Resolution 1497 (2003)
of 1 August 2003

The Security Council,

Deeply concerned over the conflict in Liberia and its effects on the humanitarian situation, including the tragic loss of countless innocent lives, in that country, and its destabilizing effect on the region,

Stressing the need to create a secure environment that enables respect for human rights, including the well-being and rehabilitation of children, protects the well-being of civilians and supports the mission of humanitarian workers,

Reminding the parties of their obligations under the Liberian ceasefire agreement signed at Accra on 17 June 2003,<sup>2</sup>

Recalling that, in paragraph 4 of its resolution 1343 (2001) of 7 March 2001, the Council demanded that all States take action to prevent armed individuals and groups from using their territory to prepare and commit attacks on neighbouring countries and refrain from any action that might contribute to further destabilization on the borders between Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone,

Commending also President Olusegun Obasanjo of the Federal Republic of Nigeria for his efforts to bring peace to Liberia,

Recalling the Secretary-General's request of 28 June 2003 to the Security Council to authorize the deployment of a multinational force to Liberia,<sup>3</sup>

Determining that the situation in Liberia constitutes a threat to international peace and security, to stability in the West African subregion and to the peace process for Liberia,

Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter,

1. Authorizes Member States to establish a Multinational Force in Liberia to support the implementation of the ceasefire agreement of 17 June 2003,<sup>2</sup> including establishing conditions for initial stages of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration activities, to help to establish and maintain security in the period after the departure of the current President and the installation of a successor authority, taking into account the agreements to be reached by the Liberian parties, to secure the environment for the delivery of humanitarian assistance and to prepare for the introduction of a longer-term United Nations stabilization force to relieve the Multinational Force;

2. Declares its readiness to establish such a follow-on United Nations stabilization force to support the transitional government and to assist in the implementation of a comprehensive peace agreement for Liberia, and requests the Secretary-General to submit to the Council recommendations on the size, structure and mandate of this force, preferably by 15 August 2003, and its subsequent deployment no later than 1 October 2003;

3. Authorizes the United Nations Mission in Sierra Leone to extend the necessary logistical support, for a limited period of up to thirty days, to the forward elements of the Economic Community of West African States in the Multinational Force, without prejudicing the operational capability of the Mission with respect to its mandate in Sierra Leone;

4. Requests the Secretary-General, pending a decision by the Security Council on the establishment of a United Nations peacekeeping operation in Liberia, to take the necessary steps, including the necessary logistical support to the elements of the Economic Community of West African States in the Multinational Force, and pre-positioning critical logistical and personnel requirements to facilitate the rapid deployment of the envisaged operation;

5. Authorizes the Member States participating in the Multinational Force to take all necessary measures to fulfil its mandate;

6. Calls upon Member States to contribute personnel, equipment and other resources to the Multinational Force, and stresses that the expenses of the Multinational Force will be borne by the participating Member States and other voluntary contributions;

7. Decides that current or former officials or personnel from a contributing State which is not a party to the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court<sup>4</sup> shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of that contributing State for all alleged acts or omissions arising out of or related to the Multinational Force or the United Nations stabilization force in Liberia, unless such exclusive jurisdiction has been expressly waived by that contributing State;

8. Decides also that the measures imposed by paragraphs 5 (a) and (b) of resolution 1343 (2001) shall not apply to supplies of arms and related materiel and technical training and assistance intended solely for the support of and use by the Multinational Force;

12. Stresses the urgent need for all Liberian parties who are signatories to the ceasefire agreement of 17 June 2003, in particular the leadership of Liberians United for Reconciliation and Democracy and the Movement for Democracy in Liberia, immediately and scrupulously to uphold the ceasefire agreement, to cease using violent means and to agree as soon as possible to an all-inclusive political framework for a transitional government until such time when free and fair elections can be held, and notes that critical to this endeavour is the fulfilment of the commitment to depart from Liberia made by President Charles Taylor;

13. Urges Liberians United for Reconciliation and Democracy and the Movement for Democracy in Liberia to refrain from any attempt to seize power by force, bearing in mind the position of the African Union on unconstitutional changes of government as stated in the 1999 Algiers Decision<sup>5</sup> and the 2000 Lomé Decision;<sup>6</sup>

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 29 September 2003 concerning your intention to appoint Lieutenant General Daniel Ishmael Opande, of Kenya, as Force Commander of the United Nations Mission in Liberia as of 1 October 2003<sup>13</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.”

At its 4890th meeting, on 22 December 2003, the Council considered the item entitled:

“The situation in Liberia

“Letter dated 28 October 2003 from the Chairman of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1343 (2001) concerning Liberia addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2003/937 and Add.1)”.

Resolution 1521 (2003)
of 22 December 2003

The Security Council,

Recalling its resolutions and the statements by its President on the situation in Liberia and West Africa,

Taking note of the reports of the Panel of Experts on Liberia of 30 July<sup>14</sup> and 2 October 2003<sup>15</sup> submitted pursuant to resolution 1478 (2003) of 6 May 2003,

Welcoming the Comprehensive Peace Agreement signed by the former Government of Liberia, Liberians United for Reconciliation and Democracy and the Movement for Democracy in Liberia at Accra on 18 August 2003,<sup>8</sup> and the fact that the National Transitional Government of Liberia under Chairman Gyude Bryant took office on 14 October 2003,

At the 4857th meeting also, following the adoption of resolution 1514 (2003), the President of the Security Council made the following statement on behalf of the Council.<sup>29</sup>

“The Security Council urges all Ivorian political forces to implement fully, without delay or precondition, all the provisions of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement<sup>28</sup> as well as those of the agreement reached in Accra on 8 March 2003 (“Accra II”), with a view to open, free and transparent elections being held in Côte d’Ivoire in 2005.

“The Council notes with satisfaction the progress made since the statement by its President of 25 July 2003,<sup>24</sup> in particular the appointment of Ministers of the Interior and of Defence, the adoption of the amnesty bill by the National Assembly, the reopening of the border with Mali and Burkina Faso and the decisions taken by the Council of Ministers on 16 October 2003 to restore public order and reform the statute of Ivorian radio and television.

It also calls upon them to ensure that organs of the press and groups which sponsor them refrain from encouraging any remark that might incite hatred or violence.

“The Council reiterates its full support for the efforts of the Economic Community of West African States, France and the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Côte d’Ivoire with a view to stabilizing the country and seeking a peaceful settlement of the conflict. In this context, it once again underscores the importance of having the Forces nouvelles return and participate fully in the Government of National Reconciliation and the full Government meeting immediately and taking steps to implement all the provisions of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement. It also reaffirms the urgent need to conduct operations to canton the forces on the ground in order to begin disarmament and demobilization, accompanied by measures to facilitate their reintegration into the regular army or into civilian life.

On 31 March 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>38</sup>

"I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 25 March 2004 concerning your intention to appoint Major General Abdoulaye Fall, of Senegal, to the post of Force Commander of the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire<sup>39</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter."

At its 4959th meeting, on 30 April 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Côte d'Ivoire to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled "The situation in Côte d'Ivoire".

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>40</sup>

"The Security Council expresses its grave concern at the events which occurred in Côte d'Ivoire at the end of March 2004 and at the current impasse in the peace process defined in the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.<sup>28</sup>

"The Council underscores the importance of investigating all alleged violations of human rights committed in Côte d'Ivoire so that those responsible do not remain unpunished.

“The Council reaffirms its strong commitment to the territorial integrity and unity of Côte d’Ivoire.

“The Council recalls that it endorsed the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement, which remains the only possible solution to the crisis in Côte d’Ivoire.

“The Council further recalls that all Ivorian political forces have committed themselves to implement fully and with no conditions the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement. The Council decided, on the basis of this commitment, to deploy the United Nations Operation in Côte d’Ivoire to support the process of peaceful settlement of the crisis, which is to culminate in 2005 with the organization of free, fair and transparent elections.

“The Council emphasizes the individual responsibility of each of the Ivorian actors in the settlement of the crisis.

“The Council expresses its readiness to consider further steps to encourage full implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement and to promote the process of national reconciliation in Côte d’Ivoire, including actions that might be taken, if necessary, against individuals whose activities are an obstacle to the full implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.”

At its 4977th meeting, on 25 May 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Côte d’Ivoire to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled “The situation in Côte d’Ivoire”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>41</sup>

“The Security Council reiterates its grave concern at the events which occurred in Côte d’Ivoire at the end of March 2004 and at the current impasse in the peace process defined in the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.<sup>28</sup>

“The Council recalls that it endorsed the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement, which is the only solution to the crisis in Côte d’Ivoire.

“The Council reaffirms the individual responsibility of each of the Ivorian actors to ensure the full implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement. It reiterates its complete readiness to take any necessary further steps against individuals who block the full implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.

“The Council takes note with deep concern of the report of the commission of inquiry of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights on the events that occurred in Abidjan on 25 and 26 March 2004. It expresses its appreciation for the work of the Office of the High Commissioner.

“The Council strongly condemns the violations of human rights and international humanitarian law committed in Côte d’Ivoire, including those that occurred in Abidjan on 25 and 26 March 2004, and expresses its determination to ensure that those responsible for all these violations are identified and that the Government of Côte d’Ivoire brings them to justice. The Council expects President Laurent Gbagbo to comply fully with the commitment he has made in this regard, through the letter dated 20 May 2004 from the Permanent Representative of Côte d’Ivoire to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council.<sup>42</sup>

“The Council therefore requests the Secretary-General to establish as soon as possible the international commission of inquiry, as recommended by the commission of inquiry of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and requested by the Government of Côte d'Ivoire, in order to investigate all human rights violations committed in Côte d'Ivoire since 19 September 2002 and determine responsibility. The Council calls upon all the Ivorian parties to cooperate fully with this international commission of inquiry.

"The Council reiterates its demand for the Government of Côte d'Ivoire to bring to justice those responsible for these violations of human rights. In this regard, it expresses its complete readiness to encourage possible international assistance to the Ivorian judicial authorities to this end and requests the Secretary-General to submit recommendations on the various possible options for such assistance.

"The Council is deeply concerned by slogans and declarations of hate, in particular those directed against the personnel of the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire, and urges all the Ivorian actors to refrain from any action or statement, especially in the media, which put at risk the security of United Nations personnel and, more globally, the process of national reconciliation. The Council recalls the obligation of all Ivorian actors, in particular the Government of Côte d'Ivoire, to cooperate fully in the deployment and operations of the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire, which is there at the request of the Government, in particular by guaranteeing the safety, security and freedom of movement of all United Nations personnel.

"The Council requests the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire to establish without delay its broadcasting capacity, as mandated in its resolution 1528 (2004) of 27 February 2004.

"The Council recalls that it decided, on the basis of the commitment of all Ivorian political forces to implement fully and without conditions the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement, to deploy the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire to support the process of peaceful settlement of the crisis, which is to lead to the organization in 2005 of open, free and transparent elections.

"The Council underlines the fact that no concrete progress can be made in the implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement until the Government of National Reconciliation composed on 13 March 2003 and completed on 12 September 2003 meets again under the authority of the Prime Minister.

"The Council is therefore deeply concerned by the recent announcement by President Laurent Gbagbo that he would dismiss opposition ministers. The Council also reiterates its concerns at the continuing non-participation of the opposition parties in the Government of National Reconciliation. The Council considers that such decisions undermine the normal functioning of Ivorian institutions and the resumption of dialogue between Ivorian parties which is the basis of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.

"The Council underscores the importance of having all relevant Ivorian parties participate fully in the Government of National Reconciliation. In this regard, the Council calls upon all Ivorian parties to apply faithfully all the provisions of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement, including those regarding the composition and the functioning of the Government of National Reconciliation, and to resume immediately political dialogue with a view to ensuring the effective functioning of the Government of National Reconciliation.

"The Council reiterates its full support to Prime Minister Seydou Diarra, head of the Government of National Reconciliation, and encourages him to carry on his task until the completion of the peace process, as foreseen in the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.

"The Council recalls the importance it attaches to the early and full adoption of the constitutional and legislative reforms provided for in the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement.

