4. Requests the Secretary-General to consult urgently with the Government of Lebanon with a view to facilitating the establishment and operation of the Commission pursuant to its mandate and terms of reference as mentioned in paragraphs 2 and 3 above, and requests also that he report to the Security Council accordingly and notify it of the date on which the Commission begins its full operations;

9. Also requests the Commission to report to the Council on the conclusions of its investigation, and requests the Secretary-General to update the Council orally on the progress of the Commission every two months during the operations of the Commission or more frequently as needed.

“The Council welcomes also the fact that the parties concerned have made significant and noticeable progress towards implementing some of the provisions contained in resolution 1559 (2004), while expressing concern at the determination of the Secretary-General that there has been no progress in the implementation of other provisions of the resolution, in particular the disarmament of Lebanese and non-Lebanese militias and the extension of the control of the Government of Lebanon over all Lebanese territory, and that the requirements of the resolution have not yet been met.

The Council underlines the fact that free and credible elections held without foreign interference or influence would be another central indication of the political independence and sovereignty of Lebanon.

“3. The present plan aims, first of all, to secure for the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate the capacity, staffing and management that will enable it to fulfil the tasks mandated by the Security Council. At the same time, it endeavours to keep the structure effective and lean, in the sense of keeping the staffing level no higher than is strictly necessary for the performance of its responsibilities.

“4. According to paragraph 2 of resolution 1535 (2004), the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate is to be established as a special political mission under the policy guidance of the plenary of the Counter-Terrorism Committee. Pursuant to paragraph 1 of resolution 1535 (2004), in which the Security Council endorsed the report of the Committee on its revitalization,<sup>87</sup> the Executive Directorate, headed by an Executive Director, will consist of two bodies, the Assessment and Technical Assistance Office and the Information and Administrative Office.

“5. The plan seeks to provide the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate with an effective, lean and flexible structure designed to enhance the ability of the Counter-Terrorism Committee to monitor the implementation of resolution 1373 (2001). Among the priorities of the Executive Directorate will be:

“(a) To ensure the collection of information for monitoring the efforts of Member States in their implementation of resolution 1373 (2001), including through visits with the consent of the State concerned;

“(b) To strengthen the facilitation of technical assistance aimed at increasing the capabilities of Member States in the fight against terrorism and to ensure that its provision is adjusted to the countries’ needs;

“(c) To enhance cooperation and coordination among international, regional and subregional organizations in the fight against terrorism, as well as among other United Nations bodies;

“(d) To ensure consistency among all the activities of the Committee while maintaining a tailored approach to each State Member of the United Nations and with regard to every subject under resolution 1373 (2001);

“(e) To provide adequate and complete follow-up of all the decisions of the Committee;

“(f) To ensure the correct exchange of information at the proper level, from the Offices (Assessment and Technical Assistance Office and Information and Administrative Office), the Executive Directorate itself and between the latter and other relevant bodies of the United Nations.

“6. The Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate is established as an integral part of the Secretariat. Its Executive Director reports directly to the Secretary-General, and the Executive Directorate is under the policy guidance of the plenary of the Counter-Terrorism Committee. The Executive Directorate is established for an initial period ending on 31 December 2007 and subject to a comprehensive review by the Security Council by 31 December 2005.

“A. Management structure

“7. The plan seeks to bring about an effective cooperative management structure. For the fulfilment of the tasks assigned to the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, it is indispensable that the different parts of the structure complement each other and cooperate. A weekly meeting led by the Executive Director and comprising senior and key staff is envisaged as an important means of ensuring cooperative management, mutual assistance and a sense of unity of purpose. A similar approach will be followed within both the Assessment and Technical Assistance Office and the Information and Administrative Office. The heads of the Offices will have the duty to ensure cohesion within their respective Offices and cooperation with other offices.

“B. Staffing

“8. The paramount consideration in the appointment of all staff of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate will be the necessity of securing the highest standards of efficiency, competence and integrity, in accordance with Article 101 of the Charter. Both staff and consultants will be drawn from the broadest possible geographical base and a special effort will be made to hire duly qualified women. Staff appointments will be limited to service within the Executive Directorate. The Executive Director, in order to ensure that the expert posts in the Assessment and Technical Assistance Office are advertised promptly and filled expeditiously, will consult with the Office of Human Resources Management of the Secretariat.

“9. The staff will be paid by the United Nations and will serve under the established conditions of service applicable to fixed-term staff. Rosters will be compiled of candidates with special skills and expertise. All States Members of the United Nations may be asked to put forward candidates with the necessary qualifications to fill the expert posts. On a temporary basis, ad hoc experts from international, regional and subregional organizations could also be engaged following arrangements by the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate and those organizations. Reviews of the organizational structure and staffing will naturally have to be undertaken in the light of developments and future needs, with flexibility in mind.

“10. The present plan envisages that staff will be United Nations employees subject to Article 100 of the Charter, which requires that they shall neither seek nor receive instructions from any other authority external to the Organization.

“II. Responsibilities of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate

“11. The main task of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate and its Executive Director is to support and advise the plenary of the Counter-Terrorism Committee and its Chairman in all their functions. The Executive Directorate is entrusted with carrying out the day-to-day work of the Committee while, at the same time, advising the Chairman and the plenary concerning courses of action to monitor effectively the implementation of resolution 1373 (2001). Special care will be taken to facilitate the provision of assistance programmes to States by strengthening contacts with States, other bodies of the United Nations system, including the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, and relevant international, regional and subregional organizations.

“A. Assessment and Technical Assistance Office

“14. The Assessment and Technical Assistance Office will have a head of office who will replace the Executive Director during his absence and ensure the proper coordination of its work. The Office will be composed of 20 experts, who will be organized by the Executive Director, in close and continuous consultation with his team, in a manner to ensure the effective implementation of the mandate of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, taking into account the geographical and functional needs and the interaction with the subcommittees of the Counter-Terrorism Committee. As the work evolves, the structure should be open to be adapted to meet new challenges.

“15. The Assessment and Technical Assistance Office will have expertise in every area covered by resolution 1373 (2001) and other relevant provisions of the declarations annexed to resolutions 1377 (2001) and 1456 (2003), representing all main legal systems. Recruitment of staff will follow the requirements established in Article 100 of the Charter and other relevant United Nations rules and regulations. Specific job descriptions, as required in consultations with the Office of Human Resources Management, will be prepared by the Executive Director to cover every area of resolution 1373 (2001).

“16. The Executive Director will ensure that every relevant international, regional and subregional organization has a contact point within the Assessment and Technical Assistance Office, including the need to liaise with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and other organizations competent in matters related to human rights and counter-terrorism.

“B. Information and Administrative Office

“17. The main responsibility of the Information and Administrative Office is to provide assistance to the Executive Director, to the Assessment and Technical Assistance Office and to the Counter-Terrorism Committee. The Information and Administrative Office will have a head ensuring the proper coordination of its work.

“18. Furthermore, the staff of the Information and Administrative Office will ensure the necessary administrative needs of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate and the Counter-Terrorism Committee, taking into account, among other things, the keeping of centralized files, registry and database, editing of the reports and support staff.

“IV. Outline of the cost forecast for the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate

“19. The financial requirements of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate will be submitted in the report of the Secretary-General to the General Assembly for its consideration.

“A. Personnel costs

“20. The personnel that will work for the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate will be in accordance with the needs identified in the report of the Counter-Terrorism Committee on its revitalization,<sup>87</sup> endorsed in paragraph 1 of resolution 1535 (2004).

“B. Premises

“21. The Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate would be accommodated in suitable premises, taking into account all relevant functional and security considerations.

“C. Travel

“22. According to the report of the Counter-Terrorism Committee on its revitalization, among the priorities of the Committee, through the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, is to strengthen the facilitation of technical assistance to States and to enhance cooperation and coordination among international, regional and subregional organizations. To comply with this task, the Committee, through the Executive Directorate, must continue and reinforce its presence in action-oriented international and national conferences, seminars, workshops etc. In addition, as established in resolution 1535 (2004), the Committee, through the Executive Directorate, would conduct visits to States, where appropriate and with the consent of the State concerned.

“23. The Executive Director will report to the plenary of the Counter-Terrorism Committee on the travels carried out by him personally or authorized by him to members of the staff of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate.

“D. Temporary arrangements

“24. In paragraph 7 of its resolution 1535 (2004), the Security Council stressed that, to ensure that the Counter-Terrorism Committee continues to operate effectively during the consolidation of the support structure of the Committee into the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, the Committee would continue to operate with its present support structure until the Committee, in consultation with the Secretary-General, determines that the Executive Directorate is operational. In this regard, the Executive Director of the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, while following the United Nations Financial and Staff Regulations and Rules, will make the necessary arrangements to comply with the provisions of the Security Council resolution as the process to formalize the structure of the Executive Directorate progresses.”

Decisions

At its 5033rd meeting, on 14 September 2004, the Security Council decided to invite the representative of Iraq to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The situation between Iraq and Kuwait

“Report of the Secretary-General pursuant to paragraph 30 of resolution 1546 (2004) (S/2004/710 and Corr.1)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Ashraf Jehangir Qazi, Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Iraq.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, Mr. John Danforth, Permanent Representative of the United States of America to the United Nations, on behalf of the multinational force, briefed the Council on the item under consideration.

At its 5047th meeting, on 1 October 2004, the Council considered the item entitled:

“The situation between Iraq and Kuwait

“Letter dated 21 September 2004 from the Secretary-General addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/764)”.

Following the decision taken at the 5047th meeting, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>101</sup>

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 21 September 2004 concerning the establishment of an integrated United Nations security structure for the United Nations

Assistance Mission for Iraq<sup>102</sup> has been brought to the attention of the Security Council. The Council welcomes the proposed arrangements set out in your letter and urges Member States to respond positively with contributions.”

At its 5092nd meeting, on 30 November 2004, the Council considered the item entitled:

“The situation between Iraq and Kuwait

“Letter dated 26 November 2004 from the Permanent Representative of the Netherlands to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2004/927)”.

Following the decision taken at the 5092nd meeting, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>103</sup>

“The Security Council recalls its resolution 1546 (2004), in which it welcomed a new phase in Iraq’s transition, set forth the mandate of the United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq and called upon Member States to provide resources to a distinct entity under unified command of the multinational force with a dedicated mission to provide security for the United Nations presence in Iraq.

“Since the adoption of the resolution on 8 June 2004, a number of States have stepped forward to offer forces and financial support to the dedicated United Nations protection force. However, there is no mechanism to receive financial contributions and disburse support to force contributors. Having considered the letter from the Permanent Representative of the Netherlands to the United Nations,<sup>104</sup> and taking note of your correspondence with the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands as President of the Council of the European Union,<sup>104</sup> the Security Council welcomes the willingness expressed therein to establish a special account of the United Nations (“trust fund”) and specifically endorses the creation of such a trust fund for accepting and administering contributions from Member States for the purpose of financially supporting the “distinct entity” to provide security for the United Nations presence in Iraq mandated by resolution 1546 (2004). In order to recover the full amount of funds pledged, the Council requests that you establish the trust fund without delay and no later than 3 December 2004. Delay will slow deployment of forces and mean a loss of financial contributions.

“The Council welcomes the financial and force contributions of Member States and calls for continued support of the Mission and its protection force.”

At its 5099th meeting, on 13 December 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Iraq to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The Security Council congratulates the people of Iraq on the successful elections of 30 January 2005. These elections represent a historic moment for Iraq and a positive step in its political transition. In turning out to the polls, Iraqis demonstrated their respect for the rule of law and non-violence. They voted for democracy and full ownership of their affairs. The Council commends the Iraqi people for having taken this step to exercise their right to freely determine their own political future and encourages them to continue to do so in moving ahead with their political transition.

