1. ONG Hope International

General consultative status: 2011

Introduction

ONG HOPE International is active in Africa, Asia and Europe. Its focus is on Africa, where it is active in Madagascar, Côte d'Ivoire and Angola.

Aims and purposes of the organization

ONG HOPE International focuses on rural economic development through the creation of reception and vocational training centres for the poorest and the granting of microcredits administered by ONG HOPE; establishment at HOPE Centres of libraries/media libraries, large sports centres, and multipurpose rooms for the organization of meetings of all types; and the provision of health centres with dispensaries and a team of basic health education/prevention providers.

Significant changes in the organization

ONG HOPE International has added a partner organization, Don du Livre, thanks to which it has been able to set up libraries at its HOPE Centres.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

ONG HOPE International is actively cooperating with United Nations bodies under the aegis of the Human Rights Council and certain specialized agencies. In particular, it has participated in the open-ended Working Group on the Right to Development, the open-ended Working Group on the Draft United Nations Declaration on Human Rights Education and Training (on the drafting of which it collaborated), and the Social Forum. It also participates in international special days such as World Day for Overcoming Extreme Poverty and Human Rights Day, among others.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

The organization participated actively in sessions 18 to 29 of the Human Rights Council (HRC). It made oral statements at the following sessions, among others: 18th session, item 3, Right to development; 22nd session, item 3, Interactive dialogue on the right to food; Item 7 and general debate: The human rights situation in Palestine and the other occupied Arab territories; and, 29th session, item 6: report of Kuwait. It submitted a written statement at the 24th session, Item 3: Right to development: Achieving Zero Hunger. It also took part in the Universal Periodic Reviews of sessions 12 to 22.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

In 2014, ONG HOPE International participated in the meetings of the HRC Bureau and addressed the President of the Council. It submitted a technical analysis report on the appointment of Special Rapporteurs.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

ONG HOPE International is involved with all of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), with the exception of MDG 6. MDG 1 is the organization's priority objective. Under MDG 7, the Organization has banned the use of inputs; uses natural fertilizers; and practices "soft agriculture". Under MDG 8, it cooperates with association and State partners, with certain reservations, and shares its expertise.

2. Organization for Industrial, Spiritual and Cultural AdvancementGeneral, 1995*Introduction

OISCA is active in 34 countries and territories in Asia and Pacific, Africa, North America, and South America.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The organization's mission is to contribute to humanity's environmentally sustainable development through a holistic approach emphasizing the interconnectedness of agriculture, ecological integrity, and human spirit. To accomplish this, OISCA International implements and advocates hands-on experimental programmes for world citizens of all ages, transmitting knowledge and skills, and cultivating spiritual qualities as dedication, self-reliance, and universal brother/sisterhood.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

OISCA participated in the Green Wave Campaign spearheaded by the Secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD). Through OISCA's Children's Forest Program, almost 50,000 participants in 20 countries were involved in tree planting activities, forest management, community clean-up drives, and environmental conservation related seminars and workshops.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

OISCA participated in the following meetings:

- United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development, Rio+20, 20-22 June 2012, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil;
- Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety, 6th Meeting, 1-5 October 2012, Hyderabad, India;
- Conference of the Parties to the CBD, 11th Meeting, 8-9 October 2012, Hyderabad, India; and
- 2013 Annual Ministerial Review of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, 1-4 July 2013, Geneva, Switzerland.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

OISCA implemented the Protracted Relief and Recovery Operation (PRRO) of the World Food Programme (WFP) in the Magway Region, Myanmar, as well as the Community-based Forest and Coastal Conservation and Resource Management project in Papua New Guinea, in partnership with United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

OISCA sharpened the leadership skills of 5,000 youth through trainings in sustainable agriculture, home economics, and machineries in its 29 training centres located in 8 countries. OISCA led several projects as part of its Sustainable Development Project, including the development of Sustainable Communities in Negros Province, Philippines, through Silk Production; a Coastal Community Reconstruction Project in Demak, Central Java, Indonesia; and a Poverty Alleviation Project through the Growing of Stevia in Caragatatay Region, Paraguay. Through its Children Forest Program, OISCA educated school children on environmental conservation and conducted hands-on tree planting activities. A total of 445,337 trees were planted in an area of 407 hectares during the reporting period.