“The Council takes note in this regard of the renewed commitment of President Laurent Gbagbo, in his message to the nation on 18 May 2004,<sup>43</sup> to apply fully the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement, and his request addressed to the Parliament to accelerate the achievement of the legislative reforms. It now expects these commitments to be fulfilled in order that concrete steps can be undertaken to restore confidence.

“The Council also reaffirms the urgency of disbanding militias and armed groups and proceeding with operations to regroup the opposing forces in order to permit the start of disarmament and demobilization, which must precede their reintegration into the regular army or civilian life.

“The Council firmly rejects the assertion that disarmament can be delayed until after the 2005 elections and calls upon all parties to move immediately to begin this process.

“The Council underlines the responsibilities of the Monitoring Committee as the guarantor of the implementation of the Linas-Marcoussis Agreement and expresses its appreciation for further efforts it may undertake in order to overcome the current impasse in the peace process as well as in supporting the United Nations Operation in Côte d’Ivoire in carrying out its mandate.

“The Council calls upon all parties to take immediate action to implement the steps above and emphasizes that these measures are essential to enable Côte d’Ivoire and Ivorians to return to the path to peace, stability and economic development.”

“The Council underlines the exceptionally important role of the Programme in providing humanitarian assistance to the people of Iraq under the regime of sanctions imposed by the Council on the previous Government of Iraq. Under this unique programme the value of humanitarian goods delivered to Iraq during the period from December 1996 to March 2003 amounted to about 30 billion United States dollars. Those deliveries made it possible to provide to the Iraqi people essential food and medicines, as well as to supply various equipment and materials for the key sectors of the Iraqi economy. Purchases under the Programme will in the next few months play a key role in the economic reconstruction of Iraq by providing vital goods in the amount of more than 6 billion United States dollars.

“The Council expresses its deep gratitude to the Secretary-General, to the Office of the Iraq Programme, to United Nations personnel who worked on the ground in Iraq and to all other United Nations agencies and structures involved, and applauds their commitment and professionalism. It also thanks the chairmen and members of the Security Council Committee established by resolution 661 (1990) for their dedicated efforts to implement the Programme since its inception, and in implementing resolution 1483 (2003).

Text of letters from the Prime Minister of the Interim Government of Iraq, Dr. Ayad Allawi, and the Secretary of State of the United States of America, Mr. Colin L. Powell, addressed to the President of the Security Council

*Letter dated 5 June 2004 from the Prime Minister of the Interim Government of Iraq,
Dr. Ayad Allawi*

On my appointment as Prime Minister of the Interim Government of Iraq, I am writing to express the commitment of the people of Iraq to complete the political transition process to establish a free and democratic Iraq and to be a partner in preventing and combating terrorism. As we enter a critical new stage, regain full sovereignty and move towards elections, we will need the assistance of the international community.

The Interim Government of Iraq will make every effort to ensure that these elections are fully democratic, free and fair. Security and stability continue to be essential to our political transition. There continue, however, to be forces in Iraq, including foreign elements, that are opposed to our transition to peace, democracy and security. The Government is determined to overcome these forces and to develop security forces capable of providing adequate security for the Iraqi people. Until we are able to provide security for ourselves, including the defence of Iraq's land, sea and air space, we ask for the support of the Security Council and the international community in this endeavour. We seek a new resolution on the Multinational Force mandate to contribute to maintaining security in Iraq, including through the tasks and arrangements set out in the letter from Secretary of State Colin Powell to the President of the Security Council. The Government requests that the Security Council review the mandate of the MNF at the request of the Transitional Government of Iraq, or twelve months from the date on which such a resolution is adopted.

In order to discharge the Iraqi Government's responsibility for security, I intend to establish appropriate security structures that will allow my Government and Iraqi security forces to progressively take on that responsibility. One such structure is the Ministerial Committee for National Security, consisting of myself as the Chair, the Deputy Prime Minister and the Ministers for Defence, the Interior, Foreign Affairs, Justice and Finance. The National Security Advisor and Director of the Iraqi National Intelligence Service will serve as permanent advisory members of the Committee. This forum will set the broad framework for Iraqi security policy. I intend to invite, as appropriate, the MNF commander, his deputy or the MNF commander's designated representative, and other appropriate individuals, to attend and participate as well, and will stand ready to discuss mechanisms of coordination and cooperation with the MNF. Iraqi armed forces will be responsible to the Chief of Staff and Minister for Defence. Other security forces (the Iraqi police, border guards and the Facilities Protection Service) will be responsible to the Minister of the Interior or other government ministers.

In addition, the relevant ministers and I will develop further mechanisms for coordination with the MNF. I intend to create with the MNF coordination bodies at the national, regional and local levels that will include Iraqi security forces' commanders and civilian leadership, to ensure that Iraqi security forces will coordinate with the MNF on all security policy and operations issues in order to achieve unity of command of military operations in which Iraqi forces are engaged with the MNF. In addition, the MNF and Iraqi government leaders will keep each other informed of their activities, consult regularly to ensure effective allocation and use of personnel, resources and facilities, will share intelligence and will refer issues up the respective chains of command where necessary. Iraqi security forces will take on progressively greater responsibility as Iraqi capabilities improve.

The structures I have described in this letter will serve as the forums for the MNF and the Iraqi government to reach agreement on the full range of fundamental security and policy issues, including policy on sensitive offensive operations, and will ensure full partnership between Iraqi forces and the MNF, through close coordination and consultation. Since these are sensitive issues for a number of sovereign governments, including Iraq and the United States of America, they need to be resolved within the framework of a mutual understanding on our strategic partnership. We will be working closely with the MNF leadership in the coming weeks to ensure that we have such an agreed strategic framework.

We are ready to take sovereign responsibility for governing Iraq by 30 June. We are well aware of the difficulties facing us, and of our responsibilities to the Iraqi people. The stakes are great, and we need the support of the international community to succeed. We ask the Security Council to help us by acting now to adopt a Security Council resolution giving us the necessary support.

I understand that the co-sponsors intend to annex this letter to the resolution on Iraq under consideration. In the meantime, I request that you provide copies of this letter to members of the Council as quickly as possible.

*Letter dated 5 June 2004 from the Secretary of State of the United States of America,
Mr. Colin L. Powell*

Recognizing the request of the government of Iraq for the continued presence of the Multinational Force in Iraq, and following consultations with Prime Minister Ayad Allawi of the Iraqi Interim Government, I am writing to confirm that the MNF under unified command is prepared to continue to contribute to the maintenance of security in Iraq, including by preventing and deterring terrorism and protecting the territory of Iraq. The goal of the MNF will be to help the Iraqi people to complete the political transition and will permit the United Nations and the international community to work to facilitate Iraq's reconstruction.

The ability of the Iraqi people to achieve their goals will be heavily influenced by the security situation in Iraq. As recent events have demonstrated, continuing attacks by insurgents, including former regime elements, foreign fighters and illegal militias challenge all those who are working for a better Iraq.

The development of an effective and cooperative security partnership between the MNF and the sovereign Government of Iraq is critical to the stability of Iraq. The commander of the MNF will work in partnership with the sovereign Government of Iraq in helping to provide security while recognizing and respecting its sovereignty. To that end, the MNF stands ready to participate in discussions of the Ministerial Committee for National Security on the broad framework of security policy, as referred to in the letter dated 5 June 2004 from Prime Minister Allawi of the Interim Government of Iraq. On the implementation of this policy, recognizing that Iraqi security forces are responsible to the appropriate Iraqi ministers, the MNF will coordinate with Iraqi security forces at all levels – national, regional and local – in order to achieve unity of command of military operations in which Iraqi forces are engaged with the MNF. In addition, the MNF and the Iraqi government leaders will keep each other informed of their activities, consult regularly to ensure effective allocation and use of personnel, resources and facilities, will share intelligence and will refer issues up the respective chains of command where necessary. We will work in the forums described by Prime Minister Allawi in his letter dated 5 June 2004 to reach agreement on the full range of fundamental security and policy issues, including policy on sensitive offensive operations, and will ensure full partnership between MNF and Iraqi forces, through close coordination and consultation.

Under the agreed arrangement, the MNF stands ready to continue to undertake a broad range of tasks to contribute to the maintenance of security and to ensure force protection. These include activities necessary to counter ongoing security threats posed by forces seeking to influence Iraq's political future through violence. This will include combat operations against members of these groups, internment where this is necessary for imperative reasons of security, and the continued search for and securing of weapons that threaten Iraq's security. A further objective will be to train and equip Iraqi security forces that will increasingly take responsibility for maintaining Iraq's security. The MNF also stands ready as needed to participate in the provision of humanitarian assistance, civil affairs support, and relief and reconstruction assistance requested by the Iraqi Interim Government and in line with previous Security Council resolutions.

In addition, the MNF is prepared to establish or support a force within the MNF to provide for the security of personnel and facilities of the United Nations. We have consulted closely with United Nations officials regarding the United Nations' security requirements and believe that a brigade-size force will be needed to support the United Nations' security effort. This force will be under the command and control of the MNF commander, and its missions will include static and perimeter security at United Nations facilities and convoy escort duties for the United Nations mission's travel requirements.

In order to continue to contribute to security, the MNF must continue to function under a framework that affords the force and its personnel the status that they need to accomplish their mission, and in which the contributing States have responsibility for exercising jurisdiction over their personnel and which will ensure arrangements for, and use of assets by, the MNF. The existing framework governing these matters is sufficient for these purposes. In addition, the forces that make up the MNF are and will remain committed at all times to act consistently with their obligations under the law of armed conflict, including the Geneva Conventions.

The MNF is prepared to continue to pursue its current efforts to assist in providing a secure environment in which the broader international community is able to fulfil its important role in facilitating Iraq's reconstruction. In meeting these responsibilities in the period ahead, we will act in full recognition of and respect for Iraqi sovereignty. We look to other Member States and international and regional organizations to assist the people of Iraq and the sovereign Iraqi government in overcoming the challenges that lie ahead to build a democratic, secure and prosperous country.

The co-sponsors intend to annex this letter to the resolution on Iraq under consideration. In the meantime, I request that you provide copies of this letter to members of the Council as quickly as possible.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>95</sup>

“The Security Council welcomes the launching of a review mechanism, under the auspices of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, as presented on 5 November 2003 in Pristina and Belgrade, on the initiative of the Contact Group (France, Germany, Italy, the Russian Federation, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the United States of America, with representatives from the European Union), giving new momentum to the implementation of the ‘standards before status’ policy that was designed for Kosovo, Serbia and Montenegro, and endorsed by the Council in application of its resolution 1244 (1999) of 10 June 1999.

“The Council recalls the eight standards, namely, functioning democratic institutions, rule of law, freedom of movement, returns and reintegration, economy, property rights, dialogue with Belgrade, and the Kosovo Protection Corps. The Council in this respect urges the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government to participate fully and constructively in the working groups within the framework of the direct dialogue with Belgrade on practical issues of mutual interest to demonstrate their commitment to the process.

The plan should serve as a basis for the assessment of the progress of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government in meeting the standards.

“The Council takes note of the fact that the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, within his authority as set out in resolution 1244 (1999), inter alia, in the context of the review mechanism, will continue to consult closely with interested parties, in particular the Contact Group. The Council takes note of the fact that the Contact Group intends to make a substantive contribution to the regular reviews and to submit its assessments to the Special Representative.

“The Council supports the prospect of a comprehensive review of the progress of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government in meeting the standards. The Council notes that, depending on progress made as assessed during the periodical review, a first opportunity for such a comprehensive review should occur around mid-2005. Reaffirming the ‘standards before status’ policy, the Council stresses that further advancement towards a process to determine the future status of Kosovo in accordance with resolution 1244 (1999) will depend on the positive outcome of this comprehensive review. The Council reiterates the primacy of the regulations promulgated by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and subsidiary instruments as the law applicable in Kosovo.

“The Council reaffirms its full support to the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, Mr. Harri Holkeri, and calls upon the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government of Kosovo and all concerned to cooperate fully with him.”

