, GAJOP submitted and circulated a written statement on the Independence of Judges in Brazil (E/CN.4/2005/NGO/211, 8 March 2005), which expressed concern for the lack of judicial independence in Brazil, and called on the Commission on Human Rights and the Brazilian State for a special attention in those matters. GAJOP's representatives had private meetings with the following mandate holders: Mr. Stephen J. Toope, president of the Working Group on Enforced and Involuntary Disappearance and Mr. Manfred Nowak, Special Rapporteur on Torture, on 4 April; Mrs. Chloé Mamay-Baszanger, Assistant of the Secretary-General on Human Rights Defenders, on 6 April; Mr. Phillip Alston, Special Rapporteur on Extrajudicial, Arbitrary and Summary Executions, on 7 April; and Mrs. Yakin Ertürk, Special Rapporteur on Violence Against Women, 8 April.

One member of GAJOP, a lawyer of the International Human Rights Program, attended the second session of the Human Rights Council, held in Geneva, Switzerland, between 18 September and 6 October 2006. At this opportunity, contacts were maintained with the mandate holders of special procedures on Racism, Human Rights Defenders and Independence of Judges, as well as with international non governmental organizations based in Geneva. GAJOP's representative also took part in the Geneva Training Course (in French), held between 18 and 29 September, at the initiative of the Geneva based non governmental organization International Service for Human Rights (ISHR), aiming to raise the capacity of human rights defenders from 11 countries to access United Nations mechanisms of promotion and protection of human rights.

ii) Cooperation with United Nations bodies and/or specialized agencies in the field and/or at Headquarters.

Cooperation with the Mission in Brazil of United Nations special procedures

Between 2004 and 2007, GAJOP actively cooperated with the Mission in Brazil of various mandates holders of special procedures. On 10 June 2004, Mr. Miloon Kothari, Special Rapporteur on adequate housing, visited Pernambuco and took part in a public meeting in the State Legislative Assembly. On 19 and 20 October 2004, we received the visit of Mr. Leandro Despouy, Special Rapporteur on the Independence of Judges and lawyers. On 21 and 22 October 2005, Mr. Doudou Diène, Special Rapporteur on Contemporary forms of racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and related intolerance, was in Pernambuco. On 12 and 13 December, Ms. Hina Jilani, Special representative on the Secretary-General on the situation of human rights defenders, came to Pernambuco. On 11 and 12 November 2007, it was the turn of Mr. Philip Alston, Special Rapporteur on Extrajudicial, Summary or Arbitrary executions. In concrete terms, we helped to set up meetings with NGOs and other civil society stakeholders, victims of violations and their families, journalists, researchers and state officials. We also facilitated the visit of United Nations representatives to remote areas of particular interest in the context of the missions, including meetings with members of vulnerable groups of the society (for example, indigenous and landless people). We also prepared written reports, including relevant information, to be given to United Nations representatives, in order to make easier the work of the Mission.

Communications sent to the United Nations special procedures

In 2004, GAJOP sent 43 cases to the Special Procedures of the Commission on Human Rights of the United Nations. They were related to situations of racial discrimination, arbitrary detention, torture, summary executions, and violations to the right to health, prisons, enforced and involuntary disappearance, and attacks against human rights defenders. In 2005, GAJOP sent 56 cases of violations to the United Nations special procedures on Independence of Judges, Summary Executions, Torture, Racism, and Human Rights Defenders. In 2006, three emblematic cases were communicated to the same procedures, as well as to the Working Group on Enforced and Involuntary Disappearance. The first one was sent on 12 July, denouncing the killing of a street child, supposedly by members of the State Military Police of Pernambuco. The second one, on 09 August, was about the violations against the indigenous people Xukuru, located in the countryside of Pernambuco. The last one, sent on 21 December, referred to the disappearance of two land workers in the countryside of this state, supposedly by members of the military police involved in criminal activities.

Activities in support of global principles

Preparation of reports and books on the United Nations work in Brazil

In 2005, GAJOP prepared two thematic reports on the compliance by Brazilian State to the recommendations of United Nations Special Rapporteurs. The first one was made at the occasion of the visit to Brazil by members of the Committee Against Torture (CAT), between 14 and 29 July 2005; the second one was prepared at the requirement of the Special Rapporteur on Executions,

M. Philip Alston and made public on 19 September 2005. It analyzed the respect by Brazil of the recommendations by Ms. Asma Jahangir after her visit in the country in September and October 2003. Those reports, which represented concrete contributions to the follow-up work of the United Nations mechanisms on the promotion and protection of human rights, had large repercussions in the national media.

In 2006, GAJOP edited the book “International Human Rights: practical perspective in the new global context,” launched on 06 December in the city of Recife (Brazil), on the occasion of the 58th anniversary of the Universal Declaration on Human Rights, in the presence of Ms. Sílvia Pimentel, member of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW). The book specifically included two contributions directly linked to the United Nations work: “The Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against Torture: a practical tool for the prevention of torture in Brazil,” made by members of the Association for Prevention of Torture, Geneva-based NGO; and “The Universal Periodic Review Mechanism of the Human Rights Council of the United Nations: Challenges and Prospects,” by a member of the International Human Rights Program of GAJOP.

On 15 October 2007, GAJOP undersigned a petition of the Global Coalition against Death Penalty, supporting the UN Resolution for suspending it.

Other contributions

In 2007, GAJOP reduced the number of its actions related to the United Nations, as its International Human Rights Program focused its work, at the requirement of its founders, on the evaluation of the activities carried out in previous years and to find new sources of funding for the next three years.