“The Council congratulates the newly-elected coalitions and individuals in these elections.

“The elections took place under difficult conditions, and the Council salutes the bravery of the Iraqi people who demonstrated their commitment to democracy, defying the terrorists. The Council commends the tens of thousands of Iraqis who ran as candidates, administered the elections, staffed the polls, observed the elections and provided security. The Council gives special recognition to the Independent Electoral Commission of Iraq for its fortitude and organizational skill in administering the elections.

“The Council commends the Secretary-General and the United Nations for successfully assisting election preparations, including advice and support extended to the Iraqis by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Iraq Ashraf Jehangir Qazi, the United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq, particularly the lead electoral adviser Carlos Valenzuela, the United Nations Electoral Assistance Division and its Director Carina Perelli. The Council also appreciates the assistance given by other international actors, including European Union electoral experts.

“The Council also notes the commendable role played by the Iraqi security forces and the Multinational Force-Iraq in providing security for the elections.

“These elections are an important step for Iraq’s political transition, as outlined in Council resolution 1546 (2004). The Council looks forward to the seating of the Transitional National Assembly and the formation of a new Transitional Government of Iraq in the near future. A Constitution of Iraq, to be drafted under the authority of the Transitional National Assembly, is expected to be put to a referendum by October 2005 and followed by general elections by December 2005 under the new Constitution. The Council affirms its continuing support for the Iraqi people in their political transition and reaffirms the independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity of Iraq.

“Underlining the importance of the maximum possible participation of all components of Iraqi society in the political process, the Council stresses the need for sustained political efforts aimed at making the next steps of the transition, in particular the coming constitutional process, as inclusive, participatory and transparent as possible. The Council welcomes the statements recently made by Iraqi leaders in this regard, and strongly encourages the Transitional Government of Iraq and the Transitional National Assembly to reach out broadly to all segments of Iraqi society, with a view to promoting genuine political dialogue and national reconciliation and to ensuring that all Iraqis are duly represented and have a voice in the political process and the drafting of the Iraqi Constitution.

“The Council reaffirms the leading role of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Iraq and the United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq set out in resolution 1546 (2004) in support of Iraq’s own efforts and as requested by the Government of Iraq, to promote national dialogue and consensus-building on the drafting of a national constitution. In this regard, the Council urges the United Nations to prepare itself rapidly and encourages the members of the international community to provide advisers and technical support to the United Nations to help it to fulfil this role.

“The Council condemns, in the strongest possible terms, acts of terrorism in Iraq, which should not be allowed to disrupt Iraq’s political and economic transition. The Council calls upon those who use violence in an attempt to subvert the political process to lay down their arms and participate in the political process. It encourages the Iraqi authorities to engage with all those who renounce violence and to create a political atmosphere conducive to national reconciliation and political competition through peaceful means.

“The Council stresses the continued importance of Iraq’s neighbouring countries and regional organizations in supporting the political process, cooperating with the Iraqi authorities to control transit across Iraq’s borders and extending other support for the people of Iraq in their efforts to achieve security and prosperity.

“Consistent with resolution 1546 (2004), the Council reaffirms its support for a federal, democratic, pluralist and unified Iraq, in which there is full respect for human rights. It welcomes the support of the international community to Iraq and underlines the importance of enhanced and expeditious assistance from all States and relevant international organizations in support of Iraq’s further implementation of the political transition process and efforts to achieve national reconciliation, economic reconstruction and stability, in accordance with resolution 1546 (2004).”

“Annex

“Security Council mission to Central Africa, 20–25 November 2004: terms of reference

“In general terms, the mission will stress the need to continue the peace and transitional processes in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Burundi and to bring them to a successful conclusion in 2005.

“It will stress the substantial resources committed by the United Nations to peacekeeping in the two countries in the context of a considerable increase in requirements in that area throughout the world. It will recall that durable peace and stability in Central Africa and in the Great Lakes region cannot be achieved without clear and unequivocal efforts and the commitment of national and regional stakeholders.

“The mission will stress the common position of the Security Council. It will recall the Council’s attachment to respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of all the States of the region.

“It will stress the importance of achieving a sustainable peace, security and stability for all countries in the region, in the spirit of African solidarity and national reconciliation, in particular through peaceful dialogue and consultations, the full normalization of their relations, and the establishment of confidence-building measures and mechanisms.

“It will call upon Governments of the region to give priority, in their bilateral and regional relations, to cooperation in the areas of security (joint monitoring of borders, combating the illegal traffic in arms) and economic development.

“It will stress in this regard the contribution of the international conference on peace, security, democracy and development in the Great Lakes region of Africa, of which the first summit of Heads of State is to be held on 19 and 20 November 2004 in Dar es Salaam, United Republic of Tanzania. It will reaffirm the importance attached by the Council to the principles of ownership of the conference by the Governments concerned and partnership between them and the community of donors.

“The mission will recall that the Council is concerned at the violations of the arms embargo imposed on armed groups in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo and at the continuing illegal exploitation of natural resources in that country.

“It will also recall that the Council condemned violations of international humanitarian law and human rights committed in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Burundi. It will call upon the parties and Governments concerned to ensure that those responsible are brought to justice and that human rights and international humanitarian law are respected.

“Democratic Republic of the Congo

“Express the Council’s acknowledgement of the achievements of the transitional authorities since June 2003: appointment of provincial governors; establishment of the national machineries for supervising the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration process; improvement of macroeconomic indicators.

“Stress the Council’s concern at the extent of the work that remains to be done and, in that regard:

- Recall the central role of the “road map” adopted by the Congolese authorities. It is on the basis of the timely implementation of that document, the objectives of which match those defined at the meeting held in New York on 29 September 2004, that the Council will assess progress in the transition process;
- Stress the subjects on which transition stakeholders should focus priority attention: reform of the security sector; adoption of legislation required for the electoral process; launching of the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration process. These are absolutely essential requirements for the elections of June 2005.

“Call upon all the components of the transition to honour their commitments under the Global and All-Inclusive Agreement on the Transition in the Democratic Republic of the Congo signed at Pretoria on 17 December 2002.

“Affirm the Council’s attachment to dialogue between the International Committee in Support of the Transition and the transitional authorities, in particular the Espace présidentiel, in order to overcome any obstacles that may arise in the implementation of key reforms of the transition. Recall the importance of pursuing such dialogue through sectoral discussions with international partners within the framework of joint commissions, as provided for in Council resolution 1565 (2004).

“Stress the effort made by the Council in authorizing the increase in the strength of the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo in order to contribute to:

- The stabilization of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and of its regional environment;
- Moving the reform and transitional processes forward.

“Stress that transition stakeholders cannot expect the Mission to do everything. The Government should demonstrate its determination to contribute to improving security in the eastern part of the country. Specifically, it should draw up plans for disarming former Forces armées rwandaises, Interahamwe and Mayi-Mayi combatants. Such plans would be implemented by the armed forces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo with support from the Mission.

“Encourage the Transitional Government to accelerate, in close contact with the Mission, Governments concerned and the donor community, the implementation of programmes for the voluntary demobilization and repatriation of disarmed foreign combatants and their dependants, as well as for the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of Congolese combatants and their dependants.

“Stress how important it is for the Democratic Republic of the Congo to become fully involved in the different regional mechanisms for dialogue: Joint (border) Verification Mechanism; tripartite dialogue with Rwanda and Uganda; Great Lakes conference.

“Recall the Council’s readiness to support the efforts of the transitional authorities in combating impunity in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the need for them to allow investigators to quickly begin their work.

“Ask for information on government control over the exploitation of natural resources throughout the country, as well as on efforts to promote transparency over the revenue from those resources.

“Burundi

“Recall that the transition process in Burundi presents itself as exemplary in two ways:

- Its principle of dialogue and power-sharing;
- Any knock-on effects that its success or failure may have on neighbouring countries.

“Stress that the United Nations, through the deployment of the United Nations Operation in Burundi, is fully committed to the success of this process.

“Recall that there is no alternative to the holding of elections provided for by the Arusha Peace and Reconciliation Agreement for Burundi signed on 28 August 2000.

“Support the decision of the Transitional Government to adopt a constitution for the post-Arusha period. Stress the importance of that constitution, which endorses the provisions of the agreement signed at Pretoria on 6 August 2004 by providing sufficient guarantees for all parties to participate in elections.

“Encourage the Burundian parties to continue progressing through dialogue and in a spirit of compromise, in particular during the campaign to explain the new constitution and during the drawing-up of electoral legislation, in order to achieve a global political solution.

“Recall that the Council vigorously condemned the massacre of Congolese refugees in Gatumba on 13 August 2004 and that it will continue to support the Burundians in their fight against impunity.

“Affirm that the Council will not tolerate the strategy of violence of the Parti pour la libération du peuple hutu-Forces nationales de libération of Mr. Agathon Rwasa. Call upon him to immediately put an end to that strategy. Stress that the door should remain open for everyone to rally to the peace process under the Arusha Peace and Reconciliation Agreement.

“Insist on the need to rapidly remove obstacles preventing the start of the demobilization and reintegration process (status of combatants, harmonization of grades).

“Rwanda

“Recall that the Council firmly condemned the capture of Bukavu on 2 June 2004 by rebel forces formerly belonging to the Rassemblement congolais pour la démocratie-Goma and strongly urged Rwanda not to provide any material or political support to armed groups in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

“Exhort the Government of Rwanda to use its influence to encourage the Congolese actors with which it has special ties, in particular the Rassemblement congolais pour la démocratie-Goma, to support the transitional process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

“Emphasize the common position of the Council concerning the situation in the Great Lakes region (statements following the events in Bukavu, renewal of the arms embargo, strengthening of the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo).

“Stress that the Council shares the legitimate concern of Rwanda with regard to the presence of remnants of former combatants of the Forces armées rwandaises and Interahamwe in the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, which constitutes a threat to its territorial integrity and a destabilizing factor in the Great Lakes region.

“Emphasize the determination of the international community to provide itself with the means to deal with armed groups that are active in the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo: support for the integration of the Congolese armed forces, reinforcement of the Mission, launching of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration for Mayi-Mayi groups.

“Stress the need for cooperation on the part of Rwanda for the repatriation and reintegration of its nationals.

“Recall the importance of the Joint Verification Mechanism for the stabilization of the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Stress the need for a central role for the Mission for the smooth operation and credibility of that Mechanism.

“Stress the desire of the Council to see enhanced dialogue between Kigali and Kinshasa under the Joint Verification Mechanism, the tripartite dialogue and the Great Lakes conference.

“Uganda

“Recall that the Council considers Uganda an essential partner in efforts to restore lasting peace to the Great Lakes region.

“Welcome the role of Uganda in the Great Lakes Regional Peace Initiative on Burundi.

“Stress the Council’s concern at the difficulties in the process of demobilizing armed groups in Ituri. Urge Uganda to ensure that its territory cannot be used to destabilize the Democratic Republic of the Congo, including through the provision of military or political support to such groups.

“Emphasize the role that the Government of Uganda can play as a mediator among these groups and the positive influence that it can exert on them to support the transitional process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

“Discuss ways and means to find a solution to the conflict in northern Uganda which has caused a serious humanitarian crisis.”

At its 5093rd meeting, on 1 December 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of Burundi to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>115</sup>

“The Security Council welcomes the approval by the Burundian people of the post-transitional Constitution, through the referendum of 28 February 2005, the final results of which have just been declared. The very broad participation of the citizens of Burundi, who have voted in favour of the Constitution in large numbers, is the sign of their support to the peace process. It is an important event for Burundi and for the whole region of the Great Lakes of Africa.