“Letter dated 17 March 2004 from the Chargé d’affaires a.i. of the Permanent Mission of Serbia and Montenegro to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/220)”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>97</sup>

“The Security Council strongly condemns the large-scale inter-ethnic violence in Kosovo, Serbia and Montenegro, that began yesterday and in which many people have been killed and hundreds injured. It also strongly condemns the attacks on the troops of the Kosovo Force and the personnel and sites of the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo. Such violence is unacceptable and must stop immediately. Those responsible must be brought to justice. The perpetrators must understand that an attack on the international presence is an attack on the international community as a whole and that extremism has no role in Kosovo’s future.

“The Council calls upon all communities in Kosovo, taking into account their respective responsibilities, to stop all acts of violence, to avoid further escalation and to restore calm. The Council urges the parties to refrain from irresponsible and inflammatory statements and accusations. The Council reiterates that the population in Kosovo must employ peaceful, democratic means and work through the recognized and legitimate channels, including the United Nations and the structures of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government, to address their grievances. It stresses that legal investigations by the authorities in Kosovo, in particular into the incidents involving the shooting of a Kosovo Serb teenager in Pristina and the deaths of three Kosovo Albanian children in Mitrovica, are under way, and calls for thorough investigations of all other incidents.

“The Council deplores the reported deaths and injuries among the population of Kosovo as well as casualties among the Kosovo Police Service, the international civilian police of the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo and the troops of the Kosovo Force. The Council extends its condolences to the families of all the victims.

“The Council reiterates the urgent need for the authorities in Kosovo to take effective steps to enforce the rule of law, ensure proper security for all ethnic communities and bring to justice all the perpetrators of criminal acts. The establishment of a multi-ethnic, tolerant, democratic society in a stable Kosovo remains the fundamental objective of the international community in implementing Council resolution 1244 (1999) of 10 June 1999. The Council will closely monitor the implementation by the parties of their obligations according to the ‘standards for Kosovo’ document.<sup>96</sup>

“The Council expresses its full support for the efforts of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo and the Kosovo Force, and welcomes the fact that the international security presence is continuing to undertake additional measures, as deemed necessary, to stabilize the situation throughout Kosovo. It calls upon the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government, the authorities in Belgrade and all concerned to cooperate fully. The Council takes note of the joint statement of the Special Representative, the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government, political leaders and others of 17 March 2004.”<sup>98</sup>

At its 4942nd meeting, on 13 April 2004, the Council decided to invite the representatives of Albania, Ireland, Japan and Serbia and Montenegro to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled “Security Council resolutions 1160 (1998), 1199 (1998), 1203 (1998), 1239 (1999) and 1244 (1999)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Jean-Marie Guéhenno, Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>99</sup>

“The Security Council notes that the presentation of the Kosovo Standards Implementation Plan<sup>100</sup> on 31 March 2004 at Pristina in Kosovo, Serbia and Montenegro, is a step forward in the standards process. The Council reiterates that the Implementation Plan should serve as a basis for the assessment of the progress of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government in meeting the standards. The Council in this respect urges strongly the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government to demonstrate their full and unconditional commitment to a multi-ethnic Kosovo, in particular with respect to the promotion and protection of the rights of members of the minority communities as well as of human rights, equal security, freedom of movement and sustainable returns for all inhabitants of Kosovo. The Council reiterates further that the progress by the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government in meeting the standards, which should be reflected throughout Kosovo, will be assessed periodically and that the advancement towards a process to determine the future status of Kosovo in accordance with resolution 1244 (1999) of 10 June 1999 will depend on the positive outcome of a comprehensive review.

“The Council reaffirms its full support for the ‘standards before status’ policy that was devised for Kosovo and endorsed by the Council in application of its resolution 1244 (1999). It recalls in this context the ‘standards for Kosovo’ document presented on 10 December 2003<sup>96</sup> and subsequently supported by the Council in the statement by its President of 12 December 2003,<sup>95</sup> which outlined the standards that are to be achieved in order to reach the goal of establishing in Kosovo a multi-ethnic, stable and democratic society.

“The Council stresses that it is essential, as indicated in the Implementation Plan, to review and revise in a timely manner two key sections of the document, namely ‘sustainable returns and the rights of communities and their members’ and ‘freedom of movement’. The Council calls upon the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government to take urgent steps on these two standards in order to rebuild and reach out to the Serb and other communities who suffered most in the large-scale inter-ethnic violence of 17 to 20 March 2004 that resulted in many dead and wounded and the destruction of personal property and Serbian Orthodox churches and monasteries in Kosovo.

“The Council, strongly condemning those events, emphasizes that no party can be allowed to profit or to advance a political agenda through violent measures. It calls upon the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government and all political leaders to take responsibility in the current situation and to ensure that such acts and threats of violence are not repeated. The Council underscores that immediate actions should be taken aimed at the establishment of and public respect for the rule of law, including prosecution of perpetrators, effective collection of illegal weapons and combating organized crime. The Council urges the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government to take concrete steps to fulfil their commitment to rebuild multi-ethnicity and reconciliation throughout Kosovo, as promised in the open letter of institutional and political leaders of 2 April 2004. The Council asserts further that, in addition, there must be rapid steps taken by the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government to fulfil their commitment to rebuild or provide appropriate compensation for damaged or destroyed property and to rebuild holy sites and to facilitate the return of those displaced from their homes.

“When assessing the progress made by the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government, the Council would pay particular attention to the adoption and the implementation of laws and regulations, policies and attitudes of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government, among others, in the following areas: the fight against discrimination, corruption and economic crime, the propagation of hate by the media, as well as the support for multi-ethnicity and reconciliation, genuine devolution, orderly and sustainable returns, effective functioning of the Assembly and of the political parties, disciplinary procedures for the civil service, building-up of a professional, politically neutral and multi-ethnic administration, at the central and local levels, with a view to providing public services to every community on an equal footing, an efficient strategy for the return of refugees and internally displaced persons in safe conditions, a constructive engagement with the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo, and full participation in the direct dialogue with Belgrade.

“The Council underlines the importance that the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, within his authority as set out in resolution 1244 (1999), inter alia, in the context of the review mechanism, continue to consult closely with interested parties, in particular the Contact Group. The Council reaffirms its intention to continue to consider the regular reports of the Secretary-General, including an assessment by the Special Representative, as to the progress of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government towards meeting the standards. The Council takes note of the fact that the Contact Group intends to make a substantive contribution to the regular reviews and to submit its assessments to the Special Representative.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General, in his next report to the Council, to include a comprehensive assessment of the violence of 17 to 20 March 2004.

“The Council also requests the Secretary-General to present recommendations on possible new institutional arrangements respectful of the objective of building a democratic and multi-ethnic Kosovo to allow more effective local government through the devolution of central non-reserved responsibilities to local authorities and communities in Kosovo, taking into account relevant studies and recommendations of interested parties and international organizations. How that local government is organized is a matter for further discussion between interested parties in Kosovo.

“The Council welcomes the strong measures by the international presence in Kosovo aimed at enhancing the security and protection of all communities, as well as their religious, historical and cultural sites, with the goal of ensuring lasting stability in Kosovo. It calls in this respect for the full cooperation of the Provisional Institutions of Self-Government and all concerned.

“The Council will continue to follow the matter closely.”

At its 4967th meeting, on 11 May 2004, the Council decided to invite the representatives of Albania, Iceland, Ireland, Japan, Serbia and Montenegro and Ukraine to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“Security Council resolutions 1160 (1998), 1199 (1998), 1203 (1998), 1239 (1999) and 1244 (1999)

“Report of the Secretary-General on the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (S/2004/348)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Harri Holkeri, Special Representative of the Secretary-General and Head of the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo.

On 18 June 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>101</sup>

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 15 June 2004 concerning your intention to appoint Søren Jessen-Petersen, of Denmark, as your Special Representative and Head of the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo<sup>102</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.”

At its 4997th meeting, on 25 June 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Bosnia and Herzegovina to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

responsibility to cooperate fully with, and to instruct their respective responsible officials and authorities to provide their full support to, the International Police Task Force during its mandate on all relevant matters. The Council affirms that such responsibility included giving full and immediate effect to the decisions issued by the Task Force, including decisions to deny certification. The Council also affirms that Bosnia and Herzegovina has the obligation to respect fully and to promote the fulfilment of its responsibilities under the Peace Agreement.

“The Council reaffirms the legal basis in the Charter of the United Nations on which the International Police Task Force was given its mandate. The Council recalls that during its mandate the Task Force was entrusted with the tasks set out in annex 11 of the Peace Agreement, including the tasks referred to in the conclusions of the London,<sup>107</sup> Bonn,<sup>108</sup> Luxembourg,<sup>109</sup> Madrid<sup>110</sup> and Brussels<sup>111</sup> Conferences and agreed by the authorities in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Council notes that this failure has already led to several challenges before the courts in Bosnia and Herzegovina brought by persons whose employment in Bosnia and Herzegovina’s law enforcement agencies was terminated pursuant to a denial of certification by the International Police Task Force.

“The Council further notes that in some cases such persons have been reinstated following decisions of some local courts. The Council calls upon the authorities in Bosnia and Herzegovina to ensure, including through the adoption or amendment of domestic legislation, that all certification decisions of the International Police Task Force are fully and effectively implemented and that the employment of persons who were denied certification by the Task Force is terminated, and that such persons will be precluded from employment, either now or in the future, in any position within any law enforcement agency in Bosnia and Herzegovina.”

“The Council takes note of the latest report of the Secretary-General on the situation in Burundi; it welcomes the work carried out, in often difficult conditions, by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and the staff of the United Nations Office in Burundi, and approves the recommendations contained in paragraphs 63 to 65 of the report regarding the renewal of the mandate of the Office.”

On 26 January 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General.<sup>213</sup>

“On 23 August 2002, you transmitted to the President of the Security Council a letter addressed to you by the then President of the Republic of Burundi, Pierre Buyoya, requesting the establishment by the Council of an international judicial commission of inquiry as provided for in the Arusha Peace and Reconciliation Agreement for Burundi.

“In conformity with the recommendations of their last mission to Central Africa,<sup>214</sup> members of the Council have examined that request. They have agreed to request you to dispatch to Burundi an assessment mission by the Secretariat. The objective of the mission will be to consider the advisability and feasibility of establishing such a commission. The terms of reference of the mission, which were approved by the Council during its consultations held on 23 January 2004, are contained in the annex to the present letter.

“Annex

“International judicial commission of inquiry for Burundi

“Terms of reference of an assessment mission to Burundi by the Secretariat

“1. The objective of the mission will be to consider the advisability and feasibility of establishing an international judicial commission of inquiry for Burundi, as requested by the President of the Republic of Burundi, Pierre Buyoya, in his letter dated 24 July 2002 addressed to the Secretary-General, who transmitted it to the members of the Security Council on 23 August 2002.

“2. Upon completion of its work and bearing in mind the needs of the Burundian judicial system, the mission should specify in its report the modalities and options for the establishment of an international commission of inquiry, should the Council so decide. The assessment team should refer to the Arusha Peace and Reconciliation Agreement for Burundi of 28 August 2000 with regard to the creation of such a commission, and consider approaches that will best support the creation in Burundi of a just and lasting peace based on democratic principles, fostering truth and reconciliation while achieving justice.

