Resolution 68/8

Enhancing coordination within the United Nations system and cooperation with regional organizations for promoting regional development⁹⁵

The Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 62/208 of 19 December 2007, in which the Assembly, among other things, encouraged the United Nations development system to strengthen collaboration with regional and subregional intergovernmental organizations and regional banks, as appropriate and consistent with their respective mandates, and requested the regional commissions to further develop their analytical capacities to support country-level development initiatives at the request of the programme countries, and to support measures for more intensive inter-agency collaboration at the regional and subregional levels,

Also recalling Economic and Social Council resolution 1998/46 of 31 July 1998 on further measures for the restructuring and revitalization of the United Nations in the economic, social and related fields, in which the Council reaffirmed the role of the regional commissions as regional outposts of the United Nations and called for close cooperation between the commissions and other relevant regional bodies in order to reinforce synergies and complementarities between their respective programmes of work,

Further recalling its resolution 60/1 of 28 April 2004 containing the Shanghai Declaration, in which the members and associate members emphasized the Commission's unique role as the most representative body for the Asian and Pacific region and its mandate as the main general economic and social development centre within the United Nations system for the Asian and Pacific region, and renewed their commitment to enhancing subregional and regional cooperation with a view to promoting sustainable development in the Asian and the Pacific region,

Recognizing that the regional dimension of development is critical for an effective and coordinated response to an ever growing number of regional and global issues, and that regional responses are of increasing importance as a buffer against global shocks and crises,

Emphasizing the importance of the regional and subregional levels as an essential building block of effective global governance, as they provide the critical link between the global and national levels, especially in the context of the ongoing discussions on an integrated approach to sustainable development and the development agenda beyond 2015,

Stressing the significant role played by the regional commissions as part of the institutional landscape in each region through norm setting, dissemination and analytical functions as well as operational activities that are complementary and mutually reinforcing, and as important forums for articulating regional and subregional perspectives on global issues and building consensus within each region,