3. Palakkad District Consumers' Association

Special, 2007

Introduction

Palakkad District Consumers' Association (PDCA) has been in activity for the last 24 years and focuses on the protection of the consumer's rights.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The organization aims at educating consumers and raising their awareness on certain issues, as well as finding ways to end corruption and unethical practices. Its consumer educational and awareness programmes support the public for higher standards of living; enable them to protect themselves from exploitation; help them get better employment, leading to economic and social progress; and promote respect for human rights.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

PDCA contributed to the work of the United Nations by celebrating certain special days, including: World Day of Social Justice, 20 February 2013; International Women's Day, 8 March 2013; World Press Freedom Day, 3 May 2013; and International Day of Non-Violence, 2 October 2013.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

PDCA participated in the 13th Session of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), 21-26 April 2012, and UNCTAD's Civil Society Forum, 17-27 April 2012, Doha, Qatar.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

PDCA worked with UNCTAD, among other organizations. PDCA receives UNCTAD's meetings decisions, books, and other materials by mail and shares them with its network and members through its regular programmes.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

No activities were specified.

4. Pathfinder International

Special, 2003

Introduction

Established in 1957, Pathfinder International (Pathfinder) works in nearly 20 countries, most of them located in Africa, in order to ensure a safe and healthy sexual life for everyone.

Aims and purposes of the organization

Pathfinder International aims at removing barriers to critical sexual and reproductive health services. It works in partnership with local governments to expand access to contraception, promote healthy pregnancies, save women's lives, and stop the spread of HIV/AIDS infections. Pathfinder strives to strengthen access to all form of care related to sexual life, including abortion and contraception.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

The area of work targeted by Pathfinder International is closely related to the work of the United Nations, especially in achieving MDGs 3 and 8, and also helps achieving MDGs 1 and 2.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

Pathfinder International participated in the 56th Session of the Commission on Status of Women (CSW), during which it gave a speech at a side event, New York, 27 February-9 March 2012.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

Pathfinder collaborates with the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) in each of its country offices and also occasionally with other organs such as the World Health Organization (WHO) and United Nations International Children's Fund (UNICEF). An illustrative example of its work with UNFPA is a project in Pakistan during which Pathfinder worked to empower local contraception champions, including government officials, to improve policies, programmes, and budgets for contraception at the provincial level.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

Pathfinder focused on MDGs 5 and 6 during the reporting period. Pathfinder's services averted over 3,700 maternal deaths and there were over 5 million visits by women to health providers for antenatal and postpartum care. Pathfinder services also averted nearly 2.5 million unintended pregnancies. There were nearly 6 million visits to health facilities for contraceptive services and more than 12 million visits by young people for youth-friendly services. Over 2.5 million individuals received HIV and AIDS services from Pathfinder-supported projects; more than 71,000 HIV-positive people were treated with antiretroviral medicines; and over 12,000 pregnant women and exposed infants received preventive therapy.

5. Perhaps Kids Meeting Kids Can Make a Difference

Special, 1995

Introduction

Perhaps Kids Meeting Kids Can Make a Difference was founded in 1982. The organization works in over 140 different countries. It is run by youth for youth, aged 10 to 24.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The organization aims at increasing awareness among youth in order for them to participate more, take action for positive change, and make a difference in the world in which they live. This is done through the organization's webpage, social media, congresses, walks against violence, Children's International Rights Network, and meetings and workshops addressing issues of peace and children's rights.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

Since 1982, the organization has continually informed young people about the United Nations and its goals, work, and accomplishments. All of its major meetings and International Children's Congresses are held either at the United Nations Children Fund (UNICEF) House or the Interchurch Center of the United Nations in New York.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

Where possible, children and young people have participated in United Nations Conferences, NGO Working Groups, and major meetings on the girl child, education, and children's rights.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

The organization works actively with UNICEF. It collaborated on the Study on Children and Violence, the Machel Study, and other activities concerning children and war.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

The organization focuses on the MDGs related to youth, especially education and global partnership, through education aimed at non-violent solutions to conflicts.

6. Physicians for Human Rights

Special, 1995

Introduction

Physicians for Human Rights (PHR) has used science and medicine to document and call attention to mass atrocities and severe human rights violations for nearly 30 years in more than 60 countries.

Aims and purposes of the organization

PHR's investigations and expertise are used to advocate for the protection of persecuted health workers and medical facilities under attack; prevent torture; document mass atrocities; and hold those who violate human rights accountable. PHR was founded on the idea that health professionals, with their specialized skills, ethical duties, and credible voices, are uniquely positioned to stop human rights violations.

Significant changes in the organization

PHR moved its headquarters from Boston to New York City, United States of America. It led small projects with staff in the Democratic Republic of Congo, Kenya and for a period in Amman, Jordan. PHR received several large government grants from the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the United States, and the Netherlands Foreign Ministries, as well as the United Nations Trust Fund to End Violence against Women for new training programmes in conflict zones.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

PHR submitted reports to the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) process and interacted regularly with the Special Representative of the Secretary General on Sexual Violence in conflict and the Special Representative on Children and Armed Conflict. Further, PHR briefed United Nations Permanent Representatives on a variety of issues, including Security Council expert groups, and lobbied in support of relevant United Nations resolutions. It also provided information on attacks on health workers to the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA).