“3. To this end, the mission may:

“(a) With regard to capacities in Burundi:

- In the context of efforts to combat impunity, assess the progress made towards implementation of the judicial reforms provided for in the Arusha Agreement of 28 August 2000 and the capacity of the Burundian judicial system to bring criminals to trial in an impartial and effective manner, particularly its powers of investigation;

- Recommend structures within the framework of an international commission that would leave lasting positive benefits to the capacity of the Burundian judicial system in support of reforms provided for in the Arusha Agreement;
- Assess the progress made towards the establishment of a national truth and reconciliation commission (its composition, mandate, impact on Burundian society) and the implications of the law passed on 16 April 2003 by the National Assembly but awaiting Senate approval and presidential signature, which provides for provisional immunity for political leaders returning from exile;

“(b) With regard to the added value of an international commission of inquiry:

- Seek the advice of the governmental and judicial authorities of Burundi and other relevant bodies (Implementation Monitoring Committee of the Arusha Agreement, field office of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, Facilitator of the peace process, non-governmental organizations) on the usefulness of the existing reports of inquiries cited in the letter from President Buyoya to the Secretary-General – the 1985 Whitaker report, the 1994 report of non-governmental organizations, the 1994–1995 report of Ambassadors Siméon Aké and Martin Huslid,<sup>215</sup> the 1996 report of the International Commission of Inquiry<sup>216</sup> – and on their impact on the Burundian peace process;
- Determine the possible division of competencies between the national truth and reconciliation commission and the international commission of inquiry, particularly with regard to their terms of reference, the nature of their powers, the term of their mandates, complementary investigatory responsibilities, the status of the individuals to be investigated and the question of amnesty;

“(c) With regard to the modalities proposed by the President of Burundi in the event of the establishment of an international commission of inquiry:

- Together with the Burundian authorities, examine the possibility of limiting more effectively the commission’s temporal competence to specific events;
- Assess the capacity of the Government of Burundi to guarantee the security of the members of the commission and to facilitate their investigations (including access to witnesses);
- Based on previous experience, evaluate the logistical, human and financial resources that the establishment of such a commission would require from the United Nations;
- Clearly state what the expectations of the Burundian authorities are regarding the legal implications of the conclusions of the report of the commission (including trial by national courts or any international jurisdiction).

“4. The mission would work in collaboration with the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and, where necessary, would have available to it the resources of the United Nations Office in Burundi and, as appropriate, of the African Mission in Burundi of

In addition to the governmental and judicial authorities of Burundi, it may consult with representatives of the legal profession, the Facilitator of the Burundian peace process, the staff of the field office of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights in Burundi, the Special Rapporteur of the Commission on Human Rights on the situation of human rights in Burundi, and non-governmental organizations.

“5. The mission shall enjoy the full cooperation of the Government of Burundi. It shall be provided with the necessary facilities to enable it to discharge its mandate and shall, in particular, be guaranteed:

“(a) Freedom of movement throughout the territory of Burundi; free access to all places that have a bearing on the work of the mission, information and documentary material in possession of governmental and local authorities; and the freedom to meet and interview representatives of governmental and local authorities, political parties, rebel groups, community leaders, non-governmental organizations, private institutions and the media, and any such persons whose testimony is considered necessary for the fulfilment of its mandate;

“(b) Appropriate security arrangements for the personnel of the mission;

“(c) The necessary privileges and immunities under the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations of 13 February 1946.”<sup>217</sup>

On 1 April 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General.<sup>218</sup>

“Your letter of 26 March 2004,<sup>219</sup> in which you indicate your intention to begin immediately the planning and preparations, and consultations with potential troop-contributing countries, for a United Nations peacekeeping operation in Burundi, was brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. I have the honour to inform you that the members of the Council, without prejudice to the decision the Council may take on the establishment of such an operation, approve your proposal.”

At its 4975th meeting, on 21 May 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Burundi to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

Taking note in this regard of the talks which were started between the President of the Republic of Burundi, Mr. Domitien Ndayizeye, and this armed movement at the meeting held at Oisterwijk, the Netherlands, from 18 to 21 January 2004, as well as the congress held at Kigoma, United Republic of Tanzania, from 18 to 21 April 2004 by the Parti pour la libération du peuple hutu-Forces nationales de libération of Mr. Agathon Rwasa, and urging the latter to conclude an agreement with the Transitional Government without delay with a view to a complete cessation of hostilities and its participation in the transitional institutions,

Secretary-General of 4 June 2004 on developments in Guinea-Bissau and on activities of the United Nations Peace-building Support Office in that country.<sup>239</sup>

“In this regard, the Council expresses its satisfaction regarding progress made by national authorities towards restoring constitutional order, in accordance with the Transition Charter provisions and calendar, in particular the installation of a new National Popular Assembly and a new Government, thus completing the first phase of the transitional process due to end with the holding of presidential elections by March 2005, and generating the environment for growing international confidence and support.

“The Council acknowledges, with appreciation, the manner in which the country’s principal actors and the political forces managed to reach consensus on critical political challenges they faced during and after the elections, and encourages them to stay the course.

“The Council also encourages all parties, and the new Government established on 12 May 2004, to faithfully adhere to the provisions of the Transition Charter in order to achieve and consolidate national reconciliation and to ensure the full restoration of constitutional order. It further encourages the authorities to continue to strengthen the rule of law and respect for human rights and to resolve outstanding human rights issues.

“The Council commends the national authorities and the people of Guinea-Bissau for their continued commitment and dedication to democracy.

“The Council expresses, nonetheless, its concern with the fragility of the democratization process in Guinea-Bissau, due mainly to the country’s deep-rooted structural problems, including the weakness of State institutions and structures, as well as the persistent economic and social crisis.

“The Council further expresses its concern about the need to improve the situation of the military, in particular the payment of salary arrears, which continues to be seen as a potentially destabilizing factor. It welcomes the Government’s commitment to make all efforts aimed at addressing the issue of salary arrears and the reorganization of the national armed forces and invites the international community to fully support such efforts.

“The Council welcomes the improved dialogue between the Government of Guinea-Bissau and the Bretton Woods institutions, and urges the Government to continue to implement its commitments in the areas of fiscal responsibility and good governance. It highlights the importance that those efforts be matched by the resumption of adequate levels of international assistance.

“The Council acknowledges and also welcomes the assistance provided to Guinea-Bissau by bilateral and multilateral partners, in particular the United Nations Development Programme and the World Bank, and encourages their enhanced constructive involvement in the country.

“The Council underlines the importance it attaches to the organization of a round-table conference to take place in the last quarter of 2004, which it considers of utmost relevance to addressing some of the most urgent needs of Guinea-Bissau. In the interim, the Council reiterates its appeals to the international community to contribute financially to the Emergency Economic Management Fund for Guinea-Bissau, managed by the United Nations Development Programme.

“The Council recognizes and commends the work of the United Nations Peace-building Support Office in Guinea-Bissau and the entire United Nations country team for their outstanding support and contribution to the process of normalization of the political situation and stability in Guinea-Bissau.

“The Council reaffirms the importance of the regional dimension in the solution of the problems faced by Guinea-Bissau, and, in this regard, welcomes the role being played by the African Union, the West African Economic and Monetary Union, the Economic Community of West African States and the Community of Portuguese-speaking Countries in the peace-building process in Guinea-Bissau.

“The Council also commends the efforts by the Ad Hoc Working Group on Conflict Prevention and Resolution in Africa of the Council, the Ad Hoc Advisory Group on Guinea-Bissau of the Economic and Social Council and the Group of Friends of Guinea-Bissau aimed at assisting the country to address both its short-term post-conflict crisis and longer-term development goals.

“The Council looks forward to conclusions and recommendations of its mission to West Africa, which includes Guinea-Bissau.”

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>253</sup>

“The Security Council welcomes the results of the Berlin Conference on Afghanistan, held on 31 March and 1 April 2004, co-chaired by the United Nations, Afghanistan, Germany and Japan. The Council thanks Afghanistan and Germany for jointly hosting this event, an important milestone on the way to a secure, stable, free, prosperous and democratic Afghanistan.

“The Council expresses its full support for the commitment of Afghanistan and the international community to successfully complete the implementation of the Agreement on Provisional Arrangements in Afghanistan Pending the Re-establishment of Permanent Government Institutions, signed in Bonn, Germany, on 5 December 2001 (the Bonn Agreement)<sup>244</sup> and to continue the transition process in Afghanistan through a lasting partnership, thus reflecting a model for a common endeavour of the international community in its fight against terrorism.

“The Council endorses the Berlin Declaration and stresses the relevance of the Work Plan of the Afghan Government, the Progress Report on the Implementation of the Bonn Agreement, and the Berlin Declaration on Counter-Narcotics, annexed to the Berlin Declaration, and welcomes the significant financial multiyear commitments made by the international donor community.

“The Council in particular expresses full support for the commitment by the Government of Afghanistan to pursue the necessary reform steps and actions as outlined in the Work Plan.

“The Council welcomes the announcement of President Karzai to hold direct presidential and parliamentary elections by September of this year. The Council stresses the importance of a secure environment for free, fair and credible democratic elections, and stresses that to this end further efforts of the Government of Afghanistan and of the international community are needed.

“The Council welcomes in this regard the decision taken by the President of Afghanistan to implement vigorously the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration programme, in particular to intensify it ahead of the 2004 elections, and to continue the formation of the Afghan National Army and the Afghan National Police.

“The Council also acknowledges the commitment by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to expand the mission of the International Security Assistance Force by establishing five additional Provincial Reconstruction Teams by summer 2004 and further Provincial Reconstruction Teams thereafter, as well as the readiness of the Force and Operation Enduring Freedom to assist in securing the conduct of elections.

“The Council welcomes the commitments totalling US$ 8.2 billion for the fiscal years March 2004–March 2007 made by participants at the Berlin Conference for the reconstruction and development of Afghanistan and stresses the importance, with increasing absorption capacity, for a growing share of this assistance to be channelled through the Afghan budget as direct budget support or as contributions to the Afghanistan Reconstruction Trust Fund and to the Law and Order Trust Fund.

“The Council stresses that opium poppy cultivation, drug production and trafficking pose a serious threat to the rule of law and development in Afghanistan as well as to international security, and that therefore Afghanistan and the international community shall endeavour to reduce and eventually eliminate this threat, including through the development of economic alternatives. The Council reiterates the importance of increased cooperation among neighbouring States and countries along trafficking routes to strengthen anti-narcotic controls.

“The Council takes note of the appeal of President Karzai at the Berlin Conference for additional international support needed in countering narcotics. The Council refers in this context to the necessary implementation of the Afghan National Drug Control Strategy and the Counter-Narcotics Action Plans in the areas of law enforcement, judicial reform, alternative livelihoods, demand reduction and public awareness. The Council calls upon Member States to support the implementation of these Action Plans. Afghanistan needs both human and financial resources to tackle this problem.

“The Council welcomes, in particular, the Berlin Declaration on Counter-Narcotics within the framework of the Declaration on Good-neighbourly Relations, signed in Kabul on 22 December 2002<sup>245</sup> by Afghanistan and its neighbours, as well as the planned Conference on Regional Police Cooperation to be held in Doha on 18 and 19 May 2004.

“The Council invites the Secretary-General to include in his future reports to the Council and the General Assembly on the situation in Afghanistan, in addition to the information on implementation of the Bonn Agreement, chapters on progress achieved in the implementation of the Berlin Declaration, the Work Plan of the Afghan Government and in the promotion of regional and international cooperation with Afghanistan.

“The Council reaffirms its full support for the actions taken by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and the United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan and reiterates the central and impartial role of the United Nations in the international efforts to assist the Afghan people in consolidating peace in Afghanistan and rebuilding their country.

“The Council will remain seized of the matter.”

“The Security Council, taking note of the decision announced by the Joint Electoral Management Body established by the Afghan authorities, welcomes and supports the holding of the Presidential election in Afghanistan on 9 October 2004. This election is a key requirement under the Agreement on Provisional Arrangements in Afghanistan Pending the Re-establishment of Permanent Government Institutions, signed in Bonn, Germany, on 5 December 2001 (the Bonn Agreement)<sup>244</sup> and represents a new milestone in the process of constructing a democratic, stable and prosperous Afghanistan.

“The Council further takes note of the decision of the Body to hold parliamentary elections in April 2005. The Council understands that technical and logistical reasons made it impossible, as reported by the Secretariat, to hold simultaneous presidential and parliamentary elections by September of this year. The Council stresses the importance of using the remaining months to ensure that the necessary preparations are completed and the conditions met for free and fair elections according to the timetables of the Body.