“The Council calls upon all Burundians to remain committed to the course of national reconciliation, for further steps remain to be taken. The Council takes note in particular of the commitment by both parties to immediately cease hostilities, agree within a month on a permanent ceasefire, and negotiate without disturbing the electoral process.

“The Council shares the understanding that this declaration is a first step that should allow the Forces nationales de libération to be rapidly integrated, in a negotiated manner, into the transitional process currently in progress in Burundi. The Council remains convinced that the participation of the Forces nationales de libération in this process will facilitate the holding of the forthcoming elections, in accordance with the timetable confirmed at the last meeting of member States of the Regional Peace Initiative on Burundi, held in Entebbe, Uganda, on 22 April 2005.

Decisions

On 29 April 2005, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>129</sup>

“I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 27 April 2005 concerning your intention to appoint Mr. François Lonseny Fall, of Guinea, as your Special Representative for Somalia and Head of the United Nations Political Office for Somalia<sup>130</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the information and intention contained in your letter.”

At its 5227th meeting, on 14 July 2005, the Council decided to invite the representative of Somalia to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The situation in Somalia

“Letter dated 8 March 2005 from the Chairman of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 751 (1992) concerning Somalia addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2005/153)

“Report of the Secretary-General on the situation in Somalia (S/2005/392)”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>131</sup>

“The Security Council reaffirms all its previous decisions concerning the situation in Somalia, in particular the statements by its President of 19 November 2004<sup>125</sup> and 7 March 2005.<sup>126</sup>

“The Council welcomes the report of the Secretary-General of 16 June 2005,<sup>132</sup> and reaffirms its commitment to a comprehensive and lasting settlement of the situation in Somalia and its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and unity of Somalia, consistent with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

“The Council is encouraged by the relocation now under way of the transitional federal institutions to Somalia, urges further progress in this regard and calls upon the Somali leaders to continue to work towards reconciliation, through inclusive dialogue and consensus-building within the framework of the transitional federal institutions, in accordance with the Transitional Federal Charter of the Somali Republic adopted in February 2004.

“The Council expresses its concern at the recent disagreements and increased tensions among Somali leaders, which threaten the viability of the transitional federal institutions. The Council calls upon all leaders in Somalia to exercise maximum restraint and take immediate effective steps to reduce tension. Violence or military action by any members of the transitional federal institutions or other parties is unacceptable as the means for dealing with the current differences within the transitional federal institutions. The Council reiterates that any members of the transitional federal institutions or other parties who persist on the path of confrontation and conflict, including military action, will be held accountable.

“The Council urges the transitional federal institutions to conclude without delay a national security and stabilization plan, to include a comprehensive and verifiable ceasefire agreement leading to final disarmament, and welcomes the willingness of the United Nations to provide advice in this regard.

“The Council commends the commitment of the African Union and the Intergovernmental Authority on Development in support of the relocation to Somalia of the transitional federal institutions and reiterates its support for those efforts in assisting the process of transition in Somalia. The Council welcomes the readiness of the African Union and the Intergovernmental Authority on Development to reinforce their continued support for the establishment of a functioning central government of Somalia, including the possible deployment of a peace support mission to Somalia, and encourages the Peace and Security Council of the African Union to keep the Security Council informed of all developments. The Council expects the African Union and the Intergovernmental Authority on Development to work out a detailed mission plan in close coordination with, and with the broad consensus of, the transitional federal institutions and consistent with a national security and stabilization plan.

“The Council takes note of the request by the Peace and Security Council to the Security Council for the authorization of an exemption from the arms embargo imposed against Somalia by resolution 733 (1992) of 23 January 1992, contained in the communiqués issued by the Peace and Security Council on 12 May and 3 July 2005. The Security Council stands ready to consider this matter in due course on the basis of information on the above-mentioned mission plan.

“The Council further reminds all parties in Somalia, including all members of the transitional federal institutions, as well as all Member States, of their obligation to implement and enforce the arms embargo imposed by the Council under resolution 733 (1992). Continued non-compliance with this measure undermines the efforts of those who seek to establish peace in Somalia. There can be no effective and lasting progress in Somalia as long as arms and ammunition flow unchecked across Somalia’s borders. A stable and secure environment in Somalia is essential to the future success of the national reconciliation process.

“The Council welcomes the continued engagement of donors in supporting the establishment of a functioning government in Somalia through the mechanism of the Coordination and Monitoring Committee and in fulfilment of the Declaration of Principles. The Council encourages donor countries and regional and subregional organizations to continue to contribute to the reconstruction and rehabilitation of Somalia, in particular through the mechanism of the Rapid Assistance Programme and efforts coordinated by the United Nations.

“The Council stresses that improving the humanitarian situation is an essential component of support for the peace and reconciliation process. The Council reiterates that ensuring humanitarian access to all Somalis in need and providing guarantees for the safety and security of aid workers is an immediate priority and obligation of the transitional federal institutions. The Council further welcomes the ongoing efforts and work of the business community, humanitarian organizations, non-governmental organizations, civil society and women’s groups to facilitate the demilitarization of Somalia.

“The Council deplores the recent hijacking of a vessel off the coast of Somalia that had been chartered by the World Food Programme and was carrying food aid for tsunami victims, and notes the subsequent decision by the Programme to suspend all shipments of humanitarian assistance to Somalia. The Council expresses its concern at the impact of these developments, and calls for the quick and appropriate resolution of this incident. The Council condemns in the strongest terms the brutal murder of Somali peace activist Abdulkadir Yahya Ali in Mogadishu on 11 July 2005. The Council calls for the incident to be investigated immediately and for those responsible to be held fully accountable.

“The Council welcomes the steps being taken to strengthen the capacity of the United Nations Political Office for Somalia and reaffirms its strong support for the leadership of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General in his efforts in fostering inclusive dialogue among the leaders of the transitional federal institutions. The Council calls upon all Somali parties and Member States to extend to him their fullest cooperation in this regard.

“The Council reaffirms its full support for the peace process in Somalia and the commitment of the United Nations to assist the regional and subregional efforts in this regard.”

“The Council reaffirms that peace and stability in Guinea-Bissau are critical for peace and security in the West African subregion. As the Government of Guinea-Bissau tackles the military, political, institutional and economic problems that are responsible for recurrent political turmoil and instability in Guinea-Bissau, the Council underlines the importance of addressing their root causes as well as finding immediate solutions to improve the situation in the short term.

“The Council stresses the need for urgent measures by the international community to assist the Government of Guinea-Bissau to overcome the present crisis, in particular to reinforce the capacity of legitimate authorities to maintain political stability and to determine sound solutions to the country’s most urgent and fundamental challenges, particularly the restructuring of the Armed Forces, the strengthening of the State and its institutions and the promotion of social and economic development.

“The Council welcomes the timely financial support already provided by the Economic Community of West African States and its members to the Government of Guinea-Bissau towards the payment of salary arrears due to military personnel. The Council calls upon international donors to contribute urgently to the Government of Guinea-Bissau’s budget for civil service and military salaries and also encourages them to contribute to the Emergency Economic Management Fund, managed by the United Nations Development Programme.

“The Council also takes note, with appreciation, of the recent visit of a fact-finding mission from the Community of Portuguese-speaking Countries to Guinea-Bissau.

“The Council reiterates its call upon the international community to maintain its confidence in the process of democratic consolidation in Guinea-Bissau and to uphold its commitments to development in that country, particularly through its active preparation for and participation in the round-table conference scheduled to take place next December, in Brussels.

“The Council reaffirms its full support for the Representative of the Secretary-General in Guinea-Bissau and indicates its intention to consider suitable ways of improving the role of the United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office in Guinea-Bissau in the promotion of peace and security, as well as in the coordination of efforts aiming at social and economic development in the country.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General to submit to the United Nations, in his next report on the Support Office and the situation in Guinea-Bissau, suggestions on what contribution the United Nations could make towards an active and coordinated international effort to assist Guinea-Bissau.”

Decisions

At its 5157th meeting, on 31 March 2005, the Security Council decided to invite the representative of Guinea-Bissau to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The situation in Guinea-Bissau

“Report of the Secretary-General on developments in Guinea-Bissau and on the activities of the United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office in that country (S/2005/174)”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>181</sup>

“The Security Council recognizes some progress made in some areas in Guinea-Bissau, including the electoral process, and urges all political actors in the country to show unequivocal commitment to a peaceful electoral process, leading to peaceful, transparent, free and fair elections, by refraining from inspiring or promoting any sort of ethnic or religious hostilities, particularly with a view to obtaining political gains. In this regard, the Council strongly condemns any attempts to incite violence and to impede ongoing efforts towards peace, stability and social and economic development.

“The Council expresses its growing concern at recent political developments in Guinea-Bissau, in particular the decision by the Partido da Renovação Social to select ex-President Koumba Yalá as its presidential candidate. Any decision, such as this, which challenges the Political Transition Charter has the potential to jeopardize the successful conclusion of the transitional process and forthcoming presidential elections.

“The Council also expresses its deep concern at the fact that peace efforts have not yet generated sufficient social and economic benefits for the population that could discourage the use of force.

“The Council stresses, at the same time, the urgent need for international support to the electoral process. It recalls previous appeals for increased international assistance to Guinea-Bissau, including to the forthcoming presidential elections, as part of an urgently needed peacebuilding strategy in that country.

“The Council calls upon Guinea-Bissau’s international development partners, including all concerned agencies of the United Nations system, to cooperate fully with the Government of Guinea-Bissau, which has been fully engaged in the implementation of the Political Transition Charter and in efforts to promote transparency and good governance. It welcomes, in this regard, the holding on 11 February 2005, in Lisbon, of the meeting of Guinea-Bissau’s partners to prepare for the round-table conference and stresses the importance of strong participation in the donor round-table conference scheduled for October 2005.

“The Council welcomes initial measures taken by the Chief of General Staff regarding the process of reform of the Armed Forces and the promotion of reconciliation among the military. The Council further encourages full inclusiveness and renewed commitment to reconciliation in the Armed Forces, and development of constructive civilian-military relations based on the Armed Forces as an institution subordinated to the elected civilian authorities. In accordance with its mandate in resolution 1580 (2004), it reaffirms the role of the United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office in Guinea-Bissau in encouraging and supporting national efforts to reform the security sector.”

They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.”

At its 5208th meeting, on 21 June 2005, the Council decided to invite the representative of Liberia to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“The situation in Liberia

“Letter dated 13 June 2005 from the Chairman of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1521 (2003) concerning Liberia addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2005/360)

“Report of the Secretary-General pursuant to Security Council resolution 1579 (2004) regarding Liberia (S/2005/376)”.