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

PHR participated in in the Security Council review of the United Nations resolution 1325, as well as in the 55th, 56th, and 57th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW), 22 February-4 March and 14 March 2011, 27 February-9 March and 15 March 2012, 4-15 March 2013, New York

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

PHR regularly interacts with staff in Geneva, Switzerland, and field offices of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights. It cooperates regularly with the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women), OCHA, the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), the World Health Organization (WHO), and Special Representatives, Rapporteurs, and Regional Envoys.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

PHR supported MDG 3 by securing justice for survivors of sexual violence in conflict zones.

7. Policy Research

Special, 2011

Introduction

Established in 2003, Policy Research (PR) advances positive social change in the socioeconomics, health and human rights' circumstances of disadvantaged people, especially women and children in Nigeria.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The purpose of PR is to generate empirical knowledge to support the building of sustainable socio-economic and political systems that guarantee equal participation and human development. It achieves its purpose through research, documentation and public education, policy analysis, technical assistance, and capacity building for participatory policy development.

Significant changes in the organization

PR amended its by-laws to ensure equality and to position the organization to actively promote equality and equal participation of men and women in Nigeria's socioeconomic and political development.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

Some of the projects and activities that PR has implemented during the reporting period in Nigeria include:

- Strengthening youth's participation, equality, and social justice in Nigeria, by conducting regional research on youth's participation and designing and disseminating civic education materials to increase citizen's participation in economics, governance, and political issues in their local community and at national level;
- Strengthening young people's leadership capacity to help children and youth better understand the challenges of sustainable development; and
- The formation of a men and women coalition against domestic violence in Nigeria in partnership with other civil society organizations.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

PR attended various United Nations' meetings including Post-2015 High-level planning meetings in Nigeria, Indonesia, and New York. It also participated in several online meetings and discussions on various thematic Post-2015 sustainable development conferences, events, and meetings.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

PR, in collaboration with the United Nations Children Fund (UNICEF), carried out a National Post Vaccination Survey in Nigeria from July 2010 to December 2011. PR is a member of Stop Tuberculosis (TB) Global Partnership. Policy Research organizes TB awareness campaigns to enlighten and educate the public about TB and the need for early diagnosis and treatment.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

In support of MDG 6, PR led activities as part of World TB Day in 2014. It also worked toward MDG 8 through the initiative "Organizing Young People", which gave the opportunity to Nigerian youth to express themselves on development challenges affecting them.

8. Prison Fellowship International

Special, 1983

Introduction

Prison Fellowship International (PFI) is a voluntary association of national Prison Fellowship organisations in 124 countries. PFI is involved in a broad range of criminal justice concerns and works through its affiliate organizations to promote participation in criminal justice.

Aims and purposes of the organization

Its mission is to engage the Christian community to pursue justice and healing in response to crime so that offenders are transformed, relationships are reconciled, and communities are restored.

Significant changes in the organization

PFI has increased its membership from 124 countries in 2011 to 127 in 2014.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

PFI focused especially on the area of restorative justice. PFI has attempted to update the general public on activities through two organizational websites and PFI publications sent to affiliates worldwide.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

PFI participated in the Committee on the Rights of the Child's Day of General Discussion on Children of Incarcerated Parents, 30 September 2011, Geneva, Switzerland. PFI is a member of the Alliance of NGOs on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice in New York and has participated in the regular meetings of the Alliance.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

PFI cooperates with the United Nations system through its representation at the United Nations Headquarters and main offices in New York, Geneva, Switzerland, and Vienna, Austria. Information and news related to United Nations activities and publications are sent to PFI national affiliates regularly and disseminated through PFI's various publications and websites.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

PFI launched its Children of Prisoners project in 2013 to address MDGs 1, 2, and 4. The project addresses four key areas of these children's needs, as follows:

- Safety, by helping them find safe housing, protected from abuse;
- Health, by ensuring secure basic healthcare and monitoring their health;
- Education, by facilitating school attendance; and
- Resiliency of Spirit, by supporting them in developing healthy relationships with themselves, their peers, families, communities, and God.

The projects vary from country to country but most of them include these common components: they are community-based; utilize individualized case management; either deliver services or advocate for families to access services available in the community; provide educational support; attempt to reconnect children with their parent in prison; and include annual or regular gatherings from 1-5 days where all children and a caregiver are brought in to participate in programmes.