“The Council calls upon the Afghan Government and the international community to maintain and intensify, ahead of the presidential and parliamentary elections, their efforts to

“The Security Council welcomes the agreement on security arrangements reached in Naivasha, Kenya, on 25 September 2003, between the Government of the Sudan and the Sudan People’s Liberation Movement/Army. The Council reiterates its welcome for the signing of the Machakos Protocol on 20 July 2002, which represents a viable basis for a resolution of the conflict in the Sudan. The Council looks forward to the successful conclusion of a comprehensive peace agreement, based on the Machakos Protocol. The Council further expresses its appreciation of the key role played by the Intergovernmental Authority on Development, under the leadership of the Kenyan President, the Kenyan Special Envoy, the envoys of the other Intergovernmental Authority member States and the International Observers in the Sudan peace talks.

“The Council also welcomes the continuation of the ceasefire and the establishment of the Verification and Monitoring Team, the Joint Military Commission and the Civilian Protection Monitoring Team and encourages Member States in a position to do so to contribute financial and logistical resources.

“The Council assures the parties of its readiness to support them in the implementation of the comprehensive peace agreement and requests the Secretary-General, in this connection, to initiate preparatory work, as soon as possible, in consultation with the parties, the Intergovernmental Authority facilitators and the International Observers, on how the United Nations could best fully support the implementation of a comprehensive peace agreement.”

B. Letter dated 25 May 2004 from the Permanent Representative of the Sudan to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council

Decisions

At its 4978th meeting, on 25 May 2004, the Security Council considered the item entitled “Letter dated 25 May 2004 from the Permanent Representative of the Sudan to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/425)”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>256</sup>

“The Security Council expresses its grave concern over the deteriorating humanitarian and human rights situation in the Darfur region of the Sudan. Noting that thousands have been killed and that hundreds of thousands of people are at risk of dying in the coming months, the Council emphasizes the need for immediate humanitarian access to the vulnerable population.

“The Council also expresses its deep concern at the continuing reports of large-scale violations of human rights and of international humanitarian law in Darfur, including indiscriminate attacks on civilians, sexual violence, forced displacement and acts of violence, especially those with an ethnic dimension, and demands that those responsible be held accountable. The Council strongly condemns these acts which jeopardize a peaceful solution of the crisis, stresses that all parties to the N’Djamena humanitarian ceasefire agreement have committed themselves to refraining from any act of violence or any other abuse against civilian populations, in particular women and children, and that the Government of the Sudan has also committed itself to neutralizing the armed Janjaweed militias, and urges all parties to take the necessary steps to put an end to violations of human rights and international humanitarian law. In this regard, the Council takes note of the recommendations of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights in his report of 7 May 2004.<sup>257</sup>

“The Council reiterates its call upon the parties to ensure the protection of civilians and to facilitate humanitarian access to the affected population. In that regard, the Council emphasizes the need for the Government of the Sudan to facilitate the voluntary and safe return of refugees and displaced persons to their homes, and to provide protection for them, and also calls upon all parties, including opposition groups, to support these objectives. The Council calls upon all parties, in accordance with the provisions of its resolution 1502 (2003) of 26 August 2003, to allow full unimpeded access by humanitarian personnel to all people in need of assistance, and to make available, as far as possible, all necessary facilities for their operations, and to promote the safety, security and freedom of movement of humanitarian personnel and their assets.

“The Council, while welcoming the ceasefire agreement signed on 8 April 2004 in N’Djamena emphasizes the urgent need for all parties to observe the ceasefire and to take immediate measures to end the violence, and calls upon the Government of the Sudan to respect its commitments to ensure that the Janjaweed militias are neutralized and disarmed. Stressing that a ceasefire commission with international representation is a central component of the 8 April agreement, the Council expresses its full and active support for the efforts of the African Union to establish the ceasefire commission and protection units, and calls upon the opposition groups and the Government of the Sudan to facilitate the immediate deployment of monitors in Darfur and to ensure their free movement throughout Darfur. The Council also calls upon Member States to provide generous support for the efforts of the African Union.

“The Council welcomes the announcement by the Government of the Sudan that it will issue visas to all humanitarian workers within 48 hours of application, eliminate the need for travel permits, and facilitate the entrance and clearance of equipment imported for humanitarian purposes. The Council acknowledges the appointment of a fact-finding commission by presidential decree. The Council, however, is seriously concerned about continued logistical impediments prohibiting a rapid response in the face of a stark and mounting crisis and calls upon the Government to fulfil its announced commitment to cooperate fully and expeditiously with humanitarian efforts to provide assistance to the imperiled populations of Darfur, noting with particular concern that the humanitarian challenge will be aggravated by the imminent onset of the rainy season.

“The Council calls upon the international community to respond rapidly and effectively to the consolidated appeal for Darfur.

“The Council observes with distress the prolonged absence of an accredited Resident Coordinator/Humanitarian Coordinator and affirms the need for the immediate appointment and appropriate accreditation of a permanent Resident Coordinator/Humanitarian Coordinator to ensure daily coordination in order to address impediments to humanitarian access brought to the attention of the United Nations by the international aid community.

“The Council encourages the parties to step up their efforts to reach a political settlement to their dispute in the interest of the unity and sovereignty of the Sudan.

“The Council requests that the Secretary-General keep it informed of the humanitarian and human rights crisis as it unfolds, and, as necessary, to make recommendations.”

WOMEN AND PEACE AND SECURITY<sup>286</sup>

Decisions

At its 4852nd meeting, on 29 October 2003, the Security Council decided to invite the representatives of Australia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Canada, Colombia, Croatia, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Egypt, Fiji, Iceland, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Liechtenstein, the Netherlands, Norway, the Philippines, the Republic of Korea, South Africa, Timor-Leste, Ukraine and the United Republic of Tanzania to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled “Women and peace and security”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Jean-Marie Guéhenno, Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, and Ms. Amy Smythe, Senior Gender Adviser of the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

On 31 October 2003, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General.<sup>287</sup>

“In my capacity as President of the Security Council, I have the honour to inform you that the Council held an open debate on 29 October 2003 on the implementation of Council resolution 1325 (2000) of 31 October 2000. Thirty-seven speakers expressed their views on the issue.

“I should be grateful if you would have the present letter and the summary of the views expressed (see annex I), along with answers to the questions posed during the meeting to the Department of Peacekeeping Operations (see annex II), circulated as a document of the Council.

“Annex I

“Summary by Ambassador Negroponte, United States representative to the United Nations, in his national capacity, of the open debate on 29 October 2003 on the implementation of Security Council resolution 1325 (2000)

“The Security Council held an open debate on Council resolution 1325 (2000), on women and peace and security, on 29 October 2003. The Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, Mr. Jean-Marie Guéhenno, briefed the Council on the efforts of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations to implement the resolution. Ms. Amy Smythe, Senior Gender Adviser for the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo provided the Council with an operational perspective of the implementation of the resolution and spoke about lessons learned and remaining challenges.

“At the request of Member States and the group of friends of resolution 1325 (2000), the United States of America has compiled the summary of key points below. While not comprehensive, this list represents our understanding of the main messages that came out of the discussion on 29 October.

“(a) Council members and non-members alike acknowledged that progress has been made towards implementation of resolution 1325 (2000). However, many speakers commented that much more needs to be done before it can be said that a gender perspective has been incorporated into all United Nations work and that the resolution has been fully implemented;

“(b) There was an understanding that progress must be made by the Council, Member States, parties to conflict and the Secretariat;

“(c) Speakers called for better follow-up and made a number of suggestions on how to achieve it, including the possibility of naming a Council member to be responsible for tracking implementation;

“(d) Speakers acknowledged the important role played by the Office of the Special Adviser on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women and by the United Nations Development Fund for Women;

“(e) Speakers acknowledged the valuable role that civil society actors and non-governmental organizations have played, and will continue to play, in advancing implementation;

“(f) The value of bringing a field perspective to Council discussions was stressed;

“(g) Council members acknowledged that the Council needs to do more to include references to gender, where appropriate, in its resolutions, mission mandates and trip reports, as well as to meet with women in the field when travelling on Council missions;

“(h) Speakers noted the need for more women to serve as peacekeepers, military observers and civilian police and understood their national responsibilities to identify and nominate women for these critical duties;

“(i) It was also emphasized that the Secretariat must do better at assigning women to senior positions, including as special representatives of the Secretary-General and deputy special representatives. A number of States highlighted the fact that there is only one woman currently serving as a special representative and noted that the level of participation by women is not acceptable. Speakers also recognized the responsibility of Member States to recommend qualified women as candidates for these senior posts;

“(j) Member States positively acknowledged that the Gender Adviser post in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations had been filled on an interim basis but stressed the importance of the post being filled on a permanent basis as quickly as possible;

“(k) Speakers also appreciated the importance of the role that full-time gender advisers in the field play in making real progress on gender mainstreaming. Several speakers also called for gender advisers to be assigned to all peacekeeping missions;

“(l) Speakers emphasized the importance of gender training for United Nations peacekeeping personnel. It was also noted that States that contribute civilian police, military observers and peacekeeping forces should provide pre-deployment briefings on gender awareness;

“(m) Several speakers noted the important role that regional organizations can play in helping to implement resolution 1325 (2000);

“(n) Speakers noted the need for more systematic documentation of the role that women have played in conflict resolution and peace-building efforts;

“(o) Member States acknowledged the important contributions that the report of the Secretary-General and the report of the independent panel of experts have provided to efforts to advance implementation and indicated that they were looking forward to the presentation of the 2004 report of the Secretary-General.

“Letter dated 31 October 2003 from the Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations addressed to the President of the Security Council

“During the open meeting on Security Council resolution 1325 (2000) on women and peace and security, you requested that the Department of Peacekeeping Operations prepare written answers to questions raised during the afternoon part of the meeting.

“To this end, please find attached the questions raised by Member States in the afternoon of 29 October regarding peacekeeping operations, with accompanying answers (see enclosure). The first three questions, raised by Australia, were addressed to the Secretariat as a whole; you may wish to request input directly from the other departments.

(Signed) Jean-Marie Guéhenno
Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations

“Enclosure

“Questions raised by Member States during the open meeting on Security Council resolution 1325 (2000) on 29 October 2003

“Questions raised by Australia and addressed to the Secretariat

“1. What are the main hurdles in achieving the implementation of resolution 1325 (2000) in current peacekeeping operations?

“Some of the main hurdles in achieving the implementation of resolution 1325 (2000) in current peacekeeping operations relate to the low number of women personnel in missions, lack of structures to mainstream gender and poor understanding among staff of how to integrate a gender dimension in their daily work.

“Women currently represent one third of all professional staff in peacekeeping missions, and the number of women decreases with increasing seniority. This is a problem that the Department of Peacekeeping Operations is addressing in-house. However, we recognize that we need to be more effective in the coming year in identifying suitable women candidates for senior positions and in recruiting Professional-level women in missions. It is hoped that Member States will continue their efforts to provide more women civilian police and military personnel to peacekeeping operations. Member States also need to include women and men with experience in gender-based crimes to help us address the high rates of violence against women that are common in post-conflict situations.

“Multidimensional missions with gender experts, such as in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Sierra Leone, Timor-Leste and Kosovo, have made significant progress in implementing resolution 1325 (2000). The hurdles that such missions are facing relate more to their work with outside partners and the challenge of helping such partners move beyond paper commitments to concrete implementation of the resolution. To strengthen systems to mainstream gender at the mission level, the Department will establish in the year to come a network of gender focal points.

“The Department is currently producing a number of guidelines on how to integrate a gender perspective in the different functional areas of its peacekeeping operations. This should help staff take account of gender issues in their day-to-day work. To this end, a gender resource package is in the final stages of being developed. It will cover a wide range of topics, from general information on gender concepts and practical checklists highlighting gender issues in peacekeeping to guidelines on establishing gender units in the field. In addition, in the coming year we will produce a field manual on gender issues for military commanders, as well as one on gender issues in mine action.

“2. Has the Secretariat put into place any institutional mechanisms to monitor progress made in implementation of resolution 1325 (2000)?

“The Department of Peacekeeping Operations is a member of the Inter-Agency Task Force on Women, Peace and Security, which is coordinating United Nations agency efforts on women, peace and security. In addition, the Department established an action plan to implement resolution 1325 (2000), which will be updated in the coming months.