Resolution 1607 (2005) of 21 June 2005

The Security Council,

Recalling its previous resolutions and statements by its President on the situation in Liberia and West Africa,

Taking note of the reports of the Panel of Experts on Liberia of 17 March<sup>211</sup> and 13 June 2005,<sup>212</sup> and the report of the Secretary-General of 7 June 2005,<sup>213</sup> submitted pursuant to resolution 1579 (2004) of 17 June 2004,

Recognizing the linkage between the illegal exploitation of natural resources such as diamonds and timber, the illicit trade in such resources, and the proliferation and trafficking of arms and the recruitment and use of mercenaries as one of the sources of fuelling and exacerbating conflicts in West Africa, particularly in Liberia,

Recalling that the measures imposed under resolution 1521 (2003) of 22 December 2003 were designed to prevent such illegal exploitation from fuelling a resumption of the conflict in Liberia, as well as to support the implementation of the Comprehensive Peace Agreement signed at Accra on 18 August 2003<sup>207</sup> and the extension of the authority, throughout Liberia, of the National Transitional Government of Liberia,

Expressing its concern that, while the deployment of the United Nations Mission in Liberia has contributed to the improvement of security throughout Liberia, the National Transitional Government of Liberia has not yet established its authority throughout Liberia,

Emphasizing the need for the international community to help the National Transitional Government of Liberia to increase its capacity to establish its authority throughout Liberia, particularly to establish its control over the diamond-producing and timber-producing areas and Liberia's borders,

Expressing deep concern at information that former President of Liberia Charles Taylor and others still closely associated with him continue to engage in activities that undermine peace and stability in Liberia and the region,

Having reviewed the measures imposed by paragraphs 2, 4, 6 and 10 of resolution 1521 (2003) and paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004) of 12 March 2004 and the progress made towards meeting the conditions set forth in paragraphs 5, 7 and 11 of resolution 1521 (2003),

Welcoming the assessment of the Panel of Experts that there is no evidence of illegal timber being exported from Liberia, but noting with concern that few of the reforms in the National Transitional Government of Liberia road map necessary to meet the conditions set forth in paragraph 11 of resolution 1521 (2003) for lifting the measures on timber imposed by paragraph 10 of resolution 1521 (2003) have been implemented,

Acknowledging the recent completion of the Forest Concession Review, and welcoming the report of the Forest Concession Review Committee,

Welcoming the progress made by the National Transitional Government of Liberia in the training of diamond mining officials, but noting with serious concern the increase in unlicensed mining and illegal exports of diamonds and the agreement to, and lack of transparency in, granting exclusive mining rights to a single company by the National Transitional Government,

Noting with concern the limited progress made by the National Transitional Government of Liberia towards establishing transparent financial management systems that will help ensure that government revenues are not used to fuel conflict or otherwise used in violation of the resolutions of the Council but are used for legitimate purposes for the benefit of the Liberian people, including development,

Taking note of the ongoing discussions regarding a Liberia Economic Governance Action Plan, designed to ensure prompt implementation of the Comprehensive Peace Agreement and to expedite the lifting of measures imposed by resolution 1521 (2003), and expressing its intention to consider, as appropriate, the Action Plan,

Emphasizing that, despite completion of demobilization and disarmament, significant challenges remain in completing the reintegration and repatriation of ex-combatants and the restructuring of the security sector, as well as establishing and maintaining stability in Liberia and the subregion,

Determining that the situation in Liberia continues to constitute a threat to international peace and security in the region,

Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Decides, on the basis of its assessments above of progress made by the National Transitional Government of Liberia towards meeting the conditions for lifting the measures imposed by resolution 1521 (2003), to renew the measures on diamonds imposed by paragraph 6 of resolution 1521 (2003) for a further period of six months from the date of adoption of the present resolution;

2. Urges the National Transitional Government of Liberia to intensify its efforts, with the support of the United Nations Mission in Liberia, to establish its authority over the diamond-producing areas and to work towards establishing an official certificate-of-origin regime for trade in rough diamonds that is transparent and internationally verifiable, with a view to joining the Kimberley Process;<sup>208</sup>

3. Reiterates the Council's readiness to terminate all measures imposed by resolution 1521 (2003) once the conditions set forth in paragraphs 5, 7 and 11 of that resolution have been met;

4. Calls upon the National Transitional Government of Liberia urgently to intensify its efforts to reform the Forestry Development Authority, to implement the Liberia Forest Initiative and to implement the recommendations of the Forest Concession Review Committee for reform, which will ensure transparency, accountability and sustainable forest management and contribute towards the lifting of the measures on timber set forth in paragraph 10 of resolution 1521 (2003);

5. Invites the National Transitional Government of Liberia to consider, with the assistance of international partners and for a specific time period, the possibility of commissioning independent external advice on the management of Liberia's diamond and timber resources, in order to increase investor confidence and attract additional donor support;

6. Notes that the measures imposed by paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004) remain in force to prevent former President of Liberia Charles Taylor, his immediate family members, senior officials of the former Taylor regime, or other close allies or associates from using misappropriated funds and property to interfere in the restoration of peace and stability in Liberia and the subregion, and reconfirms its intention to review these measures at least once a year;

7. Reiterates its intention to consider whether and how to make available to the Government of Liberia the funds, other financial assets and economic resources frozen pursuant to paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004), once that Government has established transparent accounting and auditing mechanisms to ensure the responsible use of government revenue to benefit directly the people of Liberia;

8. Emphasizes its concern that the National Transitional Government of Liberia has taken no action to implement its obligations under paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004), and calls upon the Government to take such action immediately, particularly by adopting the necessary domestic legislation, with technical support provided by Member States;

9. Notes that the measures on arms, travel and timber imposed by paragraphs 2, 4 and 10 respectively of resolution 1521 (2003) and renewed by paragraph 1 of resolution 1579 (2004) remain in force until 21 December 2005;

10. Urges the Mission to intensify its efforts, as mandated in resolution 1509 (2003) of 19 September 2003, to assist the National Transitional Government of Liberia in re-establishing its authority throughout Liberia, including diamond-producing and timber-producing areas, and restoring proper administration of natural resources;

11. Reiterates the importance of the Mission to continue to provide assistance to the National Transitional Government of Liberia, the Security Council Committee established pursuant to paragraph 21 of resolution 1521 (2003) (hereinafter "the Committee") and the Panel of Experts, within its capabilities and areas of deployment and without prejudice to its mandate, in the following areas:

(b) Supporting efforts by the National Transitional Government to prevent violations of those measures, and reporting any such violations;

(c) Collecting, as appropriate, arms and any related materiel brought into Liberia in violation of the measures taken by States to implement paragraph 2 of resolution 1521 (2003), and disposing of such arms and related materiel as appropriate;

(d) Assisting the National Transitional Government in monitoring the recruitment and movement of ex-combatants, and reporting any relevant information to the Panel of Experts and the Committee, in order to reduce the opportunity for ex-combatants to undermine the peace process or provoke renewed instability in Liberia and the subregion;

(e) Developing a strategy, in conjunction with the Economic Community of West African States and other international partners, to consolidate a national legal framework as mandated in resolution 1509 (2003), including the implementation by the National Transitional Government of the measures in paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004);

12. Calls upon the United Nations Mission in Liberia, the United Nations Mission in Sierra Leone and the United Nations Mission in Côte d'Ivoire to intensify their cooperation, within their capabilities and areas of deployment and without prejudice to their mandates, to monitor arms trafficking and recruitment of mercenaries within the subregion;

13. Reiterates its call upon the international donor community to continue to provide assistance to the peace process, including for reintegration of ex-combatants and reconstruction, to contribute generously to consolidated humanitarian appeals, to disburse as soon as possible the pledges made at the International Reconstruction Conference on Liberia, held in New York on 5 and 6 February 2004, and to respond to the financial, administrative and technical needs of the National Transitional Government of Liberia, in particular to assist the Government to meet the conditions referred to in paragraph 3 above, so that the measures can be lifted as soon as possible;

14. Decides to re-establish the Panel of Experts appointed pursuant to resolution 1579 (2004) for a further period until 21 December 2005 to undertake the following tasks:

(a) To conduct a follow-up assessment mission to Liberia and neighbouring States in order to investigate and compile a report on the implementation, and any violations, of the measures imposed by resolution 1521 (2003), including any information relevant to the designation by the Committee of the individuals described in paragraph 4 (a) of resolution 1521 (2003) and paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004), and including the various sources of financing, such as from natural resources, for the illicit trade of arms;

(b) To assess the impact and effectiveness of the measures imposed by paragraph 1 of resolution 1532 (2004);

(c) To assess the progress made towards meeting the conditions for lifting the measures imposed by resolution 1521 (2003);

(d) To assess the humanitarian and socio-economic impact of the measures imposed by paragraphs 2, 4, 6 and 10 of resolution 1521 (2003);

(e) To report to the Council by 7 December 2005, through the Committee, on all the issues listed in the present paragraph, and to provide informal updates to the Committee, as appropriate, before that date, especially on progress made towards meeting the conditions for lifting the measures imposed by paragraphs 6 and 10 of resolution 1521 (2003);

CIVILIAN ASPECTS OF CONFLICT MANAGEMENT AND PEACEBUILDING

Decisions

At its 5041st meeting, held at the ministerial level on 22 September 2004, the Security Council considered the item entitled:

“Civilian aspects of conflict management and peace-building

“Letter dated 8 September 2004 from the Permanent Representative of Spain to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General (S/2004/722)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Said Djinnit, Commissioner for Peace and Security of the African Union, Mr. Javier Solana, High Representative for the European Union's Common Foreign and Security Policy, and Mr. Amre Moussa, Secretary-General of the League of Arab States.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>220</sup>

“The Security Council met at the ministerial level on 22 September 2004 to consider ‘Civilian aspects of conflict management and peacebuilding’. Ministers recognized the increasing importance of civilian aspects of conflict management in addressing complex crisis situations and in preventing the recurrence of conflict. They affirmed the importance of conflict resolution in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter of the United Nations.

“Ministers also acknowledged the importance of civilian-military cooperation in crisis management. Military and police components are essential to address and stabilize certain serious crisis situations and to guarantee security. Moreover, the participation of a strong civilian component is key to the provision of humanitarian assistance, the re-establishment of public order, functioning public institutions, reconstruction, rehabilitation and peacebuilding for longer-term sustainable development. A substantial civilian participation in crisis management is also essential for a strategy of military disengagement and plays a crucial role in the phase of post-conflict peacebuilding. In this context, it is important that there is coordination between the civilian and military components in crisis management from the first phase of integrated mission planning. In addition, there should be significant coordination with actors involved in longer-term reconstruction and development, including in particular the other organs of the United Nations system in accordance with their respective mandates and the international financial institutions, as well as cooperation with the business sector.

“Ministers recognized the increasing role of some regional and sub-regional and other international organizations in crisis management. They also recalled that Articles 52 and 53 of the Charter set forth the contribution of regional organizations to conflict management, as well as the relationship between the United Nations and regional organizations. They encouraged these organizations, whenever possible, to continue to develop their crisis management capabilities, including in the civilian field, in close coordination with the United Nations and in accordance with the provisions of Article 54 of the Charter. When applicable, clear schemes for joint operations should be developed. Also, greater coordination and interoperability among those organizations, as well as developing and sharing common strategies, operational policies and best practices in civilian crisis management, would enhance efficiency and coherence in crisis management. Continued internal coordination in this field among all relevant United Nations organs and agencies should also be strengthened.

“Ministers supported the efforts by Member States to continue to develop, as appropriate, their own civilian crisis management capabilities, including, inter alia, rapid civilian response teams, and they also supported their initiatives to make these capabilities available to the United Nations and other relevant regional or sub-regional organizations, as a contribution to their efforts in the maintenance of international peace and security. Adequate capabilities should be developed in key areas of civilian crisis management, such as police, justice and the rule of law, preparation of electoral processes and electoral observation, civil protection and public administration. The Council should consider the nature and availability of these capabilities when approving the necessary mandates for United Nations operations.

“Adequate and flexible means for transitional peace support and crisis management activities, such as protection of civilians, including United Nations and humanitarian personnel, disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of former combatants, the end of impunity, public institution-building and transitional justice, as well as the promotion and protection of human rights and the integration of a gender perspective, are essential to ensure lasting peace after a conflict. Also, the involvement of local actors in the policy-making process and a fruitful relationship with civil society should be among the priorities of any post-conflict strategy.

“The Council commends the efforts of the Secretary-General in addressing all relevant issues relating to the civilian aspects of crisis management, and invites him, other institutions and agencies of the United Nations system, regional and sub-regional organizations and Member States to continue to give serious consideration to this matter, with a view to making further progress in this field.”

