26. The following recommendations were made with regard to the topic entitled “Current trends in the manufacture, trafficking and consumption of amphetamine-type stimulants and new psychoactive substances”:

(a) Governments should be encouraged to develop national prevention strategies against amphetamine-type stimulants that aim to reduce demand, strengthen social policies and deliver targeted interventions that support vulnerable and at-risk individuals;

(b) With a view to encouraging the coordination of operational responses to combating the cross-border trafficking of amphetamine-type stimulants, Governments are urged to support their drug enforcement authorities and cooperate in the timely exchange of actionable information that will lead to effective interventions against syndicates and their operatives;

(c) Governments should support the establishment of inter-agency task forces that bring together the specialist skills of their interdiction agencies, organized crime investigators, forensic accounting experts and prosecutors, in response to the dynamic strategies adopted by trafficking syndicates and in order to be better prepared to dismantle and prosecute the transnational organizations that are involved in trafficking amphetamine-type stimulants across the region.

2. Successful solutions and practices in the area of forensics

27. The following recommendations were made with regard to the topic entitled “Successful solutions and practices in the area of forensics”:

(a) Governments are encouraged to invest in their forensic laboratories, including in the training of staff involved in the identification, collection and securing of forensic evidence, and ensure that their country’s legislation adequately supports the valuable contribution that forensic services provide to drug law enforcement and the handling of related offences;

(b) Governments should support regional cooperation in the forensic science sector as a means of enhancing the professional knowledge and skills of forensic practitioners, promoting the sharing of good practices and facilitating the exchange of information, such as drug-profiling data, for drug law enforcement purposes;

(c) Governments should facilitate the availability of reference standards for new psychoactive substances for use by their forensic science laboratories to aid in the detection and identification of such substances.

3. Harmonization of legislation and practices at the international level

28. The following recommendations were made with regard to the topic entitled “Harmonization of legislation and practices at the international level”:

(a) Governments should take steps to review their procedures upon receipt of formal requests for mutual legal assistance from the drug enforcement authorities of other countries in order to ensure a timely response with minimal delays that might otherwise jeopardize an active investigation;

(b) Participating Governments are encouraged to use the Safe Mekong operation as a platform for strengthening closer operational collaboration;

(c) Governments are encouraged to actively support the Asset Recovery Inter-Agency Network for Asia and the Pacific in the investigation, tracking and tracing of efforts to launder the proceeds of drug trafficking.

IV. Follow-up to the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem, in preparation for the special session of the General Assembly on the world drug problem to be held in 2016

29. The Eleventh Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Europe, the Twenty-fifth Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Africa, the Twenty-fifth Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Latin America and the Caribbean, the Thirty-ninth Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Asia and the Pacific, and the fiftieth session of the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East each considered an agenda item entitled, “Follow-up to the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem, in preparation for the special session of the General Assembly on the world drug problem to be held in 2016”. For their consideration of the item, the participants in the meetings had before them the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem (A/64/92-E/2009/98, sect. II.A) and Commission resolutions 56/10 and 56/12.

30. Participants in the meetings, inter alia, resolved to continue to support and contribute to the preparatory process for the special session of the General Assembly to be held in 2016, in view of the request made by the Commission on Narcotic Drugs, in its resolution 56/10, to the meetings of the subsidiary bodies of the Commission to contribute to the monitoring of the implementation by Member States of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action at the regional level by discussing regional views on progress made in that regard.

31. Participants were asked to consider the challenges posed to the States of the region with regard to the implementation of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, particularly part II of the Plan of Action, on supply reduction and related measures, but also the parts on demand reduction and related measures and on countering money-laundering and promoting judicial cooperation to enhance international cooperation. It was emphasized that the General Assembly, in its resolution 68/197, had encouraged the meetings of heads of national drug law enforcement agencies and the Subcommission to continue to contribute to the strengthening of regional and international cooperation.