“3. What efforts are being made to ensure that the recommendations in resolution 1325 (2000) are mainstreamed into the work programmes of all United Nations agencies that have a role in conflict and post-conflict situations?

“The post of Gender Adviser at the headquarters of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations headquarters has been filled in the interim, while the recruitment process goes ahead. In addition, new missions, such as those in Liberia and Côte d’Ivoire, have planned for gender expertise among their staff. The network of gender focal points to be established this year will assist the Department in monitoring its progress in implementing resolution 1325 (2000).

“Questions raised by Canada and addressed to Mr. Guéhenno

“4. What are Mr. Guéhenno’s views on the prospect of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations undertaking an initiative similar to that of the Department for Disarmament Affairs and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs to facilitate a stronger integration of gender considerations in the activities of the Department?

“The Department of Peacekeeping Operations established an action plan to implement resolution 1325 (2000), which will be updated in the coming months. The review of the action plan will be completed after the Department has taken stock of current gender mainstreaming activities at Headquarters and in the field.

“5. We would be interested in further information on efforts undertaken to ensure that gender perspectives are mainstreamed in all training modules and not confined to gender-specific training modules. We believe this would contribute to tackling this issue.

“At present, the Training and Evaluation Service of the Military Division of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations has produced a lengthy generic gender and peacekeeping training module that covers a range of topics, including gender awareness and gender and human rights. These gender modules are currently part of a standardized generic training package for military personnel and civilian police, to be used in pre-deployment training in Member States. Discussions are under way with the Training and Evaluation Service to ensure that the gender dimension is brought out in each of the other modules. This point will also be raised during upcoming planning meetings with the civilian training unit, which is designing a generic, standardized training package for civilian peacekeeping personnel.

“6. We would be interested in being informed on the follow-up action taken by the Secretariat to convene the meeting requested by the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations to discuss ways and means of meeting challenges in the areas of conduct and discipline and minimizing misconduct.

“Following a thorough review of existing policies and procedures on disciplinary issues for all categories of personnel, in July 2003, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations provided all missions with an updated set of disciplinary directives. These cover the issue of sexual abuse and exploitation, as well as other types of serious misconduct. In the coming months, the Department will review existing efforts to prevent and respond to sexual abuse and exploitation at the mission level and to identify good practice for replication elsewhere. Following this stock-taking exercise, the Department will inform

Member States of progress made and its strategy for addressing the problem of sexual abuse and exploitation at the earliest opportunity.

“Question raised by Canada and addressed to Ms. Smythe

“7. We would be interested in Ms. Smythe’s views on the challenges she has faced in ensuring that information finds its way from the field to the Council.

“When the Security Council visited Bunia in the Democratic Republic of the Congo this year, they heard first-hand accounts from women of how the conflict had affected their lives. Many of these accounts left a deep impression on the Council members. However, the final Council report on the visit made only passing reference to how the conflict had affected their lives.

“Request for further information from Indonesia

“8. We would like to have further information on plans to establish a database of gender specialists and women’s groups and networks in countries and regions in conflict.

“The Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Political Affairs have established an ‘eminent persons’ roster’ to facilitate the identification of senior personnel for peacekeeping missions. In addition, the Inter-Agency Task Force on Women, Peace and Security, with the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Office of the Special Adviser on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women taking lead roles, has been working on designing a database of gender experts. The roster of P-2 to P-5 gender experts would primarily be used by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations but would also be made available to other entities. The aim of the initiative is to improve the Department’s access to gender expertise for peacekeeping operations. A total of 2,480 applications have been received so far for the generic posts under social affairs/gender from the P-2 to P-5 grades; these are currently under review.”

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>291</sup>

“The Security Council recalls the statement by its President of 24 April 1997<sup>292</sup> and its other relevant statements and resolutions calling for the holding at an appropriate time of an international conference on peace, security, democracy and development in the Great Lakes region of Africa, with the participation of all Governments of the region of the Great Lakes and Central Africa and all others concerned, to be organized under the aegis of the United Nations and the African Union, with a view to achieving a sustainable peace, security and stability for all countries in the region, in particular through the full normalization of their relations and the establishment of confidence-building measures and mechanisms.

“The Council considers that the holding of the proposed conference will help to build on the progress made in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Burundi peace processes towards achieving lasting peace and promoting the national reconciliation processes in all countries concerned in the region.

“The Council welcomes the progress made towards the convening of the proposed conference, expresses its satisfaction at the fact that the countries of the region have launched the preparatory process for the conference with the holding of the first meeting of their national coordinators in Nairobi in June 2003, and considers it now crucial to follow up this initial step with intensified efforts. It takes note with appreciation of the briefing by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Great Lakes region, Mr. Ibrahima Fall, and welcomes the offer made by the Government of Tanzania to host a summit during the year 2004.

“The Council encourages the Governments concerned, with the support of their civil societies and their neighbours and development partners, to continue their efforts to bring about a successful conference, based on a regional, all-inclusive and action-oriented approach. It stresses the importance of the participation in this conference of all States concerned, in particular those neighbouring the Democratic Republic of the Congo or Burundi, and encourages the States in the region to reach early agreement on participation in the conference.

“The Council emphasizes the relevance to the proposed conference of the Solemn Declaration of the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa adopted by the Organization of African Unity Lomé Summit in July 2000, of the Maputo Decision adopted by the Executive Council of the African Union in July 2003 and of the Declaration of Principles on Good-neighbourly Relations and Cooperation adopted by the Governments of Burundi, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Rwanda, and Uganda in New York on 25 September 2003, as well as of the framework of the New Partnership for Africa's Development.

"The Council appeals to the countries of the region and to the international community to provide sustained political and diplomatic support as well as adequate technical and financial assistance so that the conference is well prepared and timely, and so that effective follow-up actions are taken. It commends the active partnership between the United Nations and the African Union in all aspects relating to the preparation of the proposed conference, and welcomes the appointment of Mr. Keli Walubita as Special Envoy of the Chairperson of the African Union Commission for the Great Lakes region.

"The Council calls on the countries of the region and the members of the international community to support the efforts of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Great Lakes region and the Special Envoy of the Chairperson of the African Union Commission for the Great Lakes region, expresses its gratitude to the Secretary-General for keeping it informed of developments in the region and requests him to continue to do so on a regular basis."

On 30 June 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>293</sup>

"Members of the Security Council have accorded full attention to your letter dated 12 March 2004,<sup>294</sup> in which you refer to progress achieved and expected in preparations for an international conference on the Great Lakes region.

"Council members are grateful to you for appointing a Special Representative to offer, together with the African Union, advice to the Governments concerned in order to help them organize the conference. They appreciate those efforts to promote the establishment of long-lasting relations of good-neighbourliness among States of the region. Since the United Republic of Tanzania currently plans to host the conference in November 2004, they are of the view that the summit should provide the opportunity for strengthening progress achieved by that date. They hope in particular that such a prospect will encourage the Governments concerned to put the finishing touches to the normalization of their relations and put in place confidence-building measures to guarantee the security of their borders.

"While noting that the conference is to be organized under the aegis of the United Nations and the African Union in an active partnership, Council members nevertheless attach considerable importance to the fact that the countries concerned have taken full ownership of it. Therefore, members of the Council have asked for more detailed information on the need for nine additional international civil servants referred to in your letter."

Decisions

At its 4858th meeting, on 13 November 2003, the Security Council considered the item entitled “The importance of mine action for peacekeeping operations”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Jean-Marie Guéhenno, Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, and Mr. Martin Dahinden, Director of the Geneva International Centre for Humanitarian Demining.

At its 4864th meeting, on 19 November 2003, the Council considered the item entitled “The importance of mine action for peacekeeping operations”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>298</sup>

“The Security Council expresses its grave concern at the harmful and widespread impact of landmines and unexploded ordnance on civilian populations, especially children, and on humanitarian workers and United Nations staff and, in this regard, stresses the vital importance of eliminating the threat of landmines.

“The Council recognizes the long-term consequences of landmines and unexploded ordnance for durable peace, security and development.

“The Council welcomes the effective coordination of mine action activities within the United Nations system and the important mandate of the United Nations Mine Action Service of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, in particular its role in ensuring the coordination of mine action throughout the United Nations system and the provision of support to multidimensional peacekeeping operations, as well as the role of the United Nations Development Programme in addressing the problem from a development perspective and providing technical, management and resource mobilization assistance to Governments of mine-affected States, and the role of the United Nations Children’s Fund as the lead agency for mine-risk education. The Council also recognizes the significant contribution to mine action made by States, international and regional organizations and local and international non-governmental organizations.

“The Council urges all Member States to respect relevant international law that addresses landmines and unexploded ordnance, and the rights of persons affected by them, stressing the importance of international technical assistance in helping mine-affected States to harmonize their domestic laws with international obligations.

“The Council urges all parties to armed conflicts to abide by their mine-related commitments, to cooperate to the fullest extent possible with mine-risk education and mine-clearing activities, and to ensure that abandoned stockpiles are adequately guarded or destroyed.

“The Council encourages Governments whose countries are affected by the presence of landmines and unexploded ordnance to include a mine action impact assessment in all development planning and to incorporate a strategic plan for mine action in national development plans and poverty reduction strategies.

“The Council recognizes that mine action can play an important role in peace-building and confidence-building in post-conflict situations, and encourages mine-affected States to strengthen cooperation with the United Nations, relevant non-governmental organizations and civil society, where appropriate.

“The Council calls upon the Secretary-General to provide information on the scope and humanitarian impact of the mine and unexploded ordnance problem in all relevant country-specific reports to the Council, and expresses its readiness to consider mine action concerns in all of its country-specific deliberations, as appropriate.

“The Council notes the importance of ensuring that the provision of technical advice and support for mine action is reflected in the mandates and personnel planning for peacekeeping operations, and expresses its intention to address mine action concerns in the mandates and personnel planning for peacekeeping operations, whenever appropriate.

“The Council recognizes the contribution that peacekeeping personnel can make in the areas of mine-risk education and demining, and calls upon troop-contributing countries, where appropriate, to train selected personnel to demine in accordance with the International Mine Action Standards.

“The Council recognizes the important role mine action can play in disarmament, demobilization and reintegration efforts by employing former soldiers in mine action programmes, and encourages the Secretary-General to consider including mine action in disarmament, demobilization and reintegration initiatives and to reflect such proposals in his reports to the Council, as appropriate.

“The Council urges Member States, as appropriate, to provide adequate and sustained financial assistance to support mine action and alleviate the suffering of populations affected by mines and unexploded ordnance, and, whenever possible, to increase their support through further contributions to the Voluntary Trust Fund for Assistance in Mine Action. The Council calls particular attention to the need to address the socio-economic, physical and psychosocial reintegration of landmine survivors, the need to facilitate the orderly return of refugees and internally displaced persons affected by mines and unexploded ordnance, the need to restore land to productive use, and the need to prioritize mine action efforts to enable the risk-free movement of people and goods.

“The Council considers that a comprehensive and coordinated approach by Member States, the United Nations and regional and local organizations is required to address the threat and the impact of mines and unexploded ordnance.

“To this end, the Council supports the general review made by the General Assembly on this matter since 1993, and invites the Secretary-General to address this subject, as needed, in his reports on the general activities of peacekeeping operations.”

At its 4882nd meeting, on 15 December 2003, the Council considered the item entitled “Protection of civilians in armed conflict”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>312</sup>

“The Security Council recalls its resolutions 1265 (1999) of 17 September 1999 and 1296 (2000) of 19 April 2000 on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, as well as the statements by its President of 12 February 1999<sup>313</sup> and 15 March<sup>314</sup> and 20 December 2002,<sup>315</sup> and reaffirms the need to keep the protection of civilians in armed conflict as an important item on the Council’s agenda.