Decisions

In a letter dated 8 November 2004, the President of the Security Council informed the Secretary-General that the Council had decided to send a mission to Central Africa from 20 to 25 November 2004.<sup>229</sup>

At its 5095th meeting, on 7 December 2004, the Council decided to invite the representative of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled "The situation concerning the Democratic Republic of the Congo".

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>230</sup>

"The Security Council expresses its very deep concern at multiple reports of military operations by the Rwandan army in the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and at threats by the Government of Rwanda in this regard. It recalls its adherence to the respect for the sovereignty of all States, and underlines the fact that the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity of any State is contrary to the purposes and principles stated in the Charter of the United Nations.

“The Council strongly condemns any and all such military action, recalling that they are contrary to its resolutions, and in particular to resolution 1565 (2004), by which it urged the Governments of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Burundi, Rwanda and Uganda to each ensure that the territory of its country was not used to infringe the sovereignty of the others.

“The Council demands that the Government of Rwanda withdraw without delay any forces it may have in the territory of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and calls upon all States in the region to refrain from any action or statement that contravenes international law, undermines the already fragile stability in the region or the transitional process supported by the international community.

“The Council notes that these reported events and threats are contrary to all peace agreements, declarations and protocols signed by regional States since the 1998 commencement of hostilities in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. It underlines the fact that these events and threats, arising after the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region, are contrary to the commitments taken by the regional Heads of State, in the Declaration adopted in Dar es Salaam on 20 November 2004, to settle their disputes in a peaceful manner, and are all the more unacceptable.

“The Council calls upon all Governments in the region, to commit themselves to and make full use of multilateral mechanisms they have agreed to establish, including the Joint Verification Mechanism and the Tripartite Commission, for the peaceful resolution of their disputes. It further calls upon the Government of Rwanda, as well as all Governments in the region, to devote their resources to the promotion of peace, stability, democracy and development.

“The Council urges all Member States fully to comply with their obligations under resolution 1493 (2003), which imposed an arms embargo in the district of Ituri and the provinces of North and South Kivu.

“The Council recognizes that continued tension in the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo undermines peace and security in the region, and in particular that the presence of ex-Forces armées rwandaises and Interahamwe elements in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo is a source of instability, a threat to civilian populations and an impediment to good neighbourly relations between the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Rwanda. It considers the armed presence and activities of ex-Forces armées rwandaises and Interahamwe elements in the eastern part of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to be unacceptable and demands that they disarm and disband without delay, with a view to their repatriation or resettlement.

“In this regard, the Council welcomes steps taken to set up the plan established by the Congolese authorities, with the support of the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, aimed at accelerating the disarmament and demobilization of foreign armed groups. It calls upon the Governments of Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of the Congo to explore ways to facilitate the voluntary repatriation of these combatants, based on the existing mechanisms. It urges the Congolese authorities to do everything possible to effectively disarm these armed groups as a matter of urgency, in the interest of stability in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the security of Rwanda and Burundi, and the establishment of peace and stability in the region.

“The Council further calls upon, in this regard, the Congolese authorities to accelerate the integration of the armed forces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and encourages the donor community to provide coordinated financial and technical assistance to this important task.

“The Council condemns any attempt aimed at undermining the unity and territorial integrity of the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

“The Council expresses its intention to consider further actions, including measures that may be taken against those individuals who, by their actions or statements, compromise the peace and transition process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.”

At its 5133rd meeting, on 2 March 2005, the Council decided to invite the representative of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled “The situation concerning the Democratic Republic of the Congo”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>231</sup>

“The Security Council condemns with the utmost firmness the attack against a patrol of the United Nations Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo by the Front des Nationalistes et Intégrationnistes in Ituri, which occurred on 25 February 2005 near the town of Kafé, resulting in the murder of nine Bangladeshi peacekeepers. It offers its condolences to the victims’ families and to the authorities of Bangladesh. It commends the dedication of the Mission’s personnel, who operate in particularly hazardous conditions. It welcomes the action of the Mission against the militia groups responsible for these killings and the Mission’s continued robust action in pursuit of its mandate.

“The Council considers this aggression, by its intentional and well-planned nature, to be an unacceptable outrage. It calls upon the Government of National Unity and Transition immediately to take all necessary measures to bring to justice the perpetrators, sponsors and authors of this attack, and welcomes the first arrests undertaken by the Government. It endorses in this regard the serious concern expressed in Kinshasa on 28 February 2005 by the International Committee for Support to the Transition over the illegal and criminal activities of militia in Ituri and their military and political leaders, in particular Floribert Ndjabu, Goda Sukpa, Étienne Lona, Thomas Lubanga, Bosco Tanganda and Germain Katanga. It expresses its concern that the integration of Ituri militia officers into the Congolese armed forces has failed to lead to the disarmament of their troops which should proceed without delay.

“The Council calls upon the Government of National Unity and Transition to strengthen its support for the implementation of the disarmament and community reintegration programme for Ituri militiamen. It considers those who try to impede this programme as a threat to the political process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. It also calls upon the Government of National Unity and Transition urgently to deploy additional integrated troops and police units to Ituri, and invites donors to provide support for this vital undertaking.

“The Council reminds all States in the region of their responsibility to ensure compliance for the arms embargo imposed by resolution 1493 (2003) and is considering additional measures it might take to reinforce implementation and monitoring of the embargo. It further urges those States to ensure that their territories cannot be used by any Congolese armed group, notably the Ituri militia, whose activities perpetuate a climate of insecurity that affects the whole region.

“The Council reaffirms its full support for the Mission, and urges it to continue to fulfil its mandate with determination. It notes the importance for the Mission to continue to strengthen its action in Ituri and in North and South Kivu.”

It considers this encouraging statement as a significant opportunity to move towards the return of peace in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, national reconciliation in Rwanda, and full normalization of relations between the two countries. It commends the role of independent mediator played by the Sant’Egidio community.

“The Council calls upon the Forces démocratiques de libération du Rwanda to turn their positive words into action and to demonstrate their commitment to peace by immediately handing all their arms to the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and by taking part in the programme put in place for their earliest voluntary and peaceful return to Rwanda or resettlement, as well as by assisting the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda in Arusha to fulfil its mandate, particularly with regard to the arrest and transfer to its custody of indictees who remain at large.

“The Council encourages all other armed groups in the Democratic Republic of the Congo that have not yet done so to renounce likewise the use of force and to take part without delay in the programmes of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration.

“The Council urges the Governments of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Rwanda to work together, in close cooperation with the Mission, to make use of the chance given to them to contribute to peace and stability in the whole Great Lakes region of Africa.

“The Council welcomes the commitment of the Government of Rwanda to receive former combatants, and urges the Government of Rwanda to guarantee the return and reintegration of members of the Forces démocratiques de libération du Rwanda and their dependents to be repatriated, in accordance with applicable standards of international law and with respect for the rights and freedoms of the human being.

“The Council recalls the need for an effective programme of reintegration to be quickly implemented with the support, as appropriate, of the international community.”

The Council demands that the Force démocratique de libération du Rwanda abide by the commitment made in Rome, on 31 March 2005, renounce the use of force and settle without delay the issue of the return to Rwanda of their combatants.

“Justice and the rule of law: the United Nations role

“Report of the Secretary-General on the rule of law and transitional justice in conflict and post-conflict societies (S/2004/616)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Juan Méndez, Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on the Prevention of Genocide and Director of the International Centre for Transitional Justice.

At the same meeting, the Council also decided to extend an invitation to the Permanent Observer of Palestine to the United Nations, in response to his request dated 1 October 2004 to the President of the Security Council,<sup>244</sup> in accordance with the provisional rules of procedure of the Council and its previous practice in that regard.

Upon resumption of the meeting, on 6 October 2004, the Council further decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Mark Malloch Brown, Administrator of the United Nations Development Programme.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>245</sup>

“The Security Council thanks the Secretary-General for his report of 3 August 2004, which was reissued on 23 August 2004,<sup>246</sup> and reaffirms the vital importance that the Council attaches to promoting justice and the rule of law, and post-conflict national reconciliation. “The Council urges the Secretariat to make proposals for the implementation of the recommendations set out in paragraph 65 of the report, and draws attention in particular to the importance of the practical measures set out in that paragraph that can be implemented rapidly, including coordinating existing expertise and resources, setting up databases and web-based resources, developing rosters of experts and organizing workshops and training programmes. The Council urges Member States that are interested in doing so to contribute national expertise and materials to these developments, within their means, and to improve their capacities in these areas.

“The Council recalls the important statement made by the Secretary-General to the fifty-ninth session of the General Assembly on 21 September 2004, and endorses his view that ‘it is by reintroducing the rule of law, and confidence in its impartial application, that we can hope to resuscitate societies shattered by conflict’. The Council stresses the importance and urgency of the restoration of justice and the rule of law in post-conflict societies, not only in order to come to terms with past abuses, but also to promote national reconciliation and to help prevent a return to conflict in the future. The Council emphasizes that such processes must be inclusive, gender-sensitive and open to the full participation of women.

“The Council underlines the importance of assessing the particular justice and rule of law needs in each host country, taking into consideration the nature of the country’s legal system, traditions and institutions, and of avoiding a ‘one size fits all’ approach. The Council recognizes that building national capacities and independent national institutions is essential, that local ownership and leadership in that process should be encouraged and respected, and that international structures can play a complementary and supportive role.

“The Council emphasizes that ending the climate of impunity is essential to the efforts of a conflict and post-conflict society to come to terms with past abuses and in preventing future abuses. The Council draws attention to the full range of mechanisms of transitional justice that should be considered, including national, international and ‘mixed’ criminal tribunals and truth and reconciliation commissions, and underlines the fact that those mechanisms should concentrate not only on individual responsibility for serious crimes, but also on the need to seek peace, truth and national reconciliation. The Council welcomes the report’s balanced appraisal of the lessons to be learned from the experience of the ad hoc international criminal tribunals and ‘mixed’ tribunals.

“The Council recalls that justice and the rule of law at the international level are of key importance for promoting and maintaining peace, stability and development in the world. The Council underlines also the importance of helping to prevent future conflicts through addressing their root causes in a legitimate and fair manner.

“The Council warmly welcomes the Secretary-General’s decision to make the United Nations work to strengthen the rule of law and transitional justice in conflict and post-conflict societies a priority for the remainder of his tenure. The Council invites the Secretary-General to keep it informed of the Secretariat’s progress in taking forward the recommendations set out in paragraph 65 of the report, and expresses the intention to consider this matter again within six months.”

“Cross-border issues in West Africa

“Progress report of the Secretary-General on ways to combat subregional and cross-border problems in West Africa (S/2005/86)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Ahmedou Ould-Abdallah, Special Representative of the Secretary-General for West Africa and the Head of the United Nations Office for West Africa, and Mr. Ibrahima Diouf, Special Adviser on Child Protection to the Executive-Secretary of the Economic Community of West African States.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>255</sup>

“The Security Council has carefully reviewed the progress report of the Secretary-General of 11 February 2005 on the implementation of the recommendations of the Council on cross-border and subregional problems in West Africa,<sup>256</sup> and reaffirms the statement by its President of 25 March 2004.<sup>257</sup>

“The Council notes with appreciation the enhanced cooperation among the various United Nations political and peacekeeping missions in the subregion and looks forward to receiving the forthcoming report of the Secretary-General on inter-mission cooperation. The Council also welcomes the growing and constructive partnership between the United Nations system, the Economic Community of West African States, individual Member States, key bilateral and multilateral development partners, as well as civil society organizations, including women's organizations, aimed at addressing the many complex challenges confronting the West African subregion.

