

Trade and Development, having regard to the region's extensive geographic scope, membership, population and interest in the Conference,

Appreciating that the Economic and Social Council and the Preparatory Committee have requested the regional economic commissions to provide assistance in the preparation of proposals and documentation for the Conference,

1. Requests the members and associate members of ECAFE, after a thorough examination of their international trade and development problems, to prepare constructive and concrete proposals for consideration by the Preparatory Committee and the Conference;

2. Requests the Economic and Social Council to consider favourably increasing the membership of the ECAFE region on the Preparatory Committee; and

3. Requests the Executive Secretary to provide the fullest assistance of the ECAFE secretariat in the work of the Preparatory Committee and of the Conference, taking into account the discussions held and the suggestions made during the nineteenth session of ECAFE and the secretariat's studies and other experience in the field of the development of trade and general economy of the region.

45 (XIX). Accelerated measures for regional economic co-operation for development of trade and industry<sup>26</sup>

The Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East,

Taking note of the discussions held and suggestions made on regional economic co-operation in connexion with the consideration of the economic situation in Asia, the report of the Committee on Trade (sixth session)<sup>27</sup> and the report of the Committee on Industry and Natural Resources (fifteenth session),<sup>28</sup>

Recalling resolution 31 (XVI) on regional economic co-operation for development of trade and industry, which the Commission adopted at its sixteenth session in March 1960,

Realizing that regional co-operation has established itself as an important and effective force for accelerating the trade and economic growth of developing as well as developed countries in other regions of the world,

Expressing its deep concern that the efforts of developing countries of the ECAFE region to diversify their export trade and expand their earnings from exports of primary, semi-processed and manufactured products have so far yielded only very modest results, falling considerably short of their foreign exchange requirements for imports and seriously incommensurate with their needs for economic development,

Considering that the challenging and difficult problems of development of trade and industry faced by countries of Asia and the Far East call for immediate and substantial increase in co-operative and concerted efforts by countries of the ECAFE region,

Appreciating the various measures taken and being pursued by the Executive Secretary in co-operation with member countries of the region to implement the recommendations of resolution 31 (XVI), including intra-regional trade promotion talks, commodity consultations, joint industry and market surveys, and establishment of expert groups, particularly the Consultative Group of Experts on Regional Economic Co-operation in Asia and the Far East,

Recognizing that the time is now ripe for countries of the region to take further significant steps towards regional economic co-operation,

1. Urges the countries of the region to intensify their efforts and activities to carry out the recommendations contained in its resolution 31 (XVI); and

2. Requests the Executive Secretary, while continuing to implement feasible work projects in the development of regional trade and industry in co-operation with countries of the region and to have such consultations with Governments of the region as are necessary for this purpose, to convene a meeting of high level representatives of member and associate member Governments of the ECAFE region to review the progress achieved so far and to formulate and adopt more positive measures for concerted regional action.

*284th meeting,

46 (XIX). Development of water resources of the lower Mekong basin<sup>29</sup>

The Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East,

Considering that the economic and social development of the economically less developed countries is of primary importance to those countries and is also basic to the attainment of international peace and security and to a mutually beneficial increase in world prosperity,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 1710 (XVI) of 19 December 1961 designating the current decade as the "United Nations Development Decade",

Recalling that the Governments of Cambodia, Laos, Thailand and the Republic of Viet-Nam, pursuant to a recommendation of the United Nations Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East,<sup>30</sup> established in 1957 a Committee for the Co-ordination of Investigations of the Lower Mekong Basin, hereinafter referred to as the Mekong Committee, consisting under its statute of one member from each Government with plenipotentiary authority, and empowered as a Committee to promote, co-ordinate, supervise and control the planning and investigation of the water resources development project in the lower Mekong basin, to make requests on behalf of the participating Governments for special financial and technical assistance, to receive and administer separately such financial and technical assistance, and to take title to property.

Noting with appreciation that, for projects planned and sponsored by the Mekong Committee, resources of some $36 million equivalent have been made available by twenty countries, including the four riparian countries, and by eleven United Nations agencies, three private foundations, and several private business organizations; that some of these resources have been extended directly to the Committee, and some extended as a loan for construction of the first project in the lower Mekong basin network,

Noting that of the total resources now available nearly one-third, namely some $11.4 million equivalent, has