“The Council also reaffirms its concern at the suffering inflicted upon and hardships borne by civilians during armed conflict and recognizes the consequent impact that this has on durable peace, reconciliation and development. The Council strongly condemns all attacks and acts of violence directed against civilians or other persons protected under international law, in particular international humanitarian law, in situations of armed conflict, including attacks and acts of violence against women, children, refugees, internally displaced persons and other vulnerable groups. The Council reaffirms the need for parties to armed conflict to take all possible measures to ensure the safety, security and freedom of movement of United Nations and associated personnel as well as personnel of international humanitarian organizations in accordance with applicable international law and recognizes that secure humanitarian access and the swift re-establishment of the rule of law, justice and reconciliation are essential components for an effective transition from conflict to peace. The Council reiterates its call to all parties to armed conflict to comply fully with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations and with the rules and principles of international law, in particular international humanitarian, human rights and refugee law, and to implement fully the relevant decisions of the Council. The Council recalls the obligations of States to respect and to ensure respect for international humanitarian law, including the four Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949,<sup>316</sup> and emphasizes the responsibility of States to end impunity and to prosecute those responsible for genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity and serious violations of humanitarian law. The Council also notes with interest the proposal presented by the Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs at the 9 December open meeting of the Council for a ‘10-point action plan’ on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, and looks forward to further discussions and consultations on this issue.

“Recalling that on 15 March 2002 the Council adopted the aide-memoire annexed to the statement by its President<sup>314</sup> as a means to facilitate its consideration of issues pertaining to protection of civilians, and recalling further that in the statement by its President of 20 December 2002<sup>315</sup> the Council expressed its willingness to update the aide-memoire annually in order to reflect emerging trends in the protection of civilians in armed conflict. The Council adopts the updated aide-memoire contained in the annex to the present statement by its President. The Council reiterates the importance of the aide-memoire as a practical tool that provides a basis for improved analysis and diagnosis of key protection issues during deliberations on peacekeeping mandates, and stresses the need to implement the approaches set out therein on a more regular and consistent basis, taking into account the particular circumstances of each conflict situation, and undertakes to remain actively seized of the matter.”

“Protection of civilians in armed conflict

“Aide-memoire for the consideration of issues pertaining to the protection of civilians during the Security Council’s deliberation of peacekeeping mandates

“Protection of civilians in armed conflict is at the core of the work of the Security Council for peace and security. On 15 March 2002, the Council adopted an aide-memoire<sup>314</sup> as a practical guide for its consideration of protection issues and agreed to review and update its contents periodically. The present document provides the first update of this important operational tool, adopted as an annex to the statement by the President of the Security Council of 15 December 2003.<sup>312</sup>

“In a letter dated 21 June 2001 from the President of the Security Council addressed to the Secretary-General,<sup>317</sup> the members of the Council welcomed the report of the Secretary-General of 30 March 2001 on the protection of civilians in armed conflict,<sup>318</sup> and were of the view that further advice of the Secretary-General would be useful in the Council’s consideration of the issues contained in the report.

“In order to facilitate due consideration, whenever appropriate, of issues pertaining to the protection of civilians in its deliberations on the establishment, change, or close of peacekeeping operations, the members of the Council suggested that an aide-memoire listing those issues that are relevant in this regard should be drafted in close cooperation with the Council.

“The present aide-memoire is the result of an interactive consultation between the Council and the Secretariat, and comprises the experiences of a wide range of agencies within the United Nations, including the Inter-Agency Standing Committee. The document is based on the Council’s previous consideration of these issues, including resolutions 1265 (1999) of 17 September 1999 and 1296 (2000) of 19 April 2000. It highlights primary objectives for Council action, offers specific issues for consideration in meeting those objectives, and lists previous Council resolutions and presidential statements that make reference to such concerns.

“Bearing in mind that each peacekeeping mandate has to be designed on a case-by-case basis, the document is not intended as a blueprint. The relevance and practicality of each issue described has to be considered and adapted to the specific conditions in each situation. As highlighted in the report of the Secretary-General entitled ‘No exit without strategy’,<sup>319</sup> the Council should reach agreement on clear and achievable mandates for peace operations based on a common understanding of the conflict. In this respect, mobilization, from the outset, of necessary funding and adequate resources needs to be an integrated part of the Council’s overall consideration.

“Most frequently civilians are caught in circumstances of dire need where a peacekeeping operation has not been established. Such situations may require the Council’s urgent attention. The present aide-memoire may therefore also provide guidance in circumstances where the Council may wish to consider action outside the scope of a peacekeeping operation.

“As a practical tool, the aide-memoire is without prejudice to the provisions of Council resolutions and other decisions by the Council. The document is regularly reviewed and updated to reflect the latest concerns pertaining to the protection of civilians in armed conflict, including new trends and measures to address them.

drawn inevitably to the illicit trade of small arms and light weapons, as such weapons are the most frequently used in armed conflicts. The Council reaffirms the inherent right of individual or collective self-defence in accordance with Article 51 of the Charter and, subject to the Charter, the right of each State to import, produce and retain small arms and light weapons for its self-defence and security needs.

“The Council welcomes all efforts already undertaken by Member States, and calls upon them to fully implement at the national, regional and international levels the recommendations contained in the Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects,<sup>326</sup> adopted on 20 July 2001 by the United Nations Conference on the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects.

The Council welcomes the significant steps that have been taken by Member States in this regard. The obligation of Member States to enforce the arms embargo should be coupled with enhanced international and regional cooperation concerning arms exports.

“The Council continues to recognize the need to engage the relevant international organizations, non-governmental organizations, business and financial institutions and other actors at the international, regional and local levels to contribute to the implementation of arms embargoes.

“The Council reiterates the importance of carrying out disarmament, demobilization and reintegration programmes, an increasingly essential component of peacekeeping mandates, as comprehensively and effectively as possible in post-conflict situations under its consideration.

Noting the advances made for the protection of children affected by armed conflict, particularly in the areas of advocacy and the development of norms and standards, while remaining deeply concerned over the lack of overall progress on the ground, where parties to conflict continue to violate with impunity the relevant provisions of applicable international law relating to the rights and protection of children in armed conflict,

Stressing its determination to ensure respect for its resolutions and other international norms and standards for the protection of children affected by armed conflict,

Having considered the report of the Secretary-General of 10 November 2003 submitted pursuant to paragraph 16 of its resolution 1460 (2003),<sup>332</sup> and stressing that the present resolution does not seek to make any legal determination as to whether situations referred to in the report of the Secretary-General are or are not armed conflicts within the context of the Geneva Conventions of 1949<sup>333</sup> and the Additional Protocols thereto, of 1977,<sup>334</sup> nor does it prejudge the legal status of the non-State parties involved in those situations,

1. Strongly condemns the recruitment and use of child soldiers by parties to armed conflict in violation of international obligations applicable to them, the killing and maiming of children, rape and other sexual violence mostly committed against girls, abduction and forced displacement, denial of humanitarian access to children, attacks against schools and hospitals, as well as trafficking, forced labour and all forms of slavery and all other violations and abuses committed against children affected by armed conflict;

3. Expresses its intention to take appropriate measures, in particular while considering subregional and cross-border activities, to curb linkages between illicit trade in natural and other resources, illicit trafficking in small arms and light weapons, cross-border abduction and recruitment, and armed conflict, which can prolong armed conflict and intensify its impact on children, and consequently requests the Secretary-General to propose effective measures to control this illicit trade and trafficking;

4. Calls upon all parties concerned to abide by the international obligations applicable to them relating to the protection of children affected by armed conflict, as well as the concrete commitments they have made to the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict, the United Nations Children's Fund and other United Nations agencies, and to cooperate fully with the United Nations peacekeeping missions and United Nations country teams, where appropriate in the context of the cooperation framework between the United Nations and the concerned Government, in the follow-up to and implementation of those commitments;

(c) Expresses its intention to consider imposing targeted and graduated measures, through country-specific resolutions, such as, inter alia, a ban on the export or supply of small arms and light weapons and other military equipment and on military assistance, against those parties if they refuse to enter into dialogue, fail to develop an action plan or fail to meet the commitments included in their action plan, bearing in mind the report of the Secretary-General;

6. Also takes note with deep concern of the continued recruitment and use of children by parties in other situations of armed conflict mentioned in the report of the Secretary-General, in violation of applicable international law relating to the rights and protection of children, calls upon those parties to halt immediately their recruitment or use of children, and expresses, on the basis of timely, objective, accurate and reliable information received from relevant stakeholders, its intention to consider taking appropriate steps to further address this issue, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, its resolutions 1379 (2001) and 1460 (2003) and the present resolution;

7. Decides to continue the inclusion of specific provisions for the protection of children in the mandates of United Nations peacekeeping operations, including, on a case-by-case basis, the deployment of child protection advisers, and requests the Secretary-General to ensure that the

Stressing that the continued lack of progress on key issues of a comprehensive settlement of the conflict in Abkhazia, Georgia, is unacceptable,

At its 4917th meeting, on 26 February 2004, the Security Council decided to invite the representatives of Argentina, the Bahamas, Bolivia, Canada, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Ireland, Jamaica, Japan, Mexico, Nicaragua, Peru and Venezuela to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The question concerning Haiti

“Letter dated 23 February 2004 from the Permanent Representative of Jamaica to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/143)”.

<sup>348</sup> Resolutions or decisions on this question were also adopted by the Security Council from 1993 to 2000.

At the same meeting, in response to the request dated 26 February 2004 from the Permanent Representative of Benin to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council,<sup>349</sup> the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Ridha Bouabid, Permanent Observer for the International Organization of la Francophonie.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>350</sup>

“The Security Council expresses deep concern in regard to the deterioration of the political, security and humanitarian environment in Haiti. It deplores the loss of life that has already occurred and fears that the failure, thus far, to reach a political settlement may result in further bloodshed. Continued violence and the breakdown of law and order in Haiti could have destabilizing effects in the region.

“The Council commends the Organization of American States and the Caribbean Community for their lead role in promoting a peaceful solution and for trying to re-establish confidence among the parties, in particular through their Plan of Action.

“The Council supports the Caribbean Community and the Organization of American States as they continue to work towards a peaceful and constitutional solution to the current impasse. The principles outlined in the Caribbean Community/Organization of American States Plan of Action represent an important basis for a solution to the crisis. The Council calls upon the parties to act responsibly by choosing negotiation instead of confrontation. An accelerated timetable now seems necessary.

“The Council is deeply concerned with the prospect of further violence in Haiti and acknowledges the call for international involvement in Haiti. The Council will consider urgently options for international engagement, including that of an international force in support of a political settlement in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

“The Council calls upon all sides in Haiti’s conflict to facilitate the distribution of food and medicine and ensure the protection of civilians. It calls upon all sides to respect international humanitarian personnel and facilities and to ensure that humanitarian assistance reaches those who need it.

“The Council calls upon the Government and all other parties to respect human rights and to cease the use of violence to advance political goals. Those responsible for human rights violations will be held accountable.

“The Council supports the Secretary-General’s decision to name a Special Adviser for Haiti.

“The Council will continue to monitor closely the situation in Haiti and remains seized of the matter.”

On 27 February 2004, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>351</sup>

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 26 February 2004 concerning your decision to appoint Mr. John Reginald Dumas, of Trinidad and Tobago, as your Special Adviser for Haiti<sup>352</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. ## CROSS-BORDER ISSUES IN WEST AFRICA

Decisions

At its 4933rd meeting, on 25 March 2004, the Security Council decided to invite the representatives of Ghana, Ireland and Japan to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“Cross-border issues in West Africa

“Report of the Secretary-General on ways to combat subregional and cross-border problems in West Africa (S/2004/200)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Mohamed Ibn Chambas, Executive Secretary of the Economic Community of West African States, Mr. Jan Egeland, Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator, and Mr. Zéphirin Diabré, Associate Administrator of the United Nations Development Programme.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council.<sup>359</sup>

“The Security Council, recalling its relevant resolutions and the statements by its President, emphasizes the importance of addressing the continuing factors of instability in West Africa within a regional framework. It recognizes the need for a comprehensive and composite approach for durable solutions to the complex crises and conflicts in West Africa. Such an approach should address the root causes of conflict and consider means to promote sustainable peace and security, including development and economic revival, good governance and political reform.