“The Council reiterates its belief that action on cross-border and subregional issues should take place as part of a wider strategy of conflict prevention, crisis management and peacebuilding in the subregion. The Council thus also encourages the United Nations Office for West Africa further to promote an integrated and joint subregional approach with the Economic Community of West African States and the African Union, as well as with other key international partners and civil society organizations.

“The Council welcomes the encouraging prospects for the reactivation of the Mano River Union and the resumption of dialogue among its member States, notably on ways to deal with mercenaries. It also welcomes initiatives taken by the Economic Community of West African States to establish a Small Arms Unit and to adopt a new Small Arms Control

Programme and its ongoing efforts to transform the moratorium on the import, export and manufacture of small arms and light weapons, signed in Abuja on 31 October 1998,<sup>258</sup> into a binding convention.

“The Council welcomes the decision of the European Commission on 2 December 2004 to assist the Economic Community of West African States in implementing its plans to combat the illicit dissemination of small arms. The Council reiterates its call upon all Member States and organizations, in a position to do so, to extend further assistance to the Economic Community of West African States in this field. The Council calls upon arms producing and exporting countries and West African States to explore ways in which they can ensure the implementation of the moratorium.

“The Council calls upon Member States and key international partners to explore practical ways of assisting the Economic Community of West African States in enhancing its capacities in the areas of conflict prevention, peacemaking and peacekeeping, including through the provision of technical expertise, training programmes, and logistical and financial resources. In this connection, the Council reaffirms the crucial importance of the reintegration of ex-combatants, taking into account the special needs of child soldiers and women, in order to reverse the culture of violence and create an enabling environment for national reconciliation in countries emerging from conflict, and reiterates its call to the international community to provide adequate funding to this end.

“The Council underlines the fact that ongoing or emerging crises in West Africa are a threat to subregional stability, and, in this regard, notes with deep concern the emerging and ongoing tensions in some countries over the transfer of power, involving members of security and armed forces, and which may further obstruct efforts to stabilize the subregion.

“The Council recalls in this regard the African Union position on unconstitutional changes of governments, as stated in the 1999 Algiers Declaration<sup>259</sup> and the 2000 Lomé Declaration.<sup>260</sup>

“The Council welcomes the action taken by the Economic Community of West African States and the African Union to address these issues.

“The Council expresses its deep concern about the involvement of individuals including those from security and armed forces in such illicit activities as smuggling of arms, drugs and natural resources, human trafficking, extortion at roadblocks and money laundering, in the context of mismanagement in the administration of justice, and weak government capacity to fight against criminal activities and impunity. The Council stresses the need to pay special attention to those critical issues that have a direct bearing on efforts to enhance peace, stability and democratic governance in West African countries.

“The Council emphasizes the need to pursue security sector reforms aiming at improving civil-military relations in countries emerging from conflict situations and creating a culture of peace and stability and promoting the rule of law. In this regard, the Council requests the United Nations Office for West Africa to further explore with interested governments and organizations ways in which security sector reforms could be formulated and implemented.

“In this regard, the Council welcomes the ongoing efforts of the Economic Community of West African States, in collaboration with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, to improve border control mechanisms in West Africa by facilitating the flow of information among national law enforcement authorities, as well as regional networking and cooperation in law enforcement issues.

“The Council reiterates the importance of curbing the growing risks of instability along some border areas. The Council, therefore, encourages the United Nations Office for West Africa to facilitate, in close cooperation with the Executive Secretariat of the Economic Community of West African States and its member States concerned, the implementation of strategies developed for sensitive border zones in the subregion, and calls upon donors to support these efforts.

“The Council stresses the need to help West African States to curb illicit cross-border activities and to strengthen the capacities of the civil society groups working to promote a cross-border culture of non-violence and peace.

“The Council further emphasizes the need to generate economic activities and to foster development as a means of promoting sustainable peace in the subregion. It urges international donors to assist the Economic Community of West African States to address that need.

“The Council reaffirms the urgency of finding lasting solutions to the problem of youth unemployment in order to prevent the recruitment of such youth by illegal armed groups. In this connection, the Council requests the Secretary-General to include in his next progress report practical recommendations on how best to tackle the problem of youth unemployment.

“The Council urges donor countries, international organizations and civil society to address the dire humanitarian situation in many parts of the subregion and to provide adequate resources within the framework of the consolidated appeals process 2005 for West Africa as part of a regional humanitarian response strategy to improve the human security of the people in dire need of protection or those whose coping capacities are close to exhaustion.

“The Council expresses its intention to keep these issues under review, and requests the Secretary-General to report on them regularly through his reports on the United Nations missions in the subregion.”

The Council welcomes the efforts of the United Nations system to establish and implement strategies and programmes to prevent and report on gender-based violence, and urges the Secretary-General to further his efforts in this regard. The Council requests the Secretary-General to ensure that human rights monitors and members of commissions of inquiry have the necessary expertise and training in gender-based crimes and in the conduct of investigations, including in a culturally sensitive manner favourable to the needs, dignity and rights of the victims. The Council urges all international and national courts specifically established to prosecute war-related crimes to provide gender expertise, gender training for all staff and gender-sensitive programmes for victims and witness protection. At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>294</sup>

“The Security Council has considered the matter of protection of civilians in armed conflict. The Council recalls all its relevant resolutions, in particular resolutions 1265 (1999) of 17 September 1999 and 1296 (2000) of 19 April 2000 on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, as well as statements by its Presidents, and reiterates its commitment to address the widespread impact of armed conflict on civilians.

“The Council reaffirms its strong condemnation of all acts of violence targeting civilians or other protected persons under international law. The Council is gravely concerned that civilians are increasingly targeted by combatants and armed elements during armed conflict, in particular women, children and other vulnerable groups, including refugees and internally displaced persons, and recognizes the negative impact this will have on durable peace and national reconciliation. The Council also reaffirms its condemnation of all incitements to violence against civilians in situations of armed conflict, in particular the use of media to incite hatred and violence. The Council urges all parties to armed conflict, including non-State parties, to put an end to such practices.

“The Council reiterates its call to all parties to armed conflict, including non-State parties, to comply fully with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations and with rules and principles of international law, in particular, international humanitarian law, and, as applicable, human rights and refugee law, and to implement fully the relevant decisions of the Council. The Council recalls the obligations of all States to ensure respect for international humanitarian law, including the four Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949,<sup>295</sup> and emphasizes the responsibility of States to end impunity and to prosecute those responsible for genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity and serious violations of humanitarian law. It further calls upon all States which have not already done so to consider ratifying or acceding to major instruments of international humanitarian, human rights and refugee law, and to take appropriate measures to implement them.

“The Council underlines the importance of safe and unhindered access of humanitarian personnel and assistance to civilians in armed conflict in accordance with international law. It reiterates its call to all parties to armed conflict, including non-State parties, to take all necessary measures to ensure security and freedom of movement of United Nations and associated personnel as well as personnel of humanitarian organizations. The Council condemns all attacks targeting United Nations personnel and other humanitarian workers, and underlines the fact that the perpetrators of such attacks must be held accountable as outlined in its resolution 1502 (2003) of 26 August 2003. The Council underscores the importance for humanitarian organizations to uphold the principles of the neutrality, impartiality and humanity of their humanitarian activities and the independence of their objectives.

“The Council recognizes the importance of a comprehensive, coherent and action-oriented approach, including early planning, to the protection of civilians in situations of armed conflict. It stresses, in this regard, the need to adopt a broad strategy of conflict prevention, which addresses the root causes of armed conflict in a comprehensive manner in order to enhance the protection of civilians on a long term basis, including by promoting sustainable development, poverty eradication, national reconciliation, good governance, democracy, the rule of law and respect for and protection of human rights. It encourages further cooperation and coordination between Member States and the United Nations system. The Council, moreover, recognizes the needs of civilians under foreign occupation, and stresses further, in this regard, the responsibilities of the occupying Power.

“The Council, recognizing the regional dimensions of certain armed conflict, stresses the need for regional cooperation in order to address cross-border issues such as disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and rehabilitation, cross-border movement of refugees and combatants, human trafficking, illicit flow of small arms and illegal exploitation of natural resources and post-conflict situations. It encourages regional and subregional organizations to develop, as appropriate, a regional protection strategy and provide for a coherent and strong framework for addressing protection issues. The Council welcomes the steps taken by regional organizations in this regard and requests the United Nations system and other international organizations to provide them with the necessary support, and to consider means for the reinforcement of national capacities. The Council takes into account, in this regard, the Secretary-General’s recommendation regarding the establishment of a framework within which the United Nations could engage with regional organizations more systematically on humanitarian issues related to protection and access and better address those issues at the regional intergovernmental level.

“The Council strongly condemns the increased use of sexual and gender-based violence as a weapon of war as well as the recruitment and use of child soldiers by parties to armed conflict in violation of international obligations applicable to them. The Council underlines the vulnerability of women and children in situations of armed conflict, bearing in mind in this regard its resolutions 1325 (2000) on women and peace and security and 1539 (2004) as well as all other resolutions on children and armed conflict, and recognizes their special needs, in particular those of the girl child. It stresses the importance of developing strategies aimed at preventing and responding to sexual and gender-based violence, through the improvement in the design of peacekeeping and assessment missions by, inter alia, the inclusion of gender and child protection advisers. It stresses also the importance for women and children subject to exploitation and sexual violence to receive adequate assistance and support.

“Mindful of the particular vulnerability of refugees and internally displaced persons, the Council reaffirms the primary responsibility of States to ensure their protection, in particular, by preserving the civilian character of camps of refugees and internally displaced persons, and to take effective measures to protect them from infiltration by armed groups, abduction and forced military recruitment.

“The Council reaffirms its readiness to ensure that peacekeeping missions are given suitable mandates and adequate resources so as to enable them to better protect civilians under imminent threat of physical danger, including by strengthening the ability of the United Nations to plan and rapidly deploy peacekeeping and humanitarian personnel, utilizing the United Nations stand-by arrangements system, as appropriate.

“The Council considers that a coherent and integrated approach to the disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and rehabilitation of ex-combatants, which takes into account the special needs of child soldiers and women combatants, is of crucial importance for a sustained peace and stability. The Council reaffirms the need for the inclusion of these activities in the mandates of United Nations peacekeeping operations, and emphasizes the importance of resources being made available for such activities.

“The Council is concerned by the growing problem of humanitarian emergency situations while funding and resources do not match requirements. It urges the international community to ensure adequate and timely funding in response to humanitarian need across crises, so as to provide sufficient humanitarian assistance in alleviating the suffering of civilian populations, in particular those in areas affected by armed conflict or emerging from a situation of conflict.

“The Council expresses its appreciation for the efforts of the United Nations agencies, regional organizations, international humanitarian organizations and other relevant actors aimed at raising international awareness of the suffering of civilians in armed conflicts, including refugees and internally displaced persons, and considers such efforts as a key element for the promotion of a culture of protection and for the building of international solidarity with the victims of armed conflict.

“The Council invites the Secretary-General to continue to refer to it relevant information and analysis, where he believes that such information or analysis could contribute to the improvement of its work on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, and to continue to include in his written reports to the Council on matters of which it is seized, as appropriate, observations relating to the protection of civilians in armed conflict. In this context, the Security Council reiterates the importance of the aide-memoire annexed to the statement by its President<sup>296</sup> as well as the road map for the protection of civilians in armed conflict as a practical tool for dealing with protection issues.

“The Council notes the submission of the report of the Secretary-General of 28 May 2004 on the protection of civilians in armed conflict,<sup>297</sup> which examines the ten-point platform, and requests him to submit his next report by 28 November 2005, and to include in this report information on the implementation of Council resolutions previously adopted on this subject as well as any additional recommendations on ways the Council and other organs of the United Nations, acting within their respective spheres of responsibility, could further improve the protection of civilians in situations of armed conflict.”