32. Regarding the implementation of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, participants in the Eleventh Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Europe, mentioned a number of issues to be dealt with in the context of the preparations for the special session of the General Assembly. Those issues included the need for a scientific, evidence-based approach; the strengthening of the principle of common and shared responsibility, involving countries of production, transit and consumption; respect for the international drug control conventions; and respect for human rights. The importance of a multidisciplinary drug policy that included prevention, treatment and rehabilitation efforts in balance with supply reduction measures was also highlighted. Several delegations stressed the importance of effective international and regional cooperation and made reference to specific projects such as the Paris Pact initiative. The importance of adopting additional measures in countries with an extensive drug economy was also mentioned. The need to further enhance efforts to address organized criminal groups involved in drug trafficking was emphasized, in particular the need to concentrate on depriving them of their financial resources through asset tracing and confiscation. Reference was made to new legislative action taken by several countries, including the introduction of non-conviction-based asset recovery and the sharing of confiscated assets among States concerned.

33. During the consideration of the item at the Twenty-fifth Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Africa, reference was made by one speaker to the organization of regional meetings, including meetings with the participation of civil society organizations, for the purpose of increasing awareness of and providing inputs to the preparatory process for the special session. It was proposed that regional partnerships should be involved in order to enhance the preparatory process. Reference was made to the Russian-African anti-drug dialogue, held in Banjul in July 2015, at which the heads of African bodies and organizations involved in fighting drug trafficking had discussed, inter alia, the transit of drugs through the African continent. Furthermore, speakers appealed to the international community to support their countries' efforts to address the cultivation and trafficking of cannabis in the region and the production and trafficking of methamphetamines and other illicit drugs both within the continent and between Africa and other regions of the world. UNODC was requested to provide, or continue to provide, the necessary support to raise awareness within the region of the relevant provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and to provide assistance to States in establishing forensic laboratories.

34. At the Twenty-fifth Meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Latin America and the Caribbean, inter alia, some speakers referred to the debate on possible new approaches to the world drug problem currently taking place in the region. The debate had been started by some Governments that considered that the efforts conducted so far to solve the drug problem had not been effective or sufficient. Some speakers considered that the goals set in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action for the elimination or significant reduction of the cultivation, demand and supply of illicit drugs could not realistically be reached by the target date, in 2019. Others stressed that, notwithstanding the magnitude of the world drug problem, the international community should continue striving to reduce significantly and measurably the world drug problem's different manifestations, with the ultimate goal of protecting the health and welfare of humankind.

35. At the same meeting, some speakers took the view that, while in the Political Declaration, Member States had reiterated that the world drug problem was a common and shared responsibility requiring a comprehensive and balanced approach to supply and demand reduction, it was for individual Member States to determine what constituted a balanced approach. Additionally, in the view of some delegations, there had been progress in the implementation of the Plan of Action, but some areas required additional efforts. Some speakers stressed the need for an approach to drug control based on human rights and health that included the decriminalization of drug consumption and the social inclusion of drug users. Reference was also made to the need for placing the drug issue in the context of the newly adopted Sustainable Development Goals. In that connection, cooperation between UNODC and entities such as UNDP, WHO, UNAIDS and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization should be strengthened, in order to achieve coherence and synergy within the United Nations system.

36. At the Thirty-ninth meeting of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies, Asia and the Pacific, one speaker noted that his Government had submitted a contribution to the draft outcome document of the special session, with a particular focus on the relationship between the treatment and punishment of drug abusers.

37. At the fiftieth session of the Subcommission, several speakers, inter alia, referred to the measures that their Governments had put in place to implement the provisions of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action. Those included the signing of agreements with neighbouring countries, extradition treaties, improved control at entry and exit points and the creation of task forces to combat drug trafficking. Some speakers stressed the importance of creating national coordinating bodies to tackle drug demand and supply that involved all agencies concerned, as well as of building the capacity of the judiciary for handling drug cases.

V. Organization of future meetings of the subsidiary bodies

38. Possible topics for the meetings of the subsidiary bodies to be held in 2016 were discussed and identified at the respective meetings.

39. The attention of the Commission and the members of its subsidiary bodies is drawn to Economic and Social Council resolution 1988/15, entitled "Meetings of Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies: Asia and the Pacific, Africa, and Latin America and the Caribbean", in which the Council requested the Secretary-General to convene those three regional meetings at the capitals of States in the respective regions that might wish to act as host or at the headquarters of the regional commission concerned, annually, beginning in 1988. Accordingly, the Commission should encourage member States in the different regions to consider hosting forthcoming meetings of heads of national drug law enforcement agencies where no host had been identified and to coordinate with the Secretariat as soon as possible to allow sufficient time for the organizational arrangements to be made.
