Assessment of the work of the Security Council during the presidency of China (November 2002)

Introduction

Under the presidency of China, in November 2002, the Security Council addressed a wide range of issues on its agenda, including the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Angola, the Central African Republic, Somalia, Liberia, Timor-Leste, Bougainville, the Middle East/Palestine, Iraq, Cyprus, Georgia and Kosovo, Federal Republic of Yugoslavia.

The programme of work included 9 formal meetings, 19 informal consultations of the whole and 1 troop-contributors meeting. The Council adopted four resolutions during the month. The President made four statements to the press on behalf of the Council members and briefed countries not members of the Council on specific issues considered in consultations of the whole. During November, the web site of the Chinese Mission (<http://www.china-un.org/>) featured the Security Council's programme of work and hyperlinks to the resolutions and to statements by the President to the press.

Democratic Republic of the Congo

During the open meeting held on 5 November, Mahmoud Kassem, Chairman of the Panel of Experts on the Illegal Exploitation of Natural Resources and Other Forms of Wealth of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, presented the final report of the Panel. Representatives of Angola, Belgium, Canada, Denmark (on behalf of the European Union), Oman, Rwanda, South Africa, Uganda, and Zimbabwe, as well as members of the Council, made comments on the report. It was generally believed that the illegal plundering of the natural resources in the Democratic Republic of the Congo exacerbated the regional conflict and must be checked, and that efforts should be made to help the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to control its natural resources. Mr. Kassem expressed his hope that the Council would make an early decision on the recommendations contained in the report.

During the informal consultations held on 13 November, Council members highly appraised and supported the efforts made by the Panel in investigating and effectively checking illegal exploitation. They also commented on the measures made by the Governments of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and of Uganda in cooperating with the Panel in the investigation and supported the early convocation of an international conference in the Great Lakes region. The parties agreed to continue to exchange views on the follow-up of the work of the Panel.

Angola

On 20 November the Council issued a press release by which the Council members welcomed the dissolution of the Joint Commission established by the Lusaka Protocol, which marked the completion of the main tasks of the Angola peace process and allowed the Council to proceed with a review of the question of lifting all the sanctions. The Council members paid tribute to the strong political will of both the Angolan Government and UNITA in achieving the goal of peace. Council members called on the international community to continue to assist the Angolan Government in its efforts to address the serious humanitarian situation in the country.

The President issued a press statement after the meeting.

During the informal consultations held on 26 November, the Council heard another briefing by the Assistant Secretary-General. The Council members expressed deep concern over the intense relations between the Central African Republic and Chad, and agreed that the Council would hear briefings by senior officials of both countries. The President issued a press statement after the meeting. Members of the Council reaffirmed their support for the deployment of the Central African Economic and Monetary Community (CEMAC) force and the peace effort of CEMAC. They appealed to the Central African Republic and Chad to show mutual restraint and to refrain from any action or statement that could further destabilize the situation.

On 27 November the draft presidential statement on Liberia prepared by Mexico was distributed to members. On 29 November the President sent a letter on behalf of the Council to the Secretary-General, requesting the United Nations Peace-building Support Office in Liberia to enhance the implementation of some tasks, and the Secretary-General to report on the Council by 15 January 2003 on recommendations for a detailed, revised mandate for the Peace-building Support Office.