At its 5209th meeting, on 21 June 2005, the Council decided to invite the representatives of Canada, Colombia, Côte d'Ivoire, Egypt, Luxembourg, Nigeria, Norway and Peru to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item entitled “Protection of civilians in armed conflict”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Jan Egeland, Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>298</sup>

“The Security Council, recalling its resolutions 1265 (1999) and 1296 (2000) as well as statements made by its Presidents on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, reiterates its commitment to address the widespread impact of armed conflict on civilian populations.

“The Council reaffirms its strong condemnation of the deliberate targeting of civilians or other protected persons in situations of armed conflict, and calls upon all parties to put an end to such practices. It expresses, in particular, its deep concern at the use of sexual violence as a weapon of war. It calls upon all States to put an end to impunity also in this regard.

“The Council is gravely concerned about limited progress on the ground to ensure the effective protection of civilians in situations of armed conflict. It stresses, in particular, the urgent need for providing better physical protection for displaced populations as well as for other vulnerable groups, in particular women and children. Efforts should be focused in areas where these populations and groups are most at risk. At the same time, it considers that contributing to the establishment of a secure environment for all vulnerable populations should be a key objective of peacekeeping operations.

“The Council invites, accordingly, the Secretary-General to include in his next report recommendations on ways to better address the persisting and emerging protection challenges in the evolving peacekeeping environment. Upon receipt of this report, it expresses its intention to take further action to strengthen and to enhance the protection of civilians in armed conflict, including, if necessary, the possible adoption of a resolution in this regard.”

2. Commends and strongly supports the sustained efforts of the Secretary-General and his Special Representative, with the assistance of the Russian Federation in its capacity as facilitator as well as of the Group of Friends of the Secretary-General and of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, to promote the stabilization of the situation and the achievement of a comprehensive political settlement, which must include a settlement of the political status of Abkhazia within the State of Georgia;

5. Regrets the lack of progress on the initiation of political status negotiations, and recalls, once again, that the purpose of those documents is to facilitate meaningful negotiations between the parties, under the leadership of the United Nations, on the status of Abkhazia within the State of Georgia, and is not an attempt to impose or dictate any specific solution to the parties;

12. Encourages the sides, in that respect, to continue their discussion on security guarantees with the participation of the Group of Friends;

14. Notes that contacts at the level of civil society can reinforce mutual confidence, and calls upon both sides to facilitate such contacts;

15. Stresses the urgent need for progress on the question of the refugees and internally displaced persons, calls upon both sides to display a genuine commitment to make returns the focus of special attention and to undertake this task in close coordination with the United Nations Observer Mission in Georgia and in consultation with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, and the Group of Friends;

18. Recalls that the Abkhaz side bears a particular responsibility to protect the returnees and to facilitate the return of the remaining displaced population;

19. Welcomes the continuing activities of the United Nations Development Programme in the Gali, Ochamchira and Tkvarcheli districts and the opening of offices by the United Nations Development Programme in Sukhumi and Gali;

20. Urges the parties, once again, to implement the recommendations of the joint assessment mission of November 2000 to the Gali sector,<sup>315</sup> regrets that there has been no progress to that effect despite the positive consideration by the parties given to those recommendations in the first Geneva meeting, and calls again upon the Abkhaz side to agree to the opening as soon as possible of the Gali branch of the human rights office in Sukhumi and to provide security conditions for its unhindered functioning;

21. Reiterates its concern that despite the start of the deployment of a civilian police component as part of the Mission, as endorsed in resolution 1494 (2003) of 30 July 2003, and agreed upon by the parties, the deployment of the remaining officers in the Gali sector is still outstanding, and calls upon the Abkhaz side to allow for a swift deployment of the police component in that region;

22. Calls in particular upon the Abkhaz side to improve law enforcement involving the local population and to address the lack of instruction in their mother tongue for the ethnic Georgian population;

26. Urges the parties to abide by the provisions of the protocols on security issues in the Gali district signed on 8 October 2003<sup>317</sup> and 19 January 2004, to continue their regular meetings and to cooperate more closely with each other to improve security in the Gali sector, and takes note of the resumption of Abkhaz participation in the quadripartite meetings and the Joint Investigation Group;

27. Reiterates its call upon the Georgian side to provide comprehensive security guarantees to allow for independent and regular monitoring of the situation in the upper Kodori Valley by joint patrols of the Mission and the collective peacekeeping force of the Commonwealth of Independent States;

28. Underlines the fact that it is the primary responsibility of both sides to provide appropriate security and to ensure the freedom of movement of the Mission, the collective peacekeeping force and other international personnel;

reaffirms the statements by its President of 24 September 1999,<sup>323</sup> 31 August 2001,<sup>324</sup> 31 October 2002<sup>325</sup> and 19 January 2004.<sup>326</sup>

“The Council recalls its primary responsibility under the Charter of the United Nations for the maintenance of international peace and security. In this regard, the Council recognizes that the dissemination of illicit small arms and light weapons has hampered the peaceful settlement of disputes, fuelled such disputes into armed conflicts and contributed to the prolongation of such armed conflicts. The Council reaffirms the inherent right of individual or collective self-defence in accordance with Article 51 of the Charter and, subject to the Charter, the right of each State to import, produce and retain small arms and light weapons for its self-defence and security needs.

“The Council encourages the arms-exporting countries to exercise the highest degree of responsibility in small arms and light weapons transactions according to their existing responsibilities under relevant international law. It also encourages international and regional cooperation in identifying the origin and transfer of small arms and light weapons in order to prevent their diversion, in particular, to Al-Qaida and other terrorist groups. The Council welcomes the significant steps that have been taken by Member States and international and regional organizations in this regard. The obligation of Member States to enforce the arms embargo should be coupled with enhanced international and regional cooperation concerning arms exports. The Council encourages Members to undertake vigorous actions aimed at restricting the supply of small arms, light weapons and ammunitions to areas of instability.

“The Council takes note that the United Nations Second Biennial Meeting of States to Consider the Implementation of the Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects will be held from 11 to 15 July 2005, and encourages Member States to fully cooperate with the Chair of the Meeting to have a successful outcome.

“The Council notes with appreciation that regional actions on illicit trade in small arms and light weapons in all its aspects have been strengthened in recent years, and encourages the continuation of assistance at the national, regional and international levels that would fit the needs of Member States to implement the recommendations contained in the Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects,<sup>327</sup> adopted on 20 July 2001 by the United Nations Conference on the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects.

“The Council welcomes the ongoing efforts by the open-ended working group established by the General Assembly in resolution 58/241 of 23 December 2003 to negotiate an international instrument to enable States to identify and trace, in a timely and reliable manner, illicit small arms and light weapons, and calls upon all Member States to support all efforts aimed at this purpose. It expresses the wish that the ongoing work within the group will lead to a positive conclusion at its third session as scheduled.

“The Council welcomes the adoption by the General Assembly of resolution 59/86 of 3 December 2004 in which, among other things, it requested the Secretary-General to continue broad-based consultations on further steps to enhance international cooperation in preventing, combating and eradicating illicit brokering in small arms and light weapons, with a view to establishing a group of governmental experts to consider the issue.

“The Council welcomes the inclusion of man-portable air defence systems, on an exceptional basis, in the United Nations Register on Conventional Arms.

“The Council further encourages Member States that have not already done so to establish the necessary legislative or other measures, including the use of authenticated end-user certificates, to ensure effective control over the export and transit of small arms and light weapons.

“The Council renews the support given to the plan of the Economic Community of West African States to strengthen the moratorium signed in Abuja on 31 October 1998 on the import, export and manufacture of small arms and light weapons, and to replace it with a mandatory convention. It welcomes the decision by the European Council on 2 December 2004 to significantly support this initiative, and calls upon all States and organizations in a position to do so to support this endeavour.

“The Council calls upon all Member States to enforce all Council resolutions on sanctions, including those imposing arms embargoes, in accordance with the Charter, and to bring their own domestic implementation into compliance with the Council’s measures on sanctions. The Council calls upon all Member States to continue to make available to the sanctions committees all pertinent information on any alleged violations of arms embargoes and to take appropriate measures to investigate such allegations. The Council urges Member States in a position to do so to provide assistance to interested States in strengthening their capacity to fulfil their obligations in this regard.

“The Council underlines the fact that the issue of the illicit trade in small arms and light weapons must be addressed together with the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration process in the post-conflict phases. The Council recognizes that disarmament, demobilization and reintegration is closely linked with long-term peace and security in a post-conflict situation, and recalls that a growing number of peacekeeping missions contain the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration element as part of their mandate. In this regard, the Council stresses the importance of a comprehensive international and regional approach to disarmament, demobilization and reintegration that is not limited to the political and security aspects of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of former combatants, but addresses also its social and economic aspects, including special needs of child soldiers and women.

“The Council, while bearing in mind that the issue of the illicit small arms and light weapons has a multidisciplinary nature, encourages Member States, in a position to do so, to provide assistance and support to the United Nations Coordinating Action on Small Arms mechanism.

“The Council continues to recognize the need to engage the relevant international organizations, non-governmental organizations, business and financial institutions and other actors at the international, regional and local levels to contribute to the implementation of arms embargoes and to the wider objective of preventing illicit trafficking of small arms and light weapons.

“The Council requests the Secretary-General to update the Council on 28 February 2006 for its earliest possible consideration of the implementation of all the recommendations contained in his report of 20 September 2002 on small arms.<sup>328</sup>”

“Letter dated 16 May 2005 from the Permanent Representative of Denmark to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General (S/2005/316)”.

At the same meeting, in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, under rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. James D. Wolfensohn, President of the World Bank.<sup>344</sup>

Upon resumption of the meeting, on 26 May 2005, the Council further decided to invite the representative of Papua New Guinea to participate, without vote, in the discussion of the item.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>345</sup>

“The Security Council reaffirms its commitment to the purposes and principles enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations and recalls its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security. The Council considers post-conflict peacebuilding closely linked to its primary responsibilities.

“The Council recognizes that intra-State conflicts and States emerging from conflict are among the most complex challenges facing the international community and that responding to these challenges in most instances requires a coherent and integrated mix of peacebuilding and peacekeeping activities, including political, military, civilian, humanitarian and development activities.

“The Council acknowledges that serious attention to the longer-term process of peacebuilding in all its multiple dimensions is critically important and that adequate support for peacebuilding activities can help to prevent countries from relapsing into conflict.

“The Council underlines the fact that priorities in the post-conflict environment should include, where appropriate: protection of civilians; disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, reintegration and rehabilitation of former combatants; security sector and economic and social reform; the end of impunity; establishment and re-establishment of the institutions of Government, the rule of law and transitional justice, respect for human rights; and economic revitalization.

“The Council recognizes the key role played by the United Nations, including the United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies, in peacebuilding alongside the international financial institutions, in particular the World Bank, bilateral donors and troop contributors. It also acknowledges the role the private sector can play in countries emerging from conflict. The Council underlines the fact that a successful outcome of post-conflict peacebuilding activities depends on the sustained commitment of all relevant actors to the process, through the involvement of these actors and the coordination of their activities in all phases from planning through implementation. In this regard, the Council also stresses the importance of pursuing coherent policies and resource allocation between these United Nations entities taking into account their respective mandates. The Council recalls the report of the Panel on United Nations Peace Operations<sup>346</sup> and the recommendations therein, and welcomes the progress made since the publication of the report, not least as regards planning of peacekeeping operations.