“The Council takes note in this regard of the report of the Secretary-General of 12 March 2004<sup>360</sup> and its recommendations to address cross-border issues, in particular the plight of child soldiers and the use and proliferation of mercenaries and small arms, within the context of a regional approach. The Council believes action on the report should be taken as part of a wider strategy of conflict prevention, crisis management and post-conflict stabilization in the subregion.

“The Council welcomes the principles set out by the African Union and the New Partnership for Africa’s Development which provide an important framework for such action. It encourages the States members of the Economic Community of West African States to ensure that these are fully implemented. It consequently urges the Economic Community of West African States to work closely with the United Nations system, the international financial institutions and other international and regional organizations concerned, including the newly established African Union Peace and Security Council, as well as with interested States, in drafting a regional conflict prevention policy taking fully into account the recommendations of the recent joint United Nations and European Union mission to the region.

“The Council stresses the importance of the role of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for West Africa in facilitating the coordination of a coherent United Nations approach to cross-border and transnational problems in the subregion.

“The Council encourages the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for West Africa to continue to hold regular meetings on coordination among the United Nations missions in the region in the interest of improved cohesion and maximum efficiency of United Nations activities in West Africa. It also encourages the greatest possible harmonization among United Nations agencies within countries of the subregion.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General to encourage the United Nations missions in West Africa to share information and their logistic and administrative resources as far as possible, without impeding the satisfactory execution of their respective mandates, in order to increase their effectiveness and reduce costs.

“The Council expresses its intention to consider the recommendations of the Secretary-General to facilitate cross-border operations and to strengthen cooperation among the United Nations missions in the region, including the possibility of ‘hot pursuit’ operations, joint air patrolling, shared border responsibility, the possible reinforcement of airspace monitoring and joint planning for the repatriation of foreign combatants. It looks forward to receiving, as soon as possible, the recommendations of the Secretary-General, after due consultation with the Governments concerned. It also encourages the States in the subregion to organize common patrols along their respective borders, jointly if need be, with the respective United Nations peacekeeping operations.

“The Council invites the Secretary-General and the Economic Community of West African States to take the requisite practical decisions to improve the coordination of the activities of the United Nations and the Economic Community of West African States in West Africa.

“The Council stresses the importance of a regional approach in the preparation and implementation of demobilization, disarmament and reintegration programmes. To this end it invites the United Nations missions in West Africa, the Governments concerned, the appropriate financial institutions, international development agencies and donor countries to work together to harmonize individual country demobilization, disarmament and reintegration programmes within an overarching regional strategy to design community development programmes to be implemented alongside demobilization, disarmament and reintegration programmes, and to pay special attention to the specific needs of children in armed conflict.

“The Council reiterates the importance of finding durable solutions to the problem of refugees and displaced persons in the subregion, and urges the States in the region to promote necessary conditions for their voluntary and safe return with the support of relevant international organizations and donor countries.

“The Council considers that illegal trafficking in arms poses a threat to international peace and security in the region. It, therefore, urges the States members of the Economic Community of West African States to fully implement their moratorium on the import, export and manufacture of light weapons, signed in Abuja on 31 October 1998.<sup>361</sup> It also invites them to study the possibility of strengthening its provisions.

“The Council invites the States members of the Economic Community of West African States to take all necessary steps to better combat illegal trafficking in small arms and light weapons in the region, such as the establishment of a regional register of small arms and light weapons. The Council calls on donor countries to help the member States implement these steps.

“The Council urges all States, in particular those in the region and those with a capacity to export arms, to ensure that arms embargoes are fully implemented in the subregion. It expresses its intention to pay close attention and remain in consultation with the Economic Community of West African States and Member States on steps to stop the illicit flows of arms to conflict zones in the region.

“The Council recognizes the need to address both the supply and demand side with regard to private companies selling illegally small arms or security services, and invites the Governments concerned to take appropriate steps to prevent such illegal sales.

“The Council recalls the measures it has implemented on the illegal exploitation and trade of diamonds and timber in the subregion, and encourages the Economic Community of West African States and its member States to promote transparent and sustainable exploitation of those resources.

“The Council encourages the Economic Community of West African States to publicly identify parties and actors who are shown to engage in illicit trafficking of small arms in the subregion and use mercenaries, and expresses its intention to consider adopting this practice in relation to the conflicts in West Africa.

“The Council recalls that the existence of the many illegitimate checkpoints and the practice of extortion at those checkpoints in the region harms the security of civilians and is a major stumbling block to the economic development of all West Africa. It therefore invites the Governments concerned to take the necessary steps to effectively address this impediment to regional economic integration with the support of the international community.

“The Council calls upon the States members of the Economic Community of West African States to work together to agree to a coherent approach to the problem of foreign combatants.

“The Council calls upon the Mano River Union States to resume dialogue and to consider holding a summit of heads of State and meetings of ministers to develop a common approach to their shared security issues and confidence-building measures.

“The Council considers that civil society actors, including the media, have an important role to play in crisis management and conflict prevention in the region and that their efforts in this regard deserve to be actively supported by the regional States, the Economic Community of West African States, the international community and the United Nations system. Increased support should be provided for the media to raise awareness about the plight of child soldiers, the use and proliferation of small arms and the recruitment of mercenaries.

“The Council welcomes the consideration being given in the International Contact Group on Liberia to broadening its mandate to the cross-border issues concerning Liberia and its neighbouring countries.

“The Council considers reform of the security sector an essential element for peace and stability in West Africa, and urgently calls upon donor countries and the international financial community to coordinate their efforts to support the Economic Community of West African States, in particular its Executive Secretariat, and to assist the States in the subregion in their efforts to reform the security sector.

“The Council, in the context of its emphasis on the regional dimension of the problems in West Africa, expresses its intention to keep under review the implementation of the above-mentioned recommendations, and requests the Secretary-General to report on them at the occasion of his regular reports on the United Nations missions in the subregion.”

<sup>376</sup> Resolutions or decisions on this question were also adopted by the Security Council in 2001. As from the 4964th meeting, held on 7 May 2004, the wording of the item “Briefing by His Excellency Mr. Mircea Geoana, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Romania, Chairman-in-Office of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe” was revised to read “Briefing by the Chairman-in-Office of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe”.

building activities and the need for States to comply with their obligations under international law.

“The Council recognizes that, as experience confirms, United Nations peacekeeping operations play a critical role in the maintenance of international peace and security, preventing and containing conflicts, promoting compliance with international norms and Council decisions, and building peace in post-conflict situations.

“It further notes that United Nations peacekeeping missions are charged with increasingly difficult and complex mandates assigned to them by the Council and recognizes in this regard the need for a continued review of United Nations peacekeeping.

“The Council notes that, in addition to the existing fourteen United Nations peacekeeping operations, there has been a recent surge in demand for new peacekeeping operations. It is cognizant of the challenges this represents for the United Nations system in terms of generating the necessary resources, personnel and other capabilities to meet the increased demand.

“The Council calls upon Member States to ensure that the United Nations is provided with full political and financial support to meet these challenges effectively, keeping in view the specific requirements of each mission and bearing in mind the human and financial resource implications for the United Nations. The Council also stresses that it is also important to ensure that, while meeting the demand for new peacekeeping operations, the resources available for and the effective management of the existing operations are not adversely affected. At the same time it underscores the need for efficient and effective management of resources.

“The Council calls upon Member States to contribute sufficient levels of trained troops, police and civilian personnel, including those with specialized capabilities and skills, bearing in mind the need for an increased percentage of female personnel at all decision-making levels, as well as the mobilization of logistic and administrative support, to allow the multiple operations to start optimally and fulfil their respective mandates in an effective manner. Enhancing the Secretariat’s capacities and using them in a rational and efficient manner will constitute a crucial element of this response.

“The Council also stresses the need for improved integrated mission planning, as well as enhanced capacity for rapid deployment of personnel and materiel to ensure efficient start-up of peacekeeping operations. The timely and adequate replenishment of strategic deployment stocks is essential to meet current and future demands.

“The Council recognizes the need to work, as appropriate, with regional and subregional organizations and multinational arrangements in peacekeeping operations in accordance with Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations to ensure complementary capacities and approaches before and during the deployment and after the withdrawal of United Nations peacekeeping missions.

“The Council recognizes its responsibility to provide clear, realistic and achievable mandates for peacekeeping missions. The Council values, in this regard, the assessments and recommendations provided by the Secretariat for informed decisions on the scope and composition of new peacekeeping operations as well as their mandates, concept of operations and force levels and structures.

“The Council believes that there is need to strengthen the relationship between those who plan, mandate and manage peacekeeping operations, and those who implement the mandates for these operations. Troop-contributing countries, through their experience and expertise, can greatly contribute to the planning process and can assist the Council in taking appropriate, effective and timely decisions on peacekeeping operations. The Council recognizes, in this regard, that the meetings and mechanisms established by its resolution 1353 (2001) of 13 June 2001 serve to facilitate the consultations process.

“The Council recognizes that in peacekeeping operations there are contributors, other than troop-contributing countries, whose views should also be taken into account as appropriate.

“The Council stresses that, in challenging environments, United Nations peacekeepers may need to be provided with sufficiently robust rules of engagement and the necessary military resources to enable them to fulfil their mandate and, if necessary, to defend themselves. In all cases, the Council considers the safety and security of all United Nations personnel to be a priority. It stresses, in this context, the importance of enhanced capacity to gather and manage information in the field.

“The Council takes note of recent efforts to increase coordination between missions in adjacent countries and encourages Special Representatives of the Secretary-General to explore synergies to ensure effective management of peacekeeping missions in the same regions or subregions.

“The Council stresses the need to regularly assess the size, mandate and structure of peacekeeping operations with a view to making the necessary adjustments, including downsizing, where appropriate, according to progress achieved. It also encourages the continued commitment of the international community to consolidate and sustain the peace on the ground during and beyond the life of the mission.

“The Council further recognizes the importance of a gender perspective, including gender training for peacekeepers, in peacekeeping operations, in accordance with Council resolution 1325 (2000) of 31 October 2000 and the importance of protection of children in armed conflict in accordance with Council resolution 1379 (2001) of 20 November 2001.

“The Council recognizes the increased risk of the spread of communicable diseases and certain criminal activities in post-conflict areas. The Council welcomes efforts by the Secretariat to sensitize peacekeeping personnel in the prevention of HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases in compliance with Council resolution 1308 (2000) of 17 July 2000, and encourages the Secretariat to continue implementing its guidelines on prostitution and trafficking.

“The Council recognizes that effective peacekeeping operations should be part of an overall strategy to consolidate and sustain peace. In this regard, it stresses the need to ensure from the outset the coordination, coherence and continuity between the different parts of this overall strategy, in particular between peacekeeping on the one hand and peace-building on the other. To this end, the Council encourages closer cooperation between all relevant United Nations agencies, funds and programmes and international financial institutions, regional and subregional organizations and the private sector. Ensuring lasting peace in the aftermath of conflict may require sustained support from the United Nations and its humanitarian and development partners.

“The Council notes that training is increasingly becoming a critical element in peacekeeping operations and recognizes the need to utilize the expertise of experienced troop-contributing countries. It encourages international cooperation and support for the establishment of peacekeeping training centres, which could provide a wide range of training opportunities to new and emerging troop contributors.

“The Council recognizes that meeting the demands of an increasing number of United Nations peacekeeping missions will require the concerted efforts of the Security Council, the General Assembly, the States Members of the United Nations and the Secretary-General so as to ensure that the necessary resources and operational support are provided. The Council encourages follow-up consultations on the surge in demand, and invites the Secretary-General to provide regularly, in a timely manner, to Member States, assessments of evolving needs and shortfalls in United Nations peacekeeping, in order to identify critical gaps and unmet requirements as well as steps required to meet these.

“The Council underscores the useful role of its Working Group on Peacekeeping Operations in the consultation process at different stages of peacekeeping operations. It encourages the Working Group to pay special attention to matters relating to the surge in demand in United Nations peacekeeping over the coming year and, as necessary, to report to the Council.

“The Council pays high tribute to all the men and women who have served and continue to serve in United Nations peacekeeping operations for their high level of professionalism, dedication and courage. It honours the memory of those who lost their lives in the service of the United Nations and the noble cause of peace.”