“The Council underlines the fact that for countries emerging from conflict, significant international assistance for economic and social rehabilitation and reconstruction is indispensable. In this regard, the Council acknowledges the role the Economic and Social Council plays, including in sustainable development, and reiterates its willingness to improve cooperation with United Nations bodies and organs directly concerned with peacebuilding.

“The Council underlines the importance of national ownership of the transition process from the end of a conflict to the attainment of lasting peace and sustainable development and the need for the international community to support nationally owned peacebuilding priorities. The Council recognizes the positive role played by local stakeholders and encourages dialogue between the United Nations and relevant national actors. The Council encourages capacity-building in order to respond to the country-specific circumstances of each conflict situation. One goal of this capacity-building – and of peacebuilding generally – should be to promote the establishment of self-supporting national authorities and thus the evolution of international assistance from peace support to longer-term development.

“The Council recognizes the crucial role of regional and subregional organizations in post-conflict peacebuilding and their involvement at the earliest possible stage. The Council realizes that a clear regional perspective is necessary as most conflicts have interlocking political, security, humanitarian and economic dynamics across borders. The Council underscores in this respect the need for enhanced cooperation and, where appropriate, coordination between United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in peacebuilding, based on a more integrated approach and with the aim of maximizing use of available resources and capabilities.

“The Council stresses the importance of a comprehensive international and regional approach to disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of former combatants that is not limited to the political and security aspects, but also addresses its social and economic aspects, including special needs of child soldiers and women.

“The Council stresses the special needs of Africa in post-conflict situations and encourages the international community to pay particular attention to those needs. It welcomes the ever-closer partnership between the African Union, the African subregional organizations and the United Nations in the area of peacemaking and peacekeeping and stresses the importance of extending this partnership to peacebuilding efforts.

“The Council underscores the importance of cooperation between United Nations peacekeeping operations and the United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies. The Council stresses the importance of ensuring that planning and implementation of United Nations humanitarian, peacekeeping, political and developmental activities at country level are well coordinated system-wide, including through the development of shared strategic objectives. The Council stresses that the United Nations should function as one integrated entity at country level under effective overall leadership in post-conflict peacebuilding.

“The Council stresses the need to ensure adequate and timely financing for peacebuilding priorities at all stages of the peace process and stresses the need for sustained financial investment in peacebuilding over the medium to longer-term period of recovery. It recognizes the importance of rapid initiation of peacebuilding activities to meet immediate needs and encourages the building of capabilities that can be incorporated rapidly.

“The Council welcomes the submission of the report of the Secretary-General of 21 March 2005 entitled “In larger freedom: towards development, security and human rights for all”<sup>347</sup> and of the report by the High-level Panel on Threats, Challenges and Change entitled “A more secure world: our shared responsibility”.<sup>348</sup> The Council acknowledges institutional gaps, identified in the reports, in the United Nations institutional machinery with respect to effectively, coherently and comprehensively helping countries with the transition from conflict to lasting peace and sustainable development.

“The Council takes note with interest of the important proposal by the Secretary-General to establish a peacebuilding commission and shares the objective of improving United Nations capacity to coordinate with donors and troop contributors and to perform peacebuilding activities, in particular from the start of peacekeeping operations through stabilization, reconstruction and development. The Council recognizes the important role that this body could play to bridge the gap between maintenance of international peace and security and the work of humanitarian and economic development assistance.”

<sup>349</sup> Resolutions or decisions on this question were also adopted by the Security Council during the period from 1 January to 31 July 2004.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>350</sup>

“The Security Council recognizes the vital role that United Nations peacekeeping operations have played for decades in bringing peace and stability to countries emerging from war. The Council further recognizes that, with few exceptions, the women and men who serve in United Nations peacekeeping operations do so with the utmost professionalism, dedication and, in some cases, make the ultimate sacrifice.

“The Council is deeply concerned about the allegations of sexual misconduct by United Nations peacekeeping personnel. The distinguished and honourable record of accomplishment in United Nations peacekeeping is being tarnished by the acts of a few individuals.

“The Council condemns, in the strongest terms, all acts of sexual abuse and exploitation committed by United Nations peacekeeping personnel. The Council reiterates that sexual exploitation and abuse are unacceptable and have a detrimental effect on the fulfilment of mission mandates.

“The Council, while confirming that the conduct and discipline of troops is primarily the responsibility of troop-contributing countries, recognizes the shared responsibility of the Secretary-General and all Member States to take every measure within their purview to prevent sexual exploitation and abuse by all categories of personnel in United Nations peacekeeping missions and to enforce United Nations standards of conduct in this regard. The Council reiterates the importance of ensuring that sexual exploitation and abuse are properly investigated and appropriately punished.

“The Council underlines the fact that the provision of an environment in which sexual exploitation and abuse are not tolerated is primarily the responsibility of managers and commanders.

“The Council welcomes the comprehensive report on sexual exploitation and abuse by United Nations peacekeeping personnel,<sup>351</sup> prepared by the Adviser to the Secretary-General on this issue, Prince Zeid Ra’ad Zeid Al-Hussein, Permanent Representative of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan to the United Nations. The Council also welcomes the report of the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations and its Working Group on its resumed session.<sup>352</sup>

“The Council urges the Secretary-General and troop-contributing countries to ensure that the recommendations of the Special Committee, which fall within their respective responsibilities, are implemented without delay.

“The Council will consider including relevant provisions for prevention, monitoring, investigation and reporting of misconduct cases in its resolutions establishing new mandates or renewing existing mandates. In this regard, the Council calls upon the Secretary-General to include, in his regular reporting on peacekeeping missions, a summary of the preventive measures taken to implement a zero-tolerance policy and of the outcome of actions taken against personnel found culpable of sexual exploitation and abuse.”

reconciliation, democratic development, and human rights. The Council recognizes that ending impunity is important in peace agreements and can contribute to efforts to come to terms with past abuses and to achieve national reconciliation to prevent future conflict. The Council recalls that it has repeatedly emphasized the responsibility of States to end impunity and bring to justice those responsible for genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity and serious violations of international humanitarian law.

“The Council further recognizes the increasing importance of civilian aspects of conflict management in addressing complex crisis situations and in preventing the recurrence of conflict and acknowledges the importance of civilian-military cooperation in crisis management. When approving a United Nations operation, the Council should take into account the essential role of military and civilian police in assisting the stabilization of crisis situations and the maintenance of security. At the same time, the Council acknowledges that the special representative of the Secretary-General, assisted by civilian advisers, could play a key coordination role in the provision of humanitarian assistance, the re-establishment of public order, the functioning of public institutions, as well as rehabilitation, reconstruction and peacebuilding, which lead to long-term sustainable development.

“The Council stresses the need to ensure adequate and timely financing for peacebuilding priorities at all stages of the peace process and stresses the need for sustained financial investment in peacebuilding over the medium to longer-term period of recovery. It recognizes the importance of rapid initiation of peacebuilding activities to meet immediate needs and encourages the building of capabilities that can be incorporated rapidly.

“The Council takes note with interest of the important proposal by the Secretary-General to establish a peacebuilding commission and shares the objective of improving United Nations capacity to coordinate with donors and troop contributors and to perform peacebuilding activities, in particular from the start of peacekeeping operations through stabilization, reconstruction and development. The Council recognizes the important role that this body could play to bridge the gap between maintenance of international peace and security and the work of humanitarian and economic development assistance.

“The Council acknowledges that in post-conflict societies, successful peacebuilding rests on the premise that protection of civilians, the promotion of the rule of law and transitional justice, disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, reintegration and rehabilitation of former combatants, security sector and democratic, economic and social reform are integrated elements and that national ownership plays an important role which should be supported by the international community, including the regional organizations.

“The Council emphasizes that security sector reform is an essential element of any stabilization process in post-conflict environments, underlines the fact that it is inextricably linked with promotion of the rule of law, transitional justice, disarmament, demobilization and reintegration and the protection of civilians, among others, and acknowledges the need for more adequate preparation, including mobilization of necessary planning resources, and more coherent approaches by the United Nations and the international community in addressing these issues.

“The Council acknowledges the need to give adequate attention to security sector reform in the future, drawing on best practices that have been developed in this area. The Council also stresses the need seriously to consider the promotion of the rule of law and transitional justice, the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration process and security sector reform, their interlinkage and the availability of adequate resources, when approving the necessary mandates for United Nations operations.”

The Council commends the Joint Programme for developing, in cooperation with interested States, national programmes to address HIV/AIDS among their uniformed personnel. The Council recognizes the significant number of direct and indirect beneficiaries of the programmes worldwide.

“The Council recognizes that men and women in the uniformed services are vital elements in the fight against HIV/AIDS. The Council welcomes the efforts by Member States, including through existing national programmes, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, the Joint Programme and other stakeholders, to counter the spread of the disease. The Council encourages Member States, in the preparation of their personnel for participation in peacekeeping operations, to employ best practices in HIV/AIDS education, prevention, awareness, countering stigma and discrimination, voluntary confidential counselling and testing, and care and treatment.

In this context, the Council encourages further cooperation between the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Joint Programme and its co-sponsors, non-governmental organizations and civil society, bilateral and multilateral donors and national Governments.

“The Council further recognizes that significant progress has been made in implementation of resolution 1308 (2000) but that many challenges remain. The Council expresses its readiness to further promote and support the implementation of this resolution.

Committed in the Territory of Neighbouring States between 1 January and 31 December 1994 addressed to the President of the Security Council.<sup>361</sup>

“The Council thanks the Presidents and Prosecutors of the two Tribunals for these assessments requested by resolution 1534 (2004), as supplemented by their oral reports at the 4999th meeting of the Council on 29 June 2004.

“The Council reaffirms its support for the two Tribunals and welcomes their efforts to carry out their completion strategies. The Council strongly encourages the Tribunals to make every effort to ensure that they remain on track to meet the target dates of the completion strategies.

“The Council stresses that the full cooperation of all States with the Tribunals is not only a mandatory obligation of all States under its resolutions 827 (1993) and 955 (1994) and the statutes of the Tribunals, but is also an essential element in realizing the completion strategies. In this regard, the Council takes careful note of the assessments presented with respect to the level of cooperation by the authorities of Serbia and Montenegro and the Republika Srpska within Bosnia and Herzegovina with the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia. We welcome as well the commitments made by the new Government in Serbia regarding cooperation with the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia. The Council takes note of developments in Croatian and Rwandan cooperation with the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda, respectively.

“The Council reiterates its call upon all States, especially Serbia and Montenegro, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the Republika Srpska within Bosnia and Herzegovina, to intensify cooperation with and render all necessary assistance to the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, in particular to bring Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic, as well as Ante Gotovina and all other such indictees to the Tribunal.

“The Council reiterates its call upon all States, especially Rwanda, Kenya, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Republic of the Congo, to intensify cooperation with and render all necessary assistance to the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda, including in investigations of the Rwandan Patriotic Army and efforts to bring Felicien Kabuga and all other such indictees to the Tribunal.

“The Council notes with concern that the shortfall in financial contributions from Member States is having a disruptive effect on the work of the Tribunals and urges Member States to fulfil their commitments in a timely manner.

“The Council emphasizes the importance of the referral of cases involving lower- and intermediate-rank accused to competent national jurisdictions in achieving the completion strategies and recalls the provisions of its resolutions 1503 (2003) and 1534 (2004), including the call for assistance to ensure the success of this effort.

“The Council also notes the concerns expressed by the President of the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia on the effect the expiry of the terms of permanent judges may have on case management and takes note of the letter dated 15 July 2004 from the Acting Legal Counsel bringing forward an invitation to Member States to submit nominations for permanent judges of the Tribunal before 13 September 2004.

“The Council encourages further dialogue between the Tribunals and its Working Group on matters of mutual concern.

“The Council will remain seized of the matter.”
